HEART BREAKING.

HORROR GROWS.

Twenty-one Die in Wreck.

Three Los Angeles People Are Among the Thirty Injured.

Engineer Olson Says He Misread Watch, Causing Accident.

Scene of Catastrophe Littered With Bodies of the Dead.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GLENWOOD SPRINGS (Colo.) Jan. 16.—Twenty-one persons were killed and thirty injured, many of them seriously, in a head-on collision between west-bound passenger train No. 5 and an east-bound freight train on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad between Dotsero and Spruce Creek, twenty-two miles from Glenwood Springs, at 9:36 o'clock last night.

The dead:

J. D. MAHON, Princeton, Ind.

A. A. HAMILTON, Polo, Ill.

W. C. KETTLE, Ashton, Neb.

MRS. MATTIE KETTLE, Ashton, Neb.

MRS. MATTIE EZELL, Williston, N. D.

J. W. OLESON, St. Louis, Mo.

DR. ARVILLA A. OLSON, from either Hildreth, Neb., or Axtell, Neb.

REV. L. R. MEILEY, from either Brooklyn, N. Y., or Mechanicsburg, Pa.

CLARENCE A. GOODING, Washington.

JOHN WILLIAMS, Clarks, Neb.

J. C. DAVIS of Davis-Brigham Drug Company, Denver.

HENRY DUNN, St. Louis.

Nine unidentified dead.

These are all women and children whose bodies are badly mangled.

ANGELENOS HURT.

Among the injured are W. D. [illegible], 1432 Walnut street, Los Angeles, and Mrs. A. W. McCauley and child, Los Angeles.

While nothing official has been given out as to the cause of the wreck, it is said to have been due to a misunderstanding of orders on the part of Engineer Gustaf Olson, of the passenger train. Olson, however, claims that he understood his instructions perfectly, but that he misread his watch, thus encroaching on the time of the freight train, which was being drawn by two locomotives, the first of which was in charge of his brother, Sig Olson.

SCENE OF HORROR.

When news of the catastrophe reached Glenwood Springs every available physician and nurse in the city was pressed into service, and a relief train was soon on the scene, gruesome and horrible.

Body after body was taken from the wreckage, and for a time it appeared as though the task would never be completed. As the bodies were taken from the ruins, they were laid side by side on a bier. The agonizing cries of husband and wife, child and parent, as they searched among the dead for their loved ones, many of whom were mangled beyond recognition, were heard from everywhere.

A pathetic feature of the accident was the killing of a father and mother, leaving two small children, the elder 4 and the younger 2 years old. The elder boy told a nurse at the sanatorium that his father called him Bennie, and this is all he will say. From a fellow passenger it was learned that the family was en route to Grand Junction to visit relatives. It is supposed Mr. and Mrs. Kettle, whose names appear among the dead, were the parents of these two little ones, who are badly injured.

ENTIRE FAMILY KILLED.

Another sad case was the destruction of an entire family, with the exception of an infant of 3 months. The child was taken care of by a kind family at Shoshone, which intends to adopt it.

One of the remarkable incidents of the wreck was the marvelous escape from the ill-fated chair car of Mr. Stall of Pueblo, Colo., salesman for a commission company of that city. Mr. Stall escaped without a scratch, but soon afterwards suffered a severe nervous shock, and is thought tonight to be on the verge of nervous collapse.

Another heartbreaking scene was enacted in the wreck zone when kindly hands gently lifted a pretty four-year-old girl from the death clasp of her mother's arms. Nearby lay the body of her father, decapitated, and on every side were lifeless bodies. The body of a woman was found lying a dozen yards from the wreckage, close to the banks of the Grand River, both arms missing and otherwise horribly mangled.

TRAINLOAD OF HURT.

A trainload of thirty injured men and women, who had barely escaped with their lives, arrived in Glenwood Springs at 7 o'clock this morning. Carriages and wagonettes were waiting at the Rio Grande depot. The injured were taken to the County Hospital and to the sanatorium, and when the cots and wards had been filled, rooms were engaged in the hotels of Glenwood Springs for the maimed.

It was found at an early hour that there was a shortage of surgeons, and only first aid could be administered, until late this afternoon, when surgeons from all the surrounding cities began to pour into Glenwood Springs.

SNOW DRIFTS IN NEW YORK.

First Real Blizzard of Season Grips the Big Eastern City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first real blizzard of the year arrived this afternoon. The snow began sifting down from an ashen sky at 3:30 o'clock, and soon a stiff northly wind was whirling the flakes through the streets, blinding pedestrians and horses. The temperature, only a little above 20 deg., made matters all the worse. It was one of the coldest days of the winter.

The Weather Bureau expects the heaviest snowfall of the winter. The storm came from Tennessee and Kentucky. It extends all over the country east of the Mississippi and south of the Middle States.

If the snow continues tomorrow, it may turn to rain, as the temperature is expected to rise.

A woman died of her injuries on the relief train while on her way here. It is expected that at least a dozen or more who were brought here will succumb.

Train No. 5 was made up of engine and tender, baggage car, smoking car, chair car, tourist sleeping car, and full complement of Pullman sleepers and a dining car. The locomotives are upon end and joined together as one piece of mechanism. Their wheels were rolled down into the Grand River, and pieces of machinery are scattered over the scene of the wreck.

The smoking car was only partly derailed, while the chair car immediately following was completely telescoped by the tourist sleeper. None of the Pullman sleepers left the track, and no one was killed or injured in these cars. Most of the dead and injured were removed from the ruins of the chair car, which was split in twain.

Eight of the passengers in the chair car were decapitated as if by a guillotine, their heads falling from their bodies. The bodies of the dead are so mutilated that identification may take many hours.

BLOOD-SOAKED BABY.

[illegible] in the chair car was Alice Williams, aged 4 years, who came from some point in Iowa. She was found under her dead mother's body, slightly bruised, but covered from head to foot with blood. The child was taken to Glenwood Springs on the second relief train.

The wreckage caught fire immediately after the collision and a holocaust was averted by those passengers not killed, or seriously injured, and members of the train crew, who secured shovels and boards and put out the blaze with snow, which is piled in huge drifts alongside the tracks.

It was at first supposed that the two mail clerks, Hammond and Frazier, on No. 5, were killed, but it later developed that it is the custom to cut the mail car at Pueblo and send it on by No. 1, an hour and a half later, so as not to delay the through train by stopping to load the heavy mail that they generally pick up at Pueblo.

CONSOLATION.

TAFT DEFENDS SPINSTERHOOD.

PRESIDENT-ELECT SAYS IT IS EQUAL TO MATRIMONY.

In Address to Normal School Students He Draws Picture of Lovely Maiden Aunt and Tells Them Desire of Women to Marry Is Cause of Trouble.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATHENS (Ga.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That marriage is not necessary to happiness is the opinion of President-elect William Howard Taft, as expressed in a speech this afternoon at the State Normal School, before a large audience of embryo young lady teachers.

He said that some young women seemed to think that their lives would not be successful unless they married, but that in his opinion this was not true. His remarks caused considerable comment, his hearers recalling President Roosevelt's race suicide warnings.

"I hope that you will not regard matrimony as necessary," said President-elect Taft to the Normal students here. "I think the secret of most domestic infelicity is that young women fear unless they are married their lives will not be successful. As a matter of fact I think the reverse is exactly true. Look into your own lives and your families.

"Take some aunt of yours who never married, what a sweet self-sacrificing, disinterested and lovely character she has grown to be, seventy or eighty years old, and think what beneficence shall spread over all the family circle in which she lives, and then tell me she would have been better off if she had been married. I don't believe it."

NIGHT RIDERS SUED.

PADUCAH (Ky.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Former Police Judge C. W. Rucker of Eddyville, Ky., and L. M. Woods have filed suits in the Federal Court here against 210 night riders, who whipped them during the Eddyville raid last spring.

It was charged that Rucker, while he was police judge, and others, had been talking against night riders, for which they were chastised with whips. John L. Smith, member of the Kentucky Legislature, is named as a defendant. They ask for $50,000 and $25,000, respectively.

Approach of Spring Means Crisis Which May Precipitate Outbreak.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA (Austria) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Warlike reports continue to reach Vienna from Belgrade. The settlement between Austria and Turkey, instead of allaying the anger of the Servians, has increased it. These people declare that Austria must give Servia satisfaction before there can be hope of peace. Diplomatic circles here believe that Baron Aehrenthal, the Austrian Foreign Minister, alarmed at the prospect of the Servians making trouble, intends to adopt some less aggressive attitude and offer the Servians substantial economic concessions, especially in the way of railway facilities and an outlet to the Adriatic.

The head and front of the anti-Austrian feeling in Belgrade is Prince George, heir-apparent to the throne, whose ability and influence with the Serbs throughout the Balkans is not underestimated by Austrian officials. The Crown Prince is not only belligerent to such an extent that he is on extremely delicate grounds with his father, the King, but he has declared that his fondest hope is to lead the Servians in war upon Austria.

"I shall win our country for my countrymen," he declared recently addressing a lage crowd in a public square in Belgrade. "My father opposes war. Let him beware, then, for if he compels us to, we shall take up arms against him also."

ASK KING TO ABDICATE.

This is a fair sample of the incendiary speeches that the young fire-eater has made frequently of late. His followers are so many and are so well organized that the throne is recognized to be in imminent danger. The demands that King Peter abdicate are not merely press rumors. They have been repeated, even to the King's face, by his counsellors, and the sentiment is so strong that it is feared, unless the King yields to the demand, there will

NORTHERN FLOODS.

FIFTY-MILE WAVE NEARS SACRAMENTO.

River Reaches New High Water Mark, Drops With Break in Levees and Inundates Farm Lands—Grass Valley Under Deluge of Rain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The crest of the Sacramento River flood is now between Colusa and Red Bluff, and will reach this city tomorrow. It is in the form of a great swell fifty miles long.

The river developed a swift current here at 9 o'clock this evening, giving the first intimation of large breaks below the city on the Yolo county side. Within an hour it had fallen from 29.3 to 28.11, and has continued to fall since.

A large break occurred in the levee on the Suyder place, four miles below Washington, and two other breaks occurred near it. In the Washington district many people had moved into houseboats or taken refuge in this city, because the water had reached the top of the levees above and below town. This ceased when the break occurred.

The river exceeded its previous record by five inches before the break occurred.

Breaks occurred in the Feather River levee at and below Shanghai Bend this afternoon, relieving the pressure at Marysville and Yuba City. Some orchards and farming lands in Sutter county are being flooded by the breaks, but the damage will be comparatively small. The Northern Electric embankment and the south levee of the Yuba River went out opposite Marysville this morning, and a large break occurred in the Yuba levee southeast of Marysville.

Sacramento and Marysville added from three to five feet to the height of levees after the rivers set their new records two years ago. All tributaries to the Sacramento River are now falling.

TORRENTS AT GRASS VALLEY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GRASS VALLEY, Jan. 16.—The worst storm in the history of this section of the State broke this afternoon. It has been raining almost since New Year's Day and the rainfall for January has reached the unprecedented mark of thirty inches, making a total of forty-one inches for the season. Every stream in the county is overflowing and much damage has been done. Dozens of bridges have been carried away, including the large steel bridge across Wolf Creek.

Telegraph communication with the outside world was restored today after several days' suspension. The deluge of waters which came down from the Washington Correspondents Summoned Before the Grand Jury.

Case Is Without Precedent in History of the United States.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Jan. 16.—Six Washington correspondents of out-of-town papers and of a local news bureau were subpoenaed today to appear next week before grand jurors and testify, presumably in connection with statements appearing in their publications bearing on the Panama Canal purchase.

So far as it has been possible to ascertain these were the only ones cited: Otto Carmichael, Charles S. Ambert, and E. Jesse Conway, the New York World; James Hornaday, Indianapolis News; Jeremiah Matthews, New York Sun; Harris M. Crist, Brooklyn Eagle, and William Smith, a newsboy of Washington, engaged in selling New York papers.

With the exception of Mr. Crist, the parties are directed to appear before the Federal grand jury of the District of Columbia next Tuesday.

FILES WANTED ALSO.

The World men also were directed to bring with them files of the paper for September, October, November and December, 1908, "in the case of the United States vs. the Press Publishing Company," publishers of the New York World.

There is no doubt that the subpoenas all have to do with a suit for libel which it is believed has been brought by the government against the World. The publishers of the New York Sun and the Indianapolis News, Mr. Laffan and Delavan Smith, were denounced by the President in a letter, dated December 1 last, to Dudley Foulke.

In his special message to Congress of December 15, regarding the charges of corruption, the President announced that the Attorney-General had under consideration the form in which proceedings for libel against Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World, should be brought.

SUIT UNIQUE.

Nowhere in the annals of the government has such action been taken as the government suing for criminal libel.

The President in his message was most emphatic in saying that it should not be left to a private citizen to enter the suit, and was particular to state that "we should concern ourselves with the particular individuals who wrote the lying and libelous editorials, articles from correspondents, or articles in the news columns. The real offender is Joseph Pulitzer, editor and proprietor of the World."

It, therefore, is inferred that the correspondents were summoned as witnesses, and not with the ultimate idea of making them codefendants.

All efforts to get any information regarding the statute under which the suit has been brought failed.

SNOWBOUND "STATESMEN."

Inconsiderate Storm Annoys Congressmen Pushing Hetch Hetchy Project.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 [Exclusive Dispatch.] Up Emigrant Gap, in the high Sierras, where they hope to get water for San Francisco, four eminent gentlemen are snowed in, while in Washington members of Congress mourn because they cannot get here to be heard Tuesday on the Hetch Hetchy project. One is a famous ex-Mayor of San Francisco; another an almost equally famous ex-Mayor of Oakland, the third a doughty labor leader, and the fourth the very able and near famous City Attorney, who will, if he gets here, shed legal acumen all over the Capitol. The Committee on Public Lands has been asked to postpone its meeting so that the San Francisco delegation can get here and address it.

Perhaps it may, perhaps not. However, just suppose it should get weary and bring in a favorable report before "Jimmy, the Hefter," San Francisco's ex-Mayor and his companions get here, wouldn't it be just awful?

Vaccination Pros and Antis Resume Ancient Feud at State House. Long Beach Superintendent Arrives Ready for War.

BY B. FRANK GREAVES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The old fight on vaccination which enlivened the Legislature at each session for years is coming up again. Long Beach citizens want a change made so their city Board of Education will not have to go to jail for violation of the present statute.

J. D. Graham, superintendent of Long Beach schools, is here to urge amendments that will relieve school authorities of the responsibility for enforcement of the law. Four years ago the anti-vaccinationists got a bill through the Legislature, but it was vetoed by Gov. Pardee, a doctor; only an eye doctor to be sure, but still a member of the profession. Two years ago, after a bitter struggle, the antis failed to kill the law now in effect providing that children must show proof of vaccination before they are admitted to school.

The Long Beach people are not demanding repeal of the law; they simply wish responsibility for its enforcement to be vested in the State Board of Health rather than in school authorities. The State Board has its hands full of other matters and Dr. N. K. Foster, its secretary, is not anxious to take on more burdens.

Any sort of move is certain to start a fight between the pros and antis of the Legislature. There is no Eshleman in the Assembly this year as there was at the last session to lead the opponents of arm and other scraping, nor are there any doctors in either house to defend the existing law; but many of the former leaders of both sides are still here and the coming of Superintendent Graham with the Long Beach appeal already has kindled the fire of discussion.

Though its members have been threatened with punishment for failing to enforce the law strictly, the Long Beach Board of Education so far has escaped the wrath of the State Board of Health. One reason advanced for failure of the State authorities to take the matter into court is that they are afraid the law will be declared unconstitutional, thus wiping out in one fell swoop what is considered by many to be the most effective safeguard against the spread of smallpox.

MOMENTOUS.

WEIGHTY PROBLEMS AWAIT LEGISLATORS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—Anti-Japanese, railroad rate, election, anti-race-track, anti-gambling and labor legislation will be the paramount issues in the California Legislature the coming week. In the case of nearly all of these subjects committee hearings have been scheduled.

So far, no vote clearly defining the "line-up" of any two factions for or against measures of general public interest has been taken, although the assembly roll call on the adoption of the rules early in the week was claimed as a victory against the "old organization" by friends of the anti-race-track bill, while the latter claim also 23 out of 40 votes in the Senate.

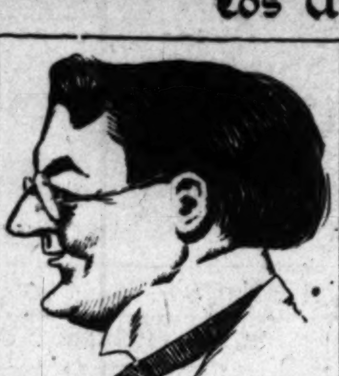
Among the measures indorsed by both branches were the Hetch-Hetchy water resolution, the memorial to Congress for better roads in Yosemite Park, the bill making February 12, the centennial of Lincoln's birthday, a legal holiday, and several emergency appropriation measures to pay the expenses of legislation during the thirty-eighth session.

More than 1000 bills have been introduced and the State printer has been unable to keep pace with the legislators, with the result that consideration of numerous bills has been delayed; but it is expected that when the members take their seats again on Monday the files will be complete.

In the committee on common carriers, the question of reciprocal demurrage will be threshed out and large delegations will appear for or against various railroad measures pending. Whether or not the demurrage laws in Texas and Oregon, of which duplicates are before the Legislature, are constitutional will be one of the points raised by their opponents. Friends of the measure assert that while the Supreme Court of the United States has held it to be unconstitutional, as applied to interstate commerce, the Texas law is being enforced between points within that State.

Laws of other States upon other subjects are before the lawmakers. The Walker-Otis Anti-Race-Track Bill is virtually a reproduction of the measure enacted through the efforts of Gov. Hughes of New York, and the bill introduced in the Assembly by Grove L. Johnson, at the request of the women suffragists, is the same as the law of Colorado. The Oklahoma graduated income-tax law will be presented in the Senate on Monday by J. B. Sanford.

More characteristic of California, however, is the legislation proposed by Assemblymen Johnson of Sacramento, and Drew of Fresno, who have revived the movement against the Japanese that gained an impetus during the school segregation in San Francisco two years ago.



Senator Cutten,

of Eureka, one of the veterans of the upper house.

Gov. Gillett used his influence with the Legislature to smother these measures at the last session, at the urgent request of President Roosevelt; but while he is investigating the four measures proposed (segregating school-children, segregating all aliens, denying aliens the right to be directors of corporations, and denying them the right to own land,) he has received so far no overtures from Washington to stop them, and is noncommittal as to their merits.

The 1000 bills introduced during the last week affect everything from freight rates to art, and call for appropriations aggregating nearly $4,000,000.

SAVAGE FIXING UP BILL.

TO KILL CONSOLIDATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Savage's bill to prevent the consolidation of Los Angeles and San Pedro will be reported out of the Committee on Municipal Corporations, of which he is chairman, early next week. Either this or the bill desired by the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, introduced by Senator McCartney, will be reported back with such amendments as Savage desires. The bill then will go to second reading and within a few days more will be ready for final action.

The San Pedro Senator insists that the bill shall call for an affirmative vote of two-thirds of those voting in each city before consolidation can become effective. He also demands a clause providing that should consolidation fail to carry there shall not be another vote on the question in less than four or five years.

The bill desired by the Harbor Commission and other bodies provides for a majority vote in each city.

Savage received a telegram today from S. M. Storer, president of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce, announcing that the Executive Committee of that organization had adopted resolutions favoring a two-thirds majority to carry the election. This stipulation is counted upon by Savage to kill the movement.

WHITTIER SCHOOL NEEDS FARM.

APPROPRIATION URGED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. P. Greeley and James Clarke, superintendent and director, respectively, of the Whittier State School, are here to urge upon Gov. Gillett and the legislators the need of an appropriation of $30,000 for the purchase of a forty-acre tract adjoining the school grounds. This land is desired as a sewer farm and hay field to be worked by the boys of the school, many of whom are given instructions in agriculture. The school already has 160 acres and the additional land is said to be greatly needed.

Because of the tremendous demands on the State treasury two years ago for the rebuilding of public institutions at Agnews and other places, destroyed or damaged by earthquake, no appropriation was made for improvements at Whittier. A total of $85,000 is asked this year, the principal items being the forty-acre farm and additional buildings for housing those committed to the institution.

POWER COMPANY SOLD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—The United Railroads of this city closed a deal today with the Stanislaus Power Company, whereby the latter passes into the hands of the street railroad concern. The transmission lines of the Stanislaus company come only as far as the Mission, San José, but they will be extended to this city as soon as possible. The plans of the railroad company provide for the increase of the present capacity to 64,000 horse power.

AMAZONS IN BATTLE LINE.

Suffragists Prepare to Charge Congress With Serried Ranks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The National Woman Suffrage Association has come to Washington prepared to present to Congress the biggest petition it has ever received—all in the cause of "votes for women."

The association has provided itself with a permanent home at No. 1828 H street, in the most fashionable section of the city. Formal ceremonies of dedication have not yet been held, but within a few weeks the Rev. Anna Shaw, president of the association, Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery, vice-president, and other officers of the national association will come over to Washington to see that the headquarters are opened auspiciously. In the meantime the house is being furnished, lecture rooms are being equipped, and every preparation made for occupancy.

Thousands of signatures are being appended to this greatest of all petitions of the suffragettes, and with the patience of Job the association will wait to present it to the next Congress, if the paper cannot be prepared in time for this session.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The storm that struck the Northern Pacific Coast on Friday has drifted east, and now is reported in all of the Central Western States today. In Chicago the temperature rose slowly after last night's snowfall. The maximum temperature was 30 deg., with a minimum of 22. Middle West temperatures, the dash indicating below zero:

TO AID AMERICAN SHIPS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Jan. 16.—The Merchant Marine League has sent out a letter saying that millions are being expended for the construction of the Panama Canal, which is asserted will benefit mainly the shipping of other countries, because there is little shipping under the American flag. It is pointed out that everything connected with the building of the canal is American except the unskilled labor and yet all of the material is carried in foreign ships. The letter is designed to influence the adoption by Congress of the resolutions providing that material for the canal shall be carried in American ships.

TRICKSTERS MULCT CITY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Commissioner of Public Works Hanburg has discovered that within the year the city has paid, or contracted to pay, $315,111 for street repair work, whereas if it had accepted any other bid the total cost would have been $218,610. What makes it worse for the commissioners, the feeling is that most of the money comes out of the wheel tax receipts, with which Mayor Busse desired to make the best showing possible. Such a state of affairs is a result of probably the oldest trick known to street-paving work. The trick consisted in a composite bid, or bidding low on one item and high on another, so as to make the average lower than that of competitors. But the low bid is one on which little work is done and high as for work on which a good deal of work is done, with the result that when the bills come in the supposed low bidder receives far more money than would have to be paid in case the bids had been divided and the contract awarded the low man in each case. The courts have held that as long as the work was done the city must pay according to the terms of its contract.

RELIGION AND CHILDREN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—"The habit of making a fifty-year-old saint out of a ten-year-old child is wrong," said Herbert W. Gates last night to Evanston mothers. "This forcing process in religion is as disastrous as in any line. It is a great mistake to spend the time reading the Bible that should be spent talking to our children or playing with them. I will bank more on the children brought up by the parents who are not so pious, but who are able to keep the love and confidence of their children, than I will on those whose parents pay too much attention to piety."

WONDER-WORKING AT BALL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Chicago society eclipsed itself last night and early today at the bachelors' and benedicts' ball. The affair, taking the place, as it did, of the old midwinter cotillion, the big dance of the closing season, was the weirdest and most fantastic social event ever held in the city. "The electrical favor" had its coming-out party in fantastic lighting and scenic displays, on which thousands of dollars were spent. The apparatus alone cost $4000, and ten men were necessary to work the big spot and novelty lights which cast their weird reflections about the great hall. The stunts, and there were more than twenty of them, were the most fantastic and novel ever introduced by society in Chicago. Weird, monstrous snakes crept about the great ballroom floor, while lightning crashed and thunder rolled. Whirling, seething curtains with snake-like motions, would fall from the ceiling, draping the dancers in their meshy coils, while vari-colored kaleidoscopic lights threw fantastic light on the scene. Long Italian gondolas, lit by tiny incandescents, swept across the floor, while Venetian singers, standing in their interior, sang love ballads. Then the scene would change, and the sumptuously dressed women and their companions would be changed into a blind maze of brilliant vari-colored light.

ON THE UPGRADE.

The copious rains of the past week have not alone been beneficial to agriculturalists; general business seems to have taken on a new impetus. The tone of commercial activity is improving, and confident hopes for a most successful 1909 are expressed in all directions.

As an indication of the upgrade tendency, advertising in The Times is showing a gain in volume over every day of last year. The gains are notable because of their rarity for many months. Most remarkable is that of a week ago today, when The Times printed 449 columns of paid matter; just 104 columns more than on the same day a year ago.

Following is the interesting summary of The Times advertising for the week ending Saturday, Jan. 16, 1909:

Day.	Columns.	Gain.
Sunday	449	104 columns
Monday	61	3 columns
Tuesday	105	1 column
Wednesday	103	12 columns
Thursday	104	6 columns
Friday	96	2 columns
Saturday	89	4 columns
Gain for one week		132 columns

The aggregate of paid matter printed in The Times for the seven days of 1909 named was 1007 columns; in the Herald and Examiner combined, 788 columns; showing the lead of The Times over its two morning contemporaries to be 219 columns for the past week.

IRREGULAR METHOD.

FOUR "FINANCIERS" GIVEN FIVE YEARS,

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Jan. 16.—In the United States District Court today three bankers and a business man were sentenced for irregular banking methods. Two others will be sentenced later.

William McKee, vice-president of the Farmers' National Bank of Emlenton, Pa., and director of the First National Bank of Clintonville, Pa., who was convicted of misapplication of funds, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

John M. McKee, brother of William C. McKee, president of the First National Bank of Clintonville, convicted of misapplication of funds, five years in the penitentiary.

Charles E. Mullen, cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., convicted of misapplication of funds, five years in the penitentiary.

E. H. Steinman of Mt. Pleasant, president of the Aetna Lumber Company, convicted of having aided and abetted the misapplication of funds from the Mt. Pleasant Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, five years in the penitentiary.

LABOR.

JENKINS FOE TO UNIONISM.

CHAIRMAN OF HOUSE COMMITTEE TURNS DOWN GOMPERS.

Refuses Hearing of Arguments for Bill Which Organizations Wish to Have Passed—Complaints Fall on Deaf Ears and Federation Must Wait Its Opportunity.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chairman Jenkins of the House Committee on Judiciary does not propose to go out of Congress with the record for vacillating. At least so charges the American Federation of Labor. Judge Jenkins was defeated for reëlection, and the American Federation assumes all the credit for the defeat. President Gompers of the federation, in his campaign last fall, charged against Judge Jenkins the failure of the House to consider bills recommended by organized labor to amend laws concerning injunctions and to relieve labor from the operation of the law against combines in restraint of trade. The executive council of the federation has just concluded a week of meetings here. Gompers, by addressing Judge Jenkins, sought to have a day fixed when the council could appear before the Judiciary Committee to urge the passage of the bill in which labor is interested. Judge Tirrell of Massachusetts, chairman of the subcommittee having charge of the bills, was addressed at the same time.

Mr. Gompers says he has received no reply from Judge Jenkins. Judge Tirrell replied that as Mr. Gompers's request was for a hearing before the full committee, he had no jurisdiction. Then Gompers addressed Representative Henry of Texas, a Democratic member of the committee. Mr. Henry informed Gompers that Judge Jenkins, as chairman of the committee, ruled out of order his motion that the committee grant a hearing to the executive council, doing so on the grounds that the committee could not have a hearing while the House is in session. Mr. Henry suggested that the hearing might be granted and permission be obtained from the House to hold the hearing, but Judge Jenkins was inflexible and held the motion out of order.

The friends of organized labor say they will be unable to accomplish anything in the line of desired legislation as long as Mr. Jenkins is in Congress.

NOT AS BAD AS FORMER HUBBY.

MRS. BAXTER TEVIS DEMANDS VINDICATION.

"No Woman Could Rest Quiet Under Such an Imputation," She Declares, and Will Insist That Hart McKee Prove All His Charges in Open Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To further vindicate herself of the serious charges made by her husband, Hart McKee of Pittsburgh, in her recent notorious divorce case, Mrs. Baxter Tevis has appealed from the decision of Judge Ditte, and will call upon her former husband to make full proof of the facts as cited or withdraw them entirely.

After a long series of hearings, the McKee divorce case gained for itself the distinction of being the most sordid exhibition ever witnessed in a French court. The decision made at the suggestion of the procurator of the republic in the matter was, in effect, that the wife was just as bad as the husband, and it was better they should part, and each go his own way. Alimony was refused to the wife.

Mrs. Baxter Tevis seriously objects to this judgment. She refuses to be considered as bad as Hart McKee, and all her friends sympathize with her. She said today:

"No woman could endure to rest under such an imputation as that."

Next Thursday her lawyer, Maitre Barboux, will ask the French courts to fix a date for a new hearing. Mrs. Baxter Tevis will insist that her former husband shall be made to prove in court the grave charges he made against her, and both she and her advocate are perfectly certain that McKee will never be able to justify his accusations.

Mrs. Baxter Tevis will also insist that alimony be paid her as evidence of the fact that she is an innocent party in this famous divorce scandal.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Life for Life.

PUEBLO (Colo.) Jan. 16.—Cleveland Nunn, who made a written confession that he had murdered Thurman Walker to secure possession of his saddle and watch, was found guilty of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to life imprisonment under instructions of the court. The jury could not bring in a verdict fixing the penalty at death because there was no direct evidence of the crime.

BATTLE IN DARK.

Gang of Safe-Crackers and the Police Fight on the Streets of Stockton.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

STOCKTON, Jan. 16.—A gang of safe-crackers and burglars operated in this city last night, and exchanged shots with the police in the darkness, though all escaped.

Two safes were blown open and a saloon robbed. Little booty was secured. The safe of Joe Silva, a groceryman, was wrecked, but the robbers failed to reach the strong box, containing $500. They got $10.50 from the cash register.

M. McAllen's saloon was entered, but no booty was secured.

The safe of Lamb & Webb's grocery was blown open. The first charge failed and the safe-crackers made another attempt, blowing off the door and breaking the inner door with a sledge.

While the police were searching for them in the patrol wagon five men opened fire on the officers, who returned the fire in the darkness. The driver from the livery stable turned the horses away and the team got beyond his control. Several shots were exchanged, and the officers believe one or two of the men were creased, as two loads of buckshot were sent in their direction.

COFFEY'S CASE CALLED.

CHARGED WITH BRIBERY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—The case of former Supervisor Michael Coffey, charged with bribery in connection with the United Railroads trolley franchise, was called in Judge Dunne's court today, but continued until Monday, to afford the judge time to consider motions for a dismissal of the indictment, made by attorneys for the defendant.

The court expressed a desire to investigate the attitude of the McFarland grand jury in regard to the immunity contract, said to have been given Coffey, the terms of which he is alleged by the prosecution to have violated.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Orphans Escape Fire.

HEALDSBURG, Jan. 16.—Thirty children living in one cottage of the Sutton Springs Orphanage and Industrial Farm, conducted by the Salvation Army, narrowly escaped death today when the building was burned to the ground. The children on the farm worked hard to save the structure, but in vain. The loss is $2000, with little insurance.

Jail for Emma.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—After Police Judge Deasy had refused to dismiss the complaints against Emma Goldman, the anarchist speaker, and Ben Reitman, her manager, on the ground of their insufficiency, Attorney Kirk today stated that he would institute habeas corpus proceedings in their behalf. The Police Court case was then postponed until Monday.

Halsey Still Sick.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—When the case of Theodore V. Halsey, former agent of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company, accused of bribing members of the Schmitz Board of Supervisors, was called in Judge Dunne's court this morning, an affidavit from his physicians was presented, showing he is still very ill. On this showing the case was continued one week.

All in the Family.

STOCKTON, Jan. 16.—Fred Hall and Arthur Dabner were today sentenced by Judge Nutter to two and three years, respectively, in San Quentin. Dabner, who says he is a cousin of the San Francisco gas-pipe thug by that name, is an ex-convict.

Seven in Jury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—One juror was temporarily passed in Judge Murasky's Superior Court today to try Attorney A. S. Newburgh, accused of attempting to bribe a prospective juror in the Ruef case. This leaves the jury with seven men sworn to try the case and three subject to peremptory challenge.

QUEEN OF HEARTS.

MRS. KEPPEL IS MOVING IN.

English Favorite About to Enjoy King's Gift.

Carlton House Mansion Is Regally Furnished.

Neighbors Will Be First in British Society.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. George Keppel, whose wonderful personal charms won the lease of a $300,000 palace, regally furnished, as a gift from King Edward, today began moving into the home at No. 2 Carlton House Terrace. While the gift was supposed to be from an anonymous source, all of England appeared to have no doubt the next day as to who was the real donor.

The gift is said to have been prompted because of Mrs. Keppel's plans to enlarge and restore her Portman Square residence, which is rapidly deteriorating. Quietly the King is said to have obtained not only the lease for the Carlton House Terrace mansion, but to have engaged Mrs. Keppel's decorators, so that the house might be furnished throughout according to her own tastes.

For social purposes, no other house or palace in all of London is better situated. For her neighbors Mrs. Keppel will have Mrs. Potter Palmer, the German Ambassador, John Ward, Mrs. J. W. Mackay, Frederick Guest, Waldorf Astor, Lord Curzon, Arthur Balfour and Lord Ardilaun. The mansion is in the most select part of the great city.

OFFICIAL FIGURES.

QUAKE VICTIMS NUMBER GROWS.

ESTIMATED NINETY THOUSAND DIE IN QUAKE.

There Are Still Hundreds Known to Be Under Ruins and Work of Searching for Bodies Goes on Fiercely—People of Messina Camping in Fields.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MESSINA, Jan. 16.—An estimate of the dead in Messina, as a result of the catastrophe of December 28, made by Stuart K. Lupton, the American Vice-Consul, on behalf of the American Embassy at Rome, places the number at 90,000.

Mr. Lupton estimates also that there are today still 10,000 people in the city.

The work of getting information concerning individuals who were in Messina at the time of the earthquake is extremely difficult, as there are undoubtedly thousands under the ruins, and other tens of thousands have scattered themselves throughout Sicily and the peninsula.

The people still in Messina are camping out in the outskirts, and it has been impossible to take any census of them.

Maj. Landis, military attaché to the American Embassy at Rome, who is quartered on baord the United States battleship Illinois, reorganized the work of searching the ruins of the American Consulate for the bodies of Consul and Mrs. Cheney.

A number of things which the Cheney family possessed were found by the rescuers.

Mr. Lupton left today for Catania to establish an American consulate there.

Eighty-two persons have been arrested up to the present time for stealing during the confusion incident to the earthquake disaster. They will be tried by martial law.

SEE VISION.

PEOPLE FRIGHTENED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CATANIA, Jan. 16.—For two days the populace of Catania has been in a state of great excitement over a report that an apparition of St. Agatha, the protectress of the town, had been seen on the summit of Mount Etna.

Those who say they saw the specter, declared that the vision seemed to them "like an angelic dream," St. Agatha being enveloped in thin, vaporous clouds, through which shone rays of dazzling light, while her right hand was extended as though in a sign of benediction and protection over Catania.

Because of these reports the belief has spread that Catania was saved from the earthquake only through the intercession of St. Agatha.

Great groups of persons assembled in the square or on roofs of houses gazing at Mount Etna waiting for the vision to re-appear. Many of them say that when the smoke from the volcano was densest and the sun was shining strongly on the glittering snow, they saw St. Agatha fall upon her knees. The credulous, on hearing these tales, knelt in prayer and beat their breasts as penance for their sins.

The Duke of Genoa arrived here yesterday and visited the hospitals where he addressed words of consolation to the wounded.

CONSUL FOUND.

BODIES RECOVERED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The bodies of the American Consul and Mrs. Cheney were found in the ruins of the American consulate at Messina yesterday afternoon, by the sailors of the American battleship Illinois, which arrived at Messina yesterday from Suez.

The bodies were prepared for shipment, and taken aboard the American supply ship Culgoa, which will carry them to Naples.

Arrangements are being made for the shipment of the bodies to the United States.

Having accomplished her mission at Messina, the Illinois has returned to Malta.

IN PORT.

RHODE ISLAND ANCHORS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MARSEILLES, Jan. 16.—The battleship Rhode Island crept into the harbor this morning in a dense fog and fired a salute of twenty-one guns, which was answered, gun for gun, by the shore batteries.

She moored alongside the Georgia and Nebraska, already in this port.

The battleship New Jersey, following in the wake of the Rhode Island, is expected to arrive here at noon.

FIFTY-MILE WAVE.

mountains flooded the electric powerhouse at Colgate and other places, causing the shutting down of the mines and temporarily throwing 500 miners out of work. The rains extended far into the mountains, melting and washing away the snow on which next summer's water and power depends. This is causing great anxiety.

Fears are felt that unless freight shipments are resumed soon there will be a shortage of foodstuffs in this section.

STORM BROKEN; FLOODS DROP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—After an almost continuous downpour for six days, indications tonight are that the storm which has been hovering over the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys and extending to the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevadas for the last week, carrying away bridges, bursting levees and demoralizing traffic on the northern and eastern routes, is broken and the flood situation shows considerable improvement. With the exception of Sacramento, where the Sacramento River is rising at the rate of an inch an hour, reports indicate from the central portions of the State that the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Feather Rivers and their tributaries are falling rapidly.

The principal danger point tonight is at Sacramento, the crest of the flood waters from the north being expected by morning. The river is already pouring over the levees at three places, but up to a late hour no breaks had occurred.

The work of repairing the numerous washouts on the Shasta and Ogden routes of the Southern Pacific lines progressed rapidly all day, and is proceeding tonight wherever possible.

Three north-bound passenger trains on the Shasta route, which for three days had been stalled at Red Bluff, passed over temporary tracks laid near Kennet, at 8 o'clock tonight, bound for Portland.

At the offices of the Southern Pacific, on the Oakland Mole, it was stated that the first of the Ogden detoured trains would reach San Francisco tomorrow morning, having come from Salt Lake over the San Pedro via Dagget and Mojave.

Officials said they hoped to open the direct eastern line to Ogden some time tomorrow.

As for the replacing of several spans of the Southern Pacific bridge across the American River, just east of Sacramento, this work will occupy two weeks. Hundreds of men were put to work laying temporary track to connect with the Northern Electric line. Commencing tomorrow evening, it is the intention of the Southern Pacific to run its eastern trains across the American over the Northern Electric Company's bridge.

Aside from the damage suffered by the railroad company, reports tonight indicate that the loss from the high water will not exceed $200,000.

TRAINS MOVE AGAIN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

REDDING, Jan. 16.—The washout between Coram and Kennett was repaired today and three north-bound passenger trains which have been stalled at Red Bluff passed through Redding at 8 o'clock this evening. The first mail for three days reached Shasta county points. The storm is over and the Sacramento River has receded below the danger point.

SUSANVILLE CUT OFF.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SUSANVILLE, Jan. 16.—Continuous heavy rains for several days and the melting of snow in the hills has turned every stream into a torrent, flooding the valleys and causing numerous families to move to higher ground. No mail has been received for several days. The storm is now over.

YUBA RECEDING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 16.—The storm has cleared and the water in the Yuba River is receding rapidly. Aside from the damage sustained by the railroads, the loss by the high water in this vicinity has been small.

OROVILLE MAROONED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OROVILLE, Jan. 16.—The Feather River at this point dropped six feet this afternoon and is continuing to fall rapidly. The whole country around Biggs is still under water and no trains have been run in or out of Oroville for three days. The damage by the flood waters around Oroville is estimated at $125,000, including the loss of the huge dam on Philbrook Creek and a gold dredger belonging to the Indiana Mining Company.

LEVEE BREAKS AT COLUSA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

COLUSA, Jan. 16.—Some excitement prevails here tonight as the result of a break in the levee on the east side of the Sacramento River half a mile north of Colusa, which occurred at 6:30 o'clock. All the levees on the Colusa side of the river are still intact. The river is slowly rising tonight and the high water mark will be reached by morning.

FOREIGN BRIEFS.

Guns Boom for Prizes.

MANILA, Jan. 16.—The division meet, which came to an end this afternoon was the largest and most successful ever held by the artillery in the Philippines. The closing of the meet included a review of 2500 troops by Brig.-Gen. Bliss and the distribution of prizes on Pasay Field. The department of Luzon captured first place, and the department of Mindanao was second. Troop L of the First Cavalry won the cavalry cup and Co. F of the Thirtieth Infantry carried away the infantry cup.

Quake Recorded.

MANILA, Jan. 16.—The instruments of the government observatory here today recorded a severe earthquake at a distance from this city. It is estimated that the seismic disturbance must have occurred at least 3000 kilometers from Manila.

Italian Embassy Burns.

TOKIO, Jan. 16.—Fire which broke out at the Italian embassy shortly after 9 o'clock tonight, destroyed a section of the residence of the first secretary of the embassy. The building occupied by Ambassador Marquis Giuccicioli, was saved after an hour's hard work by the fire department.

TAFT'S AUTOS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The new President of the United States is to pin his faith on the automobile. That became known today when the House Committee on Appropriations included in the Urgency Deficiency Appropriation Bill a provision for $30,000 for the maintenance of automobiles for the White House.

It was explained that Judge Taft had intimated that he would use automobiles during his occupancy of the White House, and in order that he might have the machines at the beginning of his administration, the item was included in this bill.

The entire amount carried in the bill is $1,026,602. Of this amount, $400,000 is for the suppression of the foot and mouth disease among cattle.

PROBING.

NARROW GAUGE LINE BLAMED.

Feature of Switching Charge Hearing Yesterday.

Trouble Is Laid at Door of Redondo Railroad.

It's Alleged That San Diego Received Favors.

That the switching charge has not been collected, in some instances from San Diego industries since the tariff was published, was the statement of one witness at the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday.

Mr. Chambers, assistant freight traffic manager of the Santa Fé, found a new expression covering an agreement, or contract as to freight rates and switching charges, which was "memoranda of conference." The custom of free, or varied, charges for switching, he laid at the door of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway, declaring that the building of the narrow-gauge line was responsible for the removal of the switching charges on coal, lumber and other commodities formerly made by the Santa Fé and Salt Lake.

Most of the day was spent in getting at dry facts as to the cost of switching service, and there was an attempt on the part of the railroads to refute testimony along the lines of competition and the injury done to Los Angeles.

Mr. Hitchcock resumed the stand and devoted his efforts to establishing the correctness of the 40 and 8 per cent. distributed to industrial and team tracks, respectively, as the cost of maintenance and operation of switch engines. This was strenuously contested by the Associated Jobbers, who claim that the basis used in arriving at the result is wrong, and that when the cost of the investment in land, paving expenses and incidentals is included, as they say it properly should be, it will increase the estimated expense of switching on the team track from $1.58, upon which the 8 per cent. charge was made, to $4.80, or 93 cents over the cost of switching to the industry track.

Numerous witnesses, representing industries affected by the switching charge, were put on the stand to testify as to the degree of competition encountered. Among these were C. S. Kious of the Stetson, Barrett Company; J. B. Jacobs, vice-president of the Simon Levy Company; L. C. Scheller, of the Union Hardware Company; Frank Brininstool, W. P. Bishop and M. H. Newmark.

Cross-examination was confined to showing that the concerns were not hurt by the imposition of the switching charge, and that they located on the industry tracks with the full knowledge that a charge of $2.50 was made, and that the amount was reasonable.

CHARGES NOT ASSESSED?

Mr. Scheller stated that he had been advised that the switching charge was not assessed in San Diego, in instances, notwithstanding the published tariff. C. S. Shaw, a truckman, was called to show the lack of proper facilities for handling freight at team tracks.

Other witnesses went into the details of the approximate cost of the service to the industry tracks.

The defense had made an application to be permitted to present its case in San Francisco. Commissioner Lane said that it would be unfair to Los Angeles to grant this, and ordered that the hearing proceed.

Mr. Lane asked why, if a charge was not imposed at ports like Seattle, Portland and Tacoma, there was justification for it here. The reply was that it was "the custom." Later, Mr. Lane asked Mr. Luce, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, if he was responsible for the charge, saying: "I would like to discover some one who did not find conditions, as they are, when he entered railroad service in California."

Mr. Chambers testified that the growth of Los Angeles in an industrial way, has been greater than that of any city in America, and that the facilities of the merchants for handling business is more complete and modern than in the average city of much greater population.

"I do not think the rate has hurt the jobbers here, or that it is a discrimination against them," he said, "although there have been some 'kicks' recorded from eastern shippers who maintain branches here and who do not pay such a charge in the East."

Mr. Chambers justified the charge on the ground of "custom," and laid the blame for the removal of the switching charge, in the days before the pool between the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fé, at the door of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway, which made free deliveries by team.

HUMOROUS SUGGESTION.

The commissioner asked Mr. Dunne if in a certain report filed as to switching cost, any charge was made for switching at points not shown in the tariff. The answer was: "We make no charges that are not shown in the published tariffs." Mr. Lane caused laughter by mildly asking if that was "according to the Old or the New Testament."

Mr. Chambers denied any agreement, or contract between the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fé as to rate regulation, but admitted, under cross-examination, that the roads may have worked under "memorandums of conference."

At the night session, Mr. Dunne stated that no charge was made for switching cars from Los Angeles to the team tracks of the Southern Pacific at Winthrop, University and other places, and tariffs were introduced to contradict this statement.

H. C. Titcomb, district engineer of the Southern Pacific, was a witness by whom it was endeavored to show the reasonableness of the charge assessed and the track facilities. He said the charge was reasonable, and that the facilities of the Southern Pacific are such that can take care of about 600 cars. He testified that 105 new industries have been established on the line of the road since 1905 and eighty-two of them since 1906.

LEGAL, OR ILLEGAL?

Commissioner Lane has indicated by his questioning that he looks upon the charge to the west coast alone as a discrimination—whether an illegal one, or not remains to be seen. He asks all of the traffic men called if they consider it right to make such a charge and upon what grounds they justify it.

"One thing about this case which puzzles me," he said to counsel, last night, "is why you charge for switching to industrial tracks and spot cars free on team tracks alongside." He added: "You admit the only test is because it is spotted for an industry."

Mr. Camp argued that the railroads would prefer not to have industry tracks and the commissioner dryly remarked: "The fact that you employ special agents to solicit such business and locations is evidence of that fact."

At another time, the commissioner said: "What I can't understand is why, when you say the cost of delivery to industry track is $3 and to team, $1.50, you make a switching charge of $2.50 to the industry tracks."

After hearing the statements of Yardmasters Anable and Flaws as to the steps in breaking up a train and the relative cost of handling industrial and team shipments, the hearing was adjourned.

Counsel were allowed to go into certain questions of cost of service and to read depositions which will be incorporated in the record.

No decision is expected until the latter part of April.

SEVEN PRISONERS PAROLED.

SAN QUENTIN, Jan. 16.—At the meeting of the State Board of Prison Directors today, seven prisoners were granted parole and a thorough investigation was made into the complicated condition existing in the jute mill.

Owing to the law which makes it illegal for more than 5000 bags to be sold to any one person, and because of various other restrictions placed upon the disposal of the jute bags made at San Quentin, they have been accumulating at a rapid rate, so that at present 7,000,000 unsold bags are on hand in the prison store house.

Charcoal Removes Stomach Poisons

Pure Charcoal Will Absorb One Hundred Times Its Volume in Poisonous Gases.

Charcoal was made famous by the old monks of Spain, who cured all manner of stomach, liver, blood and bowel troubles by this simple remedy.

One little nervous Frenchman held forth its virtues before a famous convention of European physicians and surgeons. Secheyron was his name. He was odd, quaint and very determined. His brothers in medicine laughed at his claims. Thereupon he swallowed two grains of strychnine, enough to kill three men, and ate some charcoal. The doctors thought him mad, but he did not even have to go to bed. The charcoal killed the effects of the strychnine and Secheyron was famous. Ever since that day physicians have used it. Run impure water through charcoal and you have a pure, delicious drink.

Bad breath, gastritis, bowel gases, torpid liver, impure blood, etc., give way before the action of charcoal.

It is really a wonderful adjunct to nature and is a most inexhaustible storehouse of health to the man or woman who suffers from gases or impurities of any kind.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal, sweetened to a palatable state with honey.

Two or three of them cure an ordinary case of bad breath. They should be used after every meal, especially if one's breath is prone to be impure.

These little lozenges have nothing to do with medicine. They are just sweet, fresh willow, burned to a nicety for charcoal making and fragrant honey, the product of the bee. Thus every ingredient comes to man from the lap of nature.

The only secret lies in the Stuart process of compressing these simple substances into a hard tablet or lozenge, so that age, evaporation or decay may not assail their curative qualities.

You may take as many of them as you wish and the more you take the quicker will you remove the effects of bad breath and impurities arising from a decayed or decaying meal. They assist digestion, purify the blood and help the intestines and bowels throw off all waste matter.

Go to your druggist at once and buy a package of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, price 25 cents. You will soon be told by your friends that your breath is not so bad as it was. INDICT BANKER AND MINISTER.

PROHIBITION LEADERS CHARGED WITH LIBEL.

Published Article Insinuating That Franchise in Champaign, Ill., Had Been Obtained by Bribery, but Failed to Give Proof Before Grand Jury—"Booze" Element.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHAMPAIGN (Ill.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] F. B. Vennum, a bank president and one of the richest men in Champaign county, and Rev. S. E. Fisher, pastor of the University Place Christian Church, were indicted today by the grand jury for criminal libel. As a Prohibitionist candidate for the State Legislature, the banker published a newspaper, "The Lincoln Flag," and an article insinuating that a valuable public utility franchise in Champaign had been obtained by bribery caused the indictment. Rev. Fisher was a member of the Literature Committee of the Prohibitionist party.

The pair, summoned before the jury, failed to give any proof that there had been bribery, and the members of the City Council, aggrieved at the story, secured the indictment.

Friends insist the "booze" element is simply trying to get even, and that the case will fall flat in the Circuit Court.

IS HE DIAMOND THIEF?

Young Man of Nice Appearance Is Charged With Theft of Gems from Two Persons.

Elmer Young, a young man of nice appearance, was arrested by Detectives Hosick and Zeigler, yesterday afternoon. Young is alleged to have stolen a diamond ring, valued at $100, from Mrs. Sarah Gross of No. 432 West [illegible] street.

He is also charged with taking $300 worth of diamonds from his mother, Mrs. J. Simons, of No. 1469 East Fifty-[illegible] street.

STRANGLES HER BABE.

GOES BACK TO WORK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KEWANEE (Ill.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Miss Mabel [illegible], aged 18, teacher in common school in Walles township, became the mother of a girl baby early yesterday, she strangled the child with a garter and hid the lifeless body in a suit case in her room. She was alone when the child was born. Six hours later she walked to her schoolhouse a mile and began her regular duties. Soon she became so ill a physician was called and she was taken to her room. Then it became known that a dead child was in her room. A Coroner's jury was empaneled and the girl-mother told her story, although she was in a critical condition. She assumed all the blame for the death of the child.

MINERS MADE HIM HIKE.

THEY WILL DO TIME.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Jan. 16.—J. A. [illegible], Michael Walsh and D. A. Mc[illegible], accused by C. N. Platt of having deported him from Candelaria, a camp west of here, have been found guilty and sentenced by Justice [illegible] to pay a fine of $250 each or [illegible] days in jail.

According to Platt, he witnessed a quarrel between these men and the foreman of a mine at which they were working and saw them draw a weapon on the foreman. Fearing that he would be a witness against them, he says they visited his cabin early in the morning, gave him a severe beating and a bottle of water and told him to go across the desert and never come back. He came to Goldfield and swore to the complaint.

SHOT BY OWN GUN.

PARTNERS QUARREL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TONOPAH (Nev.) Jan. 16.—Frank Hall, a prospector of the Golden Arrow mining district, was brought into Tonopah yesterday with a bullet wound through his neck. He was shot by Robert Conway, another prospector, who beat him on the head with a revolver, after the shooting, and left him supposedly dead.

A peculiar circumstance of the shooting is that Hall was shot with his own weapon. It is believed here that Hall tried to shoot Conway, and that Conway took the revolver away and shot him. The men were partners, and quarreled over a mining claim. Hall is in a serious condition. Conway has surrendered.

SAYS HE SLEW STEPFATHER.

Police Think Boy's Confession Ruse to Secure Freedom for His Former "Pal."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Little, [illegible]-year-old inmate of the reform school, this county, today made a confession that he was the murderer of his stepfather, Fred Baker, who was killed in Louisville several months ago. Shortly after the crime young Little was sentenced to the reform school, having been tried as an accessory, while last week Thomas Jenkins was tried in Louisville for the murder and given a life term in the penitentiary.

The confession of the youth today was voluntary and bordered on the sensational. He asked the superintendent of the institution that he be taken before a notary public. He denied in his confession that Jenkins was in any way implicated in the murder, but did not give his reasons for committing the crime. Information from officers of Louisville tonight is to the effect that they believe the confession is a ruse to secure a pardon for Jenkins, while Little will be free after reaching the age of 21 years.

INTENDED TO KIDNAP BREWER.

Watchman for Valentine Blatz Says Safe-Crackers Waited for Him to Come.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 16.—That it was the intention of two safe blowers to kidnap Valentine Blatz, one of the heads of a Milwaukee brewery, is the story told by the watchman of the brewery, concerning an unsuccessful attempt made last night to break the safe in the brewery office.

The men bound and gagged the watchman. Then they attempted to open the safe, but were frightened away. According to the story told by the watchman, the safe crackers had expected Mr. Blatz to return to the office in the evening and it was their intention to capture and hold him until the contents of the safe were turned be civil war as a prelude to the threatening Balkan uprising. In case of the King's abdication or of his overthrow Prince George will assume the crown and then, it is generally believed by the diplomats of Europe, nothing can prevent a war that will shake the continent.

PRINCE IS WAR LIKE.

At a meeting of the Servian Cabinet today the resignation of every member was presented to King Peter. This is the third time the Cabinet has resigned within a few weeks, and heretofore the King has refused to entertain any thought of acceptance. Today, instead of peremptorily acting in the matter, he announced gravely that he would take the resignations under consideration. He is reported to have been profoundly moved by the action of his Cabinet.

Several members of the Cabinet are friendly to the Crown Prince and are reported to have used their influence vainly in endeavoring to persuade the King to abdicate. The entire Cabinet is radically opposed to the King's peaceful attitude towards the wrong they believe Servia has suffered from Austria-Hungary. That a crisis exists tonight in the Servian capital is the opinion of the Foreign Office here.

SLAVS ALL RESTLESS.

Baron Aehrenthal realizes that he has to deal not only with the 3,000,000 Servians within the borders of their own country, but with the huge total of 10,000,000 Servians in Servia, Bosnia, Herzegovina and Montenegro. Moreover, the growing resentment in Slav sentiment gives the Austrian statesman pause. The powers have repeated their warning to Servia to refrain from plunging Europe into war.

The attitude of the fiery Servians is a distinct disappointment to the powers. London was congratulating itself that Sir Edward Grey, coöperating with M. Clemenceau, had won a brilliant victory in the Balkan controversy, and if the Servian skupshtina, which reassembled today, does not get out of hand and repeat the indiscretions M. Milovanovich committed early in the month, when he used the expression in the Belgrade Parliament which brought Vienna to the brink of an ultimatum, there is less reason to doubt that the danger of war is past, that the congress will be held soon, and that the "powder-house of Europe" will be divested of possibilities for more than local mischief.

AUSTRIA FOOZLED.

From the outset Grey contended that the best way to solve the problems was by direct negotiations among the States chiefly concerned. His judgment has been vindicated. British prestige at Constantinople is heightened greatly as the result of Baron Von Aehrenthal's retreat from his assertion that Austria would pay no compensation for the annexation of Bosnia-Herzegovina, and the general opinion is that he will soon go into retirement. His handling of the Austrian part of the business is conceded to have been as tactless as it was short-sighted. Kiamil Pasha and the Young Turks have increased their reputation for discretion, and have strengthened their position in Constantinople.

M. Iswolsky comes out of the affair with more credit htan at one time seemed likely. His suggestion to the Slav States in the Balkans that they form a federation under the leadership of Turkey, irrespective of the fate of Bosnia-Herzegovina, is the most practical hint they have received. The idea is believed to have originated with Clemenceau, who has been the wary and resourceful coadjutor of Grey, keeping Russia in check and making it clear to Austria that an unprovoked attack on Servia would not be tolerated. Downing street and the Quai d'Orsay believe that Servia and Montenegro realize that the utmost for which they can reasonably strive is such a federation as Iswolsky outlines.

WAR AS SPRING FEVER.

While all the talk is conciliatory and based upon the expressed belief that the crisis is past, the European markets, which come nearer indicating the real feeling and conditions, are depressed by the Balkan war cloud. Everybody realizes that the turn of a hand will precipitate war, and with the approach of spring it will be extremely difficult, if not impossible to hold the Servians in check, unless very substantial concessions are granted. Even in that event, the Servians, who are aching for war, and have prepared for conflict, will be reluctant to lay down their arms without inflicting some tangible punishment upon those who have oppressed and driven them to the point of desperation.

ABDICATION RUMORED.

It is rumored here tonight that Prince Nicholas of Montenegro has abdicated in favor of his son, Prince Mirko. No confirmation of the report can be obtained tonight at the Foreign Office, but the report is generally believed among diplomats, and by the best informed people of Vienna. Prince Nicholas has been restless ever since the acquisition of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria, and is in full accord with his people, who declare the act of Austria pregnant with danger to the sovereignty of all the small States of the Balkans. Prince Nicholas is old—too old to lead his little nation in war—and has implicit faith in Prince Mirko, who also shares the hostile feeling toward Austria. That Prince Mirko would join forces with Prince George in the event of war with Austria is not doubted here.

Dr. Humelbaugh Dentist

If you have missing one, two or several teeth, I can replace them with teeth equal in every particular to the best nature could give anyone. My dentistry is the classiest known to the profession, never deviating from the high standard maintained by the progressive up-to-date practitioner.

I make all kinds of plates and in every case the quality is the highest obtainable. But where the restoration plate is indicated, I prefer to make this plate. Its chief virtue is in restoring your face to its best appearance; for those whose mouth is older than the balance of the face, then nothing but a restoration plate will suffice.

This plate includes every requirement for beautifying the mouth. Because of its growing popularity, others are trying to imitate, but in this, as well as all other imitations, "they fail to deliver the goods."

I make the only genuine restoration plate, and its popularity is a compliment to me. My prices will please you, but what is worth more than price to you is the appearance, comfort and quality of dentistry I deliver to you. The Fakir baits his hook with an absurdly low price. Were you ever caught, or did he raise you to three times the amount advertised?

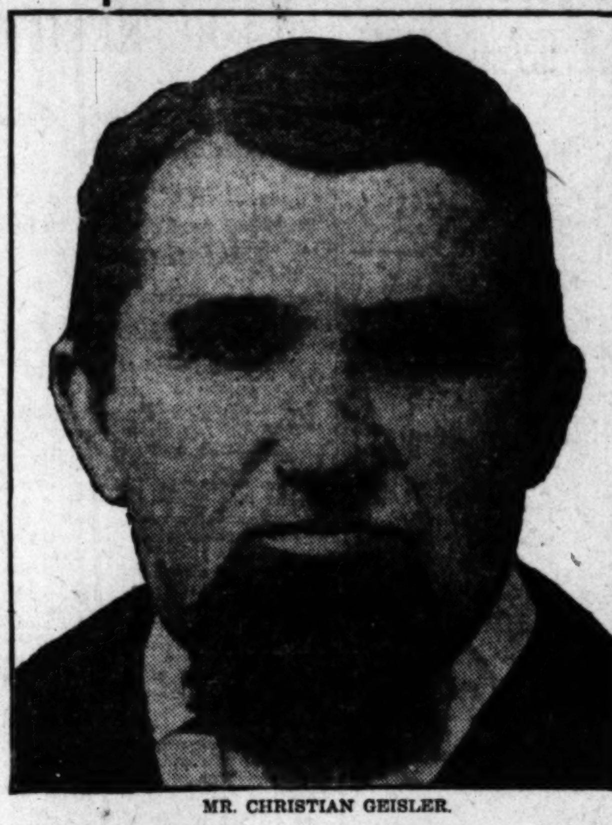
Grip and Chronic Bronchitis Cured



MR. CHRISTIAN GEISLER.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Geisler, of 3434 A Street, Philadelphia, Pa., have just celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Geisler has been cured of chronic bronchitis, Mrs. Geisler of grip and indigestion by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Mr. Geisler, like thousands of others who have been cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, is glad to tell of it, so that others who are sick may know of this great medicine.

Mr. Geisler writes: "I had a very bad case of chronic bronchitis. After trying other remedies was cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. My wife had grip and indigestion and is being rapidly restored to health by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. We can see a daily improvement in her. We have been married over fifty years. I send you this testimonial with pleasure, as I wish others to be benefited by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as we have been. I heartily endorse it as a tonic-stimulant."

Every testimonial is guaranteed genuine and is published in good faith with full consent.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

If you wish to keep young, strong and vigorous and have on your cheeks the glow of perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions. It tones and strengthens the heart action and purifies the entire system. It is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children. It strengthens and sustains the system; is a promoter of health and longevity; makes the old young and keep the young strong.

CAUTION.—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey, and is sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Price $1.00. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Write Consulting Physician, Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., for free illustrated medical booklet and free advice.

HUDDEL
Don't Let Prices Persuade You

When you are going to have dental work done, don't let the question of price decide the whole matter. In dentistry it's much better, in the long run, to pay a fair and reasonable fee than to pay a price so low that it is utterly impossible for the dentist to give you good materials and lasting work. Indeed, the very first argument that the cheap-price advertiser uses is: "Why, yes, we can, of course, do your dental work at that price, but it's not the kind of work you want in YOUR mouth." Such decoy methods of getting you to visit us have never been used.

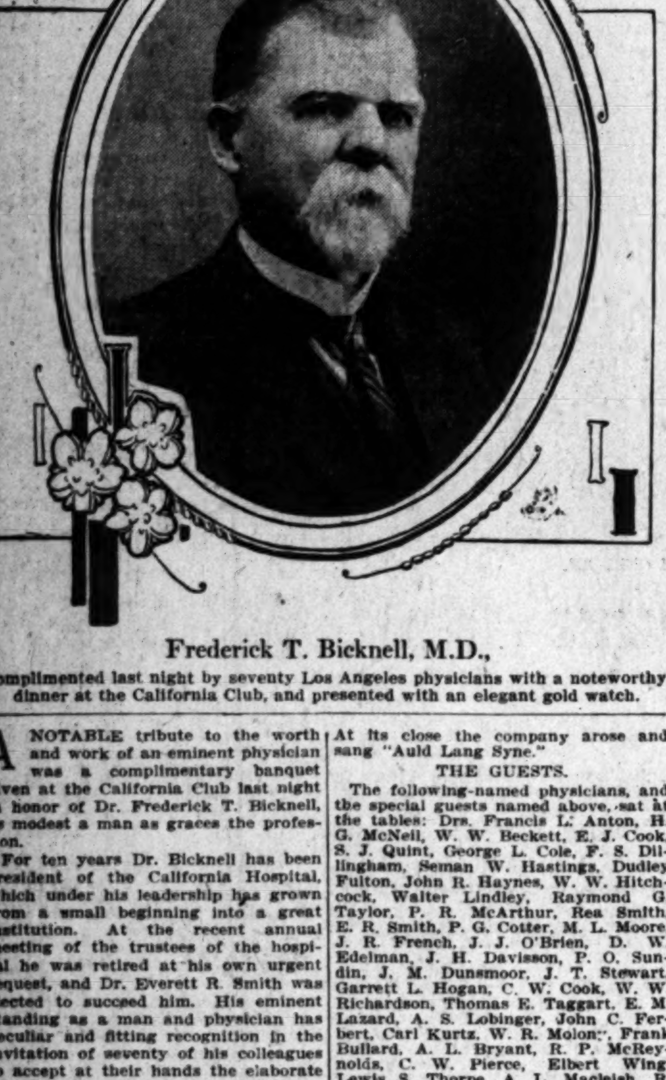
FITTING.

PHYSICIAN HONORED BY HIS COLLEAGUES.



Frederick T. Bicknell, M.D.,

compllmented last night by seventy Los Angeles physicians with a noteworthy dinner at the California Club, and presented with an elegant gold watch.

A NOTABLE tribute to the worth and work of an eminent physician was a complimentary banquet given at the California Club last night in honor of Dr. Frederick T. Bicknell, as modest a man as graces the profession.

For ten years Dr. Bicknell has been president of the California Hospital, which under his leadership has grown from a small beginning into a great institution. At the recent annual meeting of the trustees of the hospital he was retired at his own urgent request, and Dr. Everett R. Smith was elected to succeed him. His eminent standing as a man and physician has peculiar and fitting recognition in the invitation of seventy of his colleagues to accept at their hands the elaborate function given in his honor last night.

Their high appreciation of his character was further expressed in a beautiful memento of the occasion, and a token of the love his confreres bear him—a magnificent gold watch, appropriately inscribed and presented by Dr. Granville MacGowan.

The dinner was served in the elegant banquet room of the club, with a rich setting of crystal and plate and beautiful decoration of fragrant flowers.

POST-PRANDIAL FEAST.

The president of the evening was Dr. Everett R. Smith, the new president of the hospital, and Dr. Walter Lindley acted as toastmaster. The post-prandial feast was one full of appetizing reminiscence and encomium, frequently touching the tender heart of the unassuming guest of honor.

"Other Days" was the subject of a happy response by Dr. Melvin L. Moore, and Dr. W. W. Beckett told "Why We Love Him So." Dr. George L. Cole spoke of him as "Neighbor and Friend," and Dr. Henry G. Brainerd's subject was, "Dr. Bicknell as a Consultant." Dr. William A. Edwards spoke of "Latter Days," and "Brother-in-law's Partner," engaged the attention of Dr. W. W. Hitchcock. Capt. J. D. Fredericks, District Attorney, a special guest, responded to "Dr. Bicknell as a Soldier;" Dr. Andrew Stewart Lobingier, to "The Physician True;" Dr. John C. Ferbert, to "Dr. Bicknell and the Young Doctor."

The following poem, written for the occasion by John S. McGroarty, was enthusiastically received as read by the author, who was also a special guest:

THE SON OF OLD HIPPOCRATES.

The son of old Hippocrates
The self within himself has slain,
He drank the cup of bitter lees,
And sits the constant guest of Pain;
No more to joy may he give heed
While yet another's lips may groan;
While yet there lives one human need,
Henceforth, he must forget his own.

The bugle's call shall sound for him
To follow armies in their tread;
But he shall stay, when stars are dim,
To pluck the wounded from the dead.
Not with the victor in his tent,
But bared to meet the biting breeze,
Above the fallen shall be bent
The son of old Hippocrates.

And when the field is won or lost,
The bugles hushed and stilled the drum,
To Peace that counts the bitter cost,
He, with the broken ranks, shall come.
For victor brows the laurels fair,
But none shall think to call for him,
Save Care and Grief and gaunt Despair
That wait him still in shadows dim.

Though well he love the lure and thrall
Of lute and song and laughing eyes,
He must away and leave them all
When from the darkness Sorrow cries;
For he is bond to them that weep,
And slave to them the fates deride—
Nor storm nor fire nor flood shall keep
His soul of mercy from their side.

Scion of that old, wandering god
Who soothed the fevered pulse of Greece,
The world's long highways he has trod
Through blood-cursed war and palsied peace;
His sword alone has fought for life
Between the cradle and the grave,
His hands through all the squalid strife
Alone were stretched to heal and save.

He needs no poet to impart
His glory to Fame's fleeting breath,
His song is in the rythmic heart
That faltered at the door of death;
His paeans are the hurrying feet
Before whose tread the specter flees,
And lips with gladness warmed to greet
The son of old Hippocrates.

Dr. MacGowan, in an appropriate speech, presented to the guest of honor a handsome gold watch in the name of his colleagues gathered about the tables. On the outside case it bears the initials, "F. T. B.," and on the inside the following inscription: "To Dr. F. T. Bicknell, ten years president of California Hospital, from his colleagues, 1909."

The response of Dr. Bicknell was a tender tribute to his fellow-physicians. At its close the company arose and sang "Auld Lang Syne."

THE GUESTS.

The following-named physicians, and the special guests named above, sat at the tables: Drs. Francis L. Anton, H. G. McNeil, W. W. Beckett, E. J. Cook, S. J. Quint, George L. Cole, F. S. Dillingham, Seman W. Hastings, Dudley Fulton, John R. Haynes, W. W. Hitchcock, Walter Lindley, Raymond G. Taylor, P. R. McArthur, Rea Smith, E. R. Smith, P. G. Cotter, M. L. Moore, J. R. French, J. SEES US LOOKING AHEAD.

A. H. Pohl, part owner and director of the Ridgeway Tea Company of London, England, is a guest at the Alexandria. Accompanying him is H. Wootten, the American manager of the concern, who has offices at Vancouver, B. C. Mr. Pohl is combining business and pleasure on his trip. "The prosperity of the United States at present, is really remarkable," he said last evening. The quick reaction from the panic of last year seemed almost a miracle to him. "Over in Europe, it would take at least two or three years for a country afflicted with a money stringency to recover," he declared. "Here people scarcely seem to remember that there was such a thing less than a year ago." He attributes this to the fact that the American people are always going forward. "I have never heard any one here speak of the past, at least not in business. It is always what is going to happen, the outlook for the future," he remarked. Mr. Pohl will leave here in a few days for San Francisco, there to embark for Japan, where his company controls some of the largest tea gardens in the world.

UTAH INFORMATION HERE.

Benjamin Goddard, president of the Bureau of Information and Literature of the Mormon Church, is registered at the Hayward Hotel from Salt Lake City. The institution of which Mr. Goddard is the head, is conducted for the purpose of furnishing reliable information, not only respecting the Mormons, but the State of Utah and all its people. His present visit to Los Angeles is merely for pleasure. He reports a large increase in the tourist traffic, particularly in the past two weeks. "Salt Lake hotels are crowded with guests, most of them from the East, all out to see the beauties of the West," said he.

AUTOMOBILE SCHOOL POPULAR.

Only twelve students can be accommodated at the Y.M.C.A. automobile evening school, and already it has a large waiting list, and a day school will be opened. Students are taught how to operate the various machines in the shop and to do all kinds of repair work. Many owners are thus learning how to care for their own automobiles, enabling them to be independent of slight accidents that occur on the road.

YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.

Frank P. Blair, deputy District Attorney, has taken charge of a large class of young men in the Young Men's Christian Association for the study of the Bible. O. T. Johnson, principal of the association commercial school, is president of the class, which meets each Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and an invitation is extended to all young men to become members of the class.

HERE FOR OTHER HOTELS.

C. W. Stanley, formerly room clerk at the Hayward, has returned from a visit to Salt Lake City. In the future he will represent the Cullen Hotel of that city, as well as one of the larger San Francisco hostelries, in Los Angeles.

FROM OKLAHOMA CITY.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bierce of Oklahoma City, are at the Van Nuys. Mrs. Bierce was formerly Miss E. W. Alden of No. 814 West Twenty-third street, this city.

TIGHT PLACE FOR SHERIFF.

Official and Masonic Oaths Embarrass Him.

Is Asked in Court to Decide Which Is Stronger.

Fresno County Believed Now Safe from Flood.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Jan. 16.—Robert D. Chittenden, Sheriff of Fresno county, in seeking the conviction of Jack Dawson for wearing a Masonic emblem, alleging that the man was not a Mason, was called upon day before yesterday to state which he considered stronger, his oath to the people of the State of California to faithfully perform his duties as Sheriff, or his oath to the Masonic order.

Dawson was accosted by the Sheriff in the County Jail and questioned about the emblem along Masonic lines. According to Chittenden, the man was unable to answer. The Sheriff then swore to a complaint for his arrest.

When the case came up in court Chittenden was called to the stand as a witness. The attorneys for Dawson asked him how he knew Dawson was not a Mason.

The Sheriff replied that he had given him the grip, and he had failed to respond, and that he had also been ignorant of the password.

"What is the grip?" asked Henry Brickley, one of the attorneys for Dawson.

"I can't tell," replied the Sheriff.

"Why can't you tell?" queried Brickley.

"Because I am bound to secrecy," was the rejoinder.

The District Attorney sought to have the questioning along this line ruled out, but the court decided that it was proper cross-examination.

"Do you consider your oath to the Masonic order greater than your oath to the people of the State of California?" demanded Brickley.

No answer was given. Later the Sheriff stated that his memory was exceedingly hazy as to the Masonic signs and grip. At the conclusion of his examination, the attorneys for the defense contended that inasmuch as Chittenden's memory was hazy on the witness stand, two or three days after his examination of Dawson in jail, it must have been hazy at the time of that examination. The jury promptly acquitted Dawson.

FLOOD DANGER PASSED.

With the cessation of the rain, all danger from floods in this county is thought to be passed. Both the San Joaquin and Kings rivers are reported to be falling rapidly.

President Nares, of the Fresno Canal and Irrigation Company, stated, this morning, that while Kings River is running bank full in the Laguna de Tache country, no damage is feared unless more rain comes.

A large force of men is still patrolling the twenty-five-mile stretch of levee that protects the river bottoms. Several small breaks, due to gopher holes, occurred, but they were quickly patched up by alert patrolmen.

The rain melted the snow in the lower portions of the Sierras, but the weather is today clearing in the mountains.

At Orosi, just across the border in Tulare county, Sand Creek is fast subsiding and it is thought the town will soon be high and dry again, with little damage done to submerged orchards and vineyards.

The headgate, fifteen miles northeast of Hanford, on Kings River, has been washed out, but little harm was done to crops as the waters are held by the second headgate, two miles below the head of the ditch. It is estimated that a new gate will cost $3000.

ANAHEIM.

ANAHEIM, Jan. 16.—The Anaheim Union Water Company has accepted local offers to take two-thirds of the recently voted $300,000 bond issue. The entire issue has now been sold.

During the week ending today, six carloads of sweet potatoes have been shipped from this city. Growers are not receiving as high prices as were paid for last year's crop. There seems to be a slump in the market at present.

Mrs. A. B. Barranza, aged 37, a well-known resident of Placentia, died last night, after a brief illness.

E. D. Wyman has sold a ten-acre improved place in the northwestern part of the city to W. D. Anderson for $10,000.

WOULD FIGHT JEFF.

New Amateur Turns Professional and at Once Decides to Dig Into the Top-Notchers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James J. MacSherry, who for two years has been boxing instructor at Cornell University and who during four years previous to that time was at Yale in a similar capacity, is new candidate for heavyweight honors in the ring. He had a try-out yesterday in a four-round bout with Jim Stewart, and a verdict was given by a jury of experts who watched him that he is a likely candidate for the championship.

MacSherry is a native of New York, 27 years old, and weighs 174 pounds. He came here last week to begin work as a lawyer with a prominent firm of attorneys, but will now go into active training to prepare himself to meet any fighter. He realized as a boxing teacher that he formed a habit of not hitting as hard as he could, and he will do rough work with a tough man to develop a punch. He told Stewart, who weighed 211, to knock him out if possible. Stewart landed flush on the jaw several times but could not stop MacSherry.

GOOD DRAW FIGHT.

"FEVER" IN THE SOUTH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—[Exclusiv Dispatch.] Johnny Lynch of Boston and Willie Jones of Brooklyn fought a ten-round draw at the Royal Atheletic Club tonight, before a crowd of 1500 fight fans who cheered both men from start to finish. It was a good battle, fast and furious, full of action and neither man had much the best of it at any stage of the game.

Lynch weighed 135 pounds, while Jones only pulled down 117, but for all that the Boston lad did not have anything on Jones, who made him work every inch of the way to keep from getting knocked out as, Jones used his left with telling effect on Lynch's wind throughout the fight. Dr. Wallace Wood refereed the bout, and the decision met with universal approval.

Big Dubs Battle.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Al Kubiak, "The Michigan Giant," tonight punished Ed Casey, the college football star, so severely that Referee McQuigan stopped the bout in the fifth round. Casey was badly beaten up, but he was very game. It was a fight between two big, ungainly, scientific men with Kubiak's greater experience standing him in good stead.

New Orleans Racing.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—Results:

Five furlongs: Copperfield won, John Garner second, Cooney K. third; time 1:10.

Six furlongs: Ambitious won, Clifton Cole second, Walter McClain third; time 1:29 3-5.

Six furlongs: L. M. Ackert won, Alamo second, R. M. McLeod third; time 1:29 1-5.

Five and a half furlongs: La Salle won, Hiram S. second, Kiamesha I third; time 1:20 4-5.

Six furlongs: Patornus won, Ed Tracey second, Ben Walmestry third; time 1:25 1-5.

Anson Is All in.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—"Busted." This is the financial condition of Adrian C. Anson, former baseball leader, as expressed by himself in Judge Fryer's debtor's court today. Mr. Anson was explaining why he could not pay a bill for $111.

His income, he said, depended upon the success of his semi-professional team. "Anson's Colts," which, he said, would be in uniform next season.

St. Vincent's Win.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Santa Fé baseball team and a team from St. Vincent's College at Los Angeles crossed bats this afternoon on the Santa Fé diamond, for the benefit of the Italian earthquake sufferers. The proceeds reached $150. The game resulted in a score of 4 to 1 in favor of St. Vincent's.

GOOD ROADS TO MATERIALIZE.

First Steps Taken in Imperial County. Teacher Dies at El Centro After Operation.

EL CENTRO, Jan. 16.—The Imperial County Highway Commission took the first steps today toward securing a system of good roads. The commission and the Supervisors will make a joint inspection of the proposed thoroughfares, beginning next Thursday.

The plan provides for a main artery, starting from Calexico, and passing through Heber, El Centro, Imperial, Keystone, Brawley and Rockwood. Another line is to start from the northerly end of Imperial Valley and run south through Water District No. 5 to Holtville, and thence to Calexico. Still another highway is to extend to the mountains west of the valley. It is hoped this may be completed by summer, that residents may visit mountain resorts and escape the heated term.

TEACHER'S DEATH.

Miss Alice Mary Hardeston, daughter of Abraham Hardeston of No. 1018 East Thirty-eighth street, Los Angeles, died in the Central Hospital Thursday afternoon, after an operation for appendicitis. She came here only two weeks ago. Her parents arrived before her death. She was a member of the last graduating class of the Los Angeles State Normal School.

W.C.T.U. RECEPTION.

Mrs. Hester T. Griffith, State president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, has been visiting Imperial Valley cities during the past week. Tuesday afternoon she was given a public reception at the Palm roof garden by the El Centro Union; and tomorrow night she will address a mass meeting in the Holt Operahouse.

MORE PAY WANTED.

The Supervisors have adopted a resolution, urging the Legislature to provide for more pay for Imperial county officers. It is probable that Dist.-Atty. Eshelman will go to Sacramento to urge needed legislation on various matters affecting this county.

How to Get Rid of Catarrh

A Simple, Safe, Reliable Way, and it Costs Nothing to Try

Those who suffer from catarrh know its miseries. There is no need of this suffering. You can get rid of it by a simple, safe, inexpensive home treatment discovered by Dr. Blosser, who for over thirty-four years has been treating catarrh successfully.

His treatment is unlike any other, it is not a spray, douche, salve, cream, or inhaler, but is a more direct and thorough treatment than any of them. It cleans out the head, nose, throat and lungs so that you can again breathe freely and sleep without that stopped-up feeling that all catarrh sufferers have. It heals the diseased membranes and makes a radical cure, so that you will not be constantly blowing your nose and spitting, and at the same time it does not poison the system and ruin the stomach, as internal medicines do.

If you want to test this treatment without cost, send your address to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 526 Walton street, Atlanta, Ga., and he will send you by return mail enough of the medicine to satisfy you that it is all he claims for it as a remedy for catarrh, catarrhal headaches, catarrhal deafness, asthma, bronchitis, colds and all catarrhal complications. He will also send you free an illustrated booklet. Write him immediately.

REALTY AGENT WINS SUIT.

Riverside Court Gives Him Large Commission—Second Trial—Flag for Bryant School.

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 16.—Judgment for $2925 commission in a real estate deal was given by Judge Densmore yesterday to William Kennedy, a Los Angeles broker, in his suit against W. D. Merickel. Three years ago, Merickel exchanged property in Minneapolis, valued at $145,000, for the Everest orange ranch on Magnolia avenue, near Arlington. Kennedy negotiated the deal, assisted by a St. Paul agent, but failing to receive his commission, brought suit two years ago.

In the first trial of the case the court granted a non-suit on the ground that Kennedy had no written contract to act as agent. An appeal was taken, and the judgment of the Superior Court was reversed on the ground that the letters that passed between the two parties contained sufficient terms to constitute a contract.

The case has been followed with much interest by real estate men.

GIVE FRIENDS THE SLIP.

Slipping away from their friends in the mining town of Goldfield, William Elmer Hammond and Miss Arah Stevens reached Riverside today, and were married by Judge Densmore in the Courthouse. Attachés of the clerk's office were the witnesses.

With impressive exercises of a patriotic character, the local council, J. O.U.A.M., presented a large American flag to the Bryant School yesterday afternoon. The address was made by George H. Kelsey, and the emblem was accepted by A. N. Wheelock, City Superintendent of Schools.

LONG TRAMP ON WAGER.

Maine Man Walking Around Borders of United States—Robber Sentenced.

VENTURA, January 16.—"Colonial Jack," whose real name is J. A. Krohn, and who is walking around the borders of the United States, arrived in this city, today, twenty-nine days ahead of time. He started from Portland, Me., and his wager is to walk 9000 miles in 400 days. He must make twenty-two miles each day, Sundays excepted. He is in first-class condition, and left for Los Angeles this afternoon. The walker pushes a wheelbarrow weighing sixty pounds. This has a pyramid top on which are tacked cards from various points he has visited. He carries his belongings inside the pyramid.

Miss Bessie Hopkins, a niece of Miss Frances Hill, died in Los Angeles, Thursday. She was 19 years old.

Filipe Rodriguez, of Oxnard, who was convicted of robbery, has been sentenced to serve three years at Folsom.

Nightwatchman McGlinchey has made one arrest in six months. The party came to the officer and requested that he be taken to jail that he might have a place to sleep.

The Santa Paula Citrus Fruit Association shipped four carloads of lemons during the past week.

Nordhoff has begun an agitation for a high school.

TUSTIN.

TUSTIN, Jan. 17.—James Irvine, who owns a 100,000-acre ranch, will sail from San Francisco on February 16 for Japan. He will be accompanied by his wife.

Cood Adams has purchased twenty acres of the San Joaquin ranch, adjoining land owned by him.

Members of the Tustin Club were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson Wednesday evening.

The "Office Boy"

My last Sunday adv., headed "Don't be a pessimist," brought a long, well written, interesting protest, the writer of which suggested that "I was born with a silver spoon in my mouth, etc." He failed to sign the letter or I would have arranged a personal interview if possible or would have written him an optimistic letter full of cheeruptiveness. He was wrong when he said I had only seen the sunny side of life. I have felt the pangs of hunger and have seen the time when I did not know where the next meal was coming from. I know how it feels to be alone in a strange city without money, and I have gone through the experience of pawning my watch to get money to buy food with. There are thousands of men. who, if born with a silver spoon in their mouth, would have been unknown and who owe their success to their poverty. In writing my little "Office Boy" talks, I try to appeal strongly to the young fellow starting out in life. The fight is ahead for him and if he works hard, keeps his face and conscience clean, he can be whatever he sets out to be. I believe the greatest heroes are unknown. I believe success is made of never-ending endeavor opposed by never-ending disappointment—a fight to a finish always won by patience. The "Office Boy" gets hundreds of letters from all parts of the world. Most of them are boosts, but occasionally he gets a roast. That's all right. We can't all see things from the same point of view, and honest criticism spurs a fellow on to do better work. I am an optimist and I'm proud of it. I believe the man or woman, who, by a pleasant smile, a kind act, or a good story, are able to smooth one wrinkle from the brow of human care, or to change one moan or sob into a song, or wipe away a tear and to place in its stead a jewel of joy, is doing as much good in the world as the men and women with puritanical ideas, who are afraid to laugh out loud for fear they might appear undignified, or the man with a perpetual grouch, who waits for dead men's shoes or stands around with his hands in his pockets kicking at fate and hating every one who has a good time. Cheer up, old fellow. Get the Silverwood habit. Either store.

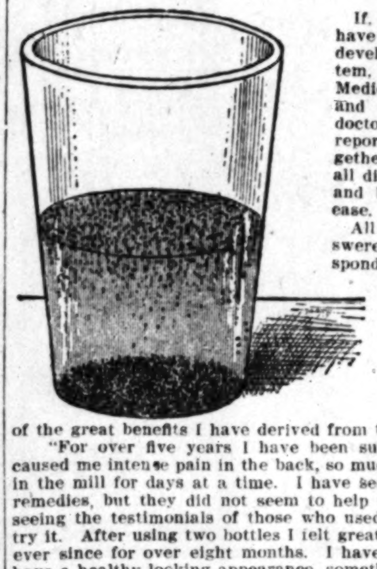
Test Your Kidneys!

Thousands, Both Men and Women, Have Kidney Disease and Do Not Know it. It is Hereditary. If Any of Your Family in This or Past Generations Have Been Troubled With Kidney Disease of Any Form, You Cannot Be Too Careful. You Should Make a Test of Your Urine at Once and Satisfy Yourself as to the Condition of Your Kidneys.

Let your morning urine stand 24 hours. If you find a reddish brick dust sediment in it, or if particles are floating in it, or if it is cloudy, you will know your kidneys are in a diseased condition and unable to perform their work. The result will be inflamed bladder and urinary organs, uric acid poison, the stomach will become affected and unable to digest the food, the system weak, and a breakdown of the general health will follow, with Bright's disease or diabetes, which will prove fatal if not treated with promptness and great care.



ANALYSIS FREE.

If, after you have made this test, you have any doubt in your mind as to the development of the disease in your system, send a sample of your urine to our Medical Department, putting your name and address on the package, and our doctors will analyze it and send you a report with advice, free of charge, together with a valuable book describing all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, and treatment for each disease.

All letters from women read and answered by a woman doctor. All correspondence in strictest confidence.

Thousands of unsolicited letters are received daily from grateful men and women who have been cured by Warner's Safe Cure.

Mr. A. G. Arnold of Walpole, Mass., recently wrote:

"It is with the greatest of pleasure that I write you, telling of the great benefits I have derived from the use of your Warner's Safe Cure.

"For over five years I have been suffering with Kidney trouble, which caused me intense pain in the back, so much so that I had to give up my work in the mill for days at a time. I have seen many physicians and tried many remedies, but they did not seem to help me. I was almost in despair when seeing the testimonials of those who used Warner's Safe Cure, I resolved to try it. After using two bottles I felt greatly benefited, and have been using it ever since for over eight months. I have gained over 20 lbs. in weight, and have a healthy looking appearance, something that I did not have for the last few years.

"I never lose the opportunity to recommend Warner's Safe Cure, and consider it the greatest of its kind in the world. I thank you for my new-born health."

When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not carried off, and this causes Gout, Lumbago, Rheumatism of the Joints, Rheumatism of the Muscles, Rheumatism of the Heart, Rheumatism everywhere. Warner's Safe Cure drives out the uric acid and purifies the kidneys and bladder.

In kidney disease the bowels are often constipated and the liver torpid. Warner's Safe Pills quickly relieve this condition, and no ill after effect is experienced.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE is put up in two regular sizes and sold by all druggists, at 50c and [illegible] A BOTTLE.

It is prescribed by doctors and used in the leading hospitals for rheumatism. Refuse substitutes.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE To convince every sufferer from disease of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood that WARENR'S SAFE CURE will absolutely cure, a trial bottle will be sent FREE OF CHARGE, post paid, to any one who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Rochester, N. Y., and mention having seen this liberal offer in The Times. The genuineness of this offer is fully guaranteed.

WASHINGTON.

LEADERS URGE CAUTIOUS WAR.

Public Opinion Is Strongly for President.

Floods of Letters Open up Congressional Eyes.

Trying to Get Tillman to "Drop It Quick."

BY WALTER WELLMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Go slow in the quarrel with the President," is the word which the leaders of Congress are passing. They have heard from the country and sentiment is with the President.

Both Senators and Representatives, the latter particularly, are afraid of public opinion. This does not mean that the war is over. There will be in the future as in the past a determined opposition to most of the recommendations which the President makes. But efforts are to be made by the leaders in both houses to keep the opposition within reasonable bounds, and to avoid violent outbreaks of public sentiment, which might react upon members of Congress at home.

Many Representatives who voted against the President on the secret service "rebuke" admit they are overwhelmed with letters from their constituents, and that nine out of ten of their correspondents stand by the President and condemn Congress. These letters, the members say, come from college presidents, business and professional men, and farmers, and are remarkable for the unanimity with which they express the belief that the President is all right and Congress all wrong.

"PEOPLE HYPNOTIZED."

Few of the writers discuss the merits of the case. They appear to be with the President on general principles and against Congress for the same reason. "Mr. Roosevelt has the people hypnotized," is the way some of the Representatives put it.

In the Senate leaders are making efforts to exert a restraining influence upon Mr. Tillman, and to induce him to forego his threatened periodical outbreak against the President. Incidentally, it is now believed the Senate will drop the Tillman case as the best way to let the whole affair blow over.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Tillman has twice urged the Senate to investigate him, sentiment among leading Senators is adverse to such action. Failure to set on foot a formal investigation would mean two things, in the opinion of the Senators. First, it would indicate beyond doubt that the Senate does not consider the President's charges as serious enough to investigate, and believes, now that both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Tillman have spoken, it is up to the people of the country to take whatever view of the matter they may choose.

BESIDE THE QUESTION.

In the second place, it is pointed out rather slyly, that as a matter of fact the Tillman charges have nothing to do with the secret service investigation which the President used as an excuse for sending them to Senator Hale, chairman of the Committee on Appropriations. The Senate's decision to ignore them completely would but emphasize the view, widely held at the Capitol, that the President's action was unwarranted and was merely "muck raking" of the kind he himself on a previous occasion denounced.

The Senate, of course, is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members. It doesn't have to investigate any of its number if it doesn't want to.

Throughout the country there appears to be a general fear that the success of the Taft administration is menaced by the quarrel between President Roosevelt and the Congress. This anxiety is manifested in many letters received here and also in newspaper comment.

SHERMAN LAW ANALYZED.

FEATURE IN HOUSE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—An elaborate analysis of the Sherman anti-trust law, by Mr. Jenkins of Wisconsin, was the feature of today's session of the House of Representatives. The Pension Appropriation Bill technically was under consideration, but the time was all given over to general debate. Other speakers were Mr. Nye of Minnesota, who entertained the House with an address on law and lawmaking; Mr. Douglas of Ohio, who advocated autonomy for the Porto Ricans, and Mr. Burton of Delaware, who made a plea for postal savings banks.

UNIONS SORE.

OBJECT TO KEEFE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Considerable opposition to the confirmation of Daniel Keefe of Michigan, who was nominated by the President on December 1 to succeed the late Frank P. Sargent, as Commissioner-General of Immigration, has developed in the Senate, under the leadership of Mr. Gore of Oklahoma.

The objection to confirmation advanced by Mr. Gore is the fact that a report has been made to him by certain labor leaders that Mr. Keefe received the appointment as a reward for breaking with President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, during the recent Presidential campaign.

Some labor leaders have gone so far as to send letters to members of Congress, charging that Mr. Keefe as a prominent labor leader himself has been a traitor to the cause of labor.

Several efforts have been made by Senator Dillingham, chairman of the Committee on Immigration, to obtain action on this nomination in committee, but thus far he has failed.

Senator Gore has given notice of a desire to appear before the committee and to argue his objections to Keefe's confirmation.

BABIES HAVE GOOD NAMES.

Negro Couple Parents of Theodore Roosevelt and Helen Taft Thornton.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOGANSPORT (La.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Azu and Belle Thornton, a well-to-do negro couple of this place, had a son born to them two years ago whom they promptly named Theodore Roosevelt Thornton, in a spirit of patriotism and admiration for the President of the United States. Last night there was a new arrival at their modest, three-room cottage, which they lost no time in christening Helen Taft Thornton.

SQUARING OLD SCORES.

SENATORS AFTER BACON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senators who have been chilled in the anteroom of the Department of State, or who have had recommendations disregarded, are taking an unholy satisfaction in thinking how they will decline to confirm Robert Bacon when he is nominated by President Roosevelt to be Secretary of State to succeed Elihu Root, who is to be Senator from New York. Bacon is accused of austere and uncompromising loftiness of demeanor, of compelling the convenience of calling Senators to wait on his own, and in general of manners annoying to Senatorial dignity. And now they see a chance to square things. They will not give Bacon the honor he covets, if they can help it.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Hook for Col. Tucker.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Col. William F. Tucker, assistant paymaster-general, a son-in-law of the late John A. Logan, has been ordered before an army retiring board at Chicago for examination to determine his fitness for active duty. Col. Tucker is still at Hot Springs, Ark., where he was ordered for treatment.

Memorial Day in Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The entire session of the Senaet today was devoted to a memorial service for the late Senator William P. Whyte of Maryland. After the adoption of resolutions of respect the Senate adjourned.

Constipation Caused By Indigestion

Is Cured by Helping the Stomach Do Its Work as It Should.

All forms of constipation, bowel or intestinal trouble owe most of their origin to the improper digestion of food. The bowels measure 30 feet. The inside walls or surfaces are wound tightly about their millions of nerves. These nerves give life and control millions of little mouths or suckers which are supposed to take nourishment from the food as it leaves the stomach and passes along this 30-foot human canal.

When indigestion, dyspepsia or stomach trouble occurs, the food being undigested, passes over these millions of mouths, it is a fermented decaying mass and holds no nourishment as it should.

The little mouths suck it up, impart these impurities to the blood, impregnate the little nerves with poison and so the work of constipation and bowel trouble begins.

A natural juice or secretion belongs normally in the little cells and glands along the mucous membrane of the 30-foot canal or bowel. When indigestion occurs this juice is lacking and so the mass of waste matter cannot pass along as it should and is piled up and caked in the bowel, thus bringing pain and misery.

After a while the nerves and nerve centers which give vigor and life to the bowel becomes paralyzed, thus forever prohibiting the bowel from performing its natural duties.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, when taken after meals, digests the food properly even though the stomach is sick and it passes to the bowel nourishment and juices, which help the intestines not only to do their work at once, but builds them up, restores vitality to the nerves, brings new secretion to the glands and cells, helps bowel action and enriches the blood.

The stomach is the cause. Common sense and science are one on this point. You see it yourself. One little grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will perfectly digest 3000 grains of food. The assimilation of a meal by one of these tablets is an easy matter and it keeps the stomach clean and sweet so that in a brief time this organ is restored.

Every druggist carries them in stock, price 50c. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

FLOOD AT CORCORAN.

for Storm Over Two Directors of Pacific Sugar Corporation Meet.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CORCORAN, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive] Precipitation for the storm was over two inches, making the total for the season nearly five inches as compared with two inches to the corresponding time last season. This practically insures heavy crops of all kinds. There are no flood waters in the streams or canals or flowing into the lake.

The first meeting of the directors of the Pacific Sugar Corporation held since the establishment of the main offices of the company here, was held today: President, Jacob Adloff; vice-president, Nathan Cole, Jr.; secretary, W. C. Petchener and J. H. Zitt of Los Angeles, E. E. Bush and Daniel Finn of Hanford were present. The members of the company are all most optimistic over the flattering prospects for a successful sugar campaign and it was unanimously decided to make every effort to secure from 8000 to 10,000 acres of beets for the coming season's run for the Corcoran and Visalia factories.

The management of Hotel Holmes is spending several hundred dollars in renovating and painting the hotel in preparation for the sugar campaign.

E. O. Hanson of Los Angeles is having an addition, 40x50 feet in size, built on the rear of his business block.

TODAY'S MEN'S MEETING.

At the last moment it became necessary for the Young Men's Chrustian Association to change the announcement for its Sunday afternoon meeting for men. Rev. H. Wyse Jones, a speaker of great power, will address the meeting at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon, on "The Password." Prof. J. G. Rodgers of Yale will speak during the "Home Hour," at 4:45 o'clock, in the lobby, on the subject, "Into and Out of Infidelity." Lefebre, the saxophonist, will play. Rev. E. R. Brown will address the Triangle meeting for younger men.

SWALLOWS STRYCHNINE.

FRESNO, Jan. 16.—Coroner Bean was called to Coalinga today to hold an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Ida Cook, wife of an oil-field laborer. Mrs. Cook swallowed strychnine yesterday afternoon with suicidal intent, death occurring in a few hours. She had been drinking and was not on good terms with her husband.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.

POSTAL VOTE WILL DECIDE.

ALTADENA TO CONDUCT ELECTION BY MAIL.

Supervisor Pridham Leaves Selection of Roadmaster to the Voters Themselves—Three Candidates Are Anxious for Position—Pioneers Meet and Exchange Reminiscences.

Office of The Times, No. 25 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Jan. 17.—Supervisor Pridham has left it to the voters of Altadena to decide which of three candidates is best qualified for the position of roadmaster. He has delegated Messrs. McKibbern, A. G. Stanham, Eliot, Pier and Otterson, to act as a committee to carry on a postal card canvass among the voters. These affairs will close on the 23rd inst. L. W. Schuman of Calaveras street, George W. Snyder of No. 1754 Kirkwood avenue, and Charles B. Youel of Lincoln avenue are candidates.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

Pioneers of Pasadena met at the Shakespeare Clubhouse last night and reminiscences of the old days were given by those who assisted in the work of establishing the city. Mrs. Helen A. Eliot, whose husband founded the Indiana camp, Mrs. Arturo Bandini, one of the earliest settlers; Mrs. Jennie Ford, P. G. Wooster, and J. W. Wood were among the speakers.

BAER TO SPEAK.

President Baer of Occidental College will speak before the men of the city at the third meeting to be held under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. at the First Methodist Church at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Special music will be given by the Glee Club.

Secretary Sams of the Y.M.C.A. was taken suddenly ill Friday evening, but is pronounced out of danger today. He will not be at his post until the middle of the present week, at the earliest.

FACE BURNED BY OIL.

Fire flaring from the oil burner of the Fairchild-Gilmore Company's plant on Raymond avenue, yesterday, burned the face of Fireman George Thomas and for a while it was feared that he was seriously injured. A sudden flash of fire from the burner as he stooped to regulate the blaze, is said to have been the cause.

PLENTY OF ROOM.

Although tourists are rushing to Southern California there is plenty of room. Manager D. M. Linnard of Hotel Maryland said yesterday:

"People in the East get a wrong impression of California in the winter time. We are no longer crowded for rooms and have ample accommodations for all who come to California. At present Pasadena is in better condition than ever in her history to take care of the people. I know of fifty good houses in town that may be had for the winter and there is plenty of room at the big hotels. This does not mean that the season is a bad one. In fact, it is far ahead of any season in the history of our hotel.

"I believe Pasadena will play an important part in housing the Elks here next summer. Hotel Maryland will be open for their reception and if matters shape themselves in Long Beach, the Virginia will also be open during the convention. There is nothing in the report that the temperance people of Long Beach will lease the hotel."

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Many friends of Mrs. Harry Sanbourn Garland, née Miss Edith Kinsman, of this city, were in receipt yesterday of announcements of her wedding to Dr. Harry Sanbourn Garland of Sepulpa, Okla., which took place in Kansas City, Mo., on the 14th inst. The wedding was a quiet one. The ceremony was performed at Grace Episcopal Church, only members of the immediate families being present. The couple left for Springfield, Mo., and after a short stay there will go to Sepulpa, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Garland was a former Pasadena High School girl and is an accomplished musicion. Dr. Garland is the leading physician of Sepulpa.

PLEASANT DANCE.

One of the pleasantest dances of the season took place at Hotel Green last evening in the Romanesque room. Several dinner parties preceded the dancing. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Holmes had as their guests at dinner Frank Bolt, Mrs. J. W. Hugus and Miss Marjorie Bolt. Another dinner party included Miss Beach, Miss Cook, Mr. Lawrence and Mr. Eaton.

Among those who danced were Mrs. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Woodcock, Miss Holmes, Miss Heinrich, Miss Mary Beach, Miss Cook, Miss Jean Griffith, Miss Roberta Griffith, Miss Marjorie Bolt, Miss Hartman, Miss Mauek, Miss Greenwood, Miss Hurley, and Messrs. Eaton, Lawrence, Johnson, J. H. Holmes, Robson, Wilkinson, Logan, Carney and Maj. Defreese.

Among the arrivals yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stubbs of Cleveland, O., who are members of the regular winter colony at the Green.

COUNTY Y.M.C.A. BUILDING.

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 17.—The first county Y.M.C.A. building on the Coast is to be built here. The site and half the money necessary have been secured. The lot is 81x135 feet, and is near the postoffice. Assistant County Secretary Sloan and the Executive Committee of the Garden Grove Y.M.C.A. have charge of the subscription list.

Coronado has best winter climate.

Dollar Shoe Sale.

Thousands upon thousands of pairs of good shoes, many are worth from $3.50 to $5.00 a pair, go on sale tomorrow for a dollar a pair in the big bargain basement of the Mammoth Shoe House, 519 South Broadway.

BANK ELECTS OFFICERS.

Former Officials of South Pasadena Institution Named for Old Places at Annual Meeting.

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 16.—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the First National Bank these officers were reëlected: Jonathan S. Dodge, president; Charles Ewing, vice-president; G. W. Lawyer, cashier; A. A. Lawyer and H. J. Vatcher, assistant cashiers.

Mrs. Adolph Ebermayer and her daughter, Janet, have been visiting Miss B. M. G. Stitt at Redondo.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rider of Claremont are guests of Miss Alice Mitchell, No. 1003 Monterey road.

In the annual report of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Mission street, the superintendent, Mrs. Mabel Grimes, says that during last year 110 children were received into the home; forty-seven of these were girls and sixty-three boys. Ninety-two returned to their parents, five were placed in good homes and four died.

A communication has been received from Torrey Everetts by the Trustees in which he agrees to deed the city a strip of land for street purposes on Meridian and Highland avenues. He stipulates that the city shall not take action on the proposed plan of laying sidewalks on the avenues for a year.

The city offices were moved from Mission street to the corner of Diamond avenue and El Centro street yesterday.

SCHOOLGIRL IS NOW A BRIDE.

RUNS AWAY FROM INGLEWOOD TO WED IN CITY.

Lillie Dewitt, Aged Sixteen, Joins Her Fortunes With Those of Man Eleven Years Older Than Herself and Writes Mother She's Sorry If She Has Hurt Her.

INGLEWOOD, Jan. 16.—A romantic end came to a local love affair last evening, when Miss Lillie Dewitt and Max Snyder were united in marriage in Los Angeles. Miss Dewitt is but 16 years old, and had been a student at the local grammar school till Friday noon, when she excused herself and took a car for Los Angeles, where she met Snyder, and the two were married in the evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Snyder is eleven years his bride's senior and holds a good position in Los Angeles. Just after they were married Mrs. W. G. Martin of Hawthorne Acres, mother of the bride, received the following communication: "I'm sorry if I have hurt you, mamma; I am happy and hope that you will forgive me. Lillie." The couple is expected to return soon to Hawthorne Acres, which is just south of Inglewood, as the mother is willing to forgive.

The evangelistic meetings at the Presbyterian Church will close tomorrow evening.

A great increase is noted in the number of persons seeking homes in Inglewood.

The Inglewood Water Company is employing a large number of men in lowering its water mains on Market street.

Services will be resumed in the Methodist Church here tomorrow.

ASKS FOR MORE FUNDS.

Wilmington Requests Congress to Appropriate Fifty Thousand Dollars for Dredging Channels.

WILMINGTON, Jan. 16.—The Chamber of Commerce, at a called meeting last night, adopted a petition to Congress asking for an appropriation of $50,000 for the purpose of dredging supplemental channels to the municipal channels which are to be dredged under the bond issue. One of these is to extend from the turning basin to United States Engineer station, No. 107, thence northerly to United States Engineer station No. 460, a distance of about 2300 feet. This will connect with the south end of the Wilmington channel. Another channel asked for is the one directly south of Canal street, and includes the municipal turning basin. These will be additional to the request presented by the Consolidated Lumber Company, which the city previously indorsed.

This petition is to be presented for indorsement to the civic bodies of Los Angeles, San Pedro and Long Beach.

A resolution was also adopted guaranteeing that the Chamber of Commerce would work for the construction of the boulevard through the city to meet the Los Angeles-San Pedro boulevard, and the work will be completed when needed.

GLENDALE.

GLENDALE, Jan. 16.—W. L. Winslow of Cincinnati arrived yesterday at "The Pines," Glendale avenue, where, for several weeks, he will be the guest of his sister, Mrs. Edgar W. Leavitt. Mr. Winslow has visited Glendale for the winter for the past seven years.

W. J. Smith and wife and Miss Florence Radbone are guests of Mrs. A. D. McCoy, Third street.

Prominent church workers were largely represented this morning at the Masonic Hall, Brand boulevard, where under the leadership of Mrs. Daniel Campbell of North Glendale, committees were organized to work for an entertainment, which is planned to interest the whole valley, to be given under auspices of the First Presbyterian Church, on February 3.

COVINA.

COVINA, Jan. 16.—Mr. Hughes has sold five acres, one-half in Valencias, the other in navel oranges, with a five-room house and barn, to Mr. McIntosh of Pomona; price, $6500.

A. G. Lystad has sold his five acres situated southeast of town to Charles H. Zellen; price, $4000.

DRINKS POISON IN DRUG STORE.

YOUNG WOMAN SEEKS TO END HER LIFE WITH ACID.

Act at Long Beach Said to Follow Calling up of Englishman on Telephone—He Denies Any Connection With Matter—Desperate Beauty's Life Saved by Prompt Measures.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 16.—A sensation was created at the Long Beach Drug Company's store, corner of Ocean avenue and Pine street, at 8 o'clock tonight, when Miss Angie Ryan, aged 18, attempted to drink the contents of an ounce bottle of carbolic acid. She had swallowed half of the poison, when Druggist Grant Stannard struck the bottle fro mher hand.

The cause of the attempt at suicide is as yet a mystery. Miss Ryan came here a month ago from South Carolina with Mrs. Mattie Cheetham. Letters in her room indicate that she is the daughter of John Ryan of Fort Moultrie. According to Mrs. Cheetham, Miss Ryan met an Englishman, J. W. Alexander, in Los Angeles, three weeks ago, and the two have been together a good deal since. Miss Ryan parted from Alexander, apparently in a huff, this afternoon, and at 7 o'clock called at the drug store and asked for carbolic acid. Stannard noticed that she had been crying, and refused to sell it without a prescription. The young woman went away, but an hour later returned, the druggist said, and called up Alexander on the telephone. Stannard saw her suddenly rise and place a bottle to her lips. He sprang from behind the counter, knocked the bottle away, and seized Miss Ryan, who fought desperately. With assistance she was overpowered, and then Stannard poured about five ounces of alcohol down her throat. Dr. Perce was summoned, and after he had administered emetics, the young woman was taken to her home on Atlantic avenue. At 10 o'clock she was pronounced out of danger.

Alexander was found, and said that he was a friend of Miss Ryan, and that he can conceive of no reason for her attempt at self-destruction.

The young woman is exceedingly pretty and well educated. She refuses to make any statement.

SELLS ORANGE GROVE.

Twenty-one Acres Near Claremont Sold by George Otis—Board of Trade Forming.

CLAREMONT, Jan. 16.—George Otis has sold to Rush McComas a twenty-one-acre orange grove southeast of Claremont, just east of the Otis ranch-house below the cemetery. The stated consideration is $11,500. While the trees are not bearing very heavily at present, Mr. McComas plans to improve the property in the near future.

WILL FORM BOARD.

An important meeting of Claremont citizens will be held Monday evening at the offices of the Claremont Lumber Company, for the formation of a board of trade, and election of officers. Dr. R. P. Myers, O. H. Duvall, Dr. F. W. Thomas, Frank Wheeler and J. D. Johnson have composed the committee working to form a board, and state that more than fifty names have already been handed in for the charter membership list.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens State Bank, George Jancks was elected president, O. H. Duvall, vice-president, and W. N. Beach, cashier. These, with W. H. McCormick and F. E. Graham of Pomona, constitute the board of directors. The only change in the personnel from last year is the election of O. H. Duvall to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of C. M. Parsons, Jr. Reports read at the meeting showed a very prosperous year, in spite of the recent financial depression.

TAKES LEAVE OF STUDENTS.

President George A. Gates read at chapel yesterday his letter of resignation as administrative head of Pomona College. In commenting on the circumstances which necessitated his resignation, Dr. Gates told of his former breakdown in the East, and of the repeated warnings that had recently come to him that he was physically unable to bear the nervous strain which the financial stringency at Pomona laid upon the head of the institution. He said that he felt sure that his action would be of benefit to the college in calling to the attention of its supporters the fact that because of its recent prosperity and increase, money was all the more needed. In taking leave of the students, he spoke of how much Pomona and his undergraduate friends had come to mean to him. President Gates announced that his plans for the future would have to wait upon his entire recuperation. He will leave Claremont in the immediate future, probably for the Hawaiian Islands, but hopes to be able to return in time for the commencement exercises next June.

Miss Myrtle Ferris of Los Angeles has been engaged to teach in the public grade school here. Her work will be in English, arithmetic and physiology.

MONROVIA.

MONROVIA, Jan. 16.—At a directors' meeting of the American National Bank and the Granite Bank and Trust Company today these officers were elected: W. B. Scarborough, president; C. H. Ainley, first vice-president; Charles Anderson, second vice-president; F. N. Hawes, cashier; K. E. Lawrence and Augustus Adams, assistant cashiers. The resignation of K. E. Lawrence, assistant cashier, was received. He will become cashier of the Monrovia Savings Bank. It was decided to increase the capital stock of the American National Bank from $25,000 to $50,000. The necessary 250 shares have been subscribed for at the rate of $115 each.

HOLLYWOOD.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 16.—The remains of Mrs. John W. Laing, who died at her home in West Hollywood, were buried in the local cemetery today. Mrs. Laing came to Los Angeles thirty-two years ago and until four years ago resided at Hope and Temple streets. Since that time she had lived with her family on Sycamore Drive, West Hollywood. She leaves a widower and four children, including Mrs. W. Howard Thomas, Mrs. George M. Shelton, Robert D. and Will Laing.

SOLDIERS' HOME.

Report of Inspector-General Shows Gratifying State of Affairs—Million Dollars Disbursed.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Jan. 15.—Gov. Cochrane scanned today the annual report on national homes, as rendered by Col. W. T. Wood, inspector-general, U.S.A., to the Secretary of War at Washington.

The Pacific branch is now the second largest of ten branches that constitute the National Home for D.V.S.. "General conditions very good," is the rating of but three branches; one of which is the Pacific branch. No words of praise could be more acceptable to the officers of this home. To appreciate their importance, it should be understood that the trained army officer is always accompanied by an expert accountant of the War Department in Washington, and is thus enabled to get at the bottom of financial conditions. He is most rigid in inquiry in all departments, including government and discipline.

Since disbursement of funds is chiefly within Los Angeles county, here is an item of special interest to the public, as showing the financial value of having the Soldiers' Home here: Receipts for the year were $1,099,267.43; disbursements amounted to $1,047,605.11. The aggregate pay of officers, non-commissioned officers, members and civilians for the year, was $117,986.88. There were 519 members who worked and were on the schedule of pay during the year. Average present and absent during the year was 3616 members. Average cost of maintenance per capita for the year, $171.08, at Pacific branch, as against $184.40, the average cost of the National Home composed of ten branches.

A feature in the report which goes to show the advantages of Southern California climate, is the comparatively small death rate. The average per 1000 at Pacific branch was 53.53, the lowest of any of the branches. The highest of all was 142.86.

TERMINAL ADDED.

A terminal of the home telephone has been added to the utilities of Pacific branch. It is designed chiefly for long distance, at points not reached by the other company's lines.

Assistant Surgeon C. E. Standlee of the hospital staff returned today after a fortnight's visit with his brother in Imperial Valley.

Precipitation for the last storm, according to the home's rain gauge, was .65, making the total for the season 5.21 inches.

H. T. Meloy of Los Angeles has secured the contract for boring well No. 3 at $845.

RECENT DEATHS.

Alfred C. Beyer, late Co. G, Fourth United States Infantry (Spanish-American War,) a native of Germany, admitted from El Paso, Tex., in 1908, died at San Bernardino January 10, while on furlough, aged 29.

Ira A. Lucas, United States navy, a native of Pennsylvania, admitted in 1907 from Santa Monica, died at that place while on furlough January 9, aged 68. The remains were brought to the home for burial.

John Distel, late Co. G, Fourteenth Illinois Infantry, a native of Illinois, admitted from Los Angeles in 1889, died January 10, aged 82.

John W. Goldston, late lieutenant Co. E, Eighth Missouri State Militia Cavalry, a native of Tennessee, admitted from Los Angeles in 1908, died January 14, aged 65.

BOASTS OF CRIME.

Arrested in Stockton Man Says He Was Friend and Accomplice of Harry Orchard.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A man giving the name of Bert Lawson, who was arrested by Officer Tom Green last night, told the police, while being sweated today, that he was one of the gang that planned the bomb which blew ex-Gov. Steunenberg of Idaho to pieces. He asserted he knew Harry Orchard well. When closely questioned he told many of the details that were brought out at the trial.

While it is possible that he might have been implicated, the officers do not take much stock in his story. Lawson passed worthless checks on merchants and saloons during the afternoon, and officers warned saloon men to report him.

Carl Simon trapped him by cashing a check, while an officer waited at the door and took the man into custody. On the way to the jail, Lawson attempted to escape, and Policeman Green fired seven shots over him or in the ground to bring the prisoner to a standstill. After a chase of several blocks through the principal streets the man was captured. He boasts of his crooked career, and defies the police.

Real Estate Man Whom Tillman Roasted Will Bring Libel Suit Against Senator.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bryan R. Dorr, whose use of Senator Benjamin R. Tillman's name on the advertising of an alleged fraudulent scheme to acquire land resulted in a fight between President Roosevelt and Senator Tillman, has arranged to begin suit against the South Carolina Senator for $100,000 damages. He alleges malicious libel. Dorr says a law firm in St. Paul has undertaken to prosecute his case. The lawyer advised Dorr that a United States Senator is no more exempt in such cases than any other citizen.

Senator Tillman caused a fraud order to be issued prohibiting Dorr from the use of the mails when he discovered the use of his name. The order was revoked soon after President Roosevelt began his investigation.

HAINS WOULD "DO IT AGAIN."

WILL WRITE SERIES ON THE "UNWRITTEN LAW."

Short Story Writer Acquitted of Murder Charge Will Build Novel on His Trial—Says Jury Vindicated His Act—Will Continue to Carry a Revolver.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Thornton J. Hains, acquitted yesterday of complicity in the murder of William E. Annis, was quoted today as saying that he "would willingly do it over again."

"If my brother, the major, here, got into trouble and needed me, I'd do the same thing," Hains is said to have added.

Hains was asked whether, if after having been twice charged with murder, he would continue to carry a revolver.

"Certainly, I'll carry a gun," he answered. "A man can't tell when he might have to use it."

"Being on trial for your life," he added, "is like a game of poker; the accused gets in, holding a pair of deuces, and the prosecution holds three aces. It is all in the draw. I have been asked if the night before last, while the jury was out, was not the worst I ever spent. It was not by any means. I have spent nights on shipboard in storms that were much more nerve-racking. I was not worried that night about the jury. Quite early I got word from a 'cop' who looked in the jury-room window, that the jury stood 9 to 3 in my favor. But I would not have given a nickel for my chances when they went out."

Hains spent today in rest at a local hotel with his father and mother, Gen. and Mrs. Peter C. Hains. As short-story writing is his profession, Hains says he will get to work immediately, that is, just as soon as he has completely recovered from the effects of his trial and imprisonment. His trial, it is said, he will make the basis of a novel on the "unwritten law," concerning which he is quoted as follows:

"Do you know what stands out foremost in my mind regarding my trial? This—the jury in acquitting me of criminal responsibility for the death of Annis has placed the 'unwritten law' high above the 'written law' of the State of New York.

"I propose to devote much of my time in the immediate future to the writing of a series of articles embodying that thought. I intend also to write a novel having for its theme the 'unwritten law.'

"Clearly the jury vindicated the righteousness of the unwritten law by finding me not guilty. That must be obvious to every mind that has followed the testimony and grasped the significance of the verdict in corelation with the judge's charge.

"Clearly also, if I am guiltless, my brother is guiltless. Should he now be tried there is no doubt in my mind that he will be acquitted."

Dist.-Atty. Frederick C. Dewitt said today that Capt. Peter C. Hains would not be called for trial before next March on the charge of killing W. E. Annis.

MASKED MEN ROB BANK.

KLAMATH FALLS, Jan. 16.—The Klamath Falls County Bank at this place was robbed of $3000 by two masked men who entered the bank this afternoon with drawn revolvers, compelled the cashier to pass over the counter all money in sight, amounting to about $3000. Several citizens who were inside the bank, were held at bay while the robbers escaped. The money was in a sack. The robbers separated, one of them going east of the city and the other sought refuge in a barn near the bank and was captured. The robber who took the money was on foot. Officers are in pursuit.

RUPTURE CURED

I, L. R. Jerome, a United States Meat Inspector, working and living here in Los Angeles, wishing to help my fellow-man, publish this statement.

I was RUPTURED; my family physician, Doctor Shurtleff, informed me, that he and the medical profession, knew of but one cure for RUPTURE and that was the KNIFE; undergo an operation.

I dreaded the KNIFE, as I had seen unsuccessful operations, followed by death.

Fortunately, I heard of the great EUROPEAN SPECIALIST on RUPTURE: PROF. JOSEPH FANDREY, whose OFFICE, PLACE of BUSINESS and HOME, is at No. 1421 Santee street, Los Angeles.

I went to Prof. Fandrey in October, 1908. The professor gave me some twenty names of former patients, who had been cured, and told me to make inquiries. I did so and found them all satisfactory.

Among the twenty references was a MR. WILLIAM PETZOLD, who is the JANITOR of THE LOS ANGELES TIMES, the very paper you are reading.

Mr. Petzold informs me that he is CURED and ENTIRELY FREE of his RUPTURE.

The following is a verbatim copy of a certificate I got from my family physician, Dr. F. C. Shurtleff:

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 17, 1908.

This is to certify that I have examined Mr. L. R. Jerome and find he is suffering from RIGHT INGUINAL HERNIA.

F. C. SHURTLEFF, M. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13, 1909.

This is to certify that I have this day examined Mr. L. R. Jerome, and find that he has been CURED of his RIGHT INGUINAL HERNIA.

F. C. SHURTLEFF, M. D.

I am cured, and in less than three months. I wear no bandage, no support of any kind. Should the reader wish to know more, he can address me,

L. R. JEROME, Postoffice Box 208, Station "C," Los Angeles, Cal.

If desirous of an interview, make an appointment by letter and I will cheerfully give all desired information.

PUBLICLY, I advise every one suffering with any form of RUPTURE, to go and see PROF. FANDREY, and be CURED.

CONSULTATION is ABSOLUTELY FREE.

"NO KNIFE, NO INJECTION, NO INTERNAL MEDICINE IS USED."

Prof. Joseph Fandrey's address and place of business is at No. 1421 Santee street, Los Angeles, Cal.

I sincerely hope that this publication will help some fellow sufferer.

OXNARD.

LARGER AREA UNDER BEETS.

SIXTEEN THOUSAND ACRES ARE DEVOTED TO THEM.

Farmers Last Season Made Net Profit of Over Quarter-Million Dollars — Japanese Laborers Send Large Amount of Money Across the Pacific—Will Travel in Orient.

OXNARD, Jan. 16.—Manager Driffill of the American Beet Sugar Company, announces that there will be 16,000 acres of sugar beets in this section as against 11,767 acres last season. There have already been over 8000 acres planted for the coming season and the recent fine rains are bringing the young plants up rapidly, more than 1000 acres having a stand. The warm weather on top of the slow rain of the past week has produced the best germinating conditions possible.

During last season the farmers made an average net profit of $32.42 per acre from the 11,767 acres planted, or more than $250,000. This was realized on land that was not worth more than from $10 to $30 per acre before the sugar-beet industry was established here. These results have appealed to the farmers of the valley who have suitable beet lands and with the slowness and uncertainty of the lima bean market, many have turned to sugar beets.

In order to secure beets from 600 acres of the famous Rancho Santa Clara del Norte, the American Beet Sugar Company is having a branch track built connecting with the Southern Pacific railroad, at a cost of many thousands of dollars.

JAPANESE SEND MONEY HOME.

A report has been made by the Oxnard postoffice showing a large volume of money-order business for the past year. An interesting item is the foreign money-order business between Oxnard and Japan. During the year the total foreign business was $42,339.50, all of the entire amount but $983.12 representing money sent to Japan by Oxnard laborers.

T. E. Walker, manager of the Interurban Land Company, will leave soon for a year's trip to the Orient. He will be accompanied by his wife and Miss Alleene Walker.

"Hotel del Coronado" second to none.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Jan. 16.—J. W. Britte of Long Beach, who recently purchased a couple of lots on the corner of Main street and Heald avenue, is erecting a forty-foot tent house on the property and with his wife expects to spend several months of every year in Elsinore. A smaller tent house has also been put up.

The Elsinore Women's Club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. F. Burnham on Riverside street. Mrs. Thomas A. Cline gave an interesting paper on Longfellow. Mrs. C. D. Pool and Mrs. S. J. Powell also read papers. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. T. Kuhns on Langstaff street, when the subject will be Germany.

Lemon Company Sends Letter to Congressmen.

Cannot Compete Against the Labor of Sicily.

Italian Youths Fined for Killing Larks.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 16.—The California Lemon Company, which operates a factory at National City, manufacturing citric acid and oil of lemon from cull lemons, has sent a letter to members of Congress asking them to support a tariff on oil of lemon, lemon juice, lime juice and citrate of lime. It says:

"On citric acid there is a duty of 7 cents per pound. We respectfully request and strongly urge that a tariff be placed on the articles named below:

"Oil of lemon, 60 cents per pound; lemon juice, 8 cents per pound for its citric acid content; lime juice, 8 cents per pound for its citric acid content; citrate of lime, 8 ents per pound of rts citrate of lime, 8 cents per pound for its from 7 cents to 15 cents per pound."

The following arguments are advanced why there should be a tariff on these articles such as asked;

"The general mode of manufacturing oil of lemon in Sicily is as follows: The peel is stripped from the inner pulp, and after soaking is doubled back by workmen, with one hand, which ruptures the oil cells. The oil flying out is caught by a sponge held in the other hand. When the sponge is saturated it is squeezed into a bowl. These workmen are very expert, working about twelve hours a day, and earn as high as 40 cents per day.

"It is very evident that American labor and capital should not be asked to compete against labor working for 40 cents per day without protection. We, therefore, ask for a tariff of 50 cents per pound on lemon oil. The oil we produce is a high-class oil, and in recent tests, flavored more material than the foreign.

"The general mode of manufacturing citric acid is as followes:

"The filtered lemon or lime juice is heated to boiling, when calcium carbonate is introduced, which combines with the citric acid, forming calcium citrate. The spent juice is filtered from the calcium citrate, upon which diluted sulphuric acid is run, which forms a weak citric-acid solution. This solution is boiled down to crystallizing point and run into lead tanks, from which the crystals are taken, washed, dried and boxed.

"You will notice that the raw material from which citric acid is manufactured, namely, lime and lemon juice, also calcium citrate, is shipped into this country duty free. Citric acid is refined from these products in the United States. It is a similar proposition for the planter in Cuba or Louisiana boiling down the juice from sugar cane and sending this product to the refinery to be finished, and we are asking protection against this raw material.

"The average wage of workmen preparing these articles in Sicily, is from the best information we can get, 20 cents per day.

"In placing a tariff of 8 cents per pound upon the raw material, it would be necessary to add 8 cents per pound to the present tariff on citric acid in order to protect manufacturers in the United States from the finished product produced in foreign countries.

"We are paying $5 per ton for cull lemons, which hardly pays the rancher for hauling them in. When the tariff asked for is granted, we will be able to offer $10 per ton, which will bring a fair remuneration for culls. It will also enable the rancher to send us a large amount of low-grade fruit which is now sent to market and which never should go there. This would enable us to increase our present capacity many times over, and in our opinion get this industry on its feet and enable us eventually to supply this country with the lemon oil and citric acid it uses. Its affect on the lemon industry would be far-reaching and would make the lemon ranch profitable and bring work to thousands of American citizens."

Game Warden Webb Toms yesterday caused the arrest of J. Virgili and Nick Laos, Italian youths, on a charge of shooting meadow larks contrary to the State game laws. When arrested the boys had seven or eight birds in their game bag. Justice Thorp fined each $5, which amounts were paid by their parents.

Race-track gambling and saloons are to be especially attacked by the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church, which is preparing to inaugurate a stirring campaign against both. D. H. Randolph Ingersoll, son of J. Ingersoll, advertising manager of the Southern Pacific Railroad, arrived last evening for a few days' stay at the beach.

Fred W. Beckwith returned this morning from San Bernardino.

ESCONDIDO.

ESCONDIDO, Jan. 16.—The $20,000 sewer system which has been in process of installation since the middle of October by Chick, White & Co. of Berkeley, has been completed, and will be turned over to the city at the meeting of the Trustees, Tuesday evening. The system takes in all the business and the principal residential sections of the city, and is ample for a population of 10,000. Over $10,000 has been paid out for labor. The contractors secured the sewer bonds at par. The contract for the installation was $16,800.

BRAWLEYITES DISSATISFIED.

BRAWLEY, Jan. 16.—The Trustees must decide upon the sufficiency of a petition signed by sixty-six citizens and asking for the calling of an election on the question of disincorporation.

An offer has been made the Trustees of a lease on the entire zanja system lying within the townsite for a nominal rental of $1 a year. It is probable that the city may also take over the pressure water system.

$3 a Month---All Diseases $3

To prove that Drs. Shores & Shores' wonderful new treatment can permanently cure any curable chronic disease in from 1 to 5 months we will treat a limited number of cases—no matter how difficult or deep seated, until cured, all medicines free, at $3.00 a month.

$3 a Month Pays All Expenses

This includes all office treatment and medicines. There will absolutely be no other charge or expense. The offer not only applies to catarrh, but to any nervous or chronic disease. You will not be "strung" along for months, for it is to our interests to cure you as quickly as possible, as this low rate barely covers the cost of medicines. Consultation and examination FREE. Come today! Come any day this week.

Don't Be Skeptical—Come Now

Our treatment means immediate relief and a permanent cure (if your disease is curable.). No matter by whom you may have been unsuccessfully treated, give us the CHANCE TO PROVE our claims. We have cured thousands of cases just as bad as yours. Our specialty has been Chronic Diseases for seventeen years, and we have been successful.

Treated Until Cured---Medicines Free

CATARRH OF THE HEAD, STOMACH AND EARS.

R. G. COBB, 562 Ruth Ave., Los Angeles.

Mr. Cobb says: "I have been afflicted with catarrh of the head, stomach and ears for several years. Scabs would form in my nose, I would hawk and spit a great deal, especially after eating, and my stomach would bother me greatly and make me very nervous. About five (5) years ago my hearing also became affected. So much so that when I applied to Drs. Shores & Shores one (1) month ago I was quite deaf. I was also greatly run down in every way. I want to say that Drs. Shores' treatment helped me from the start, and I have improved greatly in every way. My hearing is now all right, and my stomach and catarrh is better in every way. I have gained ten (10) pounds in weight, and feel fine, and I can heartily recommend Drs. Shores' treatment to all sufferers from deafness and catarrhal diseases. (Signed) "R. G. COBB."

As the price of $3.00 a month is about or less than the cost of the medicines—and our sole object is a chance to demonstrate our ability to cure where others have failed; you must enroll for treatment

Before January 24th

Special Notice!

It was our intention to limit this offer to those only who applied before Jan. 17th, but as the bad weather last week kept so many sick people indoors, and we were both written and 'phoned by many who desired to come to extend the time as to them—but we cannot make exceptions; so for another week we extend the offer and make it open to all who apply. It's your chance. Don't miss it.

We Treat and Cure

Catarrh, Deafness, Nose and Throat Troubles, Scrofula, Ear Diseases, Bronchial and Lung Troubles, Asthma, Stomach, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Bladder Troubles, Female Complaints, Chronic Diseases of Women and Children, Heart Diseases, Nervous Diseases, Chorea (St. Vitus' Dance,) Rickets, Spinal Trouble, Skin Diseases, Sciatica and Rheumatism, Diseases of the Bowels, Piles, Fistula and Rectal Troubles, Goitre (or Big Neck,) Blood Diseases, Tape Worm, Hay Fever, Hysteria, Epilepsy, Insomnia, etc., and all curable nervous and chronic diseases.

Head, Nerve and Stomach troubles are the most common and most dangerous diseases. Yet we permanently cure them if they are curable. Don't doubt! Try!!

Health Is Your Best Income

It means so much to the wage-earner and his family that you cannot afford to put off treatment if you are sick. A slight catarrhal affection, untreated, may soon reach the lungs—then to consumption—after that—

57 YEARS A SUFFERER FROM CATARRH IN ITS WORST FORM CURED.

F. E. De Merritt, 130 S. Fifth street, Alhambra, Cal., says: "I have been a terrible sufferer from catarrh of the head and throat. When I first came to Drs. Shores for treatment it had got so bad a piece of bone had come out of my left nostril and the odor was so bad it made me sick when I would stoop over. I had continual running into my throat and at night I could not breathe through my nose it was so stopped up. I have had catarrh ever since I was seventeen (17) years old. I am now in my seventy-fourth (74th) year. I have tried many kinds of catarrh remedies without benefit, and I want to say, that after five (5) months' treatment from Drs. Shores & Shores I feel perfectly cured. I feel that the afflicted ought to know about Drs. Shores' wonderful treatment so that they can be cured as I have been. Any one doubting the truthfulness of this testimonial is at liberty to call on me and I will gladly verify the truthfulness of the same.

Pimply Pretty Faces

May Be Made Clean and Clear by Using Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Trial Package Sent Free.

Pretty faces are daily seen about us marred and marked with pimples, blotches and eruptions.

There is absolutely no necessity for this condition being so exceedingly prevalent. Pimples and skin troubles show that the blood is impure, and is forcing its impurities into the cells and glands of the skin, there festering and breaking out at last into many eruptive disorders.

Don't Mar Your Beauty by Neglect. Stuart's Calcium Wafers Sent Free for Trial.

Calcium Sulphide is one of the greatest blood purifiers known to science, and is so powerful that in a few days dreadful conditions of skin disease are overcome, and pimples and ordinary skin troubles have been removed in a few days.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers contain this great purifier and preserve its fullest strength in the peculiar process called Stuart's. Combined with the Calcium Sulphide are three other great blood invigorators, each doing a special work intended for rapid and complete mastery over blood impurities and skin diseases.

By using Stuart's Calcium Wafers in a few days one notices the good effects, and in a short time the blood responds quickly and purges itself of its irritating and impure parts.

These wafers are not experimental, they do their great work so fast and are so uniformly successful that they are known in every hamlet and by every druggist. Physicians will tell you of Calcium Sulphide, and how hard it is to prepare it to hold its full strength. Stuart has solved the question with Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They sell at all druggists for 50c, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Warden of Iowa Penitentiary Does Away With Conventional Prison Garb for Convicts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Students of criminology and prison procedure everywhere are amazed at the methods which Warden J. C. Sanders has put into effect at the Iowa State Penitentiary at Fort Madison. Fancy convicts dressed in black suits with white shirts and collars, hair neatly combed, and shoes shining like mirrors, walking through the gloomy corridors of the prison in place of the proverbial sullen-faced convicts with cropped hair, dressed in stripes and urged along at the point of a guard's bayonet.

Sanders's entrance into the wardenship was the signal for sensational changes in the procedure that started Iowans to thinking. Almost his first order was that the prisoners might wear their hair any way they chose, and the shaving of the convicts' head must cease. Stripes were done away with, except to third-grade convicts, the most dangerous class. The second-grade men wear gray clothes, while the first-grade men wear stylish blue suits of solid color, with black seams and cuffs and cap to match.

What Everybody Should Know.

Regarding deaths, which come within the jurisdiction of the Coroner.

A false impression prevails with the general public that the Coroner or his deputy has a right to say where such cases should go. As a matter of fact, they have absolutely nothing to say as to which undertaker shall take care of such a body; that right belongs to the family or relatives of the deceased, and is supreme.

When a body is sent, by the Coroner or his deputy, to an undertaking establishment not desired by the family or relatives, all that is necessary is to give to the undertaker desired an order upon the Coroner for the remains. No expense attends any services rendered by any firm engaged by the Coroner or deputy, except by consent of the family or relatives.

This information is given solely for the purpose of informing the people of their rights, and to stop a distasteful practice of many years' standing.

The Estey Company has installed a large two-manual Estey Pipe Organ, with twenty-six speaking stops, in the Metropolitan Temple, New York. The organ, which is a noble memorial to William McKinley, the martyred president of the United States, was dedicated two weeks ago,

President-elect Taft

ice-President-elect Sherman

The occasion was a most notable one, especially from the musical standpoint, this Estey organ being recognized among the first few real great organs in New York.

The pastor of the Metropolitan Temple is Dr. J. Wesley Hill, who graduated from the ranks of the piano salesmen to the ministry. This fact alone is a remarkable testimony to the Estey's excellence. The pastor is a critical judge of musical instruments—he chose the Estey because his long musical experience satisfies him that it is truly the king of organs. This is the third Estey organ Dr. Hill has bought for churches he has been connected with.

MARRIAGE BY PHOTOGRAPH.

UNIQUE ENTERPRISE OF MASU TONIGAWA.

To Instruct Japanese Women in the American Game of Getting Divorced. Los Angeles Girl Slave Becomes Strangest Missionary on Earth.

BY HARRY C. CARR.

INSTEAD of going home to Japan, where her highly-cultured family await her in their highly-cultured home, Masu Tonigawa has decided to stay in Los Angeles, where she will become a domestic servant.

Whoever employs Masu Tonigawa, Japanese aristocrat, will have their pans and stew pots washed with the deadly purpose of a Joan of Arc. Masu Tonigawa will make hash out of the remains of the turkey with the exaltation of a lady Moses delivering her people.

Masu Tonigawa,
Japanese crusader for divorce, and the husband who enslaved her.

It is to free the women of her race from slavery that Masu Tonigawa has decided to remain in this city and become a servant, instead of going home to have servants of her own.

She wishes to learn English in order to better spread among her women the news of a wonderful institution, a "beautiful boon" that can rescue them from husbands who are cruel.

Masu Tonigawa has, herself, learned to spell out the name of the beautiful thing; it is called DIVORCE.

Little Tonigawa has just been experimenting with the thing herself. She has found, to her delight, that, although her husband was the terror of every Japanese on the Coast, this DIVORCE thing has turned him into a shrinking lamb. In spite of the fact that he is one of the greatest jiu jitsu men in the world, when confronted with this strange and magic thing, he turned tail and beat it for Japan.

He will sail from San Francisco tomorrow, scared silly.

Masu Tonigawa is of the opinion that anything so good as that ought to be passed around.

Tonigawa is the little woman who was placed in a house of disgrace by her husband, and was rescued only by the divorce court. Hundreds of Japanese women on this Coast are said to be in a similar plight—only they are ignorant of the divorce law that can save them.

Tonigawa is the second Japanese woman who secured or even sought a divorce in Southern California.

The events back of the bare court proceedings in her case, form a fascinating story. These events show, among other things, how impossible it is for an Oriental ever to understand people of the Occident, or how equally impossible it is for us to really sympathize with the people "east of Suez."

Most of the Japanese, for instance, regard Tonigawa, not as a woman released from a terrible slavery. They think of her as one who had a glorious opportunity to do a Spartan act of self-sacrifice, and who miserably "fell down."

HER LIFE STORY.

You should understand that Masu Tonigawa is the daughter of an excellent family in Japan. Her fine features and her graceful carriage show how far she is removed from the flat-faced Japanese peasant women we see in Los Angeles.

It seems that her father died. Her uncle was a man of affairs, the president of a company exploiting Manchuria after the Russian War. The girl was a student, however, and the president of a university in Tokio wanted to adopt her. The family considered that she would have better opportunities to complete her education as a member of his family than as a member of her uncle's family in Manchuria; so she entered into the inner circle of university life in one of the typical university cities of the world.

It seems that in little, old Japan they have romances between fair co-eds and crack athletes, the same as here.

One of the fellows at Tokio was Zenshiro Tonigawa, a medical student. History does not state how skilled was Zenshiro on the bones of the body or the names of the nerves; but when it came to athletics, Zenshiro was the loud pedal.

Over in Japan, they do not play football; but they have their own ingenious methods of manslaughter, and Zenshiro's specialty was jiu jitsu, which is a jolly old game, where you try to break one another's bones, and then strangle the shattered carcass.

Zenshiro was the champion jitsuer. If he didn't wear his hair long, corduroy pants rolled up to his knees, hat with a ribbon, and a sweater with a big T on the front, he did the swagger Japanese equivalent thereto.

Zenshiro is said to be one of the strongest men in the world. He can easily kill a steer with his bare hands. A blow struck upon his tensioned muscles is said to give out a sound as of hard wood.

He finally accumulated some sort of degree, after the manner of college athletes, and came to America. He intended to practice medicine in California, but he found that the "medical trust" has everything so tightly fenced off here that it was almost impossible for him even to get a look-in.

Being once over here, however, Tonigawa was bound to stay; so he tackled various jobs of different sorts and managed to stick it out.

He acquired an awful case of homesickness, though. He longed to have a home here, but he wanted a Japanese girl to preside over it. For the sake of romance, let us presume that he still adored the memory of dainty little Masu in Tokio, but that he didn't have the nerve to ask her to leave her fine surroundings.

Anyhow, he entered into what the Japanese call "photograph marriages." These are all negotiated in Seattle, where a great marriage bureau is located.

Zenshiro sent to the bureau his application, accompanied by a photograph. They found a young lady in Japan for him and sent him her portrait. The pictures were mutually pleasing and the marriage was arranged and the young lady was summoned from Japan. Zenshiro went to Seattle to meet her; but when she arrived, he found that she looked like a sore-eyed kitten. She was afflicted with the eye disease so common among Japs. The immigration officials deported her—which was the end of that romance.

Zenshiro then made up his mind that sending photographs around is a punk manner of finding a wife. He took a steamer for Japan determined to negotiate one in the famous old way by word of mouth.

He hunted up Masu in Tokio and she couldn't resist the idea of coming to the wonderful new country; she

SHOCKING STAGE STORY.

Actor, Training Burro to Follow Him, Puts Ginger Snaps in Hip Pocket. New Trousers.

Ferris Hartman is training a burro that is to be used in a production on a local stage this week, and that explains why he bought a pair of trousers yesterday. The whole story is shocking.

The author of the play that calls for a burro was possessed of the idea that the animal should follow the leading man—be a sort of pet. Needless to say, the author had never seen a burro and knew very little of its characteristics. Neither did Ferris Hartman.

The management procured the burro, but no sooner was it led onto the stage than it kicked a woodland scene to pieces and made unsuccessful efforts to eat the grass.

Ferris began his training, but soon learned that a burro does not follow anybody unless there is something to eat in sight, or within smelling distance. After considerable experimenting the actor found that the dainty favored most by the beast was a ginger snap. He put a supply in his hip pocket, and then everywhere that Ferris went the burro was sure to go. At intervals in this game the leader would reward his follower with a snap. Soon the animal spotted the hip pocket as the source from which its luncheons came.

Friday Ferris began to lengthen the time between snaps. Yesterday he made the beast follow him for five minutes without receiving a reward. But this did not suit the humor of the burro, and it suddenly bit that portion of the actor's anatomy which lies beneath the hip pocket. Ferris yelled and jumped. There was a r-r-rip. He has a new pair of trousers.

LEGAL FENCE.

BARRIER AGAINST CROOKS NEEDED.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCE ACT WOULD PROVIDE IT.

Penalty of Life Imprisonment After Third Conviction Certain to Keep at Distance Most Dangerous Type of Offenders, Officials Believe. Law Works Successfully Elsewhere.

Alarmed by the wave of crime which has swept through Southern California, this season, public officials will attempt to cause the passage of an "indeterminate sentence" act, making life imprisonment the penalty after a third conviction.

The officials take the ground that if California is to protect her citizens she must adopt drastic measures. If the police are to reap the reward of hard labor, they must be protected by laws which will keep desperate criminals behind the bars. The indeterminate sentence would keep many desperadoes away from this section of the country.

With the finest climate in the world, and with a very large percentage of wealthy people, Southern California is the goal of hundreds of criminals. Scores of crooks follow the race track, which California permits, and criminally-inclined hobos find the mild winters and chance of plunder irresistible.

There is also a class of criminals in Los Angeles who work at trades, but who take advantage of crime waves. When highway robberies and safe blowings become nightly occurrences, the local men begin their depredations, knowing that these will be attributed to eastern crooks.

If California wants to make a clean sweep of the criminal class, the State must pass the indeterminate sentence act, officials say. At present, the courts are easy on offenders.

In many States the indeterminate sentence law is already operative, with great success. The most desperate and dangerous of the crooks are the men who have served several sentences. If these fellows know that they run a chance of life imprisonment in a certain State, they avoid it as a man would a smallpox hospital.

The board of pardons has been too ready to release fellows of the worst type from the penitentiary, so the authorities think. It is necessary for the police to keep a close watch on these men, because it has been often proven that they eventually return to evil ways.

HERE INVESTIGATING MINES.

Jules Hunebelle, registering from Paris, is one of the late arrivals at the Angelus. Mr. Hunebelle is one of the foremost mining engineers of France, and came here to investigate the discoveries of the past three years in the Nevada and Arizona fields. He has interests in Nevada, acquired through foreign agents. According to him the people living in Europe can scarcely credit the wonderful finding of minerals, particularly gold, in this country, and believe many of the stories of great strikes merely fabulous tales.

SCHOOL ELECTION SCANDAL.

INVALIDATES BOND ELECTION.

State Constitution Requires Secrecy at Polls.

Lawyers to Take Cases to the Highest Courts.

School Management Got Into Deep Legal Hole.

Careful investigation of the school bond election by attorneys who have been asked to pass on the validity of the bonds has led to the conclusion that the school law under which the notorious "wide-open" election was held, is unconstitutional. So certain are the attorneys of this, that suits to enjoin the issuance and sale of the bonds are being prepared and the question will be carried to the highest courts for interpretation.

It is safe to predict that every legal phase of the contention will be thrashed out; that the cases will be carried step by step to the courts of last resort; and that it will be a long day before the taxpayers of Los Angeles are cinched by those $720,000 bonds.

The State Constitution provides that election may be by ballot or other methods, provided that "secrecy is preserved." This is taken to mean what it says, that any method of election may be adopted providing it preserves secrecy.

That secrecy was not observed; that it was not intended to be, and that the machine used its wide-open opportunity as a club over voters who opposed the issue, is conceded even by the friends of the bonds. They do not disguise their criticism of the tactics at the polls. Antagonistic voters had to run a gauntlet of machine workers and submit to public voting.

There was no provision for secrecy and no pretense of secrecy. The double ballot method completely prevented secrecy. One ballot was taken and the other left. Moreover, all the well-known paraphernalia of the secret and legal ballot were absent from the polling places.

The law under which the school bond election was held was passed in 1872. As the Constitution was amended to include the provision for the preservation of secrecy in 1896, it is the contention of able attorneys that the method provided by the old law has been in contravention of the Constitution ever since. For the law provides nothing in its method that preserves secrecy. It is held that any valid election law must have provision for a secret ballot or the absence of it vitiates the entire law—as the Constitution declares, in effect, that secrecy is the essence of the legal method of voting.

WIDE-OPEN POLLS.

That voters could not vote with secrecy is known by all who voted at the bond election. One man came to the Police Station on the day of the election complaining that, after he had marked his ballot and handed it to the election officer, that officer opened it and brazenly looked to see how it was marked. A protest that he had no right to do this was met by the remark:

"The school election laws do not forbid looking at your ballot."

JUDGE'S OPINION.

Former Judge J. L. Brady, No. 825 Golden avenue, who pays taxes on a quarter of a million of property, tells the story of how the election was conducted without the simplest safeguard to secrecy. Judge Golden has been an attorney for over thirty years, and has served on the bench. On the day of election he was in doubt as to where to vote, and he called up the school management. He was told that his voting place was at Central avenue and Thirty-eighth street. Going there he gave his name, and was handed the ballots. But it struck him that it was strange that he should be sent so far from his home to vote, and before he cast his vote he asked the election officer if he was not in the wrong place.

"If you vote right, you can vote anywhere in the city," was the reply.

VOTE "RIGHT."

Judge Brady did not like their remark, and refused to vote. Calling up the City Clerk, he was told that his voting place was near his home, on Flower street. There he cast his vote, in company with H. K. Avery, No. 721 Lake street. Both expressed indignation at the manner in which the election was conducted.

"It was the worst I ever heard of," says Judge Brady.

The natural query is: Why did the school management send Judge Brady to this distant polling place, to be told he could vote anywhere if he voted "right?" Politicians who were active in the days of voting before secret ballot would say that it was because this polling place was open for any one who cared to vote, providing he voted "right."

Other illustrations of the fact that a machine was organized to carry the election are numerous. One of the tricks of detecting adverse voting was to receive the ballot and push the fold slightly with the thumb, so that the location of the "X" could be readily seen, and the act of seeing be safe from detection. In many precincts a seat was kept vacant at the table for the use of the voter. This brought him under the eyes not only of the election officers, but of the crowds of workers that were permitted to hang about the table. If the voter was "right," he sat down and marked his ballot openly. If he was not he had to retire and mark his ballot, and thus disclose his purpose, and in many cases meet opposition from election officers.

One man, while voting, was challenged by a solicitor with the remark: "Why, you promised me and your son you would vote for the bonds!" The heeler had been stationed at the polling place to see that things were carried out right.

WANTED IT "OPEN."

It is multiplied instances such as those given that prove that the election was absolutely planned and carried out without arrangements for secrecy and without the usual safeguards that jealous friends of the success of the bond election would ordinarily require.

The day before the election the question came up as to whether the Great Register should be used. The question was raised by the school management. The use of the register would have kept out hundreds of votes that were counted, and would have prevented illegal practices. But it was known that there was no organized opposition, and when attorneys advised that the law did not require the use of the register, it was omitted.

Many citizens who opposed the bond issue are gathering testimony as to the character of the election. It may not be necessary in case of litigation, because the first question is one of law, and seems clear to the attorneys that the old State school-bond election law is not now valid, and has not been since 1896. The suit that was instituted three years ago to test the validity of that school-bond issue did not present the constitutional question to the court, so there has been no adjudication of it, though this case is cited as "settling" the validity of such elections.

MIGHT DAMAGE THE HOSE.

But Novel Scheme of Burglars' Victim Should Put a Stop to the Thievery.

E. G. Fuller, No. 534 Mission Road, feels sympathetic. A thief has stolen several lengths of his garden hose lately, and after ruminating over the loss he has hit on a plan to insert a nitro-glycerine cartridge into his new reel of rubber tubing. Now he is afraid the thief will handle it roughly, causing an explosion that might possibly ruin the hose.

With the idea of preserving his present supply of rubber goods from needless destruction, Fuller has posted the following notice on the door of his shed:

"To whom it may concern: Having had several lengths of garden hose stolen in the last three months, I have adopted the following precaution: Each night before retiring I insert several nitro-glycerine cartridges in the rubber tubing now in my possession. Parties stealing our hose in the future will please handle with care, as an explosion would render it worthless in case of recovery.

[Signed]

"Yours sympathetically,

"C. G. FULLER."

INDIANS PROSPERING.

Year of Good Crops and no Liquor Brings Success and Happiness to the Pala Tribe.

The Pala Indians under the direction of Superintendent Philip T. Lonergan, with the assistance of the government farmer, Domingo Moro, had a very successful year in 1908. While there were twelve reservations under Superintendent Lonergan, returns can be given for only one, Pala, where the agency is located. Better results might be obtained there if the government had put in the second ditch which was proposed by Chief Engineer Code. As it is water is taken out on only one side of the river, while broad fields on the other side that were formerly irrigated by the mission fathers, remain dry. The Indians after supplying their own needs with beans, hay, olives, etc., marketed produce as follows: Corn, 99,000 pounds, $1386; beans, 7900 pounds, $237; beef, 80 head, $2000; hay, 14½ tons, $203; olives, 1½ tons, $47; total, $3873.

Olives alone were a short crop, but that was a general condition.

The year 1909 opens still more auspiciously for the Pala Indians, for besides the prospect of good crops on their fertile irrigated fields, they are, by force of circumstance, sober. Superintendent Lonergan, with the help of Domingo Moro, who besides being government farmer, is Chief of Police, has succeeded in one year in absolutely stopping the sale and use of liquor. And Lo discovers that he is much happier for the change.

ANOTHER POULTRY SHOW.

The twentieth annual exhibition of the Los Angeles County Poultry Association will be held all this week at the Made in Southern California Exposition on Main street, commencing tomorrow. The cash premiums are considerably larger for this show than any preceding exhibition of the poultry association. In addition to the cash prizes there will be a large variety of trophies, cups and ribbons awarded to the birds that the judges decide to be the leaders of their respective classes. One of the features will be a large display of birds from Santa Barbara. Over fifty entries have been received from there and other cities and towns in the vicinity of Los Angeles. In conjunction with the poultry will be an exhibit of over 200 cats. The show will be free to all persons patronizing the Made in Southern California Exposition.

JEWELRY STORE CHIMES HEARD.

An attractive novelty, in the form of a set of beautiful tubular chimes, has just been installed by the Whitley Jewelry Company, over the handsome white marble front of the store on Broadway. The sweet melody of the chimes attracts the attention of all passers, four times each hour. At quarter past the hour there are four strokes of the bells—"Westminster;" at half-past, eight strokes—"Cathedral Peal;" at three-quarters, twelve strokes—"Reveille;" at the full hour, sixteen strokes "Westminster," followed by striking the hour. The chimes have just been installed by a man sent from Minneapolis for that specific purpose.

CENTRAL AGREEMENT.

GREAT NEW STORE UNDER THIS DEAL.

UNDER an agreement filed in the United States District Court, yesterday, the trustees of the bankrupt Central Department Store secure a four months' option on the so-called major lease of the Central Broadway Building Company, and the building South Broadway, between Sixth and Seventh streets. The price has been fixed at $125,000. It is believed the trustees will soon exercise their right of purchase in order to transfer the entire property, with the exception of the ownership of the land itself, to a large eastern department store that is planning to open a branch in this city. It is also given out that a local firm is considering making the trade, and there probably will be other bidders for the property, valued at about $225,000. The firm that intends to buy the property will probably extend the building to Hill street, thus making another great department store in this city; that is the plan under serious consideration.

The agreement has been placed in escrow with Lynn Helm, referee in bankruptcy, who has approved the terms of the option. This agreement between the trustees of the creditors and the Central Broadway Building Company marks the end of litigation that promised to be prolonged in both the Federal and Superior courts.

Ever since the failure of the Prenzlauers, proprietors of the department store, there has been a series of contentions between attorneys for the building company and the bankrupt estate. The building company asserted that the store lease lapsed with the failure, but the trustees in bankruptcy claimed it formed one of the assets of the estate. The latter view was taken by Referee Helm and Federal Judge Wellborn, and an appeal was taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The building company also filed suit in the Superior Court against William E. Muse and others, to decide the ownership of certain fixtures. This and other suits will be dismissed, and the property cleared of all incumbrances.

It is believed that the trustees, William E. Muse, H. B. Rossiter and W. R. Hervey, have acted in the interest of the creditors, who will get far larger dividends than was thought possible when the concern was petitioned into bankruptcy.

Attorney W. T. Craig has acted as counsel for the trustees, and Denis & Loewenthal for the building company.

CATTLE, SHEEP, HOGS.

IMMENSE INTERESTS WILL GATHER HERE.

Owners of Hundred and Seventy-five Million Animals Represented in the Live Stock Men's Important National Convention Next Week.

WITH an active membership of 1200 prominent stockmen, and representing more than one hundred live-stock associations in the West, with an aggregate membership of 75,000, the American National Live Stock Association, which will open its twelfth annual convention in this city on Tuesday of next week—the 26th inst.—is without question the most powerful organization of its kind in the world. About seventy-five per cent. of the stock raisers of the country are connected with it, and its resolutions and requests are carefully heeded by the western Senators and Congressmen.

The 500 delegates who will gather at the Belasco Theater will represent indirectly three-fourths of the owners of 75,000,000 cattle, 55,000,000 sheep and 50,000,000 hogs. Many of the delegates are multi-millionaires, owning vast principalities in Texas, Wyoming, Montana, the Dakotas and elsewhere. There is no other organization in the country that can as readily secure needed legislation as the American National Live Stock Association, which brought about the institution of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"We expect the coming convention will be one of the most interesting we have held," said T. W. Tomlinson, secretary of the association, yesterday. "This is an ideal city in which to hold such a meeting, and all the delegates are eager to partake of the hospitality of your citizens. We shall transact much important business and discuss questions of national interest.

"The association maintains representatives at Washington during the sessions of Congress, and its opinions have weight with the Congressional representatives from the West. We are much concerned over the question of obtaining a continental market for our meat products. Continental Europe is now barred to us for lack of reciprocal trade agreements.

"Some revision of the tariff will undoubtedly be attempted by the next Congress, and already certain manufacturing interests are clamoring for a reduction in duties on hides, wool and livestock. At our last meeting, a bill was recommended providing for Federal control of grazing on unappropriated lands. This question will come up again and matters pertaining to the conservation of natural resources will be considered."

Secretary Tomlinson has just received word from Washington that Will C. Barnes, assistant to Gifford Pinchot of the Forest Service, will come here to speak on some of the questions relative to forest and stream conservation. A. F. Potter of the Forest Service will also speak.

Cattle men and sheep owners, sometimes in conflict over the right of way, will be at peace at the coming convention, for they realize that their interests are akin on many questions. Hog raisers will also be strongly represented.

WARDING OFF A BLOW.

One of the most important topics of discussion will be the proposed bill to put cattle hides on the free list. The question has already been discussed before the Congressional Ways and Means Committee, the association being represented before that body by its attorneys and officers.

If a bill of the nature proposed by manufacturers and tanners passes Congress, it will strike a blow at the greatest single industry in the country. The association will probably pass strong resolutions and plan an active campaign.

It demands equality of opportunity and strenuously opposes placing hides on the free list. It is argued that the mere amount of the tariff is not the only issue; that a home market is above all the desirable thing. It is asserted that if the tariff is removed from hides, it means that the tanners will stock up on the lowest-priced hides obtainable in the markets of the world and depress the price at home. This means, the association claims, that hides produced here would have to be shipped to Europe for sale, and the proposition of the tanners would result in upsetting the market all over the world for their sole benefit.

In answer to the claims of the tanners and leather manufacturers, the American National Live Stock Association will presumably stand by the following declaration at its meeting: "If there is to be a protective tariff, the stock raisers and farmers are entitled to equality under the law, be it a good or bad law, although it enhances the price of their products, because they are denied free access to the markets of the world for what they buy and are made to pay a higher price on account of the tariff on manufactured articles.

"If the American stock raisers and farmers must patronize the American market for what they buy, they demand in turn the same benefit in furnishing the home supply with what they raise to sell. The raisers can furnish enough hides to supply home consumption, unless forced to curtail business by low prices to meet foreign competition.

"The reduction of cattle values by free hides and cattle will demoralize the cattle-raising business, lessen the home meat supply, and in the end increase the cost of meat and allied products. It costs more to produce cattle and hides in this country than in Mexico, South America and Africa. The public will not receive the benefit of the removal of the duty on hides, but the tanners and manufacturers will get the profits."

This question of tariff on hides will be ably discussed, and the association will doubtless pass resolutions, clearly setting forth their views, to be sent to the Senators and Congressmen from the West.

GRAZING QUESTION.

The administration of the Forest Reserve Service and recommendations as to the regulation of the use of government lands for grazing, will be discussed. A bill providing for the control of grazing upon public lands was introduced in Congress, February, 1908, and the association will make a vigorous attempt to secure its passage this winter.

The bill provides for the establishment of grazing districts and the issuance of permits to graze stock thereon for periods not to exceed ten years. It provides a legal right to fence such tracts, giving preference to homesteaders and present occupants of the range who own improved ranches or who have provided water for live stock grazed on public lands. A grazing fee is proposed based on the value of the land in each locality.

It is proposed that the users of the public lands select a committee from the users of each grazing district, who, with the officer appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture, shall constitute an executive board to determine various questions.

The bill provides that all these lands a reasonable fee for the use of the public lands, in order that they may conduct their business on an individual paying basis.

There, the fencing of such lands has become general because of the nonenforcement of the Federal law against inclosing government lands. The livestock owners there, and probably in other Western States wish the repeal of that law, or if this is impracticable, to be able to obtain a lawful tenure of grazing lands through lease.

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

C. N. Walters, a prominent stockman of Northern Wyoming has openly declared that all the ranchers in that section favor a lease law, or the repeal of the fence law. This question is of much local interest as within the past year, two prominent owners of stock ranches in Southern California have been fined for maintaining illegal inclosures about government lands.

The railroads have made a special rate of one and one-third fare for the round-trip and many of the delegates will bring their families, prepared to pass the rest of the winter in this vicinity.

All the downtown hotels have reservations for the expected influx of wealthy cattlemen, and the city will do its best to furnish the lighter forms of amusement. There will be fine theatrical attractions for the wives and daughters of the delegates and many will avail themselves of the

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours, then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom,) mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

BEAUTIFUL WOME

RELY UPON

Newbro's Herpicide

Pilar Morin, the strikingly beautiful Parisian actress, of whom America's leading theatrical manager says: "I consider her the greatest actress in her line in all the world," writes as follows:

"Newbro's Herpicide is the most delightful hair dressing that has ever come to my notice. It prevents the hair from falling out, does away with dandruff and gives the hair a beautiful luster.

"Cordially yours,

(Signed) "PILAR MORIN."

The fact that leading Parisian women prefer Newbro's Herpicide is certainly conclusive evidence of its superiority.

PILAR MORIN HERPICIDE.

Beautiful, glossy hair, full of snap and life, is just as essential to a beautiful face as is the frame around a beautiful picture.

Nature does not permit every woman to have a great or unusual abundance of hair, but every woman who has reasonably good health may have beautiful hair if she will give it some care and attention.

First of all she must constantly strive to keep it free from the invisible, vegetable growth (the dandruff germ) that causes dull, brittle and lusterless hair with, later, dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

The only rational remedy for this purpose is NEW-BRO'S HERPICIDE, the original remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." In addition to its germ-destroying power, it is the most exquisite hair dressing in the world, for no other substance tends to beautify the hair as does HERPICIDE.

A TRUE BEAUTY TEST FOR WOMEN. Just begin the intelligent use of HERPICIDE in secret and see how quickly your friends will notice the improvement in your hair.

Herpicide contains no grease. It will not stain or dye. Stops itching

[illegible] the winter of 1849-50 the pros-[illegible] who were placer mining had [illegible] to complain of a scarcity of [illegible] twelve inches fell in Decem-[illegible] in March.

[illegible] hundred and fifty-two has [illegible] two floods—one in March [illegible] in December. The lat-[illegible] registered a rainfall of [illegible] in Sacramento. The [illegible] produced quantities of [illegible] little damage. The flood [illegible] was a serious affair. [illegible] more property to damage [illegible] there for destruction.

The rains commenced on the 9th of the month, and the Calaveras overflowed its banks three days afterwards. It was five weeks before the waters had receded from the land. On the 18th the water poured through the streets of Stockton, reaching a point twenty inches higher than had ever been known there before. The bridge spanning the channel between the levee and the peninsula was carried away, and with it the engine-house that was also used as an armory by Maj. R. P. Hammond's company of "minute men." A man by the name of Miller was on the bridge when it floated off, but was rescued.

During this flood small boats were rowed over the tops of orchards.

The rains having made the roads to the mines impassible and supplies there being very low, great efforts were made by the merchants of San Francisco to get provisions and other merchandise to those localities while prices were high. Gold was plentiful and would be generously given for food.

A man who had a store in Mokelumne Hill went to San Francisco, where he chartered a vessel, which was to land his goods at Wood's Ferry, now known as Woodbridge, but once the captain got him out on the river he refused to land unless an unreasonable rate was paid in advance.

The merchant seeing that he was in a trap, went ashore in a skiff to try to raise the money, but, fortunately, met a friend with a pack team who agreed to take the freight off of the vessel and land it at Mokelumne Hill for 20 cents a pound.

The captain was reluctant to give up the goods, but having received a written guarantee that he would receive his freight money in accordance with the original understanding, had to be satisfied. The owner realized such a handsome profit from his venture that he paid the mule driver $2000 besides paying the captain.

In the winter of 1861, about the 10th of November, the winter rains commenced. The winds were strong and the temperature unusually cold. This continued until about December 25, when the streams broke loose from their channels, inundated the whole country, and poured like a turbid sea through the streets of Stockton, tearing up a portion of the public square, carrying away crossings and sidewalks, breaking through embankments and doing considerable damage. After the fury of the storm had been spent, the sun shone for a time and every one said, "The worst is over." But the lull was only temporary, and again the war of the elements began. The cold rains continued to fall until about the middle of January, 1862, when the water from all over the country came flowing from north, south, east and west, to be met by the tide waters backing up, and the result was the big, big flood of 1861-2.

The whole country for miles around was an unbroken ocean, with the city of Stockton in the center. Boats navigated the streets; platforms were erected in stores, over which customers could pass, while wood, fences, bridges, lumber, wrecks of houses and débris of all kinds floated along the thoroughfares.

The Mokelumne River, higher by several feet than ever known by white men before, broke over its banks and covered the country where the city of Lodi now stands.

It was the great flood of California; for five weeks the sun was not seen; flour went up to $40 per barrel, and hay sold for $50 per ton. There were fifteen inches of rainfall in the month of January, and thirty-five and one-half during the seas be kept open to homestead entry, subject to certain provisions framed for the protection of the stock owners.

Among the speakers on this topic will be J. C. Underwood of Underwood, Wyo., where the grazing problem has reached an acute stage. In that State, the majority of the stockmen are willing to pay the government balmy weather to visit Catalina, Long Beach, Venice and the near-by mountain resorts.

The Chamber of Commerce has arranged a public reception on the evening of the first day's session. Later there will be automobile rides about the city, and a trip to Pasadena and Mt. Lowe. The fact that the president of the association, H. A. Jastro, is a Californian, and J. V. Vickers, a prominent member of the Chamber of Commerce, is an active member, adds local interest to the important assemblage of the bronzed stockmen of the plains.

THE PROGRAMME.

The programme follows: First day, Tuesday, January 26, 10 a.m., convention called to order; invocation, Dr. J. S. Thomson; address of welcome, Mayor Harper, and George H. Stewart, president Chamber of Commerce; response, Hon. John W. Springer, Denver; annual address of president, appointment of committees, roll call, reports of standing committees; address, "Our Foreign Markets," Hon. W. A. Harris, Lawrence, Kan.

Afternoon session, 2 o'clock: Introduction and reference of resolutions; address, "Land Laws—Their Administration and Effect," Hon. Joseph M. Carey, Cheyenne, Wyo; address, "What the Live Stock Industry Demands of Congress," Hon. S. H. Cowan, attorney American Live Stock Association; address, "The Loco Investigation," C. D. Marsh, expert, Bureau of Plant Industry, Washington, D. C.; "Tariff on Hides, Wool and Live Stock," general discussion.

Second day, January 27, 10 a.m.: Address, "Meat Inspection," Dr. O. E. Dyson, Chicago; address, "Benefits Derived From Live Stock Organizations and Coöperation," I. T. Pryor, president Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas; address, Hon. Gifford Pinchot, chairman National Conservation Commission, Washington, D. C.; address, E. S. Gosney, president Arizona Wool Growers' Association.

Afternoon, 2 o'clock: Address, "Live Stock Conditions in California," Dr. C. M. Haring, veterinarian, University of California; address, "Federal Control of Public Grazing Lands," Dwight B. Heard, president Arizona Cattle Growers' Association; address, "The Future of the Cow Man," J. C. Underwood of Wyoming, secretary Laramie County Cattle and Horse Growers' Association; general discussion of administration of forest reserves, and proposed government control of the open range.

Third day, January 28, 10 a.m.: Consideration of resolutions, general business, election of officers, selection of next place of meeting, and adjournment.

The Calhoun trial is on, or, at least, the effort to secure a jury is on; and kowtowing to the labor union gang we see lawyers, politicians and newspapers in San Francisco, prostrating themselves lower and still lower in the mire before the insolent totemites.

These are regular dividend paying times with banks and thriving corporations. Besides the regular dividends the neat and interesting job of occasionally carving a surplus sandilla is performed, and the metallic chink of the resulting proceeds in the stockholder's pocket gives forth a highly melonious sound.

Blustering Ben Tillman is in the predicament of other self-righteous men who have poised themselves on one leg and shouted: "Behold an honest man; all the rest of you are damned scoundrels!" He has been detected not exactly with the goods on his person, but with the distinct appearance of wanting to seize them.

The pending movement to increase the number of Superior judges in this county is one that requires investigation by the legislators before it is summarily placed on the statute books. The universal trend in the direction of expanding the machinery of government and making it more expensive is not to be accepted without resistance on the part of the people who cash the bills of officeholders.

REVISES HIS JUDGMENT.

A man heretofore inclined to favor labor-unionism writes a letter to the New York Sun in which the writer quotes from a communication made to him as follows:

"I have been unable to obtain work and am in very hard circumstances. My rent is overdue and I am afraid the landlord will be putting me on the street. I am seventeen months in arrears with my Carpenter Local No. 309, so cannot get a job on union work. If I should be able to get work with a union contractor I would be willing to pay something each week to the local until my dues are paid up."

This seems to have been a revelation to the person who wrote to the Sun. He says he has often wondered why the paper opposed unions, but closes his letter: "If this practice and the boycott are really the cardinal points with the unions, I don't know but what I shall have to revise my judgment and stand with the Sun in hammering away at the abuses."

The more this person seeks information as to the boycott and the cruel way in which "dues" are collected from wage-earners who have families to support, the more radically he will revise his judgment and the more quickly he will get out his hammer to "knock abuses."

"HAIL, GENTLE SPRING."

It may be that spring has come a bit early, this year, to our beloved California of the South. But, no matter; it is here, and that's the main consideration. Any young man who desires to allow his fancy to lightly turn to thoughts of love may now let loose without fear of accusation that he is rushing things. The grass is green and there is no law to prevent the lazy man from putting his back to it for the purpose of watching what few, filmy straggling clouds there are to go floating by.

We have had the warm, soft, singing rains. For almost a solid week they floated in from the good, gray sea, wrapping hill and valley in a cloak of mist. Yesterday the sun came out in all his pageantry of glory to kiss his bride, the earth, as she laughed to him, in her new robes of emerald. He brings gifts to her, too, that she may deck herself with jewels, the lovelier to appear—golden poppies for her mantle, red pepper berries for neck and roses for her hair.

Already is the sap crooning in the veins of the citrus groves, and soon the great, sweeping plains of glinted green shall be splashed with the dazzling glory of mustard bloom. The springtime music is in the air—trill of linnet and pipe of meadow lark by day, and the matchless threnody of the mocking bird by night.

They tell us that beyond the rim of the Mother Mountains old Boreas howls and that dumb, patient cattle are freezing on the desolate plains. They tell us that winter still whitens the prairies that stretch far away to the Father of Waters, and that our kinfolk huddle about their fires along the bleak shores of the Atlantic.

It is all very hard to believe, now that the springtime has come again to California.

THE POE CENTENARY.

Tuesday, January 19, in the year 1809, was born in Baltimore a boy baby, the son of David Poe and Elizabeth, his wife, theatrical people. The grandfather of the newcomer had also borne the name of David and he had been a soldier in the Revolutionary army of his country which has made good the Declaration of Independence and possible the form of government provided for in our Constitution.

The parents of the child died soon after his entrance into what to him was indeed a "vale of tears." Left in absolute destitution, in some way a merchant of Baltimore named Allan took the child into his home and raised him as if his own offspring. The youngster did not bear the name of his father and grandfather as might have been expected, but comes down to us as Edgar Allan Poe. The authorities do not mention any relationship between the child and his indulgent benefactor, so we are left in doubt as to how the poet got his "given" names. But these minor matters are not important. The man stands before the world after a hundred years to be judged on his personal merits and demerits gained in a short life of thirty-eight years, if Allibone is correct, and of forty, according to the Literary Digest and other authorities.

The Baltimore merchant sent the boy to a school near London, and in 1822 placed him in the University of Virginia, quite famous among our higher schools, since it was founded through the instrumentality of Thomas Jefferson. Poe's career at school attracted attention. He is set down as having won distinction "as a scholar, athlete and debauchee." He was expelled from college and crossed the seas, following in Lord Byron's footsteps to aid the Greeks to gain their freedom. The American minister had to interfere to ship the reckless youth back to his native land. Mr. Allan took renewed interest in Poe and got him entered at West Point with intent to make him a soldier, as was his grandfather. Not proving amenable to army discipline, he was soon back in Baltimore to seek further indulgence on the part of his guardian. He proved as incorrigible under the domestic rooftree as at the seats of learning and was cast off by Mr. Allan.

Poe had already made his bow to the public as a poet, in a poetical pamphlet containing "Al Aaraaf, Tamerlane and Minor Poems," which appeared in 1829, when the writer was only 20, according to the date assumed here as correct.

For twenty more years Edgar Allan Poe trod alternately the "primrose path" of life and walked in the valleys of shadows and sorrow. His main occupation was that of editor of various magazines or writer for them, from the Southern Literary Messenger to the New York Literary World. He wrote for Burton's Gentleman's Magazine, Godey's Lady's Book, and various others. He married his own cousin, Virginia Clemm, some time about 1835, and made various other attempts at matrimony between the time of her death ten years after their marriage and his own departure hence.

Poe began to compose verses about his tenth year, and continued to write prose and verse up to almost the hour of his death. His work could not fail to attract attention. "The Gold Bug" won a prize of $100, and today would be worth ten times as much to any magazine. He is best known to us, and will so continue to all coming ages, by his short stories, like this and "A Manuscript Found in a Bottle," with others published under the title of "Tales of the Grotesque and Arabesque." Later came "The Descent Into the Maelstrom," "The Premature Burial," "The Purloined Letter," "The Murders of the Rue Morgue" and "The Mystery of Marie Roget."

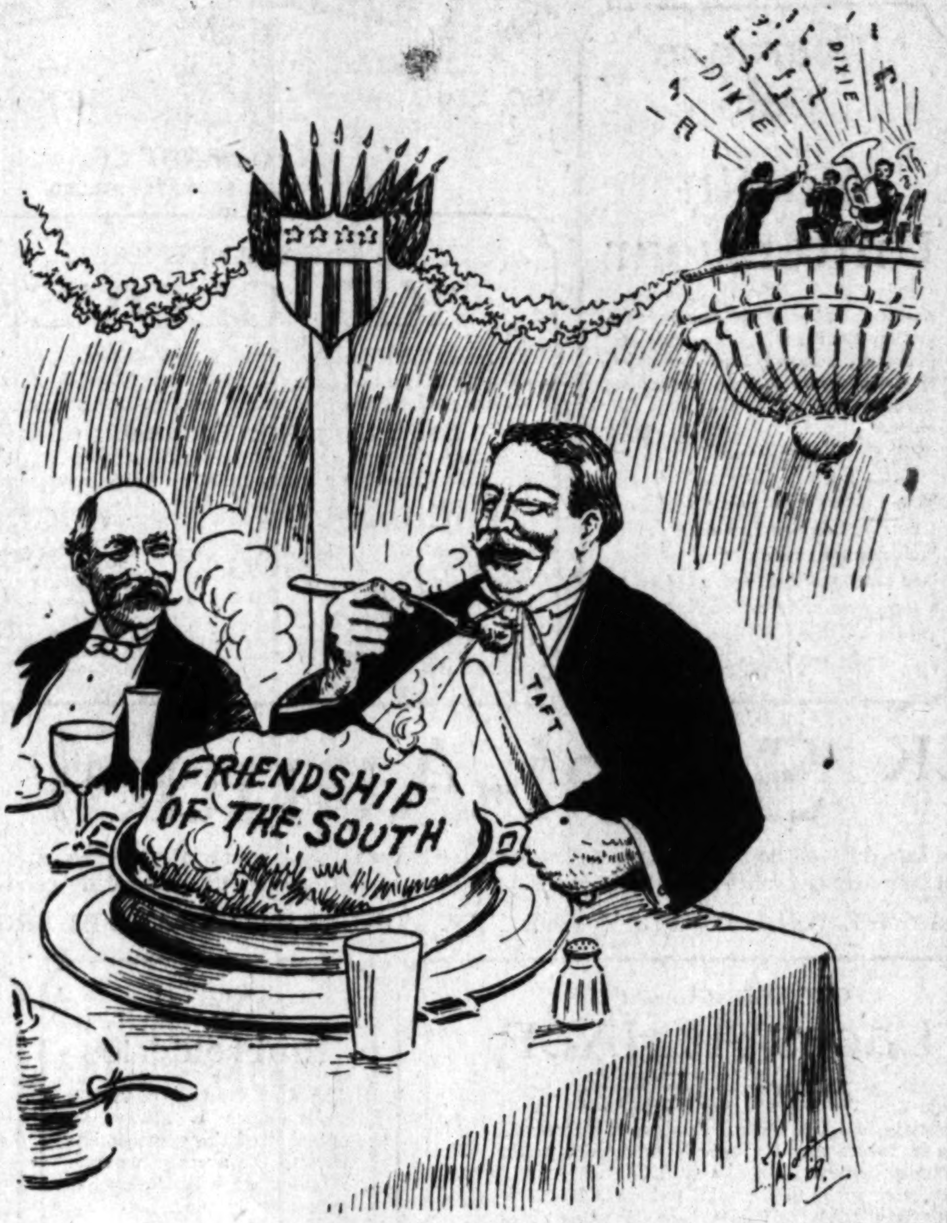
But of all his productions the one most familiar to the world is the famous "Raven." Severe critics tell us this is not a high class of poetry. Some writers inform us that it is not poetry at all. It is easy to try to imitate this weird tale, but so far no one has made a counterfeit that would deceive a high school girl, or a rustic who had once heard the story of the "Lost Lenore." The mind that gave this gloomy but lurid picture of despair to the world was not entirely sane, perhaps. But madness with such a method, if not absolute genius, treads so close to the border land between the two conditions of mind that experts may well differ in their verdict. "The Bells" is fascinating, but falls away below the spell of the black "bird or devil" that croaks from the "bust of Pallas, just above" the "chamber door."

Poe's tales reveal a wealth of imagination riotous but brilliant which well may be compared to that of the elder Dumas. There is this difference. The French romancer deals for the most part with actual personages and events. He takes the story of Henry of Navarre and of the St. Bartholomew massacre and adorns the facts with an abandon of dreams that should have accompanied the facts of history but did not. Poe leans on no staff to walk through the cemeteries of the past and see with the eye of his mind what sentiments might have been working in the dark brain of Catherine de Medici, or in the soul of her daughter, "Margot." The American dreamer plunges with Dantesque courage into the very world of shades, and comes to earth to reveal plots which mere creatures of clay could hardly have conceived.

Then the Raven, the most terrible of all these dreams, which limping prose could not set down at all, opens the human heart in its hours of most hopeless despair and seems to reveal to us what the tortures of the damned must be "where the worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched."

Poe died in poverty, a wreck of what had once been the splendid athlete, in the Baltimore Hospital, October 7, 1849. His mind, more splendidly endowed than his body, was a greater wreck even—burned out by fires like those Byron laments and likens to a snake turning its fangs on itself.

THAT POSSUM DINNER.



Gallant Joe Foraker said, in a speech a day or two ago: "Within a few weeks my voice will probably be stilled forever so far as this chamber is concerned." Foraker will go out of the Senate with wide and substantial sympathy on the part of citizens who appreciate manhood, courage and high devotion to the causes which he has been called upon to support ever since the close of the Civil War. True, he does not agree with the President, but he is not to be politically hung on that account. Possibly Foraker may be justified in declaring with the statesmen of olden time: "I go, but I will return," or words to that effect.

MORE POLITICAL REFORM.

The State of Minnesota has secured a high position for its name on the roll of fame kept by those whose persistent efforts are directed toward the destruction of party organizations. The people of that commonwealth have been held up as examples for all to follow because they have gotten into the habit of helping elect Republican Presidents while choosing for home use a Democratic Governor. It is generally assumed that the defeated Republican gubernatorial candidate is an "undesirable" and that John A. Johnson is away up among the stars beyond the altitude Caesar's wife should have occupied, but failed to reach. Just so. Huh!

But the State Labor Commissioner has sent a report to the Legislature which leads us to reconsider the supposed spotlessness of the Democracy of that State. Commissioner Williams himself does not appear by his own showing to have been made of that "sterner stuff" so necessary to good public servants as well as to the ambitious. He says the State authorities run the Labor Bureau for purely political purposes. They made the commissioner redistrict the State—gerrymander it to suit the Democratic administration. The commissioner is given power to appoint his assistants, but this was taken out of his hands by Gov. Johnson's private secretary, who made the appointments. One of these, a "nonpartisan" promoter of John A. Johnson's boom for the Presidency, by name, E. J. Lynch, is charged by Mr. Williams as follows:

"The assistant labor commissioner was absent from his duties at the State Capitol building from twelve to fourteen weeks, traveling over the United States in the interest of a Presidential candidate and drawing his salary from the State of Minnesota all the time."

Party bigotry is an awful thing. The hide-bound partisan is not a good citizen. But what but a bigot, what but hide-bound is the shallow voter who jumps at the conclusion that by voting for a man not of his own party he is voting for a patriot! That is about the ground on which your non-partisan often stands.

John A. Johnson at heart is widely different from W. J. Bryan. In conceptions of government he is almost a replica of the Nebraska Populist. Johnson is just as deeply tainted with socialistic tendencies as Bryan. In high office he would be just as dangerous to vested property rights, just as much inclined to make indiscriminate war on corporations, quite as prone to play to the galleries. He is a bunch of hot sympathy for all who have not, of prejudice against all who have. These revelations of the Labor Commissioner show how little scrupulous are he and his followers in their political methods. Gov. Johnson will be a hot favorite for the Presidency next time. It is well we should begin to get a view of the man as he really is.

VALUE OF PEACE TO ASIA.

In the year 1907 the United States bought goods in Asia which cost $250,000,000. This country sold Asiatic cities goods which amounted to a value of $144,000,000. We then paid Asiatics for doing work for us a net sum of $106,000,000. They have the best of the bargain. Moreover, exports from Asia are growing more rapidly than imports to Asia. So the ledger is more and more in favor of the people of Asia.

This is attributed to the fall in the price of silver, that being the chief money metal of the Orient. A bag of rice or a box of tea sells for twice as much in silver as when that metal was worth by weight one-sixteenth as much as gold. If we settle our bills in gold, the orientals take that metal and buy twice as much silver as if the metals were at the old percentage of value. This gives the Orient twice as much money as formerly, and abundant money makes for more activity in business. Under this stimulus and the awakening of the oriental mind, many goods are made in Asia which formerly were imported, and many more are made for export.

It is very important that the Asiatic people should get a clear view of all this. So long as peace reigns between them and the United States so long shall we go on paying them $100,000,000 a year, increasing year by year, for goods we buy there in excess of goods we sell them. Should a war break out our markets would be shut off from the people of the Orient and they would suffer from bad times. Then there would be the war debt to be paid, raising taxation higher than now and making life harder.

Commerce is the best peace-maker. England would suffer untold hardship in case of a war with the United States. Two or three million people would starve if the supplies of American cotton were cut off. There would be a general famine if American foodstuffs could not gain easy access to England.

SUNSET AND AFTER.

The sun goes down in the western sea
  At the end of a path of gold,
A golden path that beckons me
  With a spell no tongue has told,
And the waves are smooth as a sea of glass,
And far-off ships like shadows pass,
  And the hours of the day are told.

The sun goes down in the western sea,
  And a crimson flush has spread,
Growing and deepening gloriously
  Till it veils the blue o'erhead,
And the far-off ships, as they sail away,
And the paths of gold that had turned to gray,
  And the glistening sands burn red.

The sun has sunk in the western sea
  And the crimson glory dies,
And the twilight creeps like a mystery
  Over the waves and skies,
And the tide flows in on the lonely shore;
Far on the rocks the breakers roar,
  And a passing sea bird cries.

O sea, that laughs in the glad sunlight
  And glows in the sunset glow—
O sea, that moans in the falling night—
  A voice of this old world's woe—
Thou takest us to thy breast, O sea,
And the depths of our souls they answer thee,
  In thy ceaseless ebb and flow.

… suspicion that the ultimate landing place of Roosevelt, after he has killed all the wild animals in Africa, is to be the United States Senate.

Mr. Root is about to take Platt's place, and two years from now, there will doubtless be another vacancy, when Senator Depew will trade his very valuable room for his exceedingly doubtful company.

If these things shall come to pass, old New York would have a pair of Senators who would tower over the Senators from every other State like a lighthouse above a bed of seaweed.

Mr. Roosevelt is without doubt one of the greatest personalities in the history of the world. For force and power and impetuous strength (which is anything but really impetuous) he ranks with Napoleon.

Root, however, is just as surely the greatest intellect that has adorned the public service of this country for many generations. In the history of our country, it is not too much to say that his intellectual superior has never been seen.

Root and Roosevelt would be a pretty good pair to draw to.

Another notable man who will leave the Senate as Root enters it—and who will leave to take Root's place—is Philander Knox, one of the greatest lawyers in America.

In appearance, Mr. Knox is one of the most distinguished of men. His cold, thin lip and his fine, sensitive, clear-cut face speak of intellecot in every line.

Taft—Not Yet "President-elect."

This country expects to get a lot of comfort out of Judge Taft. Few Presidents have gone into office carrying the trust and good feeling.

I think even the labor unions place faith in him. He is reassuring because he brings to the office the calm, impersonal judgment of a man who has been long on the bench—but not too long.

An incident characteristic of him and of President Roosevelt happened at the late session of the Conservation Congress.

Gifford Pinchot, the chief forester, introduced him, as a matter of course, as the "President-elect."

His words, in reply, were: "Mr. Pinchot is in error—I am not the President-elect."

Mr. Roosevelt instantly, and by instinct, swept the object aside.

"Although," he said, grinning, "Mr. Taft may not be the President-elect, it does not take the seventh son of a seventh son to guess who will be a prominent Presidential candidate before the electoral college."

Anna Gould's Imperious Beggar.

Poor Anna Gould! Among her other troubles she has had a bitter experience with the professional French beggar. Most of the wealthy owners of country houses on the outskirts of Paris are afflicted with what may be called their "beggars in ordinary." These fellows are highly aristocratic in their mendicancy and must have their wants attended to at their own convenience. One such was waiting at Mme. Anna's castle at an early hour, just after her fifth quarrel with Boni. She had been up nearly all night and slept late. The beggar waxed impatient, and, turning fiercely upon the footman, said:

"How long d'ye suppse she'll be before she comes?"

"Really can't say," replied the valet, "maybe ten minutes, maybe three hours."

"Then I'll tell ye what it is," growled the mendicant, "she may provide herself with another beggar—tell her that from me!" And off he went.—[New York Press.

The Observing Student.

The professor of surgery in one of our universities has the reputation of being one of the most painstaking and delicate operators in Britain, thoughtful of the patient and careful in the clinic. One day, in the course of a clinical demonstration he turned to a student who had just commenced his studies with the question:

"Now, sir, can you tell me what is wrong with my dressing?"

The ingenuous youth turned red and preserved a discreet silence. The professor, however, was not to be put off, and repeated the question. After a long pause, the youth stammered out, in a fit of desperation:

"Well, sir, if you insist on my telling you, I should say your tie is not quite straight."—[Exchange.

REACHING OUT.

DREDGING IN SOUTH AMERICA.

LOCAL COMPANY TO OPERATE IN COLOMBIA.

Gov. Vega Is Pleased With Efforts of Chamber of Mines to Aid Friendly Relations With Mexico and Likes Idea of a Government Exhibit Here.

The Colombia Gold Dredging Company has been formed in this city to operate properties on the Porce River, in Colombia, South America. Six thousand acres are comprised in the tract taken over, and work will be done by dredges. The district is some 400 miles inland from Cartagena, on the Atlantic. The journey is by river boat, then by rail over the mountain to within a few miles of the mines. The river has been worked by the crude methods of the natives for centuries, and it is said that they get big values.

George H. Chase is president of the new company, George W. Mead is first vice-president, Lew Robertson is second vice-president, A. B. Welsh, secretary and treasurer, W. N. Matlock, director and engineer. The concern is capitalized for $5,000,000.

GOVERNOR IS PLEASED.

Gov. Vega of Lower California was an interested visitor at the Chamber of Mines Friday, and expressed himself as greatly pleased with the work of that body in promoting friendly business relations with Mexico, and Lower California. The information that the chamber is endeavoring, through the Mexican Financial Association, to obtain from President Diaz's government, an exhibit of the ores and mineral resources of the southern republic pleases him particularly.

The question of an exhibit was brought up during a recent visit of a representative of the Mexican Financial Association to Los Angeles. He assured the directors that the Mexican authorities would undoubtedly be glad to furnish such a display, and promised he would take the matter up on his return home.

AT COPPER CREEK.

The Times has received a letter from R. Roy Sibley, superintendent of the Copper Creek Mining Company at Copper Creek, Ariz., which says the company is building a 500-kilowatt Corliss central power station, the first unit of 200 k. just completed, as well as a modern concentrating mill, having a capacity of 250 tons daily. There is a fine double-drum electric hoist at the American Eagle shaft. This shaft is in three compartments, timbered with 10x10 timbers.

The company's mill will be completed early in the summer, and will produce a large amount of concentrates during the following six months. When this is finished the first 250-ton unit of the smelter will be started. The company has built a road into the district at a cost of $21,000.

Ore bodies run 3 to 5 per cent., and are 40 to 150 feet wide in places, with porphyry masses between diorite walls.

WILL PUT UP MILL HERE.

The International Ore Treating Machinery Company has decided to submit to the stockholders a proposition to build a custom mill in this city. The stockholders will meet on the 18th inst. The company has just contracted to build a mill for Dr. S. B. Tizzard at Burson, Calaveras county, forty-seven miles from Stockton.

AROUND BEAUMONT.

The State Bureau of Mines is collecting data on Beaumont's mineral resources. Quite a variety of minerals, including topaz and beryl, have already been found. Placer gold in considerable quantities is said to be present in the stream beds to the north of the town. A. A. Warren has located a claim in Edgar Cañon, from which ore showing as high as 8 per cent. copper is said to have been mined.

BANK ROBBERS ADMIT GUILT.

Elder Man Joins Younger in Confessing Crime at Burbank State Institution.

George A. Smith, jointly charged with D. W. Moore, Jr., with burglarizing the State Bank of Burbank, Wednesday night, confessed his guilt to Sheriff Hammel, Deputy Harry Wright, and Justice Catlin, of Burbank, at the County Jail, yesterday afternoon.

He did not go into details of the crime, but said he is convinced there is a good case against him, and that he is "ready to take his medicine."

"I do not care how soon you send me to prison," he declared. "I will waive arraignment and examination. The story told by the boy (Moore) is correct, but if I had had some of the 'soup' (nitro glycerine) instead of Satanite, I would have blown the vaults and secured the money."

It is the opinion of the authorities that Smith has already served time in the penitentiary. It is known he has been in Los Angeles and vicinity for more than two weeks, and that he came here from San Francisco.

Smith and Moore will be taken to Burbank for arraignment before Justice Catlin, tomorrow.

Moore dictated a lengthy statement yesterday for Sheriff Hammel, but it added little of importance to the confession made Friday.

MURPHY'S BIG EFFORT.

Will Try to Get One Thousand Pledge Signatures During the Forthcoming Week.

In an effort to obtain 100 signers to the pledge of total abstinence during the coming week, Thomas Murphy will begin a series of meetings today. His first meeting will be at the County Jail. Tomorrow he will hold one at the Southern Pacific shops, Tuesday at the Cudahy packing-house, Wednesday at the Baker Iron works, Thursday at the Salt Lake shops, Friday at the Santa Fé shops, and Saturday at Garvanza.

The young man already has 35,000 signatures, and is striving to reach a million in the work that carries him throughout the country. In the meetings this coming week he will be assisted by Miss Mattie Scherer and a choir of prominent singers and by a number of prominent business men.

Thomas Murphy is a grandson of Francis Murphy, and although only 24 years old, is working on the same lines, and with the same success as his illustrious grandfather.

Southern California's leading horticultural industry, the growing of citrus fruits, is described by an expert in the Midwinter Number of The Times.

Follow the Crowd This Store Will Be the Center of Interest Monday

Unique in name, but of the utmost importance to every discriminating buyer, Monday we begin our First Annual Temptation Sale. We use the word "Temptation" advisedly, as no other so aptly describes the magnificent bargains that will be offered. The shortest route to this store tomorrow will be the best and the quickest road to economy. For weeks we've been preparing for this great event, watching the markets for bargains, and getting a lot of our regular stock ready for a quick clearance. In consequence we have the most colossal aggregation of tempting values ever offered on any similar occasion. The prices below and those that will prevail this week carry the best argument as to why you should be here. Make your plans now to be here when the doors open tomorrow.

BROADWAY AT FIFTH STREET

A LITERARY EXCURSION.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Dec. 23.—American books are becoming quite popular in England; and several English publishers are beginning to take a lively interest in them. This is a revolution from the state of things which prevailed a few years back. In those days, if you asked for an American book—even by a prominent author—you were looked at in a patronizing way which implied that you must be more or less "afflicted." Today, however, if a bookseller has not the work of W. Dean Howells, James Lane Allan, or other shining American literary lights, he offers to "get it for you at once." So much headway have American books made in England, in fact, that one or two United States consuls have even taken upon themselves to advise the American government that certain books should be introduced into England—particularly books of reference, which, the consular reports state, are "frequently inquired after."

As a matter of fact, much interest is taken in everything American just now and one of the consuls even goes so far as to suggest that if an agency were started which undertook to give the fullest information concerning everything American—a rather ambitious project, perhaps—it would fill a long-felt want. In recent years, a number of American publishers have opened London branches; and most of these are doing well. It is not unusual to see works brought out with the imprint of an English publisher, bearing the words: "Printed in America." Some of the very largest English firms are thus saving themselves the cost of typesetting, which naturally gives that much more business to Uncle Sam. The principal reason for this arrangement is, of course, the requirements of American copyright law—always a mysterious affair, anyway.

Several clubs which pretend to more or less "literary flavor"—notably the Emerson—have been debating the question whether or not authors should be required to wear dress suits. It may be recalled that Edward Fitzgerald—translator of Omar Khayyam—denounced the dress suit as an "abomination." Nevertheless, the garment still exercises its tyranny on most of the authors who have "arrived." Singularly enough, it is only in the early stages of their career that authors raise any objection to wearing the "wedding garment," as it were. As they get on in life, and as their books become better known, they gradually haul down the flag of defiance and step upon the deck of the prim yacht "Society," fully prepared to conform to all the regulations of conventionality. It was even so with the "great and only" Bernard Shaw. When he first "went out," he refused to wear anything for an upper garment but a dinner jacket, which he further adorned by a flaring red tie—which meant "Socialism." However, as "G.B.S." won fame and shekels, he shed his early views, along with his red tie and jacket, and you may now see him dressed quite in the style, and even a little proud of having a dress suit whose fit approaches perfection. Thus does the whirligig of time bring along its conventions, as well as its revenges.

Some one who was intimate enough to remind Shaw of his lapse from early independence was told that only fools tried to strike an oddity in dress; whereas, persons of brains—he might, perhaps, have meant "G.B.S." himself—only differed from others in their intellectual capacity. The dress suit in England is certainly "second nature" to most people who move in the circle which has been described as "the intellectually elite." Many theater managers even require that the occupants of stall seats shall wear dress suits, and many London theaters go so far as to print across the tickets the significant words: "Dress suit must be worn."

In these days of delvings and pryings into the inmost secrets of authorship, curious facts are constantly coming to light concerning great names in literature. An interesting series of "revelations" have been made recently about "authors' first loves." Walter Scott, it seems, never married the woman of his choice. "Lady Scott," says one of his recent biographers, "could never be a companion to him," and he goes on to explain that, though Scott married a Miss Charpentier, he was actually "dead in love" with Williamina Stuart, whom he met in a very romantic way. The story would be old, perhaps, were it not for the fact that love is never ancient. Scott met his Williamina outside the door of a church. It was raining. Scott had an umbrella; Williamina none. Out of this extremely simple situation grew the ruling passion of Scott's life. He proposed to the adored one, but her father turned him down, owing to his rather unpromising "prospects." Scott never quite recovered from the blow. On the day of his final rejection he "rode from the young lady's house, eating his own heart, and avoiding the paths of men." Williamina married another, though she, too, had confessed her affection for Scott. In after years, when Scott got into debt, Williamina's husband came to his rescue. Scott wrote that people experience real love only once in their lives.

Another famous love affair which has been more than usually elaborated in recent biography is that between Byron and Mary Chaworth. Though Byron came to be the most sought after poet of the day, and had hosts of women simply adoring him, his heart always remained true to "his Mary." He met her when he was a student at Harrow; and their estates were within three miles of each other, near Byron's ancestral home, Newstead. Strange to say, though Byron was deeply in love with Miss Chaworth, she was not responsive. She married another; and, in after life, Byron had a peculiar affection for her little daughter. This affection opens a peculiar psychological vista. Byron wrote:

"When late I saw thy favorite child,
  I thought my jealous heart would break;
But when th' unconscious infant smiled,
  I kissed it for its mother's sake."

Dickens, too, it will be remembered, had a "love affair" in which his first heart's choice married another; and yet, Dickens in after life, had a strange affection for the offspring of his early sweetheart. In his "Tale of Two Cities" he thus alludes to this incident: "No man ever really loved a woman, lost her, and knew her with a blameless though an unchanged mind when she was a wife and mother, but her children had a strange sympathy with him—an instinctive delicacy and pity for him."

Books dealing with these unique love affairs of the great are having a good sale just now. Strange to say, the most precise and morally exacting readers seem quite tolerant of any amount of "latitude" on the part of their favorite authors. Genius seems surely privileged in affairs of the heart; and no matter what such men as Scott, Swift, Byron, Shelley and others of their ilk did, the sale of their books or the number of their admirers is not one whit diminished.

PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Cuncil Dromgold is threatened with a recall petition by irate claimant of river-bed land.

The Board of Supervisors met behind closed doors yesterday to consider minor appointments to be made tomorrow, withheld meanwhile.

Judge James yesterday gave the home of the late Col. Fred H. Seymour, at Redondo, to the widow for a homestead, pending disposition of the son's suit to break the will.

H. G. McGee, alleged check worker, is supposed to be implicated in a number of similar operations throughout the country.

AT THE CITY HALL.

THE RECALL ON DROMGOLD?

FORRESTER, A POLITICAL BRICKMAKER, AFTER HIM.

Councilman from the First Ward Has Been Trying to Oust Poachers on City Land in River Bed and Brings Wrath on His Head—"Not Afraid," Says He.

In the good old days, Cal Forrester achieved more or less fame by his companionship with a coterie known as "the political brickmakers." They had a scheme to sell millions of brick to the city for sewer purposes, and their scheme presented the same roseate returns as the many that Col. Mulberry Sellers declaimed: "There's millions in it."

Cal Forrester and the brickmakers have been revived just a tiny little bit by Cal's present aggressive movements looking to a petition to recall Councilman R. W. Dromgold. Though the wily Cal is not a resident of the First Ward, being a wheelhorse of the Second, he is beating the bushes to stir up the recall petition, and this is why:

He was interested in some river-bottom land along Elysian Park. In fact, he was more than interested, for he claimed it as his own, and was selling gravel therefrom. Prosecuting a teamster who was arrested for taking gravel without his permission disclosed that his possession was more fanciful than real. It also opened the eyes of Dromgold to the fact that river-bottom land was pretty good meat for land poachers, and he went nosing. He found that several parcels, in all twenty-five acres along the river had been platted by claimants under quitclaim deeds. The plats had been recorded on the Assessor's books, and Dromgold held to the theory that the land really belonged to the city, and that it had no business on the Assessor's books. He called on the City Engineer for information about the river-bed survey, and found he was, in all probability, right. Now the land is off the Assessor's books, and the color of title in that regard has been removed.

Because of this, and because Cal Forrester was interested in some of these lands, the recall agitation has been started.

Dromgold said yesterday that he is still able to sleep o' nights. He said the city should at once assert its rights to the countless acres of land that belong to it by reason of the diversion of the channel of the river, and that he would persevere in his effort to establish the city's rights.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

DR. WHITMAN OR BARBER?

WHICH WILL BE HEAD OF THE COUNTY HOSPITAL?

Former Is the "Dark Horse" in the Race With the Present Superintendent for Appointment, Which the Supervisors Are Expected to Make Tomorrow.

The most important appointment expected to be made tomorrow by the Board of Supervisors is that of superintendent of the County Hospital. It is understood the incumbent, Dr. D. C. Barber, has strong opposition for the place in the person of Dr. C. H. Whitman, No. 1848 Gramercy Place, and there may be a close race. It was intimated last night that Whitman, who has been the "dark horse" for some time, and who is supposed to have the backing of Supervisor Pridham, stood a good chance until yesterday's secret conference, when indications developed that three Supervisors will stand by Barber. The race may result either way, however. Dr. Whitman, of the eclectic school, has practiced in Los Angeles since the San Francisco fire. Some years before that he resided in this city.

The Supervisors held a protracted session behind closed doors yesterday, and at the conclusion of the conference it was announced that minor appointments to be made tomorrow were discussed.

Supervisor Pridham said there are about seventy places to be filled, but none of the members of the board would say anything as to what conclusion had been reached in regard to the identity of the prize-winners. Supervisor Eldridge said the subject will come up tomorrow, when the balance of the appointments are to be announced. The majority of the selections will be for minor places about the Courthouse, janitors, etc.

SUITS FOR RENTS.

OFFICE BUILDING INVOLVED.

The McCarthy company filed a complaint in the Superior Court yesterday against J. E. Wyckoff, asking for rent, alleged to be unpaid. It is asserted the plaintiff entered into a written lease with John G. Orth, October 1, 1907, for a five-year lease of the McCarthy building, at Broadway and Court streets, to be paid at the rate of $710 a month in advance, or $42,600 for the entire life of the lease. It is also alleged that January 30, 1908, Orth transferred the least to the defendant, and that there are various amounts of rent due for June, July, August, September and October, 1908. Plaintiff asks for $1490, declared due at the time of the filing of the complaint, and $710 for each month the property is unlawfully held by the defendant. A writ of restitution is also sought.

LEAVES TRACKS.

MANY FICTITIOUS CHECKS.

S. L. Browne, chief detective of the District Attorney's office, is in receipt of information indicating that H. G. Gee, a dapper young man held to answer the charge of passing a fictitious check in a store on South Spring street, is wanted in other localities. Word comes from San Francisco that Gee induced an unsuspecting stranger to indorse a worthless check for $30, drawn on the Decatur County Bank of Decatur county, Tenn., afterward cashed by Col. Kilpatrick of the Fairmont Hotel.

The Chief of Police of Blackwell, Okla., who had received a photograph of Gee, writes that he recognizes the man as the individual wanted there for several crooked check transactions.

Gee is a handsome-looking man, about 29 years of age. He will be arraigned before Justice Selph on Friday. When asked to plead last week he told the court Gee is not his true name, but refused to say what it is.

UNDER ADVISEMENT.

WARNER HABEAS CORPUS CASE.

Attorney A. D. Warner appeared in his own behalf before Judge Monroe, yesterday, arguing the habeas corpus case involving his liberty under the complaint filed in Justice Summerfield's court, charging him with giving a check for $25 when he had no money in the bank to meet it. Warner's contention is that a check post-dated, as his was, could not be considered a check within the meaning of the law, but merely a bill of exchange, and quoted old English authorities to prove his contention. The court took the matter under advisement, and will render a decision Friday at 9 a.m.

CRIMINAL MATTERS.

CHECK MAKERS ARRAIGNED.

In Judge Willis's court yesterday Leo F. Rivard, who pleaded guilty to uttering a fictitious check October 29, 1908, for $20, and who has been in jail since the act, was admitted to four years' probation. The accused disposed of three small checks, and in extenuation of the offense charged, said he was "blue" on account of the recent death of his father, and greatly in need of money.

Philip R. Cooper pleaded guilty to burglarizing the Greenleaf restaurant on Fifth street, securing $8.40 from the cash drawer. He was given a year at San Quentin.

The case of Charles F. Warner, who pleaded guilty to passing a check for $48 in Pasadena, was continued for two weeks. His mother, who resides in New York, is coming to settle the claim, and if possible keep him out of prison.

VICTORY FOR WIDOW.

REDONDO PROPERTY INVOLVED.

Judge James yesterday made an order setting aside the Redondo residence of the late Col. Fred H. Seymour, who died last year, as the homestead of Mrs. Mira A. Seymour, the widow, pending the settlement of the will case now pending in Judge Rives's court.

It will be recalled that Seymour at his death left a will giving his property, valued at about $500,000, to the widow, and at her death, to the children, Gorden F. C. Seymour and Merita S. Seymour. It was claimed by the will contestant that the Redondo property was not the real home of Seymour; that he was not an American citizen at all, and that his homestead was in Torres, Mex.; that it was desired the place remain the property of the estate, etc.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

DAMAGES WANTED. Lizzie Cross Peckham filed a complaint in the Superior Court against the Los Angeles Railway Company, asking damages in $10,000 for injuries she sustained in an accident a few days since on West Seventh street, near Grand avenue.

MITCHELL WILL CASE. The last act in the Susan G. Mitchell will case contest was the peaceable filing of the instrument in Judge Rives's court, yesterday morning. The bond furnished was $125,000.

HAY BILL. Supplementary proceedings brought against Jacob Hein, doing business as Jacob Hein & Co., were discharged by Justice Pierce, yesterday. It was claimed Hein owed a hay bill of $80, but he testified the firm is composed of Philip Hein of Los Angeles, and Henry Hein of New York, his brothers; that he has no pecuniary interest in the house, although he has power of attorney from his brother in New York to do certain things in connection with the business.

TIDELANDS CASE. The arguments in the cases involving the titles to what are known as the tidelands in connection with the San Pedro harbor matter, were concluded before Judge Bordwell, yesterday. The case was submitted, and a decision will probably be handed down this week.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Womn Caught in Queer Place Demand Jury Trials—Highwayman's Case Set for Tuesday.

Mrs. A. L. Hoffman and six women, arrested in a raid on the Grand Pacific Hotel, South Spring street, several nights ago, were arraigned before Justice Austin in the Police Court yesterday.

Mrs. Hoffman is charged with keeping a disorderly house and selling liquor without a license. The women are charged with vagrancy.

Several officers, who spent more than a week getting evidence in the case, were in court yesterday when the complaints were read. The women's attorney asked for a jury trial in each case, and the dates were entered upon the calender.

Manuel Luselda, charged with attempted highway robbery, was arraigned before Justice Austin yesterday, and his preliminary examination set for Tuesday.

Luselda stopped a woman in the University district several nights ago and attempted to take her purse from her. She broke away and fled, and Luselda was captured a short time later. He was unable to furnish bail, and was sent to jail until the time of trial.

Thayer Examination Postponed.

The preliminary examination of William Mitchell, charged with the murder of Cecil Thayer, was called for trial in Justice Frederickson's Police Court yesterday morning. Because of the absence of some of the witnesses, the case was postponed, and will come up for hearing tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Thayer was killed New Year's night by Mitchell, who claimed to be avenging his sister's honor.

WOMAN VICTIM OF THIEF.

Mrs. H. M. Cleaves of No. 1421 West Tenth street lost money and jewelry Friday night to a thief, who secured access to her home by means of a pass key. A purse containing several dollars was taken, along with a gold nugget chain, a gold ring and a band ring set with two diamonds.

VALUABLE ARTICLES GONE.

B. F. Snowden of No. 1511 Bridge street yesterday reported the loss of several valuable articles from his home. Burglars entered the place Friday night during the absence of the owner and stole a gold watch and chain and a handsome charm.

RICH EXHIBIT TO LONDONERS.

Golden West to Show Itself at Earl's Court.

California Will Tell Them "How to Do It."

Los Angeles Arranges for Fine Display.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Most American States are taking a keen interest in the "Golden West and American Industries Exhibition," to open in London next May. Space in the large exhibition grounds at Earl's Court, in the West End of London, has already been engaged by various bodies representing the following cities and States: Chicago, Delaware, Grand Rapids, Baltimore, St. Louis, Cleveland, Wyoming, New York, Pittsburgh, Sprinfigeld (O.,) Hartford (Ct.,) Richmond (Va.) and Tacoma (Wash.) This is an indication of the widespread interest which is being taken in the exhibition, and manufacturers of each State seem bent on showing the world what America can produce.

FINE DISPLAY FROM HERE.

The Governor of California, with a view to securing an adequate representation of his State, has made an application to the Legislature for an official grant. Similar steps are being taken by representatives of other States. The California Promoting Committee has arranged to take Prince's Hall, one of the most conspicuous buildings, for the purpose of a statistical and pictorial display coupled with free illustrated lectures. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is arranging to make an extensive display of the products of Southern California.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has appointed a strong committee to coöperate with the United States Commissioner in securing a goodly number of exhibits from the State. All the important Californian fruit growers will be present with fine exhibits, and the Imperial Court and Gardens at Earl's Court have been assigned to California, Oregon, and the Pacific States. The Royal Galleries are being reserved for the Pacific Coast States, including railroad exhibits. The Oregon Development League is most anxious that its State should be worthily represented in the exhibition, and is making strenuous efforts to this end. The Colorado States, Commercial Association is preparing an extensive exhibit to occupy 300 feet by 50 feet in the Imperial Court.

HONOLULU ALSO.

Even the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce is using its influence among the business community to have a good and representative exhibit of the various industries of the island. It is intended that Hawaii shall have a splendid display of the resources and picturesque features of the islands.

Among manufactories that have already taken space are cycle, laundry, carriages, leather, dry goods, lumber and woodwork and other important interests. Most of the big American railways have also arranged to give fine exhibitions, and so have the trans-Atlantic steamship companies.

Altogether, it looks as if the American Exhibition in London were going to be a big thing. Widespread interest is certainly being taken in it, and, though the movement is only in its inception, there is every indication that before long nearly every State will be represented, and important American industries will give the British public a chance of seeing how they "do things" in the United States.

I Cured My Rupture

I Will Show You How To Cure Yours FREE!

I was practically helpless and bed-ridden for many years from a double rupture. I wore innumerable different kinds of trusses and appliances. Some of them were tortures, some positively dangerous, and none would hold the rupture in its proper place. The doctors told me I could not expect to have it entirely healed unless I would consent to a surgical operation. I fooled them all, however, and cured myself completely and permanently by a simple method which I discovered. Anyone can use it, and I will gladly send the cure free by mail to anyone who writes for it. Fill out the coupon below and mail it to me today. I will send the cure by return mail, postpaid.

Have Real Art In the Interior Decoration of Your Home

Have that indefinable atmosphere of harmony and balance in color--that correctness of proportion and detail is typical of the work of the "California."

Interior decoration of this sort costs no more than you ordinarily pay for work that is merely mechanical--work that lacks those finer ences which constitute real art.

The men who represent the interior decoration department of the "California" are real artists—men with the true inborn artistic Their work is above competition. It is distinctly in a class alone.

And the advantage of relying on the "California" for interior decoration is not only in securing proper execution of the work—but the wall papers you find here are distinctive—they show the artistic ability and discriminating sense of the artist, in selection.

Take, for instance, these new designs in Japanese leather effects. They are masterpieces in wall paper art. There is nothing comparable to them for the hall, dining room or library. And they are absolutely the most durable wall coverings you can buy.

And we want you to see these beautiful chambrays for bedroom use. They are very dainty and pleasing and make a very delightful room when used with a cut-out border that has a touch of color.

But come, visit the wall paper department—there is much here that is interesting to see and you are always welcome. This week we will show some of the new Japanese leather creations in one of our windows.

ANCIENT TREASURE.

STRANGE FIND NEAR ABILENE.

Prehistoric Habitation in the Lone Star State.

Aged Frontiersman's Chart Is the Clew.

Archeologists Puzzled by the Discovery.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.] ABILENE (Tex.) Jan. 14.—The excavation work in what were at first believed to be the famous Los Alemegros silver mines, seventeen miles of Abilene, has brought to light the ruins of prehistoric buildings of which there were no surface indications.

The mining and archeological explorations which have been going on at this spot for several months under the direction of George E. Ward of Abilene are full of mystery. About years ago an aged frontiersman, who gave the name of Dave Arnold, appeared in the vicinity of the present excavations and told the people he was hunting for an ancient Spanish mine which, in addition to its rich ore, contained silver bullion to the value of more than $1,000,000, stored in one of its drifts. He had in his possession a chart of buckskin covered with hieroglyphics, made by burning. He claimed to have received this from an aged Indian in the mountains of Mexico, who came into its possession from his father, a member of a Spanish expedition, which took the mine away from the Aztecs and worked it for several years. The chart was taken away from one of the captured Aztecs, and had been in the family of the Indian ever since. According to Arnold's story, the mine had been only partly explored when an order came from the viceroy to return to Mexico City. The shaft was filled with earth and all trace of the underground wealth hidden. The chart itself contained full directions of the location.

Arnold claimed that he had been searching for the treasure trove for more than fifty years, his failure being due to a wrong interpretation of some of the hieroglyphics. A correct reading was finally obtained, and he soon arrived in the vicinity of the ancient mine. He borrowed a spade from John, a Polish settler, and, with a helper, went to the spot and, after a little digging, uncovered a flat stone, covered with hieroglyphics. Arnold paced off a number of steps due from this stone, and there did some more digging and uncovered a copper plate upon which was engraved the Aztec emblem of the rising sun. A short distance away he found another copper plate, upon which the Aztec emblem of the rising sun was placed, also a stone and another resembling a turtle in shape. All had their, according to Arnold. daggers, with gold-filled handles were uncovered, and finally a key was brought to the

At this stage Arnold suddenly disappeared and no trace of him has ever been found. Mr. Ward then became interested in the remarkable discovery, and is carrying on extensive began uncovering what to be the shaft of the mine. He soon came across gold, copper and lead, and from the surface a quantity of silver ore.

The most startling discovery was about twenty feet from the surface when a solid stone or adobe was encountered. Excavation of a part of this shows it to be of a large building. It rises twelve feet. An opening was at one point, and a room was filled with sand and dirt. Several skeletons were unearthed. They human bones, and of a prehistoric, it is claimed. A number of Aztec utensils and implements have been uncovered.

The wonderful discovery has been by O. P. Thomas, secretary of the Abilene 25,000 Club, and other citizens of the town. They say that the of a prehistoric civilization have undoubtedly been found. What further exploration will reveal is altogether conjecture. It is considered by archeological students here unlikely that the Aztecs established their this far north, and that the ancient building is perhaps the ruin of the habitation of the early. Neither has this region been known to contain any precious metals, and local geologists are much mystified over the ore which has been taken out of the shaft of this alleged mine. An authentic record of the existence of Los Alemegros mine exists in the archives of Mexico, but it has been heretofore the common belief of men who interested themselves in the subject that it was located somewhere in the mountains of the Llano region, about 100 miles southeast of here. Many futile expeditions have been made in search of Los Alemegros mine. The San Saba is another famous lost mine in Texas, for which much search has been made. Several years ago, Charles Dignowity, formerly of San Antonio, but now a wealthy mining man of Boston, Mass., organized an expedition to hunt for the first named. He had a survey made of the probable route from San Antonio to the missing mine, following the indefinite directions in the report in the Coahuila State archives. Mr. Dignowity spent much time and money, but was never able to locate the long-lost property.

The relics taken out during the present explorations are said to date back at least to the Aztecs. A collection of these utensils, implements, and other strange articles was on exhibition in one of the local stores for some time and attracted much attention. Mr. Ward now has them at his home.

YOUR MITE IS NEEDED.

Contributions for the Italian Earthquake Sufferers Necessary.

As the relief ships from America begin to discharge their vast stores of wealth upon the shores of stricken and desolate Sicily, the disheartened people who survived the terrible disaster are taking heart.

There is more than meat for sustaining life, in these cargoes that have gone forth on their errands of mercy. Every box and barrel, every gold eagle, every bale of warm clothing, carries with it the sympathy of the American nation. More than meat and clothing to many discouraged hearts is the knowledge that their woes have touched the soul of the countries of the earth, and this evidence that all the world is kin warms the thin blood in their chilled veins.

Messina the beautiful; Messina of song and story, is no more, and the cable tells us that she is about to be rebuilt a mile distant on the plain. Loth to desert the city of their love, the fleeing inhabitants are again turning their faces homeward to weep over the wreck of their firesides.

Los Angeles has done nobly in response to the appeals for aid, but only the first pangs of distress and hunger have been relieved. The long days of indecision and doubt are yet to be combated; the tents that have gone out from our shores to shelter the homeless must be replaced by permanent abodes, and the bodies of the destitute must be fed and clad for many months.

Withhold not now the hand of charity, but while the need is great and sympathy is warm add your mite to the growing fund.

Contributions may be sent to the Italian Relief Committee, No. 222 North Spring street, or to The Times, and they will be promptly acknowledged and fully accounted for.

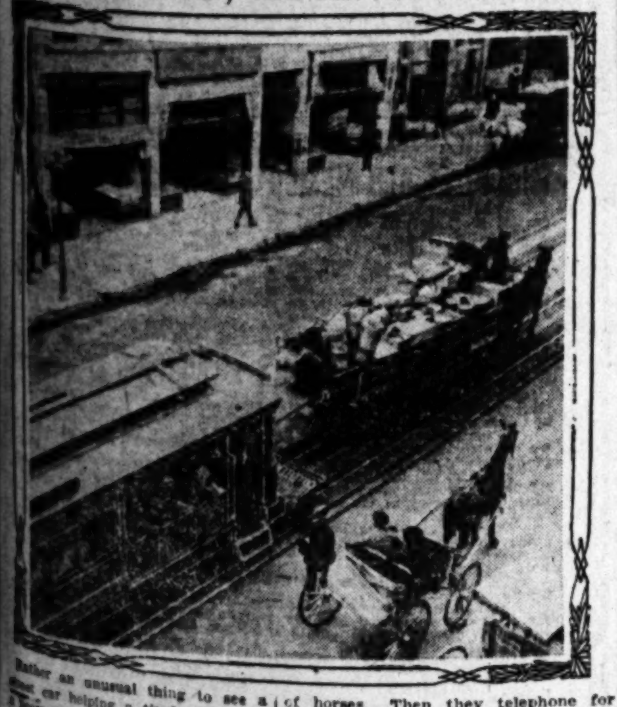
Dog Dies for a Baby.

A handsome black collie, belonging to Robert Boyle, a Chester, Pa., merchant, died of grief Tuesday morning. Several weeks ago Mr. Boyle's fourteen-months-old son Robert was taken ill. At first the collie simply played about the child, its evident purpose being to amuse the little one.

Finally the child became worse, and from the time the dog heard its little master groan with pain it refused food and drink. The collie would lie for hours beside the child's bed, and when put out of the room would crouch at the door and whine piteously.

The dog became a mere skeleton and starved itself to death through grief. Although still ill, the child is out of danger.—[Philadelphia Record.

DRAY GETS STALLED, CAR SHOVES IT UP HILL.



Rather an unusual thing to see a street car helping a tired team haul a heavy truck uphill. But here it is seen by a camera from The Times building yesterday.

The usual procedure when a dray, stalled in the way of a car, does not conform to the provision of the Golden Rule. The conductor and motorman of the blocked coach generally hold a counsel of war, and end by giving the teamster a bit of advice on how to drive a pair or more of horses. Then they telephone for the wrecker.

The exception occurred yesterday. The truck stalled going up the North Broadway grade. The motorman of the first Temple-street car to arrive volunteered to give the wagon a boost. A plank was procured and placed with one end against the buffer of the car and the other against the rear of the wagon. Then the motorman turned on the juice, and car and wagon went up the hill to Temple and Broadway—and the horses didn't have to strain much, either.

TALKS ON TEETH

BY THE REX DENTAL CO.
(Incorporated.)

Wanted—
First Class Dentistry

The most expensive thing in the world is poor dentistry. An ignorant dentist can do more harm in one hour than all the good dentists in the land can repair in a lifetime.

The trouble is that when the harm is done, or when teeth are gone, they are gone forever. There is no such thing as repairing the damage, or feeling sorry, or trying all over again.

Dentistry must be done well in the beginning.

The great specialty of this company is known as the "Alveolar Method" (supplying missing teeth without the aid of plates).

In almost every instance we get the desperate cases. We are the court of last resort.

In a majority of cases we are asked to restore a full set of upper or lower teeth when there are but two teeth left in either jaw to work from.

Suppose we were to bungle such work! When we put this work in the mouth, it is in to stay. The Alveolar teeth are as solid as a rock, otherwise they would not work.

Is not ours a dental office that calls for first-class dentistry?

Assuredly yes.

Our business has grown from one office to where at the present time we have magnificently appointed offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Mexico City and Oakland, and more in prospect in other cities.

Did this great dental business come by accident, or through giving first-class dentistry to those who trusted themselves to the care of our specialists?

Certainly the latter. Read the following letter, which bears out all we have said before:

Forgets He Has False Teeth

Los Angeles, Cal., August 17th, 1908.
Rex Dental Co., Los Angeles, Cal.

Dear Sirs: Some time ago you put in my mouth a full Alveolar upper and two partial lowers.

My new teeth feel as natural as can be and I have forgotten that they are false teeth, as they feel just like my own did when I had them.

I can chew any and all kinds of food and up to date they are entirely satisfactory, and I am well pleased with what you have done and wish to thank you.

W. S. TAGGART,
1224 East 2nd st., Long Beach, Cal.

We do not ask our readers to take our unsupported testimony for the work we do.

Every operator in all of our offices is a specialist, therefore your work will be done more quickly and with more comfort to you than you have ever experienced before in any dentist's office.

We invite you to call and allow our examining dentist to look your teeth over. Do not get the idea that by so doing you must have some work done. We cannot tell you what we can do for you until the examination is made. Then it rests entirely with you as to whether or not you will employ us.

The "Alveolar Method" you cannot obtain elsewhere. We own that method.

There is no other plan of restoring missing teeth without plates or ordinary (painful) bridge work, but the "Alveolar Method."

It is wonderful. The next best thing to growing a new set of natural teeth.

If you cannot come to see us at this time, send for "Alveolar Dentistry," our illustrated book which tells all about the new method.

We send it free.

But by all means come and see us if you are near enough.

That is the best plan.

Had Not Reached the Limit.

Two gentlemen were traveling in one of the hill counties of Kentucky not long ago, bound on exploration for pitch pine. They had been driving for two hours without encountering a human being, when they came in sight of a cabin in a clearing. It was very still. The hogs lay where they had fallen, the thin claybank mule grazed round and round in a neat circle, to save the trouble of walking, and one lean, lank man, whose garments were the color of the claybank mule, leaned against a tree and let time roll by.

"Wonder if he can speak?" said one traveler to the other.

"Try him," said his companion.

The two approached the man, whose yellowish eyes regarded them without apparent curiosity.

"How do you do?" said the northerner.

"Howdy?" remarked the southerner languidly.

"Pleasant country."

"Fur them thet likes it."

"Lived here all your life?"

The southerner spat pensively in the dust.

"Not yit," he said.—[Exchange.

MINES AND MINING—Activities in the Ore Districts.

IN THE EARTH.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY AND CHEMISTRY.

To Correspondents:

This department is not conducted for pay. Its object is to convey reliable information of interest and value to the public, and it is not for the private benefit of any miner, collector, speculator or prospector. Correspondents are particularly cautioned to take careful note of the statements and injunctions contained in the paragraphs below.

(1.) Specimens must be small and bear a tag giving name and address of sender, and the general—not exact—locality from whence the specimen was taken, also the name of it as nearly as the sender knows. Send, also, with the specimen a clearly-written letter briefly describing the find and what the finder wishes done with it. The letter must be properly dated and plainly signed.

Letter and specimen must be in one package, not in separate enclosures.

(2.) No attention will be paid to anonymous letters or to letters signed merely with initials.

(3.) No examination of samples or specimens will be made in cases where The Times may decide that the specimen and inquiry are not of public interest. This office does not undertake to perform the work of an assay office.

(4.) Inquiries relative to matters of purely personal interest will not be answered.

(5.) When no response to an inquiry made or specimens sent appears in these columns, the inquirer will understand that his inquiry does not come within the purview of this department.

(6.) It is impossible to return specimens, as they must necessarily be destroyed or impaired in the process of analysis.

Address invariably, The Times.

Garnet.

WINKELMAN (Ariz.) Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am sending you under same cover a sample of ruby sand, taken from placer near by, and would like to know if it has any commercial value.

Thanking you in advance for a reply, I am. Yours truly, R. M.

ANSWER: The concentrates are garnet only. Consult dealers in abrasive materials; the garnet should bring from $25 to $30 per short ton.

Platinum.

KERBY (Or.) Dec. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this small canvas sack I hand you some concentrates from pannings obtained from a small creek bed, and three feet from surface. The locality is between Kerby and Ashland, Or.

Please identify the different minerals in the concentrates, and oblige,

Yours truly, C. G. E.

ANSWER: Two Josephenite pebbles (nickel and iron native alloy) carrying over 30 per cent. nickel are in the pannings, as, also, grain platinum, with native gold.

The mass of the concentrates is chiefly magnetite (magnetic iron ore) with, probably, other platinum values combined.

Ilmenite, hermatite and a very low per cent. of monazite are also present.

Botryoidal Limonite.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you kindly describe the inclosed specimen in your "In the Earth" department. From seven miles of Parker, Ariz.

Thanking you for any attention you may give to this, Very truly, J. W. F.

ANSWER: The sample is chiefly iron peroxide (hematite) with some microscopical botryoidal limonite.

Calcium Silicate.

AFTON, Dec. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Am sending sample of ore which has puzzled the prospectors in this vicinity. Some claim it is tellurium ore; others tin, with tungstic acid. I think it is iron. What is it, please?

It is located about thirty miles east of Daggett, Cal.

Thanking you in advance, I am, Respectfully, C. F.

ANSWER: The samples do not react for tellurium, tin or tungstic acid.

They are quartzitic and calciferous. The iron oxides present may carry precious metals. Traces of zinc and lead appear on analysis.

Probably Elkite.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I take pleasure in sending you a peculiar red, white and blue mineral from a copper claim in which I certainly have an interest.

Locality, Lower California. The red mineral we take to be an ore of copper, but the white and the blue is too much for us.

Please describe in your "In the Earth" columns what the specimen consists of and greatly oblige. G B.T

ANSWER: It is reliably reported that the B.P.O.E. is a patriotic assemblage of gentlemen. They are "great" (so it is stated) on red, white and blue—the colors on the flag of our beloved country. It would not be idolatry to look upon this mineral as Elkite; even so, an Englishman would pronounce the word differently.

The red portion of the mineral is jasper iron ore (and not ore of copper.) The white is hornstone (a variety of quartz,) and the blue part of the sample is Linarite, a combination of lead, copper and sulphur.

Chiefly Sulphides.

KETCHICAN (Alaska) Dec. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:) Three Alaska samples. R

ANSWER: No. 1 is chalcopyrite, with pyrite and arsenopyrite: No. 2 is a mixture of sulphides—of iron, copper and low per cent. lead. No. 3 is a friable, impure peacock-iron silicate. Phosphates present.

Impure Chalcedony.

TEHACHEPI, Dec. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I mail you two samples of local rock. Are they what? Yours very truly, J. L. C.

ANSWER: No. 1 is mixed chalcedony, with cubes of spathic iron, pyrite, and, traces only, of cinnabar. No. 2 is quartziferous and calciferous, with very low per cent. of lead present.

Bunch of Twenty-two.

SIGNAL CAMP, Dec. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am inclosing samples of ore from a four-foot ledge in Signal district, San Bernardino county, that I am told carries three different kinds of tungsten, and gold, silver and lead.

I have also noticed a waxy, yellowish-brown substance in the seams of the rock.

We have had a number of discussions as to the kinds of mineral this rock carries.

Will you kindly inform me through the columns of your "In the Earth" what minerals you find in the samples.

Yours truly, F. L. R.

ANSWER: One of the twenty-two samples submitted shows microscopic almandine garnet, sparingly disseminated throughout the mass.

With a very low per cent. of lead vanadate. This amounts to but little, commercially, for the reason that, as a matter of fact, vanadates are known in such quantity (low per cent. grades) in Colorado, Utah, Arizona and California, that the mineral "goes a-begging." Even the high grades of Utah and Colorado find but limited sale.

Back to the sample: Manganese dioxide, and iron oxides, with lead traces, are present. This sample represents nineteen of the specimens forwarded.

One other (the largest) specimen carries 5 per cent. tungstic acid, from the bladed woframite present.

Mica and "peacock iron" of the mining boys, appears as a coating on one other sample.

In the present flurry on vanadates and titanium ores it is well to make haste slowly. "Nothing in it"—save excitement caused by certain "ore brokers."

Gold of Georgia.

CARTERSVILLE (Ga.) Dec. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I hand you a sample of iron ore from this locality, carrying gold. Please give this a qualitative test. In what combination is the gold?

Yours truly, DR. G. T.

ANSWER: Glad to hear from you. The gold is native—in the iron oxides—(limonite and hematite) and carries over two and one-half ounces gold per ton ore.

We know of this ore, having worked two barrels of it from the locality stated.

Sienna and Marekanite.

FERDINAND (Idaho) Dec. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am sending you four samples of ore from a ledge five feet wide. Sample No. 1 is 5 or 6 inches on top. No. 2 is from across the ledge. No. 3 is the "drillings." Sample No. 4 is from 3 to 5 inches, mostly in bottom of ledge (foot wall.)

I sent you four samples in September. The No. 3 you pronounced Sienna of 23 per cent. values. No. 3 is now 30 feet further in the tunnel.

It will be a favor indeed if you will state in the "In the Earth" columns just what the mineral is, at the same time giving commercial values, and where there is a market for it. Thanking you in advance for the favor. Yours truly,

MRS. M. M. G.

ANSWER: You have gone too far into the tunnel, that is to say, the rock carries less values in Sienna. Keep to the oxides—"a kind of ochre, of a brownish-yellow color, which acquires a fine and rich chestnut color by ignition, in which state it is used as a paint, under the name of burnt Sienna."

Your oxide submitted in September resembled that from Cottage Grove., Or., which was exhibited at the Lewis & Clark Exposition.

As to a market. Try wholesale paint dealers, direct.

It is no easy matter to find a market for minerals, unless you give up, say 93 per cent. interest to philanthropists?

Your present samples are: (No. 1 representing two specimens.) One of beautiful brown obsidian glass (Marekanite.) You can probably sell a limited supply of this to dealers. Try the Foote Mineral Company, Philadelphia, Pa. The second No. 1 is obsidian chunks in sandstone and of no value.

No. 2 is a very impure iron carbonate, with obsidian and Sienna, the last-named in very low percentage. No. 3 "drillings" is of little higher per cent. in oxide than No. 2. There is no number 4 submitted.

Low-Grade Cinnabar.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This sample comes from a deposit not far from San José. Please classify it in your "In the Earth" column. Obliging, A. C. M.

Impure Calcite.

COOLGARDIE MINES (Barstow) Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you please inform me through your valuable column in The Times what the mineral I herewith submit you may be, and if of any value.

Thanking you in advance, I am, sir, Yours truly, M.

ANSWER: The sample is impure bluish calcite, stained with bluish dumortierite (impure,) a silicate of alumina. Iron oxides and traces of lead are present.

A thorough quantitative analysis should be given this rock.

Not Contact.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Herewith find some ledge matter and wall-rock from thirty-five miles south of Goldfied, Nev.

The lead will average thirty-two inches width, and the sample is marked No. 1.

Nos. 2 and 3 are the hanging and foot walls, respectively.

What I particularly desire to know is this: from the showing (as per samples,) is the prospect a fissure or contact?

Thanking you for a reply in the "In the Earth" column, I am,

Yours truly, C. W. W.

ANSWER: It is no easy matter to reply to the questions you ask, on the limited (though apparently full) information by you given.

Your lead matter is quartz with oxidized iron and some free gold.

Does the lode carry casing? The mining boys usually refer to a lode with foot wall, and hanging wall, of the same character, as a "true fissure vein." Where the walls are different (granite and calcite, as an example,) it is referred to as "a contact."

Both of your walls are granite, and, probably, holds a fissure vein—the word "true," being unnecessary and superfluous.

The American Mining Congress.

James F. Callbreath, Jr., an old acquaintance of the writer, has forwarded two communications to the editor of this department.

Mr. Callbreath is secretary of The American Mining Congress.

Gov. George E. Chamberlain appointed the writer a delegate to the recent congress at Pittsburgh, Pa. Being unable—at the last moment—to attend, he telegraphed Mr. Callbreath in part as follows: "Hope to attend next meeting. A duty should be placed on antimony ores. Our country can produce bismuth regardless of the Saxon government."

Mr. Callbreath's letter on the subject reads thusly: "Your telegram states that a duty should be place on antimony ores . . . I will be glad if you can supply me with such detailed information as will justify presentation to the Ways and Means Committee at the House of Representatives."

The details are but few. High-grade ores of antimony in Idaho, Nevada, California and elsewhere, cannot be utilized, because similar ores are admitted into the United States free of duty.

A London firm and the government of Saxony fixes the price of bismuth in the United States, and yet, near Beaver, Utah, in New Mexico, Colorado and elsewhere are high-grade ores of bismuth, that should be "protected" and run into the metal and its salts, free from the prices set by (or the ipse dixit of) our friends—the foreigners.

A line further in passing: Many quartz miners and mine managers are not very enthusiastic over the proposed National Bureau of Mines, for the expressed reason that coal miners would be in the ascendency, who would probably frame rules and regulations (of which they know nothing practically) that, probably would be a hindrance and disadvantage to quartz miners.

Postage on single copy of the Midwinter Number when mailed by the individual to any address in the United States, Mexico or Canada, will be eight cents per copy.

Mailing orders may be left at The Times Office, First and Broadway, or at the Branch Office, 521 South Spring st., for 12c per copy to any address in the postal union, including postage.

DOUGLAS AND MINERS' MEET.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OFFERS FINANCIAL AID.

Border City Believes It Is Just the Spot for the Mining Congress to Convene Next Fall—Smelters Were Never Before so Active as at the Present Time.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 15.—Douglas is hot on the trail after the American Mining Congress, next fall. The Chamber of Commerce is spending much money telegraphing the officers of the association, and is prepared to guarantee $5000 toward expenses, and to guarantee also that the city has ample accommodations to entertain all delegates and visitors. The Los Angeles Chamber of Mines is assisting in the good work. Douglas believes that she has just the site for any great gathering of representative mining men, being the center and smelting point of an enormous copper-producing district. Less than an hour's ride away is the great copper camp of Bisbee, and only a little farther distant the great Mexican camps of Cananea and Nacozari, while the new camps of Courtland and Sylvanite are readily accessible. The heartiest support is being given by the chief local operators.

Never before has there been such activity in smelting at Douglas. The Copper Queen has eight out of its ten furnaces running, and the Calumet and Arizona is operating five furnaces, the only idle one is being enlarged. The December production was close on to 15,000,000 pounds of copper, of which the Calumet and Arizona produced 4,500,000.

SYLVANITE'S RICH GOLD.

Gold ore so rich that it can't be successfully pounded up in a mortar is the report from the last strike at Sylvanite. The ore is from the Quo Vadis claims, owned by R. B. Buchanan and R. R. Smith. It is from an immense quartz vein, twenty feet wide, in lime and slate. The whole body is claimed to have milling value, but on the lime wall, lie about twenty inches of honeycomb quartz showing free gold and assaying as high as $150 in gold. The property is under bond for $60,000 to Pierson Bros. and W. E. Irwin of Sylvanite and J. L. Mills of Oklahoma. Extremely rich ore is being found on the Euclid and Ridgewood claims, which are being developed under bond by Frank P. Davis. He has a large ledge from which assays are said to run better than $100.

PARADISE AND SILVER BELL.

A strike of fourteen feet of lead-silver ore has been made on the Bisbee-Sonora mine, near Paradise, at the depth of forty feet. Two feet of the ledge is notably rich.

The Globe Queen group, two miles east of Paradise, was bonded last week by George A. Walker for $50,000 to a Utah company, which is already vigorously at work.

About 500 men are employed in the Imperial company's mines at Silver Bell, getting out 800 tons a day for reduction at the Sasco smelter, twelve miles distant. The last report is for a six months' period, ending September 30, 1908, during which time the production was 4,109,978 pounds of copper and 62,728 ounces of silver. The December product was about 800,000 pounds.

The new concentrating mill of the El Tiro Mining Company in Silver Bell district is to be ready for operation February 15. The company is spending about $12,000 a month in development.

A twenty-stamp mill is to be built by W. Tanner on the Sam Hall mine, in the Santa Catalina Mountains, near Tucson, one of the oldest properties in that locality.

A new shaft is being sunk on the old Picacho mine in the Cobabi Mountains by several Tucson men. They intend to get under the old workings, 330 feet deep, where they believe they will strike a wonderfully rich thirty-four-inch silver vein. They have evidence to this effect from Mexicans who once worked in the old mine, which caved in and was abandoned about the time of the Civil War. One attempt was made to work the old property within the last few years, but it was not successful.

MINING LITIGATION.

Four judgments have been given in the District Court at Tucson against the Cerro Colorado Mining Company, aggregating about $5000. The mine lies sixty miles south of Tucson. Until a few months ago, one of its officers was Daniel J. Sully, once known as the "cotton king." Another mining judgment in the same court was in favor of Ralph A. Wetmore against the Copper Range and Arizona Mining Company for $488. The financial troubles of the Mineral Consolidated Copper Company are said to have been settled by the Pittsburgh owners.

SALES AND PROMOTIONS.

The stockholders of the Inspiration Mining Company have ratified the contract for the sale of the company's property in the Globe mining district to William B. Thompson of New York and George E. Gunn of Salt Lake. The buyers, after the meeting, deposited $250,000 to the order of the company and received 25,000 shares of common stock and 75,000 shares of preferred. An additional $750,000 will be paid during this year and used to develop and equip the mine. Still further amounts are to be paid before January 18, 1911, aggregating $2,022,120, to be used to build a concentrating mill and other reduction works. In the mine, already blocked out, are 1,500,000 tons of sulphide ore. It is believed that the property is one of the greatest in Arizona.

Still another flotation has been made in Globe, the Live Oak Development Company being organized to take over an option held by W. Hovland on the Live Oak group of claims six miles west of Globe. The stock will not be offered for public subscription through brokers. It is stated that the mine has at least $500,000 in ore already in sight, and that a crosscut was lately run thirty feet in sulphide ore, averaging 3.7 per cent. copper.

Progress is being made on plans for a smelter for the Arizona Commercial Company at Globe, to be placed on the Pontiac claim, where a new shaft is to be sunk 1500 feet. The plant will have 300 tons initial capacity, but is to be built with a view toward enlargement to 1000.

Below the 600 level, 1000 feet north of the gray shaft of the Old Dominion's holdings, a winze has been cut into twenty-nine feet averaging 5 per cent. copper, 27 per cent. iron and 40 per cent silver.

FOR TRANSPORTATION.

A bond issue of $500,000 has been floated for the projected railroad from the Shannon smelter to the company's mines at Metcalf, and work is to be commenced very soon. It now costs the company about $125,000 a year to haul its ore to the smelter over the Arizona Copper Company's rails.

The longest aërial tramway in Arizona is being placed on the New England and Clifton mines north of Clifton, to carry its ore down to where transportation can be had to the smelter.

Eight more claims have been purchased by the London Mountain Copper Company in the Kelvin district, giving the corporation forty-four claims in all. The property lies near the Saddle Mountain Mining Company's at Christmas. One of its bodies is fifty feet wide and extends clear across the property. It is proposed to use the caving-in system of mining. Plans are being made for economical working on the largest scale.

A cyanide plant is being operated by F. S. Hoyt & Co. on the tailings of the Old Silver King mine. Over 98 per cent. of the silver values are being extracted and nearly $10 a ton taken out. About 9000 tons remain to be treated.

A heavy flow of water has been struck at the bottom of the Superior shaft at Superior. Additional pumping facilities must be provided for further sinking.

LEASERS LOSING THEIR FORTUNE.

BRADSHAW SHOOT RUNNING INTO GOODWIN'S LAND.

In Twenty Feet More of Present Course Bulk of Wealth Uncovered Will Go to Others, but Finders Have Already Made Enormous Profits—Shotgun Guards Needed.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

RAWHIDE (Nev.) Jan. 12.—The Bradshaw lease on the Queen estate is still the premier of the district. Today it is better than last week, the chimney has opened to a breaking face of eight feet and a sample across the entire width gives $663. The high grade is cobbed and separated from the entire break. Five sacks, daily average, come to the surface from the native gold and silver streak. At the fifty-foot level the big chimney flattens and makes due east. If the shoot keeps twenty feet further on its present course the big fortune will go entirely into the Nat C. Goodwin Company's ground on the east half of the Queen, so it looks if the Bradshaw people will lose the big end of the fortune they developed.

During the past week this lease has actually recovered a little over $30,000 in high grade, not counting the rest, which assays around $700. This break alone yields a fortune every week. Added to the high grade the total is almost $100,000 a month.

Grutt Hill Truitt shipped to Selby's by auto, with a shotgun guard who will go all the way, half a ton of specimen ore.

The open cut in the rear of the Rawhide Mining Exchange building, from which the high grade has been taken, is becoming bigger, and free gold can be seen from any place of vantage near by. This lease is on block 8 of the Wild West claim of the Coalition estate. Twenty tons of medium grade will be ready for the sampler at Schurz and will net about $100 per ton.

The Mint lease on block 10 of the Silver King has another sensation. In the north drift the men broke into ore that establishes the continuance of the rich shoot that has been mined for 300 feet in depth, and which is almost 150 feet long. Ten tons are produced daily with weekly shipments of forty tons. Another shift has been added.

On the Victor lease on the Happy Day claim, the breast of the north drift at the 200-foot level, is in four feet of oxidized quartz that is being sacked as fast as stripped. Values have increased very materially, samples averaging $92. Thirty-five tons will be sent this week. Another shift has been added.

The talc on the hanging wall in the big vein in the north drift at the 100-foot level of the Nugent lease on the same claim has widened to over a foot. Values continue in three figures, silver predominating. Eight tons show an average of $14, and production is over five tons of high grade daily.

George Von Polenz of the Original Rawhide, operating Kearns No. 1 lease, is in camp. The rich quartz on the sixty-foot level of the No. 2 shaft increases in size and value with depth. The last 400-ton shipment returned $90 per ton. Three shifts, twenty-two men, will be on the pay roll.

Wilson & McGee, on the Queen Bethania, blocks 9 and 10, hoist almost four tons of high grade daily. In the sixty-seven-foot level's north drift the brecciated quartz has widened to over three feet, and general sampling shows that what comes to the bins goes out at almost $400 a ton. Five men are working. A shipment is being sacked for the Schurz mill. The vein is an absolutely true fissure. It is being developed in the most approved way by men of many years' experience. A fancy price has been refused.

In Proskey No. 1 on the Happy Day the winze at the eighty-foot is down forty feet. The quartz seam has widened to three inches, with free gold all through the rock. Last week ten tons returned $740 a ton. Ground is being prepared for a hoisting plant.

The Gold Reef lease on the Queen Bethania's block No. 2 is in the heart of that vein at the 100-foot station in the east crosscut. An immense oxidized quartz vein has been gone through for ten feet, is perfectly in place, and sampling shows the whole break will mill at $34. On the foot-wall is a seam of honeycombed quartz—specimen rock. A ten-ton trial shipment is being prepared for the mill at Schurz.

The Queen Bethania Mining Company is uncovering what is proving to be the biggest mineralized fissure in the district. For 180 feet the vein, perfectly in place and a mite over nine feet wide, is being stripped. A general sample of the ledge assays almost $7 on the surface. The lode runs right through the center of blocks 3 and 6 of the Bethania. A shaft is also down thirty feet on block 3, where there is a seam of specimen quartz on the foot wall, samples from two inches of which show $30,000 values, the balance of the five feet giving $51. The high-grade streak is being stripped, and rock stored for shipment to the smelter direct.

Gordon Coalition, operating a lease on block 6 of the Balloon claim, is to be listed on the New York curb. The lease is in high grade at the 150 and has been saving ore from development that will ship at a good profit.

Dayton-Toledo is cutting a station at 250, at which point it will develop the four sides. Within thirty feet it is expected to encounter the Mint vein in the east crosscut.

More men are working and more interest is taken in general mining than ever before in this camp. The news that the Nat C. Goodwin Company will build the railroad is most discussed. Operators and citizens generally feel sure that it will be started on the day set, and that March 1 will see the first rails actually laid.

Strangers arrive daily and the auto service between Rawhide, Fallon and Schurz is taxed. Most newcomers say they are here for investment. The weather continues like summer, and the outside work has not been interfered with by climatic conditions.

COPPEROPOLIS SOLD.

Easterners Buy Searchlight Group With High Copper and Gold Values.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SEARCHLIGHT (Nev.) Jan. 15.—The Duplex mine, under the new ownership of the Homestead M. and M. Company, has commenced the operation of the old, rebuilt stamp mill. The improvements are so extensive as to practically amount to a new mill, including a new cyanide plant directly connected. The supply of ore ahead, a matter of development during all the past summer, is such as to insure a run of indefinite length; in fact until the big, new mill, already planned, is built. The leasers on this property, working on the New Year's Gift claim, yesterday made still another strike that runs into the hundreds in value. This was on the 200, their lowest level. They have engaged the Cyrus Noble mill to run their lower grade ore.

G. E. Heber, a Los Angeles mining man, is here today starting work on the Contact, a property owned by the Duplex Contact Mining Company, in which he is heavily interested. The work starts on a ledge extending from the Deplex proper ground, the cropping showing the same bright copper-stained ore. It is planned to follow the ore, and a substantial cash payment made for the new development indicates business.

The Pittsburgh-Searchlight Company, lying two and one-half miles east of town, resumed operations the past week.

A deal of large proportions has just been closed on the Copperopolis group, north of town and adjoining the Philadelphia. Ex-United States Senator J. Frank Allee of Delaware is president, and W. Harry Miller, secretary of the Bay State Gas Company, is secretary and treasurer. Also, Thomas W. Lawson is reported to be in the deal. Considerable development has been done, including three sixty-foot shafts. In places there are high gold values, and copper is said to average 8 per cent. William B. Spittall of Philadelphia promoted the new company.

Out at the Black Hawk Consolidated, Eldorado Cañon, there is much activity since its present resumption. Air drills are now in use and eighteen men are working. This property had closed down immediately following the completion of a ten-stamp mill.

The New Era mill is running ore from the Stanley Forbes dump. It is reported that the latter property is soon to be equipped with a hoisting plant.

COUNTY'S MINERALS.

Production of Los Angeles in Eight Years of Continuous Operation.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

A study of bulletin 53 of the State Mining Bureau reveals the fact that in the eight years, 1900 to 1907, inclusive, Los Angeles county had a mineral production of the value of $19,582,387, or an average of $2,447,798, yearly.

The annual productions were:

Year.	Production.
1900	$2,155,198
1901	1,642,591
1902	1,697,932
1903	2,549,128
1904	2,529,694
1905	2,234,354
1906	2,345,202
1907	4,110,985

The increase of nearly $1,800,000, or $150,000 a month, in 1907 over 1906, is noticeable. In addition to these annual showings, there was, in the eight years, a further production of the value of $337,303, classed as "unapportioned" to avoid revealing individual output.

Petroleum comprised $11,094,098 of the eight years' total mineral production, as follows:

Year.	Production.
1900	$1,772,887
1901	1,062,038

RUN OVER BY AUTOMOBILE.

James Logan, 43 years of age, of No. 511 Ceres street, was run over and painfully injured shortly after noon yesterday by an automobile at Fifth and Crocker streets. He was taken to the Crocker-street Hospital. Logan sustained lacerations on the head, face and shoulders and bruises about the body.

Fashion and Fat

Isn't it fortunate that when fashion demands slender gracefulness of women who have to break corset laces to make themselves even presentable that science steps in and makes their task easy?

For dieting and exercising it has substituted a pleasant wholesome mixture that can be obtained at small cost from any druggist, viz.: ½ ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces Peppermint Water.

One teaspoonful of this mixture after meals and at bedtime will take off four to seven pounds of fat a week without causing wrinkles, interfering with the diet, or distressing the stomach in the slightest.

There is no need to comment on the wanton havoc that such a change would inflict upon one of the many attractions of Rome.

MANY PROTESTS ARE MADE.

Hardly a single voice is raised in defense of these projects, while the Roman newspapers of every party and denomination, are filled with letters of protest. Unfortunately, experience shows that the present Roman municipality is not easily deterred from works of destruction; and yet outside the walls of the city there is a wide field for their energy if they would only more usefully employ it. Everywhere are vast vacant spaces of building land upon which numbers of houseless people are miserably squatting under shelters made from broken planks and tin; roads, too, to be repaired and properly lighted, and all within easy access of the city itself. It is hard to say who will profit by the proposed demolitions, in favor of which they seem anxious to postpone all other work. The ways of the ancient city will be made broader and more easy to the hordes of tourists and of the pilgrims of all nations who visit the Vatican, but the foreigner is not the only person who ought to be considered. Rome is being filled with vast hotels of very doubtful architectural merit.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of Them Happening Every Day, But Soon Forgotten.

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about poslam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worst cases in a few days. While the application of poslam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers will find it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness, and severe scrapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will soothe and tone up the skin as no toilet preparation could possibly do.

Poslam can be had for 50 cents at any reliable druggist's, particularly the Owl Drug Co., who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to any one who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in 24 hours.

The Ale Was Just Right.

A certain gentleman, having in his cellar some surplus ale on the verge of spoiling, was one day walking round his estate when he came across a party of workmen. Hailing the foreman, he ostentatiously presented the ale to the men, giving them leave to fetch it as they desired it. Some time afterward he met the foreman and proceeded to extract a suitable acknowledgment of his bounty.

"Well, Giles, did you and your men have that ale?"

"Yes, sir, and thank you."

"How did you like it?"

"Oh, it was just the thing for us, sor."

"That's right. But what do you mean by 'just the thing?'"

"Why, sir, if it 'ad been a little better we shouldn't 'a' 'ad it, and if it 'ad been a little worse we couldn't 'a' drinked it."—[Tit-Bits.

A Domestic Dilemma.

A Philadelphia woman, whose given name is Mary, as is also the name of her daughter, had recently engaged a domestic, when, to her embarrassment, she discovered that the servant's name, too, was Mary.

Whereupon there ensued a struggle to induce the applicant to relinquish her idea that she must be addressed by her Christian name. For some time she was rigidly uncompromising.

"Under the circumstances," said the lady of the house, "there is nothing to do but to follow the English custom and call you by your last name. By the way, what is it?"

"Well, mum," answered the girl, dubiously, "it's 'Darling.'"—[Harper's Weekly.

Oil Is King

Oil is king in California. Now brings more money than the production of gold. Small investments bring riches—$170 made one man a millionaire. California oil companies pay monthly dividends of from 2 to 20 per cent. Thirty-three out of fifty-eight companies listed on the California Stock and Oil Exchange are on dividend-paying basis. No other exchange can equal this record. You can make big money in legitimate California Oil Stock investments.

Let us prove it to you.

We believe that there is a greater opportunity for big profits in the oil business in California than in any other industry. These profits are now being made by a few people.

The pioneer work has all been done. Right now is the time to invest in oil and make big money, with the element of chance largely eliminated.

We have been advising the purchase of good California oil stocks for several months. A great deal of money has been made by our clients who have followed our advice.

We are today offering you what we consider to be the best opportunity for the investment of small or large sums.

We refer to the Lady Washington Oil Company, which is incorporated for Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000), divided into Five Hundred Thousand (500,000) shares, each of a par value of One Dollar ($1).

Every share of this stock is treasury stock. Not one single share was given to anyone for promotion purposes, for services, or for property. Every stockholder is on an equal basis.

The Company was organized just a few weeks ago to operate a twenty-year lease on Forty (40) acres in the Sunset District. This Forty (40) acres is equipped with a first-class standard heavy derrick and rig, and a first-class engine and boiler.

The well is being drilled daily and has now reached a depth of over Six Hundred (600) feet. It is estimated by practical producers of the field that oil will be produced at from 1400 to 1500 feet, and that an unusually heavy flow will be obtained.

The lease runs for Twenty (20) years, and the owner of the land receives a royalty as the oil is produced.

No bonus was paid for this lease, although leases in the same territory are being sold at a bonus of from Two Hundred ($200) to Six Hundred ($600) Dollars per acre.

The first block of stock in the Lady Washington Oil Company was placed on sale at Ten (10) Cents per share, and it is now 20 Cents.

In the meantime the Company has taken over another lease of Forty (40) acres in the same District and adjoining the other property.

The lease No. 2 has a well which has been drilled over Twelve Hundred (1200) feet, and should come into the oil at a depth of from Three Hundred (300) to Four Hundred (400) feet more; both wells are being drilled daily.

We have personally examined the property and all of the country contiguous thereto, and we absolutely believe that development is the only thing necessary to prove a large production on the "Lady Washington" property.

First: The Company is incorporated for only Five Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Second: The management is in the hands of absolutely reliable and experienced men.

Third: The Eighty (80) acres operated by the Company is located in the Sunset District, which is the oldest oil field in the county, and is today just awakening to a great future.

Fourth: Because the oil can be sold right at the wells either to the Standard Oil Co. or the Associated Oil Co. at not less than Sixty (60) Cents per barrel.

Fifth: Because it is located almost on the line of the Southern Pacific, and because all supplies can be had and all operations carried on at the least possible expense.

Sixth: Because well No. 1 has already been drilled to a depth of Six Hundred (600) feet, and should be producing oil within about Ninety (90) days. Well No. 2 is down over 1200 feet, and may be gushing oil within the next thirty days.

Seventh: Because the minute either well comes in, every share of stock that you buy at 20 Cents will be actually worth One Dollar, par value.

Eighth: Because we have letters from bankers, oil men and responsible people assuring us that we will get great, big producing wells on this ground without a question of a doubt.

Ninth: Because Mr. Ross, the Vice-President and Superintendent, who is overseeing the drilling of the well, has had lots of experience and put in many big producing wells in the Sunset field.

Tenth: Because Mr. Ross states over his signature that he considers the Lady Washington property the cream of the district, and that he estimates the depth of the well to be from Fifteen Hundred to Sixteen Hundred feet.

Eleventh: Because from these figures you can readily see that the Lady Washington will have to drill only Ten Hundred of Eleven Hundred feet more.

Twelfth: Because the owners of the ground have given a Twenty (20) year lease to the Lady Washington Oil Company without One Dollar cash consideration, and they cannot make a cent out of the ground, except from their royalty on the oil produced.

Thirteenth: Because the oil industry in the Sunset District is on a sound, dividend-paying basis and is regarded by our most conservative oil men as an absolutely safe business proposition.

Fourteenth: Because the Lady Washington Oil Company is a square deal Company, with every stockholder on the same basis, and offers the same proposition to the small investor and to the large investor alike.

In conclusion, we can only add that we earnestly believe that a price of One Dollar per share for this stock will be even less than its trading value on the local exchanges in the very near future.

If you are prepared to pay cash for your stock, you are permitted to deduct 5 per cent. or you can buy on our easy payment plan of 20 per cent. down and 20 per cent. per month.

You can buy stock either for cash or on our easy payment plan as follows:

EFFECT HARMFUL.

OKLAHOMA AND THE RAILROADS

Present and Past Conditions Contrasted.

Once All Was Activity, Now Stagnation.

State's Constitution Halts Its Progress.

BY F. S. MURRAY.

[The author of the following article was a resident of Oklahoma when it was first opened to development and when the railroad boom described was on, and he had excellent opportunities of observing conditions. His statements will be interesting reading to the socialistic advocates of Oklahoma conditions.—Ed. The Times.]

After a year's trial the people of Oklahoma are convinced that vicious and drastic treatment of the railroads works irreparable injury to the State, and there are indications that the Constitution recently adopted will be so modified that capital will be encouraged to resume construction which was suspended when it went into effect. The thinking people of Oklahoma were never in favor of the radical and oppressive provisions, but the State, dominated by a set of spectacular politicians who play to the galleries, was prosperous; the people were engaged in making money—were careless and acquiescent, and the Constitution, patterned after that of Texas, was adopted. The past year has thoroughly demonstrated its glaring defects and Oklahomans are awakening to the fact that the railroad companies have been harrassed too far, and realize, that unless the confidence of the capitalist in the security of railroad investments is assured, it will be impossible to secure the additional transportation facilities which the State needs.

A great object lesson can be drawn by a comparison of conditions in Oklahoma today with those of seven or eight years ago.

When a large portion of the then Territory of Oklahoma was opened to settlement on the homestead plan in 1889, it was practically a vast cattle range, bringing in returns upon a valuation of $2 per acre. Rich in agricultural and mineral resources, its settlement was rapid. Every farm available was filed upon and the people worked industriously to build up the country they had settled. But they had no markets and no railroad facilities and prosperity did not come. It was impossible to develop the immense mineral and oil deposits and these lay untouched. Then came the steel highways which commenced to gridiron the State, and made possible its development into the great empire of wealth it is today.

PIONEER LINES.

The Santa Fé, the Rock Island and the Frisco were the pioneers, building into the rich, but practically undeveloped, sections of the eastern and central portions of the Territory. The Choctaw, since absorbed by the Rock Island, and the M. K. and T., followed and opened new gateways to commerce.

With the aid of the railroads the development and progress was marvelous. Manufacturing plants were located, towns sprang up, and the people cried for more railroads. The companies, willing to do all that was possible to help the development, built additional lines and opened the new mineral regions as fast as conditions would permit. The whole country seemed railroad mad, but there was a substantial basis for the rush of competitive building. All over the State granaries were filled to bursting, the farmers were demanding railroads to move, and elevators to hold the increasing crops. Cotton planters were crying for warehouses and transportation for thousands of bales of their product waiting to be moved; coal fields known to be capable of great production were undeveloped; industries were handicapped by lack of transportation facilities; conditions were ideal for railroad building, the people generous in voting bonds, and all the initial lines were vying with each other to be first to build into newly-established towns.

This condition prevailed practically to the admission as a State. In Guthrie three consecutive public meetings were held in one week and bonds voted to three different railway companies. You could hardly step off the main street without crossing the grade or right of way of some new line. Not paper projects, but roads actually under construction. Other bonds were later issued, and other towns, large and small, did their share to insure a great network of railways over the State.

The Fort Smith and Western, an independent line, was completed between Guthrie and Fort Smith, Ark., one of the progressive jobbing and manufacturing centers of the Southwest. The Choctaw built into Guthrie from Fallis on the main line. The Denver, Enid and Gulf finished its track between Enid and Guthrie, affording additional outlets to markets east and west. In addition the Santa Fé had surveys completed and was on the point of starting construction when the new constitution was adopted, on branches which would have been of great value to the State, the most important of which were, from Shawnee to Tulsa and thence to the McAllister coal fields, and from Ardmore to Sherman, Tex. It also planned a line west from Ardmore into the Strip which is badly needed. There is a road in operation between Purcell and the Lehigh coal fields in the eastern part of the State known as the Oklahoma Central. This the Santa Fé planned to acquire and would have bought had it not been prevented by the provisions of the constitution.

The 'Frisco has a line surveyed from Lindsey to Cornish, then east to Ardmore to connection with the main route, and west to Waurika, where it joins the main line of the Rock Island, its ally. It planned to build west from Oklahoma City into the more isolated regions of the newly-opened Strip, and also from Chandler southwest to Shawnee, where it connects with the Choctaw. To carry out these plans meant the expenditure of many millions of dollars for construction, exclusive of that spent for maintenance and practical reconstruction of the first ten years.

THE CONSTITUTION.

This was the condition in Oklahoma when admitted as a State, and the Constitution, undoubtedly the most drastic and ill-advised ever known, was adopted. It provided, among other things, that "Railroads heretofore constructed, or which may hereafter be constructed in this State are hereby declared public highways. Every railroad or other public service corporation organized or doing business in this State, under the laws or authority thereof, shall have and maintain a public office or place in this State for the transaction of its business, where transfers of stock shall be made and where shall be kept for inspection by the stockholders of such corporation, books, in which shall be recorded the amount of capital stock subscribed, the names of the owners of stock, the amounts owned by them, respectively; the amount of stock paid, and by whom; the transfer of said stock with date of transfer; the amount of its assets and liabilities, and the names and places of its residence of its officers, and such other matters required by law, or by order of the Corporation Commission. The directors of every railroad company, or other public service corporation, shall hold at least one meeting annually in this State, public notice of which shall be given thirty days previously, and the president or superintendent of every railroad company and other public service corporation organized or doing business in this State, under the laws of this State, or the authority thereof, shall report annually under oath, and make such other reports as may be required by law or order of the Corporation Commission, to said commission, their acts and doings, which report shall include such matters relating to railroads and other public service corporations as may be prescribed by law. The Legislature shall pass all necessary laws enforcing, by suitable penalties, all the provisions of this section.

"No public service corporation, or the lessees, purchasers or managers thereof, shall consolidate the stock, property or franchises of such corporation with, or lease or purchase the works or franchises of, or in any way control any other public service corporation, owning or having under its control a parallel or competing line, nor shall any officer of such corporation act as an officer of any other corporation owning or controlling a parallel or competing line. Neither shall any railroad company, transportation company or transmission company organized under the laws of this State, consolidate by private or judicial sale, or otherwise, with any railroad company, transportation company or transmission company organized under the laws of any other State, or of the United States. No railroad, transportation, transmission or other public service corporation in existence at the time of the adoption of this Constitution shall have the benefit of any future legislation, except on condition of complete acceptance of all the provisions of this Constitution, applicable to railroads, transportaion comanies, transmission companies and other public service corporations; provided, that nothing herein shall be construed as validating any charter, which may be invalid, or waiving any of the conditions contained in any charter.

"No railroad hereafter constructed in this State shall pass within a distance of four miles of any county seat without passing through the same and establishing and maintaining a depot therein, unless prevented by natural obstacles such as streams, hills or mountains; provided, such town or its citizens shall grant the right of way through its limits and sufficient ground for ordinary depot purposes."

The first Legislature subsequent to Statehood, passed laws carrying into effect the provisions of the Constitution, following the same drastic style of the Constitution, if not more severe and offensive.

ITS EFFECTS FELT.

The effect was the instantaneous suspension of construction, and curtailment of improvement, by all of the railroads entering the State, and today not a dollar is being spent in new or reconstruction work in Oklahoma. Every improvement has stopped and the development of the State retarded in a manner that will be felt for the next half a century.

President Ripley of the Santa Fé, in a recent communication replying to a request from commercial bodies of Oklahoma that construction be continued, stated emphatically that not another dollar will be spent in Oklahoma on new work until the Constitution is amended, and the objectionable laws repealed. He demands a fair deal and the guarantee of the safety of investment. More railroads are of vital necessity to the development of the vast mineral deposits of that State. The railroads stand ready to build these lines, under fair and just laws, but the politicians have put up the bars and development is at a standstill, and for the first time in its history, the Santa Fé, one of the roads which has spent millions in railroad extension in Oklahoma, notwithstanding surveys are already completed for several hundred miles of branches, has on hand no plans for a future extension of its lines in that State.

Hundreds of miles of additional track would be in operation in Oklahoma today, had it not been for the half-cocked action of radicals, who saddled upon the taxpayers of that State an experiment of State control of public corporations, which, however well conceived, has proven disastrous in its actual operation and places Oklahoma in a wrong light before the world.

PEOPLE AROUSED.

Oklahomans are awakening to the fact that the burden of vicious or oppressive legislation, and this is particularly true with reference to railroads in a country just developing, falls upon the people as a whole and not upon the politicians directly responsible. They are showing signs of revolt and a movement is on foot to secure a modification of the Constitution, so as to permit railroad building along lines of common sense, and so inducements can be held out to the railroads instead of placing obstacles in their way.

These conditions find a parallel in Los Angeles, where a charter amendment limits the franchise for street railways to twenty-one years. Since the adoption of the amendment there have been practically no extensions and no new lines, and the managements of the various companies operating here declare there will be no extensions of present lines under the existing unfavorable and prohibitive conditions. A study of the railroad situation in Oklahoma and the progress of the State under the Constitution will afford those responsible for this condition in Los Angeles food for thought.

THEY DOUBLE UP.

John J. Shields, who for several years has been well known as the head of the Shields Detective Agency, yesterday announced that he had taken a partner. The concern is now the J. J. Shields and H. O. Devereaux Agency. Devereaux was formerly a member of the police detective department of Chicago, latter a newspaper man in Oklahoma, and recently came to Los Angeles.

HORSE BURIED IN DITCH.

A horse belonging to the Glendale Dairy was buried in a ditch at Douglas avenue and Kensington road several hours yesterday morning before six rescuers under the direction of Patrolman Marden managed to extricate it. Charles Prewitt of No. 1018 West Sixteenth street was driving the team, when the horse ran directly into a ditch being dug by Contractor S. J. Zotovich.

DEAFNESS

Successfully Treated

By the Simplest Method Yet Discovered

Ninety-five per cent. of the cases of deafness brought to our attention are the result of chronic catarrh of the throat and middle ear. The air passages become clogged by catarrhal deposits, stopping the action of the vibratory bones. Until these deposits are removed relief is impossible. They cannot be reached by probing or inner ear spraying, hence the inability of specialists to always effect a cure. Neither can ear drums cure deafness. But there is a scientific treatment for deafness and catarrh which is demonstrated every day by the use of Actina.

E. D. The Drum; H. Hammer; A. Anvil; S. Stirrup; S. C. Semicircular Canals; C. Cochlea.

The vapor generated in the Actina passes through the Eustachian tubes into the middle ear, removing the catarrhal obstructions and loosens up the bones (hammer, anvil and stirrup) in the inner ear, making them respond to the vibration of sound. Actina is also very successful in relieving ringing noises in the head. We have known people afflicted with this distressing trouble for years to be entirely relieved by a few weeks' use. Actina has also been very successful in the treatment of hay fever, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, weak lungs, colds, headache, and other troubles that are directly or indirectly due to catarrh. Actina will be sent on trial, postpaid. Write us about your case. Our advice will be free as well as a valuable book—Prof. Wilson's Treatise on Disease. The Drama---Players, Playhouses, Chit-Chat of Stage.

TOPICS OF THE STAGE.

When one has been suddenly swept off his feet it may be a bit difficult to recognize on the instant the exact nature of the force which moved him, writes a London correspondent of The Times. So, after seeing Alfred Sutro's play, "The Builder of Bridges," now being produced at St. James Theater by George Alexander and Irene Vanbrugh, in the first transports of enthusiasm it is hard to say at once which is the more potent and compelling force—the drama in itself or the faultless acting of the two principals.

As a drama it certainly has all the essentials from the standpoint of construction; strongly-delineated individuals, a plot well developed, with interest suspended to the end; a past skillfully brought in; plenty of action, for the most part quiet but intense; serious, sad, even desperate, but relieved by a lightness of touch and richness of humor which is masterful. Most wonderful of all, perhaps, there are no inconsistent interpolations, no weakening in construction to bring about the desired, the necessary end. It is in no way a problem play—merely a story, the development of an incident, and its consequences.

Arnold Faringay, a young man employed in the office of Sir Henry Killick, who is the chief of a bridge-constructing company, has been tempted to gamble in a "bucket-shop concern." It proved to be the old story, a little gained at first, then a slump in the stocks and the necessity of risking more in order not to lose all; the taking of £3000 of the firm's money to avoid threatened exposure by the gambling company, yet taken in the full assurance that it would all be made back and more, within a week. But that is not the method of bucket-shop concerns. When they had extracted thus much from the young fellow, he was forced to the wall and all lost.

In his extremity he goes to his sister for some plan by which he may escape the seemingly inevitable result of going to prison for theft. The consequences of the scheme she arranges makes the drama. In the same office with her brother is Edward Thursfield, a master bridge builder. She will make him fall in love with her so that, when the discovery comes, it will be he, who, for the love of her, will save her brother. She herself is already engaged to a weak, devoted fellow, Walter Gresham, whom she has discovered that she does not love, yet because of his dog-like faithfulness she cannot bring herself to cause the pain of a break.

In order to hasten her plans she goes to the town in which Thursfield is superintending some bridge work. She succeeds as she had hoped; he does love her, but she also loves him. Yet, though accepting his proposal, she vows to herself to continue in the spirit in which she began; to remain faithful to Walter and to discard Thursfield when he shall have fulfilled her desire to save her brother, who, up to this time, has been first with her before all the rest of the world.

All this comes out as the play proceeds. At the rising of the curtain on the first act, Dorothy has just returned to town from her conquest. Her aunt, Mrs. Debney, in her drawing-room at Camden Hill, is playing a game of solitaire when Walter arrives to see Dorothy. While waiting, he interrupts the game by discussing his grievances against her. She had disappeared without giving him any warning, had sent him a telegram, but after that only picture postals. He declares his conviction that she cannot love him, for she has not yet appeared and he has been waiting half an hour. The aunt discreetly withdraws when she enters. In the conversation which follows between them she tells him that Arnold is in trouble and sadly needs £3000, and asks him to prove his love for her by assisting them. Walter declares his inability to do this; his entire fortune consists of an inheritance of but £2000 which he can on no account part with, for her sake, if nothing else, and his salary is only £500 a year. He says there is nothing he would not do if he could, and she accepts his protestations. He leaves as Arnold comes in, and Dorothy tells him what she has done to save him. He protests, saying he may be a thief but he is not a cur, and he cannot accept this arrangement. But she has not asked his consent and now it is done. Arnold goes, for she is expecting Edward, and when he comes they renew their engagement, though she warns him her mind is not yet fully made up. He says he can wait for her final decision, and that, if need be, he will pass out of her life as quietly as he came into it. She is more deeply in love with him than ever, yet does not swerve from her decision to sacrifice them both. When he wishes to meet her aunt, she tells him it is impossible, but that he must trust her reason for refusing. He is full of trust and of blind, adoring love. His implicit faith in her absolute perfection makes her position the more unbearable.

The second scene takes place in the office; Arnold has confessed all, after guarding his theft for six weeks. Thursfield is aghast, but instantly insists on paying it from the £5000 of his own, which represent the savings of his life thus far; insists that his colleague keep silence, that Arnold shall not be disgraced, and the truth of the matter never reach the ears of the chief, Sir Henry. It will be a simple matter—merely a shifting of accounts. His friend protests that it is his plain duty to report it to the chief. "O, yes," says Thursfield, "one's duty is always very plain and urgent when it is someone else who must suffer." And when the other still expostulates that it is preposturous to thus sacrifice three-fifths of the savings of one's life, that he is acting under the impulse of the moment and that the deed is an absolutely mad one, the Builder of Bridges replies: "Well, let's do mad things sometimes, there will always be enough sane people in the world."

Arnold is sent for; he comes in and tells the whole miserable story of his speculations. He is relieved to have the terrible secret over at last, he is ready to go to jail as he deserves. Then he is overcome with gratitude and strong with remorse at finding that Thursfield is actually ready to save him. Then follows a beautiful scene for the latter, as he charges Arnold to keep the matter silent forever from Dorothy; she must never know that anything has happened; any suspicions she may have had that something was wrong are to be made light of—it must be as nothing. He cannot have her gratitude; it is love and love only that he wants, and he must have it all or none. Arnold promises. Dorothy is announced, and Thursfield leaves them alone together. A stormy scene follows in which Arnold reviles himself for having thus made use of such a man to save himself, and declares he will not do it. Dorothy says that after all, then, it shall not be; if she is to remain faithful to Walter he must pay the money—she is sure his devotion to her is strong enough for that; if not, she shall be free to take the man she loves. Thursfield returns to speak with her; she makes an appointment for the afternoon, arranging with him that if she presents him to her aunt he shall know that her decision is fully made.

Sir Henry comes in on business, and Thursfield informs him that their previous arrangement, for him to go to Rhodesia to construct a bridge over the falls there, must be put into other hands, for he does not wish to leave town now. Sir Henry is furious; he surmises that it is a love affair, and his remarks on women and the race in general are very rich.

At the opening of the third act, which is again laid in the drawing-room, Dorothy is persuading her unwilling aunt to remain at home with her, instead of going to make a fourth at a table of bridge, as she has great need of her. Walter comes, and in a scene between him and Dorothy she tells him that it is theft which Arnold has committed, and it is he who must come to the rescue if he loves her. He is horrified, denounces Arnold, but says he will do it, of course, for her sake; he has only partly enough money, he doesn't know how he can get the rest, he has never borrowed in his life, and it will all be terribly awkward, but he can manage it some way. A swift struggle takes place in his mind between his love for her and his natural propensity toward closeness. For a moment the latter triumphs, he changes and says she cannot mean it, she could not ask such a sacrifice of him, it would not be right. Dorothy feels that in this failure to stand the test, she is liberated from him. She leaves him stupified, telling him that all is over between them. He pours out the violence of his surprise and wrath on the aunt, who is sent in by Dorothy. He shouts that he will not be made a victim of such treatment, that Dorothy has not been fair with him to throw him over for a trifle; but his pride is roused; she may change her mind, but though she beg and beseech, he will never come back to her—never! He leaves like a thunderstorm, and the poor aunt says she feels as though she had been tossed by a bull. Then Dorothy tells here of her struggle to be faithful to Walter; how time and again, after she realized her love for Edward, she had written to tell him all and ask for her release, but remembering his love for her she could not send the letters; that she had resolved to sacrifice herself and her love rather than disappoint him, but that now he had failed in the supreme test, and at last she was free—free to accept the man she really cared for. Her aunt does not understand, but is quite contented to have Dorothy satisfied. Then Thursfield comes, and in a most charming little scene is presented to "Aunt Clara" as "Edward." Arnold arrives; everybody is happy, and they sit down for a cup of tea before Aunt Clara leaves to have her game of bridge, when suddenly a violent altercation takes place in the hall: Walter bursts into the room shouting that it is all a hideous mistake; he will get the £3000, that money is nothing, it is only Dorothy that he wants. In a torrent of wild, confused ravings he gives everything away. Edward's mind works like lightning; he sees the plot to make a dupe of him; everything is clear to him, except the great essential—Dorothy's love and struggle. His kindness changes to quiet bitterness and irony. He tells Arnold that he is a thief and a coward, but that he need not fear, his secret is in safe keeping, he may feel quite at ease, for he will never betray him; but now he must leave Dorothy alone with him. Quietly merciless, he forces her to acknowledge the scheme she had laid step by step, and refuses to let her speak a word in explanation or extenuation. He leaves her saying that there may be nobility in saving a brother from disgrace, but that it can be bought too dearly, and the thing which she has done is one of the most devilish a woman can contrive. Her grief and anguish are supreme.

The last act takes place at Thursfield's rooms. His colleague and he have spent a melancholy evening together, and now, at the end of it, Thursfield, urged to exploration, briefly tells him that he has loved a woman unworthy of love, and that the romance of his life is ended. His bitterness has changed to philosophy; he will put it aside, and take up the routine of life where he left it for golden dreams of illusion. Tomorrow he will start for Rhodesia, and work shall be his portion henceforth. At that moment there is a furious thumping at the door, and Sir Henry comes roaring in, cursing them both for plotters and deceivers. Arnold has been to him and confessed all. He will make good the £3000 himself, but he has turned the young man out forever. Thursfield quietly announces that, if that is the case, he, too, will leave his employ. Sir Henry is still more enraged at thus being dictated to—he is master, and his word shall stand. Thursfield is also immovable. He says Arnold has suffered sufficiently, and that the nobility of his act in voluntarily confessing all wipes out the stain of his crime. And when Sir Henry finds that Thursfield intends to leave for Rhodesia, and that it is "the woman" who has done it, he is so overjoyed that he forgives every one, and goes off in a high state of humor as uproarious as his anger had been, announcing that they should build bridges forever. Thursfield is left alone. He sadly extinguishes the lights and opens the door of his inner room. There before him stands Dorothy; she had come in before him, and had been waiting for hours. She has come to implore him to listen to her explanation. He tells her he has ceased to care, and that her words mean nothing; he has no belief in her; it is probably only some new trick; he is leaving tomorrow, and everything shall be as though the past did not exist. Yet, as she tries to tell him, through the light of the nobility of his own character he sees the truth in her, and knows that her suffering is cruelly real, and that love beyond all that he could have asked for is there before him. Rhodesia's falls may go unspanned forever!

Mr. Alexander is perfect in his delineation of Thursfield; blindly loving and confident at first, blissfully happy in his love, but keen and hard when disillusioned. The revulsion is complete, he becomes as suspicious as he had before been trusting, and though the soul of honor in keeping his word with Arnold, he cannot but be unjust to Dorothy. Philosophical and business-like when the mental adjustment to his changed relations takes place, he is all tenderness and remorse when he finally understands and believes. He still reminds one a bit of Mansfield, though not so much as on former occasions.

And Miss Vanbrugh was wonderful in the quiet intensity of her acting, in the depth of feeling she displayed. Her eyes are full of expression, and very beautiful. At times her acting was superb; particularly in the scene after she has dismissed Walter, and tells her aunt of the struggle she has gone through to be faithful to her promise made before this great, new love had come to her. But that now she is free, free to follow her heart. And, again, in the scene where she acknowledges all the accusations of Thursfield, attempts to explain, but when he will not listen, accepts his quiet denunciations with a world of love and anguish depicted in her face and attitude.

The comic element, supplied by the aunt and Sir Henry, relieve the intensity of the strain. Walter's blundering impetuousness stands out in bold contrast to the contained emotion of the other two lovers. All the parts were exceedingly well taken. In all details, too, the staging of the play was flawless. Although of usual length, the waiting between acts was so brief that it was not 11 o'clock when the final curtain fell. It would be well if our own stage directors, who drag out a short play by wearingly long entr'acts, would take lessons from the effectiveness of shorter ones.

Managerial Promises.

Eugene Walter's play, "The Wolf," will be presented at the Mason Operahouse during the week commencing tomorrow night, by a company headed by Andrew Robson, formerly leading man here.

Some say that when "Paid In Full" went to its immense success Mr. Walter merely turned to his trunk and got out this script, and others say that the piece was written after his big triumph. However—

There are three acts, the scene is in the Hudson Bay country, and the action begins one morning and ends the next morning. The villian is an American adventurer named McDonald; the Mlle. De Dio, French character dancer, who is the feature of the Orpheum's annual event, the Road Show; Andrew Robson, former local leading man, who comes back to present the principal part of Eugene Walter's "Wolf"; Corinne, the perennial, who has a new vehicle in "Lola from Berlin"; Fay Bainter, clever young player who has just been given a three-year contract at the Belasco, and Libby Blondelle, leading woman in numerous musical productions here, who will this week enter vaudeville.

hero, a young French-Canadian named Jules Beaubien; and the heroine, the daughter of a narrow-minded Scotchman named McTavish, whose wife had fled from him, leaving a daughter, is Hilda. McDonald is a scoundrel, but no coward. It is intimated in the first act that McDonald has betrayed the sister of Beaubien, and he eventually becomes a rival of Beaubien for the Scotchman's daughter.

McDonald, by a lie, tricks the Scotchman into an agreement to allow Hilda to go with him to the States. Young Beaubien, who loves Hilda, denounces McDonald as the betrayer of his sister. The third act discloses Beaubien, Hilda and their companions resting at the Portage of the Litle Bear River. The villian is in pursuit. Hilda and Beaubien make their troth, and then he consigns her to the care of his companions and awaits McDonald. There is a terrific struggle in the dark, and a hand to hand duel.

Following this play a musical production of pretensions, "A Stubborn Cinderella," will occupy the Mason stage. This cast is headed by Homer B. Mason.

The Orpheum Road Show, traveling under the personal direction of Martin Beck, is due tonight, and will open at the local Orpheum with tomorrow's matinée.

Heading the yearly choice selection of vaudeville is Mlle. De Dio, French character-danseuse, who makes her first American appearance with this organization. Her act is called "Terpsichore's Dream," which is in four parts, "The Golden Butterfly," "The Birth of a Pearl," "She," and "La Carnivale." Unusual costuming and fine scenic and electrical accompaniments are promised.

Edwin Holt makes his vaudeville début with a sketch by George Ade, entitled "The Mayor and the Manicure." It relates to an attractive manicurist who is in love with the Mayor's son, and the complications that ensue when she calls on the executive to plead her cause.

Hyman Meyer, eccentric pianist, is a protégé of Mr. Beck, and offers a line of vaudeville music ranging from piano playing to character impersonation in songs.

Charles and Fanny Van, newcomers also, have a skit called "A Case of Emergency." It is said to be another of the comedies of inner stage life.

Frank Work and Reinhold Ower, popular favorities of a former road show, provide the big acrobatic feature of this year's issue.

Merian's Canines present an elaborate drama in dog-pantomine, "The Elopment of Salome."

Holding over are the four Franklins, and the Majestic trio.

Manager Crawford, of the Auditorium, will inaugurate a new series of productions at that house this week, presenting musical extravaganza.

The first piece will be "Cinderella," which will be given tomorrow night. Mr. Crawford does not wish to announce any of his principals, but says he has engaged a large and competent company, and will present a spectacle pleasing both the pictorial and musical sense.

There will be no orchestra, Bruce Gordon Kingsley using the Auditorium organ for orchestral effects.

This week the Belasco company will revert to the ever-popular "Charley's Aunt," with Dick Vivian again uproariously disporting as the bogus old lady from Brazil. Howard Scott, who has been absent from the stage for some weeks on account of illness, will again take his inimitable characterization of Stephen Spettigue.

The enduring Corinne will be featured at Hamburger's Majestic Theater this week, in the McNally musical comedy, "Lola From Berlin." For the first time, the Majestic will be opened with a Sunday matinée performance.

Corinne's most recent appearances in this city have been made in the roles of Dolores in "Florodora," and as Mary in George Cohan's "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway."

"Lola From Berlin" is by the author of the numerous Rogers Brothers shows. Last winter it was put on at the Liberty Theater, New York, with Lulu Glaser in the title-part.

Lola, described as a German Sis Hopkins, comes to America alone to establish her claim to an estate. Upon her arrival she is mistaken for a cook, and her inability to speak English makes it impossible for her to explain the error.

The supporting company includes Mark Sullivan, Hazel Carlton, Franklin Vail, Henry Carl Lewis, Lillie May White, Osborn Clemson, Anna Mortland, Franker Woods, Pearl Revare, Freddie Scott, and Adele Irish.

The Burbank stock company will address itself to a Japanese play this week, presenting Colgate Baker's tenderly pathetic love-tragedy of Nippon, "The Heart of a Geisha." Miss Mary Hall will be seen as the unhappy Japanese Camille. William Desmond will play the lover. Elaborate attention will be paid to scenic detail and costuming, and in order to insure the correctness of his work stage director Gilbert Gardner has been coached on a number of important details by a Japanese Buddhist priest resident here.

Prominent in the cast will be Harry Mestayer, A. Byron Beasley, John W. Burton, Willis Marks, Henry Stockbridge, Charles Giblyn, Lovell Taylor, Louise Royce and Margo Duffet.

Beginning Sunday, January 24, Charles Hanford will enter upon a week's engagement at the Majestic Theater.

During his Los Angeles engagement he will be seen in "A Winter's Tale," "The Merchant of Venice," "The Taming of the Shrew," "Much Ado About Nothing," and "Othello."

"The Tenderfoot,' unctious musical show written by Richard Carle, for his own use, will be the Ferris Hartman offering at the Grand Operahouse for the week beginning with today's matinée.

Mr. Hartman will have the Carle role of the Professor; Mr. Fogarty will play the "honest" Texas gambler; DeLeon and Arling will be the heads of the rangers, and Robert Lett will be the Chinese servant. Muggins Davies has a maid's part allotted to her this time, while Josie Hart will be seen as an authoress, Grisella Kingsland as the Gibson Girl, Viva McNeil as the Sis Hopkins waif, and Anna Little in the prima-donna part of Marion Worthington.

It is the intention of Mr. Hartman to have no more two-week runs. Following this play, "The Wizard of the Nile" will be given.

The week's programme at the Los Angeles Theater will bring to that house the four American Trumpeters, family composed of father, mother and two daughters.

Luken's trained bears, seven in number, will be put through their paces by the woman who has trained them. The La Salle acrobatic trio, Sam and Ida Kelly, in a new sketch; Sam Hood, minstrel monologist; Sam Holdsworth, picture balladist, and motion pictures complete the bill.

Libby Blondell and Aubrey Carr, who were known first at the Grand and later at Fischer's, will enter vaudeville this week, appearing first at the Walker Theater.

Other numbers on the bill are the Ader trio, club jugglers; DeVaull and Lotta, in a sketch known as "The Pipe-dream and the Directoire Girl;" Phil Godfrey, humorist acrobat; Ida Wharton, soprano, and motion pictures.

"Ski-Hi," alleged to be identical with the musical comedy which served for summer amusement on the Madison Square roof last year, is scheduled for production at Fischer's during the coming week. Lyrics, book and music are all by Charles Alphin, Herr Fischer's new musical director.

"Ski-Hi," will introduce Miss Dot Raymond and Tracy McDermott as leading people of the company.

The reorganized Unique Musical Comedy Company, under the direction of George Rehn, will offer an unusual bill this week in a three-scene musical comedy, "The Servant Lady." The new company will consist of George and Rosa Rehn, Lillian Sutherland, Jack Curtis, Will Armstrong, Gertrude Rutledge and Richard Kipling.

The plot of the current piece is an amusing one, and many new popular song hits will be introduced.

Dramagraphs.

Mimi Aguglia has applied to William Faversham for the Italian rights of "The World and His Wife."

Clyde Fitch's new play, "The Happy Marriage," went into rehearsal last week and will be produced in Washington on January 25.

Lillian Russell has sold her home in New York, but denies the rumor that she will marry again. "No more matrimony for mine," she says.

Viola Allen will be presented this season in a new play, "The White Sister," by F. Marion Crawford. The opening performance will be on January 25.

Mrs. Madge Carr Cook returned to New York on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse last month, after almost two years abroad. She spent Christmas with Eleanor Robson in Chattanooga.

Sir Edward Elgar, England's foremost composer, finds his principal recreations in golf and scientific kite-flying. Fond of science, also, he spends a great deal of his leisure time in the study of chemistry.

George Sylvester Viereck, co-author with Edgar Allen Woolf of "The Vampire," returned from Europe last Wednesday. He announced that the play would be produced in Germany, Hungary and Italy.

Thomas W. Ross, former star of "Checkers," has made a success in vaudeville, playing a sketch called "Awake at the Switch," a farce involving a fair phonist in charge of the switch in a Broadway hotel.

Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond, the well-known western composer of songs, who recently underwent a serious operation in Chicago, has made encouraging progress toward recovery and her manager announces that she will resume her recital work early next month.

Mme. Chaminade, the famous French composer, says that Debussy represents a cult in Paris and New York that is confined to fashionable people. She does not believe that his music will last, and further says that the appreciation of his style is but a passing fad which has already begun to lose ground in Paris.

Margaret Anglin has ended her season in Australia, and she and her sister sailed for Egypt, where Miss Anglin will spend a few weeks resting. She has been working steadily since August, 1907. Her American season will probably begin in Boston next September in "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie."

Isidore de Lara, who, as the composer of "Sanga," is the first Briton to have a work produced at Paris's Opera Comique, is not Isidore de Lara after all. His real name is Cohen. He made his début on life's stage 'mid the smoke and fog of "old Lunnon" in 1860, and for some years taught singing at the Guildhall School of Music and gave frequent song recitals. His list of compositions includes six operas, of which "Messaline" is the only one known in New York. An elaborate production has not sufficed to win for "Sanga" a Parisian repetition of its Nice success.

President Fallieres entertained the King of Sweden during his recent visit here, with a musicale at which a noted operatic star sang. At the last moment it was found that there was no piano in the palace, and one was hastily borrowed from the apartments of a staff officer. The instrument was so poor, however, that when Massenet, the famous composer, sat down to play the accompaniments, he became disgusted and refused to perform on the instrument. M. de Lara kindly officiated.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

One of the most interesting new works to be brought forward in Los Angeles in many a day is to have a presentation tomorrow before the Ebell Club, by a quartette of well-known soloists under the direction of Archibald Sessions.

The quartette is composed of Mrs. Edmund S. Shank, soprano; Mrs. Estelle Heartt-Dreyfus, contralto; Abraham Miller, tenor; and Henry S. Williams, baritone. The composition is Bertram Shapleigh's unique and powerful musical setting to Poe's "Raven."

Mr. Shapleigh is an American who has spent most of his life abroad, and who is now resident in London. During his recent trip across Mr. Sessions met him, and Shapleigh presented him some copies of his new work, also giving him some indication of its interpretation.

To properly express Poe's gloomy and yet beautiful thought requires music which has melancholy, and at the same time is of singular effectiveness. This is just the substance with which Mr. Shapleigh has surrounded the poet's text. The writing is in the distinctively modern style, is intensely dramatic and in places almost conversational in its free rythm and directness of melodic speech. The harmonies employed are novel, but of beautiful character, and so interwoven are text and score that they actually seem each made for the other. How well Mr. Shapleigh understands Richard Wagner's oft-uttered dictum that text and music are of equal importance will be appreciated only upon hearing.

Originally, Mr. Shapleigh designed his setting for chorus and orchestra, but it would be hard indeed to find a chorus sufficiently skilled and sufficiently harmonized to cope successfully with the subleties of these themes. A quartette, with piano accompaniment, should do better.

Mrs. Carroll B. Smith (née Edith Rounds, organist of the First Congregational Church of Redlands, will give the next organ recital at Christ Church, by invitation of Mr. Sessions.

Mrs. Smith was formerly a pupil of Widor, in Paris. She will be assisted by G. Hayden Jones, tenor.

The recital will be given on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Frieda Langendorff, German mezzo-soprano, who was heard extensively at the Metropolitan Operahouse last year, will be the next visitor in Mr. Behymer's Philharmonic course, giving a very strong programme here on February 9.

This is Mme. Langendorff's first American tour in concert, but she is said to have many concert resources, including a magnificent voice and versatility in interpretation.

Mr. Kingsely's second lecture in his operatic series, with illustrations, will be given at Blanchard Hall tonight. The subject is "Die Meistersinger."

The soloists will be Miss Rose Zobelein, Mrs. Robert Adams, Ellis Rhoades, Mrs. S. W. Mounts and Frances Chapman.

Owing to the sudden revival of interest in Italy and her buildings and people, B. R. Baumgardt has decided to open his course of "Travelogues" at Blanchard Hall, with an illustrated talk on Naples. The opening lecture will be given on the evening of January 31.

An Italian operatic afternoon will be given tomorrow in Symphony Hall, Blanchard building. The artists participating will be Mrs. Nanno Woods, musical lecturer; Mme. Genevra Johnstone-Bishop, soprano; Johann Haae-Zinck, tenor, and Miss Florence Miriam Johnson, pianist.

The musical programme includes the "Celeste Aida" and "Ritorna Vincitor," from "Aida;" "Pace, Mio Dio," from "La Forza del Destino;" a duet from "Il Trovatore," and an aria from "La Tosca."

The Nowland-Hunter trio, composed of Fordyce Hunter, pianist; Eugene Nowland, violinist, and Frederick S. Gytterson, 'cellist, gave the fourth concert of its present series in Symphony Hall last Monday night.

The programme included the trio in E Flat Major, Op. 1, No. 1, by Beethoven; the Rubenstein Sonata in D Major, and the Arensky Trio in D Minor, Op. 32.

The Matinée Musical Club will meet next Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Lillian Ballagh, No. 1543 Orange street.

Directors of the Gamut Club, elected January 13, are as follows: Charles F. Edson, Charles E. Pemberton, G. Allen Hancock, M. P. Frasie and W. S. Collins.

Moore's band programme at Eastlake Park this afternoon will include Strauss's "Southern Roses" waltz, Tobani's "Souvenir de Wagner," Mercadante's "La Vestale," a Rossini overture, and a symphonic march by Manfredo Chiaffarelli.

Producers of Interesting Work.

Mrs. Edmond S. Shank, soprano; Mrs. Estelle Heartt-Dreyfus, contralto; Abraham Miller, tenor; and Henry S. Williams, baritone, who will produce Bertram Shapleigh's fine setting to Poe's "Raven" at the Ebell Club tomorrow afternoon. Archibald Sessions will be the accompanist and director.

OPERA AND TEMPERAMENT.

Some Harrowing Illustrations, from the Managerial Experiences of Oscar Hammerstein.

"The eminent writer who said that genius was an infinite capacity for taking pains knew nothing of the trials of a grand opera director," says Oscar Hammerstein in the Saturday Evening Post. "Otherwise, he would have changed his phrase to make it read that genius, especially that part of it which finds expression in some grand opera stars, is merely an infinite capacity for causing pains.

"When ever anything goes wrong in grand opera, from a false note in the orchestra to a chronic bad temper, the star lays it on the artistic temperament and expects that long-suffering, overworked Thing to explain and atone for the shortcoming. My own feeling, based on a long and strenuous experience, is that the artistic temperament is simply a form of insanity, usually temporary, but sometimes permanent. It has no sex, and, like an epidemic, is liable to break out at any moment.

"Here is a case in point. Not long ago I asked Madame Tetrazzini, who is one of my greatest artists and who is absolutely assured of her position in New York and elsewhere, to sing the coloratura part in 'The Huguenots.' It was a very small part, but she would have given it distinction, and it was my intention to feature her in the production. When I suggested it to her she became indignant. She said: 'I cannot sing a small part like that.' One interesting feature is that I offered to pay her just as much for singing those seven minutes as if she had been required to sing for four hours. She could not see it that way. The danger, as she saw it, was not to her vocal cords, but to her reputation."

"The artistic temperament works in a mysterious way its anxieties to produce. This makes me think of my experiences last season with Bassi. Toward the close of the season it was evident that his voice was not holding out, yet he would not believe it. When I told him that I would not renew his contract he behaved like a peevish child.

"Nordica has given me some anxious moments, for she has a large and finely-assorted artistic temperament. The real reason for her abrupt retirement from my forces last season was the fact that one day Campanini, my conductor, smoked a cigar at rehearsal. Madame Nordica on that occasion told the head stage carpenter that no first-class conductor would smoke in the presence of a great artist like her.

"The perversity of some stars is amazing. Take the case of Bonci. I brought him over and advertised him like a circus. When I wanted him to learn new parts he steadily refused, because he said that he had a peculiar voice and that it was only adapted to a few operas. This very perversity may keep him from being a very great artist.

"Not content with having an artistic temperament so sensitive that an imaginary breath will ruffle it, the grand opera star adds to it a most extraordinary superstition. It finds expression in astonishing ways.

"Madame Tetrazzini, for example, will not go on for a performance until she has dropped a dagger into the floor three times. If it sticks each time it is a good omen, and she feels that she will sing well and have big success. If not it disturbs her during the whole opera.

"Mlle Trentini will not go on the stage until I have given her a quarter. She carries it during the performance. I might add that she saves the quarters.

"Madame Donalda, who sang with me last season, never went on without tearing a button off her clothes for good luck. This curious habit may be due to the fact that she was a tailor's daughter. At any rate, she was the despair of the wardrobe mistress.

"Zenatello carries a rabbit's foot when he sings. Once he forgot it and had a bad case of nerves. He has the same faith in its good luck virtues as has a southern negro.

"Some opera stars knock on the scenery before going on. I might add that they are accomplished 'knockers' in other directions, too. Others stamp on the floor three times. A curious superstition among them relates to the color of green. Many grand opera stars avoid this color as if it were poison. They won't wear green costumes and detest operas with green rooms or palaces. They simply regard the color as a sort of hoodoo.

"The stars of American birth are jollier than their foreign contemporaries. This is due in the main to their early life. Sometimes the foreign star never forgets her origin, as in the case of one prima donna who sang with me last season. Her father had been a second-hand tailor, and the atmosphere of his shop seemed to cling to her with peculiar tenacity. Whenever she wanted me to do her a favor she talked to me as her father had talked to a prospective customer. She stroked the lapels of my coat, rubbed down the creases, and every moment I expected her to say, 'It fits like the paper on the wall.'"

A Worker With the Burin.

A few weeks ago there were exhibited in Blanchard Hall, in conjunction with a large general exhibition of paintings by various Los Angeles artists, half a dozen or so of dry-point etchings signed by Anna Zucker. They were mostly portraits of women, were of small size, and were hung so modestly and unobtrusively in one corner that they may have escaped the notice of the careless and casual observer.

Yet their quiet, refined charm must have made its appeal to many, I am sure. Though surrounded by a riot of color, these little prints somehow held their own in the general medley. Though they were plainly the tentative efforts of a beginner in the difficult art of dry-point etching, they yet showed a sense of character, for beauty, and for right expression that commanded instant respect. In a very few lines the young artist—Miss Zucker is very young—subtly suggested many things about her sitters and herself.

Miss Zucker began her art career when she was still a child by drawing romping babies with much sympathy. These vigorous pen-and-ink and pencil drawings were occasionally reproduced in St. Nicholas and The Times Sunday Magazine. She still retains her fondness for delineating the free, natural and artistic poses of small children at work and at play, and some day she intends to perpetuate their charms with the etching needle.

For some years she studied drawing and painting in the College of Fine Arts, in Garvanza. Last year she went to New York, entering the life classes of the Art Students' League. She studied painting under F. Luis Mora and etching under Charles Henry White, both of them enthusiasts in teaching and working, and both of them most stimulating to the impressionable mind of the western girl.

Mr. White is one of the most famous of our American etchers, a writer and thinker as well as an etcher. From him Miss Zucker gained her knowledge of how to handle the needle and the plate toward artistic ends. Himself a master, Mr. White knows how to lead others to mastery of the stubborn materials the etcher must deal with.

Besides using the dry point, Miss Zucker has also made a few etchings on the waxed plates, and with decided success, her lines in one of these portraits reminding me of the delicate, suggestive pen line of Edwin A. Abbey. A little sketch made in Morningside Park is also delightful, free in handling and full of color. Indeed, it seems to me that Miss Zucker shows a special faculty for the bitten etching. I hope she will seriously devote herself to this branch of her art.

However, she is also much interested in painting, and I think we can confidently look forward to seeing excellent portraits from her brush in the near future. Her etched plates, too, will be larger in the future, as the artist feels that in more space she will attain to greater breadth and freedom of handling.

ART NOTES.

The pupils of Lillian Drain, Blanchard Hall, will hold an exhibition of their work in oils, water colors and charcoal on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday of this week, in Miss Drain's studio.

In a recent letter from Carl Oscar Borg, who is in Proteccion, Honduras, Central America, the artist writes that he is working hard on landscape painting, the scenery in Honduras being wonderfully beautiful. The people, however, are thriftless and poverty-stricken—the direct results of an unstable government.

An interesting exhibition, scheduled for Blanchard Hall on January 27, is that of Jean Mannheim of Denver, who has recently come to Los Angeles. Mr. Mannheim is said to be a remarkable technician. He will show portraits, landscapes and genre pictures.

After the close of the Mannheim exhibition, in February, the [illegible] painters of Los Angeles will [illegible] have a show of their own in the Blanchard gallery. The men have [illegible] painters' club—why shouldn't the women? The question is worthy of consideration, and the exhibition will undoubtedly be worth seeing.

Priscilla Angel, a portrait painter from the East, has come to the Blanchard building.

Florine Heyer, the well-known [illegible] painter, has reopened her studio in Blanchard's.

coming every year more prominent as leaders, or at any rate, important factors in the army of crime. Whether it be merely one of the aspects of the modern phenomenon of woman's claim to an equal share with man in all his privileges—even those that lead to prison and the scaffold—or whether it be due to some other deep-seated cause, I must leave to the sociologist to decide. The fact is there, undeniable, explain it as you will. Whereas woman was formerly the humble apprentice and assistant in crime, she now frequently "operates" alone, and shows herself more than a match for man in nerve and dexterity. A few months ago a female burglar was arrested in a hotel on the Riviera while visiting the bedrooms of travelers in the dead of night. She had a complete kit of up-to-date burglars' tools, and wore a black "maillot," or tight-fitting jersey, which enabled her to slip like an eel from the clutches of any one attempting to seize her. This lady lived in an expensive flat in Paris when she was not "working," and was regarded as irreproachable by her neighbors. When she was away on a housebreaking expedition, she was supposed by her servants to be at the seaside. Her income was estimated at $5000 a year.

Casque D'Or,

first Queen of the Apaches.

It is, however, in the Apache domain that this phenomenon is most remarkable. The Paris female Apache is rapidly becoming as terrible a scourge as the loathsome individual, who, cap on head, hands in pockets, and armed to the teeth, lurks about the outer boulevards with the inevitable cigarette hanging from his under-lip, or sits in a low café drinking his absinthe or his petit verre.

At the Paris Salon, three years ago, a painting excited much attention, chiefly an account of its terrible realism. It was what the Parisian calls d'actualité—up to date—and represented two young women, knife in hand and stripped to the waist, fighting a duel, while a couple of cynical male Apaches looked on. It was a definite recognition of the place the female Apache had won for herself in the domain of criminal life.

GOLDEN HELMET.

The first female Apache—the term Apache, as applied to the Parisian criminal, only dates from the beginning of the present century—who gained an almost world-wide notoriety, was a young woman who had been christened Casque d'Or (golden helmet) from the mass of reddish golden hair that formed her chief adornment. Casque d'Or was the Helen of the Belleville Apaches. Manda and Lecca were the two chiefs who fought for her possession. Each was at the head of a body of followers, who, night after night, armed with revolvers and knives, met in deadly encounter in the streets of Belleville, an outlying quarter of Paris. Peaceable citizens dared not venture out after dark, and the police seemed powerless. Day after day the newspapers devoted columns to the exploits of the two bands. Casque d'Or, Lecca and Manda became familiar names; their portraits were more frequently seen than that of the President of the republic; an aureole of glory enveloped Casque d'Or, who was the envy of her fellows. At last, in a desperate pitched battle, Manda

A few months ago a female burglar was arrested in a hotel on the Riviera while visiting the bedrooms of lodgers in the dead of night. GOLDEN HELMET.

The first female Apache—the term Apache, as applied to the Parisian criminal, only dates from the beginning of the present century—who attained an almost world-wide notoriety, was a young woman who had been christened Casque d'Or (golden helmet) from the mass of reddish golden hair that formed her chief adornment. Casque d'Or was the Helen of the Belleville Apaches. Manda and Leca were the two chiefs who fought for her possession. Each was at the head of a body of followers, who, night after night, armed with revolvers and knives, met in deadly encounter in the streets of Belleville, an outlying quarter of Paris. Peaceable citizens dared not venture out after dark, and the police seemed powerless. Day after day the newspapers devoted columns to the exploits of the two bands. Casque d'Or, Leca and Manda became familiar figures; their portraits were more frequently seen than that of the President of the republic; an aureole of glory surrounded Casque d'Or, who was the envy of her fellows. At last, in a desperate pitched battle, Manda killed Lecca with his own hand, and Helen was his. But his triumph was short-lived. Arrested by the police, the terrible Apache was tried and sentenced to penal servitude for life in the convict settlement of New Caledonia, where he still is.

Casque d'Or, left alone and thirsting for more glory, dreamed of fresh conquests on a vaster scale. An enterprising variety manager secured her services. But the public conscience was now awakened. A storm of protests was raised against the scandal being any longer tolerated and the police, glad of the pretext, forbade Casque d'Or to appear. Thus ended abruptly the public career of the first female Apache.

CHIFFONETTE.

But how pale is Casque d'Or's glory, how insipid her exploits, in the fierce light of the female Apache of 1908! Casque d'Or was content to play the part of Helen; the history of Belleville records no bloodthirsty exploit with knife or revolver, no blood-curdling deed of vengeance, performed by her hands. How different a figure is Chiffonnette, the terror of La Courtille!

Chiffonnette, who glories in the title of La Reine de la Courtille, is a tall, brawny lass of twenty-three summers, and the equal of any male Apache in cunning and ferocious courage. She would be handsome were it not for the fact that she has lost an eye. She is tatooed like a red Indian and shows with pardonable pride the scars of half a hundred wounds received in fight with knife or revolver. She already has eleven convictions to her credit, in spite of the fact that she is only just out of her teens; and is both feared and envied as being absolutely reckless. She took atrocious revenge on her first sweetheart, because he dared to deceive her. The wretched man, attacked in his sleep, was reduced by Chiffonnette to such a pitiable state that he had to spend six months in a hospital. When he came out again, he asked Chiffonnette to marry him, vowing that if she refused he would shoot her. Chiffonnette pretended to acquiesce, took the necessary steps for the bands to be published and then, two days before the wedding, laughed in her sweetheart's face and told him she was only fooling him. The Apache whipped out his revolver and fired three shots. One of the bullets struck Chiffonnette on the frontal bone, forcing the left eye out of its socket. It was then that the girl showed the stuff she is made of. Coolly replacing the blinded eye in its socket, she drew a long knife and plunged it in her assailant's body, striking again and again till he was dead.

A year later Chiffonnette was released from prison. Her next sweetheart also fought a pitched battle with her and inflicted fearful wounds on her with a razor, necessitating a prolonged visit on her part to the hospital of Saint Louis.

A week or two ago Chiffonnette was sauntering down the Faubourg du Temple with an escort of girls. It was 3 o'clock in the morning. Suddenly she started. She had caught sight of another girl coming toward her. "Why, it's Andréa," she cried; "Andréa, who betrayed my 'man' Dédé to the police!" Dédé, it may be explained, was recently sentenced to six months' imprisonment and five years' exile from Paris, and Chiffonnette suspected a girl named Louise Bonami, known in the Apache world as Andréa, of being a police spy.

TERROR.

Springing forward, in a trice she was face to face with Andréa, whose blood she had sworn to have. A terrible scene followed. Amid shrieks and yells and imprecations the two girls rushed at each other while a crowd of a hundred persons quickly gathered round. Closing with her antagonist, Chiffonnette rolled with her into the middle of the road, both fighting desperately. The friends of each combatant formed so dense a circle that it was rather a scrimmage than a duel. There was a last shriek and then a pause. Chiffonnette and three other girls rose and drew back, leaving on the ground the corpse of Andréa, whose heart had been pierced by a stiletto, driven deep between the shoulders.

"Pepe,"

who succeeded Chiffonnette in the Apache dynasty.

The next day the police had discovered Chiffonnette's hiding place and the terrible Apache queen was arrested and lodged in the women's jail of St. Lazare.

La Courtille being once more without a queen, the Belleville Apaches chose Palmyre Quignon, a girl of 18, nicknamed Pépé, to replace Chiffonnette, whose absence is likely to be a long one. Now Pépé was a bosom friend of Chiffonnette and was generally suspected of having held down the wretched Andréa while the former struck the fatal blow. She enjoyed a certain renown in spite of her youth, for a wealthy "aristo" (arsitoocrat) had taken a fancy to her and wished to marry her. In two months Pépé had spent $12,000 and then, growing tired of luxury and "aristos," returned to her old haunts of La Courtille.

The other evening Pépé was walking down the Boulevard de Belleville with her inseparable companion, Margot la Blonde, when a former sweetheart of Chiffonnette's, known in his own particular set as Loulon, accosted her in these terms: "Madame thinks she has cleared herself of the Fauborg du Temple affair, by throwing all the blame upon poor Chiffonnette. But Chiffonnette shall be avenged, eh, Beau-Blond?" And in saying this, Loulon turned to another Apache, who was with him, "for I mean to cut off your head and Beau Blond will rip you up."

A RESCUE.

Loulon, who was armed with a knife over a foot in length, and Beau Blond, who flourished a yatagan, thereupon seized the terror-stricken Pépé and were about to carry out this threat, when three detectives, disguised as Apaches, who had been watching them, rushed to the rescue and prevented the crime by arresting the would-be murderers after a desperate struggle and taking them to the Police Station.

On Loulon was found a post card illustrated with Chiffonnette's picture, and bearing the words: "You shall be avenged, my Chiffonnette. We shall use the revolver and dagger. Vitriol for Totor." Totor was apparently some other enemy of Loulon.

Chiffonnette, Casque d'Or, Pépé and Margot la Blonde are types of the female Apaches walking the boulevards and streets of Paris today. Every now and then one reads that M. A. or Mme. B., or a workman or work-girl, have been attacked at Belleville or La Villette or Montmarte or even on the Boulevard de Sebastopol by armed women, who, after brutally ill-treating them, have robbed them of their jewelry and money.

INSURANCE WORLD.

The Sun Insurance Company of London attained the honorable age of 200 years on January 1. The company began in 1706 as an "exchange house fire office," and in 1709 became a stock company, the twenty-four stockholders not putting up actual funds, but holding themselves responsible for the fulfillment of the contracts of the office. In 1907 the sum insured in the company amounted to $2,756,568,000.

An insurance plan designed to prevent churches from deserting the downtown population as the richer residence districts spread away from it is being put into effect in St. Louis by Hamilton Cooke, inspector of agencies for the New York Life. The plan is to induce well-to-do church members to insure their lives for the benefit of the church, the proceeds of the policy to go to form an endowment for the maintenance of the church, thus giving the poorer classes who occupy districts after the wealthier classes have deserted them the benefit of pastors whose salaries they would be unable to pay unassisted.

The Appellate Court of Illinois has handed down an important decision on fraternal insurance, holding that the financial secretary of a local lodge may bind the society by accepting dues after knowing certain facts which would be a fraud on the society by the insured if dues were accepted without that knowledge. This carried out the principle established in fire insurance that knowledge of the agent is knowledge of the company.

The leading liability insurance companies have increased their rates in England on workmen's compensation risks from 10 to 25 per cent., according to the nature of the hazard. Some of the trades to be affected are: Builders, engineers, sawmillers, lead workers, potters, painters, stevedores, briquette makers, woodworkers, packing-case makers, steam launderers and drivers of public motor vehicles.

The consolidation of the Washington Life with the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Company creates a group of 43,000 lives with an outstanding business amounting to $75,000,000 and an annual income of $4,500,000. It is expected that the merger will reduce the cost of the conduct of the business enough to save many thousands of dollars to the policy holders.

There are said to be indications of a substantial advance in marine insurance rates the present year, such an advance having already been made in England. The condition of the business for the past three or four years has been very unsatisfactory.

He Had Broken Something.

Mrs. Wilson had a young Japanese servant who had a habit of trying to conceal from his mistress any breakage of dishes of which he chanced to be guilty, says Success Magazine. The good lady explained that it was wicked to deceive, and directed the Japanese to tell her whenever he broke anything. The boy promised to do as she advised. One day, while Mrs. Wilson was entertaining some friends in the parlor, the Japanese suddenly appeared in the doorway. His teeth were bared in a childlike smile and his eyes sparkled with the light of conscious virtue.

YOUR CREDIT IS GOOD AT THE EASTERN

They're All Using the Eastern's Great Co-Operative Credit Plan

$1.00 Down 50c a Week CREDIT $1.00 Down 50c a Week

What does our great credit plan mean to you? It means just this. First of all an assurance that you are dealing with a house that can afford to extend you credit, a house whose financial integrity and long experience enables it to give you credit privileges without charging more than if you paid cash. It means that you can buy almost any piece of furniture in the store by paying $1 down and 50c a week. It means a relief from the high rents of furnished rooms. It means that you can furnish a home of your own, the payments on the furniture and rent of a house being no more than you pay now for stuffy, unhealthy apartments. This credit plan means that if you lose your position or fall sick we'll gladly defer the payments until you're financially fixed to take care of them.

Since we announced this new plan thousands of new accounts have been put on our books. Bear these facts in mind when you buy furniture: It is only a house like the Eastern that is financially responsible that can make such liberal terms and such agreements and live up to them. It stands to reason that a house must enjoy good credit itself before it can give satisfactory credit to its customers. We point to a record of seventeen years of fair credit business in Los Angeles. Never once have we swerved from our policy that no transaction is closed until the customer is satisfied.

We want you to take advantage of our credit plan. Won't you come in tomorrow and talk it over? Note these great credit inducements for this week.

Mrs. Robert J. Wynne.

Wife of the Consul-General to London Chats About the American Colony of London.

BY MARGARET B. DOWNING.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—"At the risk of being counted among the good Americans who want to go to London when they die, I must pay tribute to the methods in vogue in that great city," said Mrs. Wynne, wife of the Consul-General to London, a few days ago. "This city seems to be the choice of Americans who choose to live abroad rather than Paris, according to the old version of the saying. Two years ago a law was passed that all Americans residing in foreign lands must register at the consular office of their city. Otherwise at the end of seven years their citizenship lapses and they become men or women without a country. This law went into effect last year in London for the first time, and Mr. Wynne was amazed to find that over 5000 Americans lived year by year in the British capital. Of this great colony, some are there for social purposes, and their comings and goings and their grand fetes are duly recorded. Many prefer the calm existence which the British capital offers, while for artists, literary people and ambitious theatrical folks London is now the most promising field of Europe. Some of the most magnificent homes of London are kept up by American money, not only those of noblemen who have married American heiresses, but the mansions of distinguished Americans who prefer London to their home environment. The names of Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Drexel, Mrs. John W. Mackay and Mrs. Bradley Martin come readily to the mind, but there are at least fifty others less known on this side of the water who maintain princely establishments and dispense a hospitality which surpasses that of the old noblesse.

Mrs. Robert J. Wayne,
In her court presentation dress.

"But Americans in London do not form a social contingent of their own as they do in Paris, in Berlin, in Brussels, and in almost every other foreign city. It has been sarcastically remarked that nearly all the great ladies who have fled the United States to set up their homes in the British capital seem consumed by the desire to shun Americans. They are pleasant to each other when they encounter in the British houses, but there is no denying that they prefer English people to their own compatriots. Were it not for the constant and splendidly-planned functions of Ambassador and Mrs. Reid and some of the members of the embassy staff, Americans would never get together under one roof.

"When one gets accustomed to the British way of entertaining it seems the most pleasant method in the world. I say it is because the British have such excellently trained servants. They can never comprehend what the American hostesses have to endure. Many Americans who keep up big houses and entertain constantly in London bear testimony to the excellence of the system and aver that they could never stand the strain on this side of the water. Servants in many families descend from the generations back and are as deeply interested in the welfare of their employers as though they were members of the household. Such service does not seem that of hirelings, and the effect is discernible at once. Everything in a social way seems to run so smoothly. Dinner parties are just perfection. Each hostess appears to make it the mission of her life to give superlatively successful banquets. The companies are always small, never more than sixteen or eighteen guests, and if the principal ones are known to be of the quiet order then some popular wits are asked. There is a fine balance in the assemblage, always sufficient bright people to nullify the effects of the dull ones. The service at dinners even among those modestly placed as to social station or goodly possessions is exquisite. Whatever the British dinners of years ago may have been, short banquets are now as much in order as in Washington. But the affair never lags. Another difference between London dinner giving and the American method is that each host who asks a party to dine also makes provision for an after entertainment at the play, the opera or a concert. One invitation presupposes the other and invariably after the play comes a supper. So it is quite a long ceremonial to give a dinner party in London.

"During the season proper, it is tea, tea, tea. Everybody entertains at teas from 5 to 7, but there is as much variety in this so-called tea invitation as there is to the dinner party. No hostess in London ever holds receptions which in any way resemble the at homes of the Cabinet officers' or the Senators' or Representatives' wives. Invariably they issue cards for their least function, very much as the wives of the foreign diplomats do in Washington. Few hostesses ever ask more than fifty or sixty guests for the same afternoon, and they give several teas during the season, so that the entire visiting list may be exhausted. London great mansions have the drawing-rooms on the second floor, and the first usually consists of dressing-rooms, a dining-room and a room for card playing. The guest may pass from the front door into the dining-room, where all sorts of drinks and eatables are served and he may seat himself in the card room and enjoy bridge with some friends, and leave the house without even going near his host. No one would question it. But generally the guest proceeds upstairs, where the hostess and her husband receive without the train of attendants popular in this country. Here a pretty girl serves tea or chocolate and some wafers or small cakes. There is nothing else in the way of refreshment where the hostess is. But beyond the drawing-room is the music-room and some good artists are in readiness in the best London homes. One may hear Caruso or Calvé or Melba or some of the best monologue artists. The most popular ballet dancers from the music halls are often engaged for an hour or so at these functions. The company comes and goes at will. There is never a lengthy programme, after the manner of musicales in this country.

"Indeed, the delightful ease which comprehends almost every variety of amusement in one afternoon is the charming part of these teas. They lack every feature of a stilted entertainment, which soon bores the guests. Ofter people are asked to play cards, and they must go whether they feel inclined at the moment for cards, and when they are asked to a musicale they must listen for two hours to music and nothing else, if they elect to accept. It is delightful to go to a place and do exactly what you wish for the once. I think in this essential American hostesses can take a few leaves from the book of their British cousins. The British country life is another delightful feature, but one which borders very much on the country life which is becoming a vogue on this side. The tremendous class difference which exists in monarchical countries creates situations difficult to understand. This is particularly true in the country where the land owner is supreme with his tenants and retainers.

"I find the British character admirable in every way and the women are most agreeable companions. They are generally better informed and more interested in public affairs than American women. That is, I find more British women so informed than I do Americans. It is the rule in England for women to take this interest, and the exception in this country. We are fond of saying on this side of the water that politics is the man's game. British women converse well on all that relates to their particular sphere of influence. I likewise admire their way of educating their girls. Invariably a girl is kept under her mother's eye and taught by governesses until she is about 16. Then she goes to a select finishing school where not more than a half-dozen girls are studying. There she is given the extra touches in everything. The British, like most of the older countries, have little fondness for the higher education of women. College girls are looked on as eccentric in Great Britain. These finishing schools are admirably conducted. Everything is taught by the lecture system and learning lessons by heart, as the children put it, is unknown over there. By the lecture system a girl is taught to think and to reason things out for herself, a most valuable accomplishment in any walk of life. Yet I have never seen knowledge so highly rated as I have in London. A girl to be a success in London must have something more to recommend her than a pretty face and the drawing-room accomplishments. Fancy dancing is quite a vogue in many famous London homes and some of the most exalted grand dames do not scorn to entertain their guests by intricate dances. Nearly all the social leaders specialize in some way. They become noted as the conversationalists, musicians, wits, philosophers, artists. The result makes a highly cultured and most delightful social atmosphere."

Mrs. Wynne is spending the winter in Washington to present her lovely young daughter, Miss Ida Wynne, to society. Miss Wynne was presented at court last spring and she immediately became a favorite in the highest classes of society. She is of the petite brunette type, very sparkling and fascinating both in appearance and manner. She was among the belles at the début party of Miss Ethel Roosevelt, and has taken a part in the exclusive functions planned at officialdom for the President's daughter. Miss Wynne, like her mother, has only cordial praise for British society. She received nearly all her education abroad. She was several years in a private school of Kent, near London, and then passed a year at one of the famous pensions of Paris. She speaks French perfectly and has a fair knowledge of German. Miss Wynne is devoted to dancing and to music. She has taken dancing lessons from the most famous ballet teachers of London and Paris, and frequently delights her friends with a well-executed tarantelo or fandango. She is a fine pianiste and intends next year to study music in Florence.

SUPPRESSED NAUGHTY MEMOIRS OF FAMOUS ENGLISH BEAUTY.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Literary, social and political circles in England have been aflutter for the past few days over the news which has managed to leak out that the eagerly-awaited memoirs of one of the most famous titled English beauties have been suppressed. Almost before the printer's ink was dry on the proofs of what was expected to be the most interesting, because the most frank book of the century, powerful influence was brought to bear upon the daring authoress by representatives of a certain Exalted Personage who was said to figure rather prominently in the narrative. But the representatives found the noblewoman cold and unyielding to pleadings, arguments, threats and offers of money, and ultimately she was given up as an imposible proposition. Not so her publisher, to whom it was pointed out that persistence in his intention to publish the book meant ruin. He eventually saw the matter in that light and called all deals off.

The tabooed memoirs unfolded marvelous stories about royalties and society in the magic circle. There were tales of mysterious checks presented in high places by wealthy Jews and millionaire Americans, of social and political intrigues in the British War Office, incidents of marriages that were arranged in which the identity of the dramatis personae was so thinly veiled as to be easily pierced by any one even on the fringe of society. There were spicy stories of country-house parties in every chapter, and scandals of cheating at card tables, some of which were revived after having been buried for years. To put it mildly, the secrets revealed would have set the hair of the middle classes standing in end had they been read in cold print.

The book was compiled for a variety of reasons, the prominent one being that the author had quarreled with several members of the set in which she once was a bright and particular star. She also wanted money. Had the book been published, she and her publisher would have been overwhelmed by a golden stream. It is calculated that for each there was at least $500,000 in the book. "For not only would it have been bought greedily in the United Kingdom, but the Continent, America and the colonies would all have, so to speak, screamed aloud for it.

When the exact nature of the book's contents became known in high places, the influential relations and friends of the writer put pressure upon her and reasoned the matter out with her, saying that its publication would ruin absolutely every one connected with her. It was further explained to her that her very clever son's future would be nipped in the bud.

At first she emphatically declined to withdraw the book. "What did she care for royalties or society?" she exclaimed. "Had she not broken with the whole crew?" After this the publisher was approached and told that he would be branded for all time as a disloyal subject were he to allow the volume to be issued from his address. To an Englishman there is no deadlier insult than to risk being called disloyal. The publisher instantly caved in, generously saying he was willing to forego the fortune he anticipated making, as well as the loss of the substantial check he had already given on account to the writer. From that moment his main object has been to keep his own name out of the affair. Those who made the overtures said he would be in some measure recouped.

He then sent for the lady, and assured her that discretion was the better part of valor. He explained that much as he regretted the fact, he could not make himself responsible for the publication. There was a lively scene, but he held his ground.

In a week or two the author accepted the situation, but only on the condition that those responsible for the wihtdrawal should in some substantial degree make up for the loss she was sustaining through the suppression of the volume.

Meetings were held at the publisher's offices, with the result that a very handsome check changed hands. It is an open secret that the fund for this purpose was raised by some of the most eminent people in England. A definite agreement was signed, promising that the memoirs would never see the light, and that all further reference to them would be withheld from the press.

She Just Overtook Him.

A wizened little man charged his wife with cruel and abusive treatment. His better half, or in this case better two-thirds, was a big, square-jawed woman with a determined eye.

The judge listened to the plaintiff's recital of wrongs with interest.

"Where did you meet this woman, who, according to your story, has treated you so dreadfully?" his honor asked.

"Well, judge," replied the little man, making a brave attempt to glare defiantly at his wife, "I never did meet her. She just kind of overtook me."—[Everybody's Magazine.

L'ENVOI.

When Earth's last picture is painted and the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colors have faded, and the youngest critic has died,
We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it—lie down for an aeon or two,
Till the Master of All Good Workmen shall put us to work anew!

And those that were good shall be happy; they shall sit in a golden chair;
They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comets' hair;
They shall find real saints to draw from—Magdalene, Peter and Paul;
They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all!

And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame;
And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame;
But each for the joy of the working, and each, in his separate star,
Shall draw the Thing as he sees it for the God of Things as They Are!

Dr. McLaughlin

Tells How He Restores Vitality and Strength With His

Electric Belt

"You cannot possibly estimate the true import of the discovery of Professor Loeb," said Dr. McLaughlin yesterday, in discussing the scientific announcement that "Electricity Is Life."

"It means more happiness to the civilized race than has followed any discovery for years. It will bring about the general recognition of the great possibilities which exist in the application of electricity for the preservation of youth."

"We have for years contended that old age was nothing but the freezing of the blood when there was no longer sufficient vital heat in the body to keep the blood warm and the organs active. We have said that years did not cause decay, and have proven it by citing cases where some men have been made vigorous under our rejuvenating treatment at [illegible], while you have examples all about you of men who are old and decrepit at [illegible].

"G. W. Beers, of Long Beach, Cal., who is [illegible] years old, declares he feels like as young as when [illegible]. He says that our Belt has kept him young for several years. You ought to talk to him about it. He says he will be glad to tell anyone what we have done for him.

"Now, Professor Loeb says that the animal heat is Electricity. That we know to be true. We get that heat from the chemical action of the acids and juices of the stomach upon our food. That is combustion. This combustion produces carbonic heat, and carbonic heat is Electricity. That is the basis of life in every vital organ. As long as the stomach is able to generate enough of this heat to replenish the wear and tear upon our vital energies we are strong and active. It is when the stomach finds the strain too heavy that we grow old and begin to decay.

"This is upon the same principle that an engine pulls a train of cars up hill. On level road it goes easily, but when it goes up hill the strain is heavy, and your engine, making power from the burning of coal, just as your stomach makes it from burning your food, is taxed beyond its limit, is unable to go further, and, exhausting all its steam in the effort, breaks down.

"The human body is just like that engine. It breaks down when the physical energy is overtaxed. That energy is electricity. We have here a means of replenishing the electricity of the body, and that is the basis of my treatment.

"Years have nothing to do with it. In each case it is the failure of the stomach to generate sufficient energy to supply the demands made by the vital organs.

"How quickly we fail when the stomach fails to digest the food! That shuts off the supply of energy.

The Civil War has been treated so frequently as a setting for romance that it would seem a futile task to construct an individual novel out of such material. But, armed with a knowledge which shows sedulous days of study, and an understanding which could come only through a complete comprehension of conditions, Mr. Cable has made an excellent showing in the swollen ranks of Civil War romancers.

The characters, while in a few instances drawn with unusual vividness, do not convince. They charm momentarily by their hospitality and chivalry, their gentleness and warmth, but not one, except possibly the heroine, stands forth as a distinct creation of personality. The villain, a woman, is so completely villainous she is weak. Inwardly, we admire people who have positively no good traits, just as we despise people who are wholly good. The villain here is so consumately despicable that she provokes a sort of admiration.

On the whole, I have changed my mind concerning the worth of Mr. Cable's book. Despite its obvious weaknesses of plot, character drawing and style, it has merit. He has published it, and maybe it is better so.

Eloquent and Otherwise.

ORATORY OF THE SOUTH. By Edwin Dubois Shurter. The Neale Publishing Company, New York. (Price $3 net.)

Webster has said somewhere: "There are three requisites for real oratory: The subject, the occasion and the man," and the present book, which is the first of a series of similar volumes to be issued from time to time, intends to prove that the South has been blessed by many recurrences of this combination. The plan of bringing out this series, I am told, had its inception in the fact that the current oratory of the South has been little exploited, and, now that the fact is brought to my mind, I must confess that I recall few instances where there has been an endeavor to perpetuate southern speeches. As Prof. Shurter says in his preface: "While in books of oratorical selections we find represented noted southern authors of the past . . . since the Civil War, with the exception of Grady, public speakers of the South have received scant recognition. This is certainly not due to the lack of material, for the new problems of liberty, education and government that have arisen in the South . . . have brought forward their champions and expounders."

Prof. Shurter has divided the time from the fall of the Confederacy to the present into three oratorical periods. First, the period of reconstruction, which embraces the eleven years from 1865 to 1876. The South during this time was fettered by the restriction of civil freedom, and Congress—and the legislative assemblies, when permitted by the carpetbag régime—included all of the orators of that period. On page 131 Senator William J. Stone of Missouri, in his answer to Senator Warner, gives an adequate idea of the conditions which held free speech somewhat in abeyance.

Second, Prof. Shurter has allotted the twenty-two years following the period of reconstruction to the period of readjustment and reconciliation. At the close of the war numerous governmental and racial problems confronted the South. The readjustment of the prevailing conditions and the sectional reconciliations were problems which called forth many great speeches. Grady, however, stands as the most prominent and noted figure of this period.

Third, the period from 1898 to the present time Prof. Shurter has termed "Nationality." He explains the applicableness of this term by the great impetus which the Spanish-American War gave to national spirit in the South. Theretofore the public men of the South directed their efforts to the conditions at home, but after the war their attitude became national.

It is easy to see, by the foregoing segregation, that subjects and occasions to call forth Southern oratory were by no means lacking; and, since popular oratory has always been a trustworthy index to the opinions and ideals of the public from which it emanates, the present volume cannot help but reveal the logic of events in the recent history of the South—the viewpoint, the spirit and the ideals of the people.

As the compiler says, it would be impossible to include in a single volume, or in several volumes, all of the principal speeches of the South, or even speeches from the prominent orators of the South. Prof. Shurter's selection, however, is a little unique. Apparently he has not aimed to compile the best speeches from the best orators of the South. Rather has he made his selection that he might include all manner of speeches from all manner of orators on all subjects which have ever called forth words of praise or condemnation from Southern gentlemen. I turn from Mr. Breckenridge's "Jeffersonian Democracy" to an oration on literature, and from a whirling-dervish, fire-eating speech to a judicial, calm and intellectual appeal.

Prof. Shurter, however, has done away somewhat with the popular idea that the pyrotechnic and polyphonic in oratory are confined to that part of our country below the Mason and Dixon line. Also he has demonstrated, to me at least, that the North and the South essentially are one people. As a corollary, no part of our country has any dominating characteristics.

Each selection in the present volume is preceded by a few lines of introduction relative to the speaker, to the occasion and to the circumstances under which the oration was delivered.

Clever Mystery.

CORRIE WHO? By Maximilian Foster. Small, Maynard & Co., Boston. (Price $1.50.)

"Corrie Who?" is a book whose excuse for being alive lies solely in the fact that Mr. Foster has been able to sustain the interest in the mystery surrounding the young lady who does not know her own name. There are great melodramatic leads, but at just the time when the average writer would release himself, Mr. Foster has gathered himself in hand without so much as giving us a clew to the real outcome of the book. It escapes the classification of the quotidian mystery book, because its methods of development do not follow in the hackneyed track. There is no literary merit to the tale; it makes no such pretensions, I think; it is simply a clever, workmanlike piece of fiction by a popular union writer, who, to judge from his writings, works by the clock, draws his stipend and forgets his vocation until the next work day.

Corrie Robinson—she is not sure whether she has any right to the patronym of Robinson or not—resides as companion with an elderly woman of uncongenial disposition and unpleasant personality. The lady lives opulently, but has the infelicity to be named Pinchin. Corrie is given to believe she has a "past," and is admonished to ask no questions concerning her origin. However, Corrie has a nebulous vision of a brick house with green blinds and white pilasters that she associates with her real history, and with this slight clew, sets forth to untangle the mystery concerning herself.

An architect appears, whose story in a measure, crosses hers, and he aids her in the search for the old-fashioned house. He sends her to his own house in a moment of roguishness, and—the story makes great claims on one's credulity—this house is the one house in the whole of New York that holds the key to the mystery. Of course, the Pinchin woman—the name is enough—proves to be a triple-dyed and wholly dreadful villain.

Read it and enjoy it. Then feel ashamed of yourself for wasting your time with such trifles.

Musical Survey.

CHAPTERS OF OPERA. By Henry Edward Krehbiel. Henry Holt & Co., New York. (Price $2.50 net.)

By far the most important contribution to the musical literature of the past year, as well as the most important work of Mr. Krehbiel, is 'Chapters of Opera." The season of 1907-08 was the quarter-century mark of the Metropolitan Operahouse in New York, and through all that time Mr. Krehbie was the reviewer of musical affairs for the New York Tribune. As he says in his preface:

"I have been a witness of the vicissitudes through which the institution has passed in a quarter century, and a chronicler of all significant musical things which were done within its walls. I have seen the failure of the artistic policy to promote which the magnificent theater was built; the revolution accomplished by the stockholders under the leadership of Leopold Damrosch; the progress of a German régime, which did much to develop tastes and create ideals which, till its coming, were little-known quantities in American art and life; the overthrow of that régime in obedience to the command of fashion; the subsequent dawn and development of the liberal and comprehensive policy which marked the climax of the career of Maurice Grau as an operatic director. I have witnessed since then many of the fruits of wise endeavor and astute management frittered away by managerial incapacity and greed, and fad and fashion come to rule again, where for a brief but eventful period serious artistic interest and endeavor had been dominant."

Possibly there is no one living today who could have written a book of this kind covering the material herein embodied with the authority and accuracy of Mr. Krehbiel.

The first seven chapters tell of the earliest operatic performances in New York. These chapters are the direct result of personal research into the contemporaneous chronicles, and the author's unusual knowledge of them enables him to give an accurate account of New York's lyric drama up to 1883, the year that marked the opening of the Metropolitan Operahouse. In these chapters he begins with the introduction of the Italian opera in New York, the English Ballad Operas and Adaptations from French and Italian works. We are given a valuable account of the famous John Street Theater, the first home of Italian opera.

Leaving the opera homes of that period, which included the Bowery Theater, Niblo's and Castle Gardens, he introduces us to the early impresarios and singers, Da Ponte, Montressor Signorina Pedrotti and Fornassari. Of unusual interest is his recountal of the first Italian opera, "Il Barbiere di Siviglia." Here we get a little gossip of the singers—the account of Maria Garcia's unfortunate marriage, and of Lorenzo de Ponte's Hebraic origin and checkered career. Then came the building of Palmo's and the Astor Place, which also marked the advent of the Patti family. In the fifth chapter Mr. Krehbiel presents us with some humorous anecdotes of Max Maretzek and a description of his rivals and his singers. The famous and diplomatic Col. James H. Mapleson is given many pages, in which we have a very vivid word portrait of him. Of no little interest is the description of his persuasiveness, and the story of how he borrowed money from an irate creditor.

We now come to that important advent in musical history, the opening of the Metropolitan Operahouse, and the account of the first quarter-century of its existence is a brilliant and interesting piece of writing taken directly from Mr. Krehbiel's personal observation. The new operahouse is carefully described, and the war between the Metropolitan and the Academy of Music is related with a gentle humor which is charming. Operatic warfare existed in those old days just as it does today, and for the musical historian there is plenty of events and incidents to relate arising from the rivalries and animosities of singers. The first season at the Metropolitan will always be famous in the world of music. Gounod's "Faust," Ambroise Thomas's "Mignon" and Ponchielli's "La Gioconda," including in their cast such celebrities as Christine Nilsson, Sembrich, Scalchi and Madame Fursch-Madi, were among the first presentations given.

Following the account of the first season at the Metropolitan, Mr. Krehbiel surveys the season of 1883-84 at the Academy of Music. This was when Lillian Nordica made her American début and when German opera was first introduced at the Metropolitan. Mr. Krehbiel tells how Abbey's first disastrous Italian season was followed by seven seasons of German opera under Leopold Damrosch and Stanton. We get an excellent picture of Anton Schott, the military tenor, who called forth Von Buelow's characterization, "A tenor is a disease."

Of no little interest is the first season of German opera at the Metropolitan. The Italian opera at the academy was in its death struggles, and was shortly eclipsed by the German. Among the first German performances were "Tannhauser," Beethoven's "Der Freischutz," in which Marianne Brandt starred, "Masaniello" and "Die Walkure." It was at this juncture that the famous Doctor Damrosch died.

The remarkable history of the rise and fall of the German opera at the Metropolitan is told with a very sympathetic and partisan attitude. Mr. Krehbiel saw great possibilities in the German opera, and a great many of them were verified. The failure of the German opera is accounted for in the following quotation from page 207:

"To understand the story of the overthrow of German opera managed by the owners of the operahouse, and the reversion to the system which had proved disastrous at the beginning and was fated to prove disastrous again, it is well to bear the fact in mind that instability was, is, and always will be an element in the cultivation of opera so long as it remains an exotic; that is, until it becomes a national expression in art, using the vernacular and giving utterance to national ideals. The fickleness of the public taste, the popular craving for sensation, the egotism and rapacity of the artists, the lack of high purpose in the promoters, the domination of fashion instead of love for art, the lack of real artistic culture—all these things have stood from the beginning, as they will stand, in the way of a permanent foundation of opera in New York."

The season of 1891-92 marked the renaissance of the Italian opera. This was the year of stars, among the number being Lilli Lehman, the De Reszke brothers, Lassalle and Emma Eames. It will be remembered that this was the year of the great fire at the operahouse, and that when it was rebuilded there was a change of management. The meteoric careers of Abbey, Schoffel and Grau are here touched upon.

The season of 1893-94 will always be noted for the appearance of Melba and Calvé. At this juncture the vacillating public began to clamor for German opera, with the result that the German opera was restored at the Metropolitan in "The Scarlet Letter," "Mataswintha," and "Hansel and Gretel." The coming of Conreid was in 1903, and it was under his direction that the "Parsifal" craze grew. His administration did not conclude until 1905, which brings us to the catastrophe of the San Francisco earthquake.

A great many pages are devoted to Salome, and Mr. Krehbiel writes a long criticism of the work, from which I take the following extract: "There is not a whiff of fresh and healthy air blowing through "Salome," except that which exhales from the cistern, the prison house of Jochanaan. Even the love of Narraboth, the young Syrian captain, for the Princess is tainted by the jealous outbursts of Herodias's page. Salome is the unspeakable; Herodias, though divested of her most pronounced historical attributes (she adjures her daughter not to dance, though she gloats over the revenge which it brings to her,) is a human hyena; Herod, a neurasthenic voluptuary. A group of Jews, who are shown disputing in the manner of Baxter street, though conveyed by Wilde from Flaubert's pages, are used by Strauss to provide a comic interlude."

After this come the opening of the redoubtable Oscar Hammerstein's Manhattan Operahouse, and a survey of the first two seasons therein, which brings the narrative up to the end of the season of 1907-08.

Throughout the book the author seems to have been actuated by deep seriousness of purpose, and to have avoided therein everything which could not make for intellectual profit, or, at least, amiable and illuminative entertainment. Throughout the pages there are brilliant and comprehensive estimates of the operas, conductors and singers. Besides, the book abounds in human and humorous anecdotes, and there are seventy-two full-page cuts of artists and buildings.

Notable Memoirs.

THE REMINISCENCES OF CARL SCHURZ. Vol. III. McClure Company, New York. (Price $3 net.)

As a contribution to American history and to biography the importance of Mr. Schurz's work can hardly be over-estimated. A foreigner by birth, he came to this country early in life, prematurely developed by actual participation in the revolutionary disturbances in his own country. He at once became an American citizen in the truest meaning of the term, and later evolved into one of the greatest defenders of our institutions. In his reminiscences can be found a remarkable example of a manhood moulded in accordance with the ideals of democracy.

In the first two volumes of his work we get glimpses of his early life in Germany. His escape to Switzerland and ultimately to England is described, and his American career up to the Battle of Gettysburg. Death stepped in, however, before he completed his work, and Mr. Frederick Bancroft, aided by Prof. William A. Dunning, has completed the book by the assistance of a mass of material left by the author. The third volume deals with the political career of Mr. Schurz from the middle of Grant's administration to 1906, and is a concise and rounded account of the latter part of his life.

SHOP TALK.

Henry James asserts somewhere that a taste for Poe is a barbaric taste. But Henry James is an Englishman—a self-expatriated American—and, to use his own words in speaking of Merimée, his critical judgments bespeak a dogmatization of temperament—a temperament as stiffly conventional as Merimée's. The fact remains that Poe is the greatest literary genius America has ever produced. The nineteenth of this month will be his centenary, and to date arrangements to celebrate his one hundredth anniversary have been made in but five institutions, Columbia University, the Philadelphia Free Library, the Bronx Society of Arts and Sciences, the New York Authors' Club and the University of Virginia. This is decidedly a disgrace. Every educational institution and every literary club in the United States should in some appropriate way recognize Poe's centenary. Too long has the genius of Poe been enclouded in the invidious lies concerning his private life. Nine-tenths of them have been proved to be false, but, were they true, they have nothing to do with the work of the man. Let his writings tell the story of his life; "let the worms be his biographers." It is a popular practice to besmatter the names of geniuses with contumacy. A notable recent example of a similar injustice was exposed by Charles Edward Russell in his tender defense of the boy singer, Chatterton. Whether Poe was moral or immoral is beside the point. He is the most brilliant star in America's literary firmament.

Mr. Swinburne, while still in his lifetime, is on the list of rare editions. At a library sale in New York the other day a copy of his "Rosamond" brought the record price of four hundred dollars. At the same sale Shelley, Thackeray, and Oscar Wilde were shown in precious copies, but Mr. Swinburne was practically the only living author whose volumes commanded extreme prices. Some of the rarest volumes in this sale were those of Charles Lamb. Lamb's Tales from Shakespeare, illustrated by William Blake, by rare coincidence, was on view at the same sale. It would not be irrelevant to state here that Ambrose Bierce says a man who pays a large price for rare editions either is a fool or expects to meet one.

Mutabile semper femina! Dual personality has been rather a favorite theme of late years with the novelists who have not run amuck among the shadows on the spirit plane of psychics, and it is a curious fact that most of the writers who make fictional use of this fascinating problem unscientifically assume that the "good" phase of character must always be the real and permanent self. This, no doubt, is for the dear readers who refuse to pay unless it has a happy ending, so there, now. The average modern reader does not want logic, nor psychology, nor truth—only a happy ending; so all the hard-working union story writers acquiesce. But W. H. Mallock, author of "An Immortal Soul," takes quite an opposite standpoint, and surprises his readers by making his heroine turn out to be more the reckless, somewhat shocking young person than the girl of nunlike aspirations as she at first seems to be. It may be because Mr Mallock is a philosopher and psychologist, as well as a novelist and a poet, that his views awaken unusual respect, and that his story, far more than most of its kind, makes a man willing to look for a minute or two, at any rate, into the mystery of the human soul. Again, it may be merely his disgust for the stereotyped. However praiseworthy may be the former reason, I prefer to attribute his attitude to the latter.

In her latest story, "The Gorgeous Isle," Gertrude Atherton deals with the old question which is raging now, as to whether a drunken poet is more to be desired than a sober dolt. To instance cases today where the choice has been made would be to set the libel laws into operation, and to call down upon my own head many unpleasant remarks, so I discreetly desist. However, there is more than one popular bard at present whose song owes its music and imagery to the sweet havoc of the cup. Professor Hugo Munsterberg says that the situation which Gertrude Atherton has put into her novel is by no means unlikely in the circumstances. In an interview the other day Miss Atherton stated that the young poet, Byam Warner, of "The Gorgeous Isle," was a composite character drawn from Ernest Dowson, the unfortunate genius whose music came sweetest from a brain maddened with drink, and another man of great fame who is living today, and who, since his reformation by a well-meaning friend, has been unable to write inspired poetry. German scholars are studying now this phase of alcoholism and are almost ready to declare that some brains need wine to release their genius.

Yesterday Doubleday, Page & Co., published a new novel by Thomas Dixon, Jr., entitled "Comrades." This book is somewhat out of Mr. Dixon's usual vein. It seems a son of a wealthy family one evening goes to seek amusement in a socialist meeting. So impressed is he by the fervency of the speaker that he becomes a "Comrade." The book is one of Mr. Dixon's literary shingles for padding things he does not like.

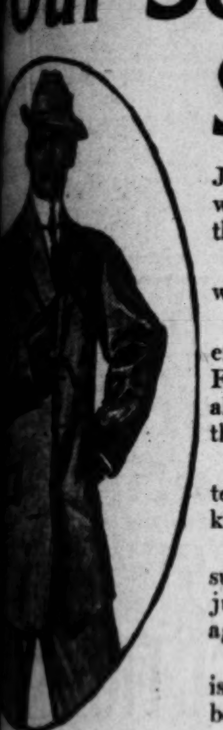
Have You Attended Our Semi-Annual $10 Suit Sale?



Just imagine having choice of a whole clothing floor, whether it be suits, overcoats or cravenettes, and paying the one price for every garment, $10.

It makes no difference whether the former price was $18, $25 or $30, the price to you is $10.

This sale began Thursday and will continue several days. The values have never been approached. First, because popular priced suits have been in demand all season, thus leaving our stock heavily loaded with the better grades.

As for the cravenettes, you wouldn't ask for a better selection anywhere. Blacks, dark grays, and you know how practical they are for this climate.

Men who came expecting to look purchased both a suit and cravenette. If you haven't attended this sale, just step into the department Monday and take advantage of this sensational price event.

Owing to the rain in the early part of the sale there is more of a selection now than there would have been if the weather had been bright and fair.

Storied Ground.

Hampstead, Highgate and Haverstock
Hill;
Ellisland acres which Burns did till;
Dumfries, Abbotsford, holy Melrose—
Makes a man tingle from crown to toes
Just to be wishing he might some day
Visit those shrines in lands far away.

But—if that pleasure is not for him
Maybe he'll find there is broth to skim
Right where he is, if he'll open his eye
And just read the stories that round him lie.
That's all Dickens and Robbie Burns did—
Turned to the near pot and lifted the lid!

Kindness makes an impression where culture fails—sometimes. A lady, visiting in the home of a minister of decided literary taste and ability, entertained a caller one evening during the absence of the family. The minister became the subject of the conversation, and the caller remarked: "I have saw more abler preachers, but the' hain't none on 'em no better-hearted 'n him!"

Daddy's Assets.

Dimple Cheeks, Dimple Cheeks, bless your heart!
Stand by your daddy, take his part.
He's having a tough old time, my lass,
Working to make things come to pass.
Mamma's a jewel, but what would dad do
Dimple Cheeks, Honey Bud, without you?

Dimple Cheeks, Dimple Cheeks, God bless you!
Some days daddy feels mighty blue.
Sees others dig who get on fine—
Daddy digs, too, but—O, Sunshine!
Daddy's a fool for getting blue,
For he's got mamma and he's got you!

Time tried to plow deep furrows on a man's face, but he did not succeed very well. "Too much good nature there!" muttered the old plowman.

Grandfather Owl's Advice.

Said little Miss Linnet
Playing scales on a spinet:
"Oh, dear! how do folks ever learn
Sonatas that double and turn
In a maddening mix-up.
I never can fix up
My fingers with any such skill;
They simply won't wriggle
Through the higgle-te-piggle
Of one little tremolo trill."

Said Grandfather Owl
'Twixt a smile and a scowl:
"Just buckle down—tu-whit!
And do it!"

An Egyptian King erased many old inscriptions from the monuments and caused his own name and deeds to be written thereon. "The world shall know that I have lived," he said. Centuries afterward men came and read the inscriptions. "The conceited old villain!" they exclaimed.

Music and Manners.

Minerva played a tarantelle.
And I suppose she played it well,
For all the folks the country through
Who think they know a thing or two
'Bout music, were agreed that night
That she had done the thing 'just right.
"How heavenly!" "She's got the touch
Of Paderewski!" "Charming! Such
Magnificent technique!" "Ah, yes,
And her interpretation. Bess!
She's got the true musician's soul;
I felt it through my being roll
The moment she began to play!"
"Her execution's perfect!" "Say,
Aunt Isabel, where do you think
She got her talent? That old 'blink,'
Her father, never seems to know
A nocturne from a bugle-blow;
And her mamma is as obtuse
In music as an old gray goose!"

They seemed to think I couldn't hear,
And I'll admit that I've one ear
That sometimes plays me false; but I Caught their remarks and didn't try
So very hard to get the drift
Of all their clatter, either. . .
Miffed?
Oh, no! The music in my soul
May never have waked up, the whole—
Well, five and sixty years I've been
A-living in this world of sin;
But I learned manners in my youth
From mother and my old Aunt Ruth
And somehow seems to me I've got
The better of that ill-bred lot
Of music folks. So I don't hold
No grudge against them. I've been told
That music people often get
To be a nervous, cranky set.
Minerva's got her manners yet,
But I've been watching of her well
Since she jerked off that tarantelle!

Stories of Arabic Surgery.

Among the Arabs and the Moors every European traveler is supposed to be a doctor of medicine and a surgeon. The healing art is the only one upon which they boast themselves, and it is perhaps the one of which they know the least. Walter B. Harris, in his account of a journey to Tafilet, tells the story of a wonderful operation in surgery as it was reported to him by a native doctor who was traveling in his company.

I think the old man fancied that I doubted his skill. At least, he was always holding forth upon the subject and continually repeating the story that when in Algeria he had been offered a fabulous salary—the sum varied each time the tale was told—to remain in charge of the military hospital at Algiers, an honor which he had declined.

He never tired of narrating the facts and details of his most successful operation. There is a sect in Morocco called Hamacha, who are followers of a certain saint buried near Mekines. These devotees amuse their audience—and themselves, too, let us hope—by throwing into the air heavy cannon balls, which they allow to fall on their shaven crowns. On the occasion in question a Hamdushi had unfortunately been wanting in religious power, for the cannon ball crushed his skull.

My old sherif friend had been called to the rescue. According to his account he removed the broken patch of skull, replacing it with the rind of a green pumpkin, and closed the skin over it. In a month's time, he said, the patient was not only convalescent, but was once more hard at work practicing his religio-acrobatic feats with not only a remodeled and renovated skull, but even a new crop of hair.—[Youth's Companion.

Afternoon Tea for Employees.

Serving of tea in the business houses in large cities is becoming quite the fashion, and in New York the custom is already generally observed in the offices of Wall street banking concerns and in a number of Fifth avenue antique shops. Its popularity is spreading and even in busy Pittsburgh time is taken to serve tea to employés. The Equitable Life has been serving tea and cakes to the attachés every afternoon at 4 o'clock for some time, after which the business of the day is finished.

Tea drinking during business hours is an old English and Russian custom and its adoption in this country has proved to be highly beneficial, not only as a diversion, but it tends greatly to relieve mental strain. Those who have taken up the practice say that no time is lost by it, as a cup of tea is beneficial, refreshing the clerks and enabling them to get out their work more expeditiously.—[Exchange.

PERSONALITIES: Gossip of Interesting Persons the World Over

HEREABOUTS.

JUAN J. ENCINAS, who holds the position of inspector of stamps, one of considerable importance in the Mexican government, is registered at the Nadeau from Ensenada, Lower California. He is accompanied by Thomas Lamadrid, proprietor of a Mexican information bureau at San Diego, and also a lawyer of Ensenada. Mr. Encinas expressed a firm belief in the greater prosperity of Mexico during the year to come, than ever before. "The American interests are beginning to develop properties in our country again, and a large influx of American settlers is expected this season, owing to the opening of immense tracts of fine land which have been taken over by companies from the United States and are being irrigated and tilled. The district in the northwest of Mexico is so much the same as that of this section, particularly of Imperial Valley, that it has a great future, especially that part of it which is tributary to the new railroad." Speaking of his particular office, Mr. Encinas explained that nearly all goods of any description sold in Mexico have to bear a tax stamp. In cities such as Ensenada, or those directly on the border, the office corresponds to a degree to that of a revenue collector in this country. Both the Mexican gentlemen are well acquainted in Los Angeles, and are here to look after personal interests.

J. S. Leeds, Chicago manager of the Santa Fé Refrigerator System, is staying at the Hayward. He is one of the oldest employés of the Santa Fé, having been connected with the company for forty years. In that time he has seen many changes, particularly in the handling of freight. He is here now to inspect the pre-cooling plants of the Southwest, which in the last year have almost revolutionized the shipping of citrus and other fruits to the East. "The stride has really been a remarkable one," said Mr. Leeds. "It has meant the saving of thousands of dollars in icing charges alone, in addition to being a much better method of handling the fruit." Before leaving the Southwest, Mr. Leeds will visit all of the packing districts. He is a guest of Chief Clerk Fred L. Presbry.

W. P. Lynch of Chicago is staying at the Alexandria while here on pleasure, as well as in the interest of the Catholic Order of Foresters. Mr. Lynch is one of the best-known fraternal men in the Middle West. He has held high offices in the Elks and the Knights of Columbus. He is making reservations for himself and a number of friends for July, when they will attend the national convention of Elks.

R. A. Perry, general manager of the North American Dredging Company of San Francisco, has been passing a few days at the Van Nuys. Mr. Perry is one of the large dredging contractors of the Pacific Coast, and has had considerable of the dredging of San Francisco harbor in hand. His visit here is occasioned by a desire to see the progress made at San Pedro.

Among the prominent guests at the Alexandria during the week have been Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hinton. By the general public, Mrs. Hinton is well-known as Katherine Goodson, pianist, who played at the Auditorium on Friday evening. Mr. Hinton, although it is not commonly known, is a strong composer. His "Triumph of Caesar," "Butterflies," "Spring Blossoms," are classics. He is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music under Prosper Sainton, M. Sauret and F. W. Davenport, as well as of the Munich Conservatory. The home of the Hintons is London, where they will return after a trip north along the Coast.

H. M. Ives, a colonel on the staff of Curtice Guild, former Governor of Massachusetts, is one of the late arrivals at the Angelus. His home is in Boston, where he is connected with a number of theatrical enterprises. His visit is entirely for the benefit of his health.

E. J. Gibson, division superintendent of the Santa Fé at Winslow, Ariz., accompanied by his secretary, L. A. Mullarky, is staying at the Hollenbeck. W. A. Stevens and George Wismer, who are interested in lumber milling at Seattle, are staying at the same hotel.

Susan M. Smith, is a tourist guest at the Hollenbeck. She is well known in Boston religious circles, having for several years acted as superintendent of the Sunday-school work of the First Presbyterian Church there.

W. L. Park, well-known in railroad circles throughout the West, is registered at the Hayward. For a number of years he has held the position of general inspector of the Union Pacific with headquarters at Omaha. He has been making an inspection of the new tracks being laid across the Sierras, and is spending a few days here visiting friends.

Mrs. R. A. Blair and her daughter, Marian, are guests at the Angelus, where they have taken apartments for an extended sojourn. Mrs. Blair is the wife of an iron manufacturer of Detroit.

J. V. McCantry, a publisher of Boston, Mass., is spending a few days at the Angelus.

John G. Kerr, a prominent citizen of Denver, has registered at the Lankershim for several months' stay. He has large mining interests in Colorado and a few scattered ones in the southwest. Mr. Kerr is prominently identified with the Republican party in Denver.

Among the tourist guests at the Westminster, who have registered for the entire winter are: Miss Clara M. Kellog and Miss Elizabeth Elser, young women well-known in society in Wisconsin. Their homes are in Oshkosh. Marcus Younker, his wife and son, L. M. Younker, form another party. They register from Des Moines, Iowa.

W. H. Sibbald, chief clerk at the Alexandria, has been confined to a hospital for several days, threatened with pneumonia. Late reports indicate that he is well on the way to recovery.

Kirk Harris, proprietor of the Hotel Hamlin, San Francisco, who was a delegate to the convention of the Western Hotel Men's Protective Association at Salt Lake City, last week, is staying at the Hayward for a few days. His wife is with him.

Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Coe, of Spokane, have taken apartments at the Lankershim for a long stay. A. B. Houser, a retired manufacturer of Oroville, O., accompanied by his wife, is at the same hotel. Mr. Houser may make this city his home.

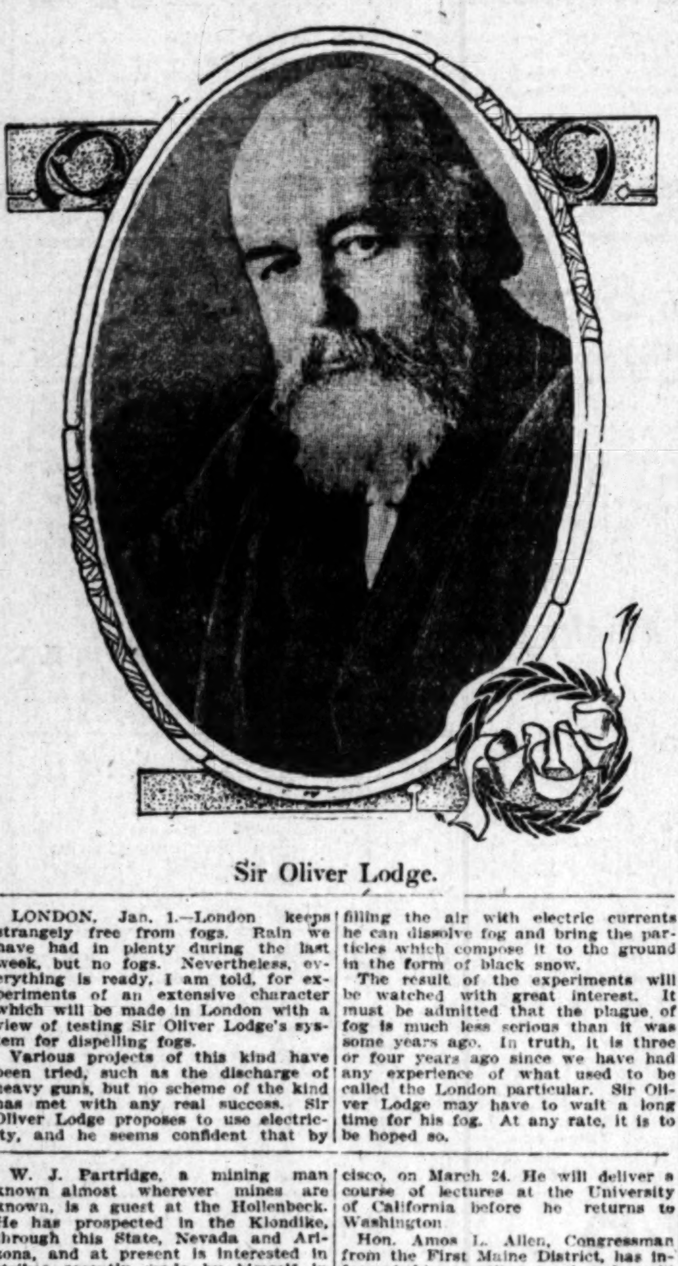
A party of New York people registered at the Van Nuys, has come here to spend the winter. At the head is George Bradford, a broker. With him is his mother, Mrs. E. H. Brinley. D. Guthrie and wife are also in the group.

Joseph Rose, Jr., an automobile dealer in Salinas is staying at the Nadeau. Emanuel Estado, who has mining interests in Mexico, is a guest at the same place. He registers from Mexico City.

B. F. Miller of Searchlight is staying at the Hollenbeck. He is proprietor of the Nevada Transportation Company of that place, running a number of automobiles to and between the surrounding mining camps. E. H. Duffield, a mining engineer of Williams, Ariz., is also staying there.

Hugo Victor, an agent of the Southern Pacific, with headquarters at Williams, Ariz., is at the Westminster. J. E. Blacburn, who has been instrumental in the colonization of large tracts in Texas as well as in Mexico, is also there.

WAIT FOR ELECTRICITY TO DISPEL LONDON FOG.



Sir Oliver Lodge.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—London keeps strangely free from fogs. Rain we have had in plenty during the last week, but no fogs. Nevertheless, everything is ready, I am told, for experiments of an extensive character which will be made in London with a view of testing Sir Oliver Lodge's system for dispelling fogs.

Various projects of this kind have been tried, such as the discharge of heavy guns, but no scheme of the kind has met with any real success. Sir Oliver Lodge proposes to use electricity, and he seems confident that by filling the air with electric currents he can dissolve fog and bring the particles which compose it to the ground in the form of black snow.

The result of the experiments will be watched with great interest. It must be admitted that the plague of fog is much less serious than it was some years ago. In truth, it is three or four years ago since we have had any experience of what used to be called the London particular. Sir Oliver Lodge may have to wait a long time for his fog. At any rate, it is to be hoped so.

W. J. Partridge, a mining man known almost wherever mines are known, is a guest at the Hollenbeck. He has prospected in the Klondike, through this State, Nevada and Arizona, and at present is interested in strikes recently made by himself in Sonora, Mex.

Lieut.-Commander H. G. Baker, U. C. Cheyenne, has been spending a few days at the Alexandria, while here visiting friends. H. B. Lynn, who has mining interests near Goldfield, is staying at the same place.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

A. E. JOHNSON of Chicago has been made a commander of the Royal Order of the Vasa by King Gustaf V of Sweden, as a tribute to his service as Consul-General for Sweden in New York. About a year ago he was created a knight of the Royal Order of the Vasa of Sweden and the Royal Order of the Dannebrog of Denmark.

Capt. John H. Clark of Council Bluffs, Iowa, has just retired as official court reporter after nearly forty years of continuous service. He is the oldest court reporter in Iowa.

John H. Hannahan has resigned as Grand Master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, to become vice-president of the American Automatic Stoker Company.

Peter McCullough, who stands before the Maxine Elliot Theater in New York, is 6 feet 10 inches tall, 29 years old, and weighs 276 pounds. He is a native of Ireland and a member of the English Corps of Commissionaires, which is made up entirely of one-time non-commissioned officers in the English army. They number some three hundred and are under the supervision of a lieutenant-colonel in the army, who is detailed by the War Office of London for that purpose. Each man puts up a bond of $500, and none except those with exemplary records are taken. They wear a distinctive uniform of dark blue, and retain their service chevrons and decorations.

James Thomas Giblin of Jersey City, for thirty-five years a switchman in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has recently been pensioned on the occasion of his seventieth birthday. During his whole period of service he never once crossed the ferry and visited New York.

Dr. and Mrs. Waldemar Jochelson have left New York City on a tour of exploration in Alaska. The expedition is financed by Theodore P. Riabonschinsky, a Moscow banker. Dr. Jochelson recently did some work in Siberia for Morris K. Jesup, president of the American Museum of Natural History.

ARTISTS.

RALPH WALDO SIMS of Delphi, Ind., is pronounced one of the most promising young sculptors of the country. He displayed his ability at quite a young age with both the pencil and the chisel, winning in this way the attention of Larado Taft of Chicago who soon had him in Chicago as a pupil. His first real work was a model of a slave's head and a lion.

Albert Herter, the noted painter and mural decorator of New York, is to paint a great drop curtain for the new Denver Auditorium, the contract price for which is $10,000. The curtain will be one of the largest in the world, and Mr. Herter's composition for it will be an allegory of independence.

STATESMEN, POLITICIANS.

SIR WILFRED LAURIER, the Canadian Premier, is said to be responsible for a great shifting of old partisan conditions. It used to be that Ontario would be solid one way, and Quebec the other way. Now Laurier gets the support of a great part of the once stalwart Conservatives, who used to hate the very name of Liberal, and at the same time he has the almost unanimous backing of the French Catholics.

Senator Hale's election as Republican leader of the United States Senate, which carries with it the chairmanship of the Senate Committee on Appropriations, formerly held by the late Mr. Allison of Iowa, recalls the fact that out of the forty-one years that the Appropriations Committee has existed the chairmanship has been held for thirty-two years by Senators from Maine and Iowa. The Maine predecessor of Mr. Hale was Senator Lot M. Morrill.

James Bryce, British Ambassador to Washington, will be the guest of the Commonwealth Club, San Francisco, on March 24. He will deliver a course of lectures at the University of California before he returns to Washington.

Hon. Amos L. Allen, Congressman from the First Maine District, has informed his constituents that he will not seek another term.

Prince de Bearn et de Chalais has temporarily assumed the duties of secretary of the French Embassy in Washington to supply the place vacated by the transfer of the Viscount de Chambrun to Paris. Prince De Bearn will act in this capacity until April 1 next, by which time a permanent appointment will have been made.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

REV. MISS VON PETZOLD, who has taken the pastorate of a Unitarian church at Des Moines, Iowa, has the distinction of being the first woman to occupy a pulpit in Germany. She is a graduate of Manchester College of Theology at Oxford, Eng., and became pastor of the Unitarian Church at Leicester, Eng., as her first charge.

Miss Ester Voorhee Hasson, who has been appointed chief nurse in the United States navy, will have charge of a corps of 100 nurses, which are to form a nucleus for a larger corps to be added in case of war. She was chosen by the medical board of the United States navy on account of her long service and eminent fitness for the position.

Miss Elizabeth Russell, who founded the Kwassui girls' school at Nagaski, Japan, in 1879, celebrated her seventy-first birthday a short time ago. She is still connected with the school, where she does the work of three people. Beginning with a handful of girls, the school has grown until at present the enrollment is considerably more than 100. It numbers among its graduates some of the best-known women in the Japanese empire, several of whom traveled many miles to show their respect and gratitude to their old teacher at her birthday celebration.

Mrs. Lee De Forest, daughter of Harriet Stanton Blatch and granddaughter of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, has opened a factory in Newark, N. J., for the manufacture of electric condensers, a thing which no woman has ever attempted before. She is a graduate of Cornell in the electrical engineering course, and the only woman member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Mrs. Melisa Houston, the once handsome Indian wife of Gen. Samuel Houston, first president of Texas, is living alone in her tepee on the bank of the Washita River, at the age of 114 years. She is a full-blooded Kiowa, and at one time was a belle of the famous tribe of warriors. Gen. Houston lived among the Cherokee tribe when he was quite young, but later came Southwest and cast his lot with the Kiowas and married Melisa. Aunt Melisa owns a fine tract of land and many head of horses and cattle.

EDUCATORS.

PRESIDENT ANGELL of the University of Michigan has just celebrated ihs 80th birthday, and wears his years very lightly. He has been at the head of the University for thirty-seven years, his record in this respect being surpassed only by that of President Eliot of Harvard. He was a professor at the institution for eighteen years previous to being made president. In 1880 he was appointed Minister to China, and in 1897 he served for one year as Minister to Turkey.

Rev. Nathan E. Wood, D.D., who has been president of the Newton Theological Institute for nearly ten years, has been succeeded by Rev. George E. Horr, editor of the Watchman. Dr. Horr was born in Boston and is a graduate of Brown University, for which he was prepared in the public schools of Newark, N. J.

Stanley C. Reese of Pittsburgh has been elected to the rank of Fellow by the Council of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The honor of Fellow in the American Association is bestowed only upon such of its members as are professionally engaged in science, or have by their research work aided in advancing science. It is the highest distinction conferred in this country for original investigation.

Prof. Abby Leach of Vassar College has been honored by the Mikado of Japan with a distinction which comes to few and which has never before come to an American woman. It is the custom of the Japanese Emperors to present cups of gold or silver or lacquer to those whom they wish to honor, and to Miss Leach his Imperial Majesty has sent a golden cup in recognition of her services to the cause of education. The cup is of solid gold, very heavy and of graceful design. It came wrapped in a double square of Habutai silk, of a kind made only for Imperial use, while the box is of chrysanthemum wood, which is also dedicated to Imperial use. Inside the bowl is engraved a chrysanthemum, the Imperial emblem. Miss Leach is a native of Brockton, Mass., and the daughter of a shoe manufacturer of that city.

Miss Anna Prichett of Louisville, Ky., who has been appointed to the chairs of economics at Wellesley College, has only passed her 25th birthday, and is the youngest member of the Wellesley faculty.

Dr. Edwards of the Carnegie Institute is now in Shanghai getting ready to make the first magnetic survey of China.

PEOPLE OF THE COAST.

R. A. S. Encarnacao, a singer of Oakland, has received the badge of knighthood in the Portuguese order of Our Lord Jesus Christ from King Manuel of Portugal. Encarnacao sang before King Carlos in his palace at Ponta Delgado in 1901. The King was greatly delighted with the singer's voice and then promised to honor him in the near future.

Jack Dalton, known as the man who made the Dalton trail, has arrived in Seattle, crippled with sciatica, and unable to make use of his legs.

Joseph Schmidt, 64 years, of Plaza, Wash., is registered as a pupil at the public school in his town. He is learning to pronounce the English alphabet. He is a successful bachelor farmer and an old pioneer of that part of Washington.

Prof. Charles M. Strong of the University of Washington will accompany the Edwin S. Curtis party to New Mexico as interpreter, the object of the party being to gather material for a history of the Indians of the North and Southwest. At least three years will be required for the work.

Conductor Boles, on the Salt Lake and Ogden Railroad, near Delano, Or., noticed a person trying to flag his train one day last week; when the train came to a standstill he found, not a highwayman, but his wife, who had ridden from Mayger, three miles to get him to come home and kill a skunk which she had shut up in the chicken coop. Boles knocked off and dispatched the intruder.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

CAPT. WALTER D. WEBB, medical corps, has been retired by reason of disability incident to the service, as a result of his recent examination for promotion to the rank of major. He has lately been stationed at Duluth, Minn.

Lieut.-Col. Weaver, chief of the militia division, thinks a field is opened up in this country for employing retired regulars in the Field Artillery by engaging them to care for field artillery material issued to the States. Col. Weaver in his annual report mentions one militia battery where there are fourteen retired regular soldiers employed in the armory and enlisted in the battery, some acting as non-coms. He recommends that if States apply for non-commissioned officers or privates on the active list of the army for such duty the request be honored, and that the number of enlisted men in the army be increased by the number so detailed.

Lieut.-Col. Tarney, army medical corps, has been nominated by the President for surgeon-general of the army to succeed Surgeon-General R. M. O'Reilly, who went on the retired list, January 14, by reason of age. Lieut.-Col. Tarney has been stationed at San Francisco, but is now in Washington. He entered the service as assistant surgeon, June 26, 1875.

Lieut.-Col. W. L. Finley, the new chief-of-staff of the Department of California, has arrived in San Francisco. He has been a member of the general staff since 1902, and was serving with the Thirteenth Cavalry when assigned to that position. He has served in the Philippines twice, once with the Ninth and again with the Eleventh Cavalry.

OVER THE SEA.

LORD PLYMOUTH, who is not only a collector of art treasures, a writer on art matters, but also a painter of no mean skill in both water colors and oils, owns one of the finest houses in London. The walls of the big hall are faced throughout with Penarth alabaster from his quarries in Wales, the floor being laid with green and white marble squares, while beautiful white alabaster columns have the effect of removing any trace of severity in the architectural treatment. In fact, the entire mansion is an artistic and stately creation of beautiful marble and alabaster, and there is scarcely a piece of furniture, from the odd circular table of malachite in the big music room, to the tortoise shell table in Lady Plymouth's boudoir, which is not a work of art.

Gen. Botha has presented to the Transvaal Museum the Boer flag which waved above the government buildings at Pretoria until the capital was occupied by Lord Roberts.

Lady Truscott, wife of the present Lord Mayor of London, is a handsome woman, with two beautiful daughters, and these ladies of the mansion house, as the official residence is called, will no doubt carry out the well-known traditions of the place, Lady Truscott having had already much experience as a charming hostess.

M. Leroy-Beaulieu, the eminent French economist, estimates that the private fortunes of the French nation represent a grand total of 225,750,000,000 francs, or £9,030,000,000.

ROMAN ART OF ETRUSCAN ORIGIN.

By Hector Allicott,

(Of the University of Southern California.)

Students of art will be deeply interested in the recent discovery by Prof. Hempl of Stanford University, who has succeeded in finding the key to the Etruscan inscriptions. He will doubtless now be able to unlock the mystery of the origin of Roman civilization.

In a lecture recently delivered by me at the University of Southern California I pointed out the curious fact that all of the architectural sculpture and pottery unearthed on the Palatine Mount and Esquiline Hill, belonging to the period of the Seven Kings—whose reigns preceded that of the republic—was Etruscan in character. The objects are found in such numbers, and were of such nature as to preclude the possibility of their having been brought there from some distant place. It is evident that they were executed on the spot where found, and had been long used by the inhabitants. Why, therefore, should this art of ancient Rome be Etruscan in character unless the first settlers upon the Palatine Mount were of Etruscan origin?

The temple of Ceres in Rome, was according to Varro and Pliny the first structure decorated by Greek artificers. Prior to its erection—these same historians state—all the work of that character had been executed by Etruscan artists exclusively; a fact confirmed by no less an authority than the great Vitruvius. Practically all the early historians, including Dionysius, Varro and Pliny—held that the Etruscans were the earliest settlers, the people of authority, the most ancient inhabitants of Latium, as well as the most cultured.

In the sixteenth century there was unearthed near the Forum, on the southwest side of the Basilica Julia, a pedestal bearing the inscription "Voltumnus Temporibus Diocletiani et Maximiliani." Now "Voltumnus" was the first and chief diety of the Etruscans, and the Basilica Julia stands in the "Vicus Tuscus"—the "Etruscan Quarter."

The mason's marks on the wall of the Palatine Mount, which was the original settlement of Romulus, according to tradition, are of Etruscan character. Under the Servian Wall on the Esquiline Hill were found fictile vases of Etruscan workmanship, and similar objects were discovered under the Arch of Gallienus, together with bronze mirrors, statuettes, coins and scarabs.

The insignia of office worn by the Romans, the sandals, "tunica palmata," and toga are Etruscan, as well as the symbolical crown, called the "Corona Etrusca." The Cloaca and the quays, while larger and more imposing in construction, are similar to their prototypes of Graviscae, a purely Etruscan settlement.

Numerous examples of similar character could be cited establishing beyond all question of doubt the fact that the art of ancient Rome, under the Kings, was either the product of Etruscan workmen, or executed under their influence and training.

From whence did Romulus and his companions come? This question would seem to have been answered by these archaeological discoveries, and will doubtless be confirmed by Prof. Hempl's investigations. Either they came to the Palatine Mount by way of the sea, or migrated there from neighboring settlements. The ancient Romans were not a seafaring people. All their early efforts at conquest by water were unsuccessful. They must, therefore, have come to the strategic Mounts of original Rome from the lowlands of the South, and there intrenched themselves against the attacks of the warlike Italic and Celtic tribes. We have on the American continent an example of this segregation from the parent stock in the migration of the Utes southward, separating themselves from the great Sioux nation of the Dakotas.

It is not difficult to picture a body of young and ambitious Etruscan warriors, dissatisfied with their rulers, breaking away from tribal associations, and establishing themselves elsewhere. This hypothesis would be confirmed by the circum

He soon be- pet, and was greatly all; even by many who never before having cared for a dog. Naturally, both mother and son became very much attached to Folly, as he was called. The mother in the meantime had a long and severe illness, and had not fully recovered when her son was obliged to leave her. Having no relatives near enough to come and be with her, it seemed as if the little spaniel was the only living thing left, and she was accordingly much attached to him, and feared some ill would befall him, being unable to take proper care of him herself.

"Therefore, when a woman known but a short time, but seemingly very friendly, and evidently a genuine lover of dogs, offered to care for him till such time as she (the invalid) should be able to go into the country, where she could have him constantly near her, she finally, though with much reluctance, agreed to loan him for a time. There was no misunderstanding, as she frequently was heard to say to the woman that she would never give him away, and that no money could buy him; in fact that he was not hers to give, but her son's, who expected to send for him as soon as possible.

Now comes the sad part of the story as to the frailty of human nature.

This woman, who was what might perhaps be termed a "dog faddist," decided to keep the dog. In order to do this it was necessary to deceive the owner and every one else who questioned in regard to him. The first "white lie" necessitated the second, and numberless others, not so white, later. For months the poor, little fellow, naturally so active, was kept inside or chained, severely punished if he attempted to run away, and stuffed with meat and sweets, till even dog nature could stand it no longer, and he died, without doubt, of distemper.

All this for pure covetousness, without one thought for the mother unable to even walk about the house, grieving for her loved one, and holding precious anything which he had loved.

I have been thus particular in the narration of this little history, every fact of which can be substantiated, to show you how far away from truth and kindly consideration and sympathy the pursuit of one idea—even the love of a dog—will lead, and that it does not follow that a lover of animals is also a lover of human kind.

But let the heart be filled with love, that love which overflows and goes out instinctively to all humanity; then it will also go out to all helpless, afflicted, suffering ones, whether human or animal.

Do not for a moment infer that I think any one of these to whom this is particularly addressed could have been so cruelly unkind as was the woman of this story. What I do think is, that in your ardor for the cause you represent, you have failed to understand or realize there could be "another point of view."

May I say to you, dear editor, that this little discussion has deepened my conviction that we need to be loyal first to Each and All—its pledge, its work of helpfulness to all who need our help, so far as we are able—then to the particular work which lies nearest our hearts, or that we are fitted to do; and that for myself I will use my best efforts so to be and do. I appreciate more clearly, too, the difficulty of bringing into harmony so many different departments, differing so widely in their aims, and, therefore, in their varying activities. But we are young, and new and strange to one another. Be patient with us still, and we shall yet become welded into one harmonious whole, of which we hope you may be proud.

A New Year Greeting.

Hope Russell sends the girls of our society beautiful New Year greetings:

Dear Girls, All: May I at this late date send you a word of greeting for the New Year? To so many of us the holiday season is but a reminder of days that are past; of home and friends and happy Christmas gatherings now impossible. Sadness creeps in, and oft-times the tears as well. Such were the days just before Christmas, though I was trying to gather courage and cheer enough to send to you a thought remembrance, and assure you you were not forgotten.

To you, dear old Margaret, with your weary days of effort to provide for your daily needs; to you, dear little woman of San Fernando, lying so helpless and suffering while the dear babies are longing to tell you their Santa Claus secrets; to you, dear ones all, woh are sad, or alone, or in need, or shut out from the Christmas joy for any reason whatsoever.

To you, dear, faithful helpers all, who are giving so much of your time and thought and effort to helping so many who need your help, and who are, I know, most grateful, though often silent from lack of knowing how to tell you of it; to you all, I send greeting.

There, before the words were uttered, came a friend of the long ago, and carried me away to two long weeks full of joy and gladness; full to the rim with kindly attention and care, and little tokens of remembrance from dear, thoughtful friends, near and absent. Now, my heart is so full I must tell you about it; and I wish that I might give out to you some of the sunshine which has been given to me—sent out from the great heart of sympathy and love, which is ever throbbing in the world, even though so often hidden by the many cares and struggles and trials of life.

Believe me, you are not forgotten, even though you receive no evidence of remembrance.

So, dear girls all, catch the glimpses of sunshine that are reaching through the clouds, and the radiance will warm your hearts and help to dissipate at least some of the lesser ills of life, which too often encompass and almost overwhelm us. A happy New Year to Each and All.

A Kindly Offer.

L. S. of Los Angeles offers her leisure time to Shut-in members. She writes:

"I see in this morning's Times the request for some one to take care of two kittens. I would be glad to do this. I have been a member of Each and All Society for some time, but do not attend the meetings. Where and when are they held?

"I would also like the address of any shut-in or invalid that would like some one to come and read to her. I have plenty of time and lots of books. Also would be glad to do anything else that I can."

It is a dear, unselfish heart that has prompted the above kindly offers. The list of local shut-in members has gone forward to her.

Another New One.

A little Monrovia girl, whose initials are S. M., joins the ranks of the Each and All girls.

"Please put my name down as a member of your society. I accept your pledge and inclose my name and address. I receive The Times, and the first thing I look for on Sunday is the Each and All page. I would like to have some of the members write to me. I will answer all letters promptly."

We shall certainly and with pelasure inscribe your name on the roll of Each and All Society. Will some of our younger girls offer to correspond with this new member?

EACH AND ALL MOTTO.

Golden thoughts, golden deeds,
Rid life's garden of its weeds.

OUR PLEDGE:

"To make one another happy, to lighten one another's burdens, to share one another's cares, to be lifters, not leaners, to make the world a little sweeter place to live in, to be mutual encouragers, never discouragers of any one, to start congs, not complainings, and to do every day something beautiful, some kindness which will cheer and strengthen another."

The acceptance of this pledge and sending of name and address to the Each and All department of The Times entitles any girl to the privileges of this society. There are no dues of any kind whatsoever. The official pin of The Times Each and All Society, represents the California poppy. Any chapter may be joined by sending stamped envelope with letter in order to put the applicant in communication with the chairman of the chapter.

"BLOSSOM" AGAIN.

She Presents Some Profitable Observations Coupled With Good Advice.

A while ago "Bouncing Beth" regaled us with a little feast of mirth-provoking thoughts, and enjoined jolly joking—jest for the fun of the thing, as it were. Since then we have been left rather in the lurch for bits of nonsense, relished by the best of women as well as men, methinks. And I am wondering what truth there is, anyway, in this assertion: "One of the queer things about a woman's sense of humor is that she is apt to take herself seriously." Do we or do we not take ourselves seriously in these matters? I think we are indebted to the typesetters for some unconscious humor on our page and I believe to some of us the results seem more odd than funny. Did you smile, as I did, to note the incongruity when the types made me say "refreshes" where I meant, and am quite sure I wrote, "expresses?" Maybe this is the long-suffering mortals' way of encouraging us to send in typewritten copy, a thing all would gladly do if we could. Meantime, let us resolve to write as legibly as we can, in the hope that we may not look too ridiculous in print.

Since sharing with you the little rhymed prayer that closed with the wish that each might be granted her heart's desire, I came across this definition and pass it on: "What is it that really is heart's desire? It is friendship, approval, love; it is success, satisfaction, gladness of soul."

I am reminded that our editor's invitation is still open which bids us reveal the "manner of discharging their obligation of that part of the pledge which commends that they do something beautiful every day." And when about to enlighten her, I am confronted with this pointed quotation: "After you have been kind, after love has stolen forth into the world and done its beautiful work, go back into the shade again and say nothing about it. Love hides even from itself. Love waives even self-satisfaction. 'Love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.'"

This attitude is more or less natural for many of us, so to generalize may be better, for then one speaks broadly, impersonally. Thoughtfulneses seems to be the keynote to fulfilling this part of the pledge. Cultivating and manifesting intelligent sympathy for all with whom we come in contact, can create more real beauty, both spiritual and material, than anything else I know of, and I do not mean "with whom we come in contact" in any narrow sense, for there are the sick, needy and sorrowful whom we ought to minister to aggressively, so I am not using the phrase with a purely passive significance. Blind sympathy cannot bring the beauty into the lives of our fellows nearly so much as will what I term the intelligent brand, hence I lay stress on the word. By example and precept let us replace negative courses with those which are positive and wholesome, then see what beautiful things shall be done daily by each and all.

We are all busy with character building. But what kind of character is it in course of construction? How will it bear the tests that mark its worth and power of endurance? The "something beautiful every day" will be anything which makes for noble, unselfish character.

And having looked at the subject thus, it is like the gardener preparing his patch of earth and choosing the best possible seeds to plant, for he knows the beautiful flowers will later appear, if properly tended. So with our seed-thoughts we know beautiful deeds will inevitably ensue under such stimulus as Each and All abundantly offers.

There is not a doubt in the mind of the editor of this department that every girl of the Each and All Society lives up to every part of her society pledge every day of her life. It should not be deemed vaunting if they tell us here in our own department, how they seize upon the opportunities that must come up each day for discharging pledge obligations.

About the Authors.

Would-be Authors' Chapter held its first regular meeting for the year on Friday, January 8, at the home of Mrs. L. S. Mitchell, No. 345 Clay street. There was a good attendance of members, a very pleasant afternoon was spent planning and outlining the work of the chapter for the year. The next meeting will be Friday, January 22, at the same time and place. We would be pleased to have those interested in our work to meet with us then and enjoy the programme of the afternoon.

Calendar of Meetings.

Carmenita Juniors at 3:30 p.m. Monday, January 18, at No. 1764 West Twenty-second street.

Reader Chapter at 2:30 p.m., Thursday January 21, at No. 1764 West Twenty-second street.

Would-be Authors, at 3 p.m., Friday, January 22, at No. 345 Clay street.

Invalid Cheer, at 2 p.m. Tuesday, January 19, at No. 1412 West Temple street.

Offers Helpful Hints.

Mrs. L. D. of Burbank is always deeply interested in the work of the Each and All girls. She writes:

"As faithful K. S. F. has called the roll, I am going to respond. I am not a backslider, but have been so very busy the past months that I could not devote the time I would have liked for writing for the Each and All page. I always include in my New Year's resolutions one to answer all back correspondence. Of course, the holiday season is a busy time for us all, although we may not be in circumstances to give as we would like. It takes time even to prepare a few simple home-made gifts, write postals, etc.

"I am on a ranch and have about seventy grown chickens to care for, and four little ones I am raising by hand.

"I have enjoyed reading the many excellent letters which have appeared on the page Sunday after Sunday. What would we do without our dear Marguerite Winnifred's encouraging and cheerful letters? She fully displays her beautiful character when she finds pleasure in being poor. How much happier many of us would be if we could look upon it in the same light. Many are made unhappy because they cannot follow the latest fashions, and purchase expensive and beautiful materials, but many a faultlessly fitting gown covers an aching or broken heart. The "simple life" is the one out of which the most happiness is derived, after all. Leaving the bustle and throng of the city and wandering out into the country one seems to come in closer touch with God. Here everything is beautiful, the growing grass, wild flowers, and trees laden with fruit and flowers and the song of wild birds that fill the summer-like atmosphere.

"I am so glad that the dear Each and All girls made poor Margaret so happy. My sympathy also went out to her.

"I would take pleasure in sending a few helpful hints if they would be of any service to the Juniors or to the Invalid Cheerers.

"One is how to make a scrap-book for a baby or very young child, one that could not be destroyed, and another is how to make some simple bedroom or invalid's slippers out of a straight piece of material. Then, I have some oher helpful ideas that I would be pleased to pass on.

"I have inclosed a letter, which was sent ot me, and I thought it would be a good idea to pass it on to the writer girls. It may be a great help to them, and I cannot take advantage of the offer at present.

To keep abreast of the rank of Each and All society is a good New Year's resolution to make. The letter you inclosed shall be forward to the chairman of the Would-be Authors.

For a Southern Shut-in.

This appeal is made for another by an old lady, Mrs. M. B. of Wide Water, Va., who has learned of the good work of the Each and All girls.

"Dear Each and All Group: I wonder if a Virginian sister will be let in. First of all, let me wish you one and all a happy and prosperous New Year. I sometimes get the Los Angeles Times and I surely do enjoy it.

"Friends, I am endeavoring to help an aged and refined old lady who is homeless and penniless. I am going to try to help her to be happy as best I can. She seems to ache all over. She has worked herself down. I will share my home with her as best I can. She needs and asks for what I have not money to buy and it cannot be purchased at the one and only store near us.

'She wishes a belladonna plaster, Benson porous plasters and bottle of fig syrup; also a pair of electropodes (metal insoles.) This is something new. I never heard of it till I saw it advertised in The Times. If it does all it is recommended to do, it surely would mean untold joy and comfort to her, for she for years has suffered with all the ailments that these electric metal insoles (electropodes) are said to cure.

"Surely, dear friends, you will feel happy in trying to help this dear, old shut-out."

The address of this member may be secured from the editor of this department. Such simple wants should not be permitted to go unfulfilled.

Margaret's Chickens.

X. Y. Z., through whose efforts the dilemma of Margaret and her flock of chickens was brought to the attention of readers of this department, sends the following:

"Dear old Margaret is beginning to count her chickens before they are hatched. Most of us are just like her in that respect. Some time I think it is a good thing we are, for is it not the essence of hope? And what is life without that mainstay? But of Margaret's chickens.

"This dear old woman's flock is filled with the spirit of good resolves, and two of the biddies have taken to their nests, there to stay until two big (let us hope) families are added to Margaret's flock.

"She needs the book on fowl that one of our girls said she might have, and I think, too, she is in hopes another hen will follow her two sisters' example so she may have that promised setting of eggs.

"A kind neighbor owning a vacant lot adjoining the chicken yard has knocked off a board or two from the fence, so the flock has a good place to run.

"Margaret says: 'Please don't forget to thank all those good people who helped me, whenever you meet them. I wish I could do something for each and every one of them.'

"Later on I'll send you word how the new families progress."

Every girl of our society and many other readers of our page as well are interested in Margaret's chickens, and so the above news of her and her flock is most welcome. The literature on fowl and the setting of eggs will probably arrive in good time.

For the Good of Many.

Catharine Thomas is not entirely opposed to vivisection, and gives her reasons:

"Just to express an opinion I beg leave to make a few remarks upon the subject of vivisection. I am sensitive to the needs and sufferings of dumb creatures, yet cannot cry against vivisection. The few animals—or humans—must suffer for the good of the many.

"If my baby lay dying, and a physician of ability said: 'Your child can be saved, but only by employing a remedy the knowledge of which was gained through the practice of vivisection.' I would answer: 'Doctor, save my child.' Let those of you who are mothers crush a living throbbing little form to your breast and feel upon your cheeks the touch of baby fingers and upon your lips the fragrant rose-leaf kiss of baby lips and then answer me, am I wicked?"

As has been said before, there isn't a subject in the world that cannot be argued both for and against. Vivisection has its advocates and protestants. Mother love, however, cannot be put in the balance with any other sentiment, for its stands first and alone.

Wants and Offers.

L. S. will visit shut-in members and read to them; has plenty of leisure, and lots of interesting books.

Mrs. L. D. of Burbank, Cal., offers to give simple directions for making bedroom or invalid slippers from straight pieces of material.

An old lady of Wide Water, Va., who is a shut in, and very poor, would like a pair of electropodes; also some plasters.

F. C. P. of Pomona will give magazine pictures suitable for the making of scrapbooks to any one wishing them.

There is a call for second-hand books of piano instruction by some one who is instructing a number of poor children in music. The address of the writer who asked for these will be given upon request.

Mrs. H. J. C. will do darning and mending, or mind little ones while mothers are shopping or calling.

Mrs. I. Q. offers a good home to a refined girl. She will also teach her a good trade.

Mrs. A. E. L. offers to pass on articles of clothing, etc., to needy ones.

Boys like stories of adventure, of war and stories. Boys never care to girls' books, but lots of girls to read boys' books.

A bright little girl, whose name is Brown, is a weekly visitor to library. This little miss is only 8 old, but she is in the fourth at school; she has excellent taste in literature, selecting all of her own books. She always brings her six-year-old brother with her to the library, and he shows much interest in his sister's selection of books. When a book is decided upon, Isadore and her little brother find a cosy nook in the library, and then sister reads a chapter or two of it to little brother. In this way they decide whether they will like the book enough to take it home. "Black Beauty" was the one selected by this little reader on her last visit to the library, and she announced that she was sure little brother would love the story.

Another little girl who visits the library always insists upon getting a book that is a story about a little girl just her own age. Nothing but this will satisfy her; and this miss is only 11. It is a perfectly natural want, however, for a little girl to want to read about another "just her own age."

Then, there is a little self-constituted monitor who visits the library. Her visits are very prolonged. She eyes all other little visitors very closely, and when she spics one appearing a bit timid or uncertain, she slides up to her, and inquires very concernedly and quaintly: 'Have you read the 'Little Colonel' books?" and without waiting for the ceremony of a reply, she adds: "Oh, you want to read 'em, right away." and then the little stranger feels more at home after this little chat, even if she doesn't take to reading the "Little Colonel" books. But this series has initiated many little folks into the delights of the juvenile department, through the influence of the little monitor, who confides to the library ladies that she wishes she were a boy, so she could be a library page and put the books back into the shelves. Her ambition, however, is to read all the books in the juvenile department, and when she grows a big lady she is going to have a library of her own.

The boy visitors at the library show a very friendly spirit toward one another, but they employ none of the diplomacy of the girls. In recommending a book, a boy will expressively announce to another, "Gee, that's a swell book," or "That's simply a dandy story." A book is generally taken on these recommendations alone.

One boy, who is a regular visitor to the library, simply cannot be coaxed to read a book written by a woman. Some book has caused this young hopeful to lose faith in the woman writer, evidently, and this lad is only 13 years old. A book was recently offered to him by Miss Beckley, who said, in proffering it that it was a splendid story, one according to his taste, and one she was sure he would enjoy. The book was "Boys at Pigeon Camp," by Martha James. He dutifully took the book from Miss Beckley, and said, "I guess it is a good story, all right," and he glanced through the pages, and then back to the title page, then tragically pointing to the name of the author, he said: "But don't you see, Miss Beckley; it's written by a woman!"

A little red-headed boy is content with nothing save books of travel. A High School boy has a perfect mania for reading anything and everything pertaining to the days of chivalry and romance. He has read everything the children's library has to offer on the subject, and so Miss Beckley, went on a still further hunt for him, and brought out something from among the reference books, which is now so old that it is out of print. This book was a perfect joy to the boy, his delight amply repaying for the effort that was made in getting it for him.

"Children, especially boys, like to have attention paid to them," says Miss Beckley. She also says she finds all the little visitors to the library very tractable and good at taking kindly advice with regard to their reading. Teachers have the greatest influence upon the reading of their little pupils. "My teacher told me to read this book," is repeatedly heard at the library, and "My teacher told us the first part of this story, and so I want to read the book." These are real compliments from the little people to their teachers, which will be appreciated. Miss Beckley says the children take wonderful care of the books, and she only wishes all of their books were brand new, for these seem to give them such rare delight. Their honesty, too, is perfect, for they always remind the attendants when a fine is against them for keeping a book overtime.

An interesting story is told of a little girl of 11, who tried for a prize offer by a Broadway firm, for the child who would make the greatest number of words of letters composing the firm name. For weeks this little one visited the library every day, and toiled long and earnestly with the big, fat library dictionary, until in an ecstacy of joy she finally made 500 words from the firm name. Then she announced that she would surely get the prize. But disappointment was in store for the little maid, for a girl out in Pasadena was the winner, making 2200 words from the name. "Just think, Miss Beckley," she tearfuly said, "after all that work, I hadn't even a quarter of what that Pasadena girl made."

One of the library boys has read thirty of Munro's works, and is anxiously awaiting others from his pen.

The children who patronize the juvenile department range from 7 up to 15 years of age. They are all provided with two cards just as older folks. The pink cards they designate as their "true" cards, and the white ones of course are for fiction.

The children of the Grand-avenue school an dthe little messengers of the Hamburger store run up for a visit to the library during the noon hour, and the little city "newsies" go up at night to read and enjoy the stereopticon views. Over 100 views of twenty-five countries are contained in these.

Miss Beckley states that she would be able to accommodate the children much better if all the schools were not employed in the same studies at the same time. She has not sufficient copies of the same books for all of them, and thus some must do without.

The library folks of the juvenile department are anxious to have more of the children of the poorer class visit the library and read there. Many of these have a great many little brothers and sisters at home, which makes reading at home almost impossible without interruption, and so a cordial invitation is extended to these little folks to come and read at the library.

Since the balloon and airship excitement in Los Angeles it is impossible to keep books treating of these subjects in the library, there is such a steady and insistent demand for them—which shows the boyish mind is also busy with these problems.

The old-time fairy tales are just as much in demand as when they were first written. All of the fairy tale books are well thumbed up, showing that they have been read and have given delight to hundreds of children. A renewal of these is always sent with the yearly book orders.

True Stories of Los Angeles Babes.

A scarlet-fever sign was put upon a house by the health officer not long ago, and a few days afterward a little boy who lives in that school district came to his teacher and said: "Say, you know that house where they have put a scarlet-fever sign? Well, we boys were walking past there this morning, and the boys all wanted to walk slow and see if we would catch it. John and Ted loaf round there all the time; they want to get it so they won't have to come to school."

In a large school there is just one colored child. She is a great favorite with all the other children. When the medical inspectors were examining the children's eyes she did not know just how to take it, and being at a loss as to what might happen to her, she walked up to a little boy and said: "Will you please hold my hand?"

One day the district nurse heard some of the children fussing among themselves as to who should be the last one to receive treatment from her. Upon her asking why they all wanted to be last it appeared that they wanted this in order to escape that much study. The nurse thought she would impress the need of study upon them, so she asked one of them what he was going to make when he grew up, meaning what kind of a man. Quick as a flash came the answer, "A living."

Another time a little boy was making a great fuss about a little pin scratch, so when he came to the nurse she said: "Were you making all this fuss about a little scratch? Where would you be if you grew up and went to war and got shot?" Instantly came the reply, "In the hospital."

Another little fellow had never seen plants grow. So when he planted some seeds and the little green leaves were just peeping above ground, he was very much excited, and ran to his teacher and told her that the seeds he planted were "just busting the ground open."

Two little cousins were playing about the house one day, when a neighbor came in to visit with the mothers of these little ones, and speaking of some one said, "He has lots of dough." After the friend left one of the little ones asked what they meant by saying any one had lots of "dough," and was told that "dough" was money. A few days later came baking day, and the children were given some dough to play with. They disappeared for a short time, but soon came back very crestfallen. One said to her mother, "Mamma, what made you tell me a story?" The mother said she did not, but was soon enlightened when the child told her that she tried to buy some candy with the dough she had. "But the man got mad and told me to get out of the store," she explained tearfully.

Little Prince's Christmas Present.

The railroad train, the real railroad train, the one with engine and cars and tracks, is the plaything that goes nearest, after all, to every boy's heart.

What is probably the finest toy of this kind ever constructed is a fully equipped and perfectly working train, which was built and put together by a leading firm of London toymakers, on a special order from King Edward of England. This real train was presented to the King's little Norwegian grandson, Olaf, as a Christmas present.

The toy is probably the finest of its kind that ever was constructed, and would be the delight of any boyish heart. It is a perfect model of a complete railway system in miniature, and one of the most beautiful, and it certainly must be one of the most expensive ever made.

The train consists of an engine, baggage car, guards' van, first, second and third-class cars. It starts from a perfectly constructed, little country railway station, and travels over well-laid tracks, through green country, over viaducts and bridges, through tunnels and alongside of canals, on which boats are plying. Its progress is halted at intervals by automatically worked signals, and it cannot enter a new section of line until the arm at the nearest signal post drops and announces the next block to be absolutely clear of traffic. Every detail of a perfectly managed railway system is duplicated, and an accident is rendered almost as difficult as on an actual railway. It is reported that the cost of this toy is up in the guineas represented by more than three figures.

Fun from the Tots.

Lady: What do you want, my little man?

Little Boy (carrying a cat:) I want that $5 you offered as a reward for the return of your canary bird.

Lady: That's not a canary; it's a cat.

Little Boy: I know it, but the bird's inside.—[Judge.

Mother: I hear you were at the foot of the class last week, Tommy.

Tommy: 'Twasn't my fault. Johnny Smith, who's always at the foot, was sick at home.—[The Circle.

Sunday-school teacher: Now, who can tell me what a miracle is?

Polly: Please, teacher, mother says it will be a miracle if you don't marry the curate.

"Here, ma," requested the boy, hurrying in from school before time, "hang my jacket up behind the stove."

"Is it wet?"

"No, but teacher sent me home to tell you to warm my jacket for me."—[Judge.

His father had found it necessary to rather severely chastise Robert, aged 5. The little chap came running to me with resentment in his heart.

"Auntie," he sobbed, "did God make you?"

"Yes, Robert," I answered.

"And did he make ma?"

"Yes."

"And did he make me?"

"Certainly, my boy."

"And did he make pa, too?"

"Of course he did."

"Well," sobbed Robert, sadly, "that's when he made a mistake."—[The December Delineator.

Love.

(Received inspirationally.)

There is a power in space so vast,
Pursuing us like the bugle's blast;
This thrilling, throbbing, pulsing sea
Beats back and forth eternally.

Each little sand grain on the beach
A mighty lesson to us doth teach
Of patient trust in God's great plan,
Purposely drawing out what is in man,

With giant strides o'er the billowy crest,
The white caps dashing against his breast;
His hand at the helm and God at the wheel,
Not a soul need feel timid, not a life need keel.

But steadfastly sail in life's ocean so blue,
Guided there by the hand so faithful and true,
Though storms and tempests might dash us about,
They could not disturb the within or without.

For infinite strength is the stay at our back,
Infinite good the power for each act;
Peace, peace the lever to steer us along,
And love is the king that sits on the throne.

GOSSIP OF THE FOREIGN STAGE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Dec. 30.—So far as my memory serves me Joseph Hart is the first American to butt into the Christmas entertainment field here. His "Polly Pickle's Pets from Petland," a one-act phantasy especially designed for the children, has been put on at the Coliseum with Hart himself in command. In coming to the big London vaudeville house he joins his wife, Carrie de Mar, who is still in the bill, and is now referred to as "the inimitable" by her ever-increasing band of admirers. As performers many American actors and actresses have taken part in the English pantomimes in the past, and are included in the casts this year, but Hart is the only American producer to invade the field which English managers have grown to regard as exclusively their own. Some of them are lying awake nights now wondering if this is a beginning of another Yankee invasion.

Curtis Brown's four-act comedy, "Management," which was loaned to the English Play Society for its two initial performances, was given before large and apparently appreciative audiences at the Kingsway Theater this week. The first night went off especially well, and the author had to bow his acknowledgments. The play evidently rubbed the critic of the London Times the wrong way, however. The comedy deals with the humorous aspects of the difficulties in which an energetic and overconfident young girl is likely to involve herself and every one else by undertaking to manage others folks' affairs without sufficient experience. Madge Titheradge was to have played this difficult role, but, unfortunately, was too ill to go on with the rehearsals, and Miss Dorothy Desmond had to take the part at short notice, and in face of great difficulties. Many distinguished people saw the play, including the King's sister and brother-in-law, the Duke of Argyll and Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll. Sir Charles Wyndham and some of the other London managers were also present.

"Pinkie and the Fairies," which Beerbohm Tree is presenting at His Majesty's Theater, is remarkable for the inclusion of an astonishingly good child actress. For the sake of advertisement the name of this young actress was withheld until the opening night, she being referred to on the programme as "a young lady who makes her first appearance on any stage." Although only 10 years of age, and small for her age, she dances with ease and grace, and speaks her lines so pleasantly that she quite relegates to the background Ellen Terry, Marie Lohr and the other eminent members of the great company, which Tree has brought together.

At the conclusion of the opening performance, in response to insistent applause and calls, Tree led the little girl before the curtain and introduced her as Elise Craven. It is said that she has been an accomplished actress almost from her cradle, but that her parents have refused to allow her to appear publicly until now. She is a slight, golden-haired child, of singular beauty, and her playing of the part of the queen of the fairies is a joy to the beholders. She has taken London by storm, and already it is impossible to get a seat in the house for the month of January and, although hundreds of applications are pouring in, the management have refused to book any farther ahead than that.

I don't know whether or not you realize it, but a new honor has been chalked up against you. It seems that the now famous "Danse des Apaches," which has become the rage in Paris, and threatens to put the Merry Widow waltz out of business in England, originated in the Bowery. This has been discovered by Michael Morton, the playwright, author of "Her Father," and "My Wife," and part author of "The Richest Girl." Already it is being danced in four of the principal variety houses of London and I hear that half of the pantomimes to be produced within the next week will include it as a feature.

London is keenly interested in the news that William Faversham is attempting to arrange an appearance here in "The World and His Wife." Of course, the English rights in that play are controlled by Martin Harvey but it seems very probable that Faversham will be able to secure an annulment of the contract. Strange as it may seem, although Faversham is an Englishman, he has never appeared in London except as an amateur. Before he went to the United States his professional appearances were confined to the provinces.

Slowly, but surely, the vaudeville sketch, as you know it in the United States, is making its way into English favor. It has been a hard fight and even today it is a complete success only in those houses which are frankly run on American lines, such as the Palace, or which draw upon a class of people who have traveled and can appreciate the worth of a clever idea even if it does come from the brain of a "bloomin' foreigner." The Empire has taken the lead in the new vogue and for a long time included in its excellent bill a one-act playlet translated from the French, called "After the Opera."

Its latest effort in the same line is called "A Blank Check," and is from the pen of that popular novelist, William J. Locke. It has to do with a happy-go-lucky Irishman who has spent a term in jail, unjustly accused of robbery. His wife believes him guilty and, during the time he spent behind the bars, tried to forget him and win her way back to social favor, she having considerable money of her own. When the husband comes out of prison he goes to the United States and finally establishes his innocence. Neglecting to tell his wife, but carrying the proofs in his pocket, he returns to England and presents himself at the house of his wife. Gaining her presence he asks for forgiveness, even though he is guilty. She at first refuses and begs him to go away and leave her, but eventually repents and asks him to stay. Just as they are in the midst of a reconciliatory kiss the telephone rings and the solicitor tells the wife over the wire the good news of her husband's vindication. The title of the play is derived from an incident of the piece in which the wife, before she had pardoned her husband, thinking he came for money, gave him a blank check. He filled it in with the words, "Pay to bearer, his wife's love," and handed it back to her.

JOHN AVA CARPENTER.

Literary Criticism.

"Have you read much of the work of Mr. Humbell, the eminent dialect poet?" we ask our friend, the litterateur.

"Not so much of it," he responds, grumpily.

"You should. You will be impressed by his erudite expression of the common impulses and thoughts of man."

"Bah! I cannot endure his verse. Why, what I have read of it is wretchedly misspelled. The man cannot be of even ordinary intelligence."—[Chicago Post.

They were seated together in a downtown restaurant.

"What is your favorite dish?" he asked, as he picked up the bill of fare.

"Oh, I don't know," she replied; "but if you are going to present me with a dish, anything in sterling silver will be acceptable."—[Chicago Daily News.

and sold, taking strict advantage of the acute fluctuations of the local markets.

The modus operandi consisted in these confederates demanding double the face value, then more, and ultimately giving any price demanded. The banias thereupon bestirred themselves to ascertain the meaning of all this excitement, when the gang circulated the information in strict confidence that some workmen employed at the Calcutta mint had purposely mixed several sheets of gold in the alloy.

FISHFAGS SWINDLED.

The sole topic of conversation in the shops along Bentinck street and Chandney was centered upon the issuance of these new bronze coins. The onion-wallahs even asked their patrons to sell them 1907 pice; the fishfags in Naya Bazaar and Pataldanga were unanimous in demanding these pice from customers; servants of several establishments actually melted down these coins with a view to extracting the gold, and at every street corner excited crowds bid for the coins at public auction.

Some ingenious Marwari or Bengali, bent upon making a profit by cheating a gullible public, employed several agents and provided them with money. These mingled with the crowds at the street corners where bidding was keenest, and bought and sold the coins at enormous profit. The banias, who are ever on the lookout for bargains, thinking that some mistake must have been made in regard to these 1907 pice, eagerly bought them, only to find out later that they had been mulcted by a gang of clever swindlers.

Another party of sharpers played upon the credulity of ignorant countrymen, by selling them what purported to be currency notes. A Manchester manufacturer turned out a number of cotton handkerchiefs stamped with a fac-simile of an Indian government currency note. These sharpers at once saw their chance and hundreds of simple folk were swindled thereby, until the government, hearing of the ruse, prohibited these kerchiefs being sold.

SCOPE FOR SWINDLERS.

It seems inconceivable that Indian fakers can so brazenly dupe an unsuspecting public, and it is also past understanding how the government will allow fakirs to torture themselves thus in that land of mysticism. Yet when we consider the vastness of India with its 300,000,000 souls; its teeming millions of ignorant and illiterate natives, we can fully realise what scope there is for swindlers and ascetics to ply their nefarious and barbarous tricks to such advantage.

From time immemorial the Indian fakir has been celebrated for his ingenuity in making his earthly pilgrimage as uncomfortable as possible, in order to merit reward in the next world. So long as there are people foolish enough to countenance and reverence his acts, so long will he continue to perform them. For be it said, the British government is not wont to interfere if pennances are performed purely from religious motives.

BITS OF VERSE.

The Emptied World.

I loved you so, no day, no hour
You did not fill. Before the flower
You went. You were the bud's pale dream;
And in the flower you bloomed supreme.
You were all times, and every place
Where Beauty was—was but your face!
I loved you so, your voice I heard
If 'twas the carol of a bird,
Or waters murmuring afar,
Or whispered sweets the evening star
Draws forth from all the dreaming world
Of folded nest and bee flower, furled—
I loved you so!

I love you so, that hours and days
No longer are, save as a maze
Through which, as through the solid night,
I push to find some point of light!
Nor differing seasons longer are,
Nor bud, nor flower, nor even-star,
Nor answering twilight, nor sweet sound.
Of tide-called waters seaward bound.
I love you so, that everywhere
Is empty of you—earth and air! • • •
And yet though you are all withdrawn—
And yet though you are dead and gone,
I love you so!
—[Edith M. Thomas, in New York Sun.

My Love.

Like rain-pools over autumn leaves,
My sweet love's eyes to me;
Like sunlight over golden sheaves
Her wind-blown tresses free;
Like snow upon the mountain's face
The whiteness of her throat;
Her movements of the languorous grace
Of lilies all afloat.

Her voice is sweet as silver bells
O'er sheets of moonlit snow;
Her mouth, a full ripe flower, where dwells
The Sunset's vermeil glow;
Her soul is tender as blue skies
A southern day above;
While in her heart all priceless lies
The diamond of her love.
—[Armin Trebor in Appleton's.

The Worker.

He closed his eyes and drank life deep,
For him the lees spoiled not the wine,
He asked of God nor seal nor sign,
Content to sow, content to reap,
Without one thought of meed divine.

In sweat of toil he found life's zest,
The moment's work was mastering lord,
The long day's call a two-edged sword
To fight one's way to well-earned rest;
The joy of work was work's reward.

"But why and wherefore? Say, what end
To all thy ceaseless toil? What lies
Before, beyond? Why forge new ties
To earth for Death's fell hand to rend?"
These his fellows' taunting cries.

He puzzled long. What had God meant?
He never learned. No sage was he
To solve God's deep philosophy.
Once more he toiled in faith content;
And faith dissolved life's mystery.
—[Harold S. Symmes, in American Magazine.

An Evening Song.

Good night, pretty sun, good night;
I've watched your purple and golden light
While you are sinking away.
And some one has just been telling me
You're making, over the shining sea
Another beautiful day;
That, just at the time I am going to sleep,
The children there are taking a peep
At your face—beginning to say,
"Good morning!" just when I say good night!
Now, beautiful sun, if they've told me right,
I wish you'd say good morning for me
To all the little ones over the sea.

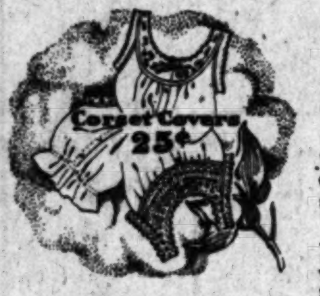
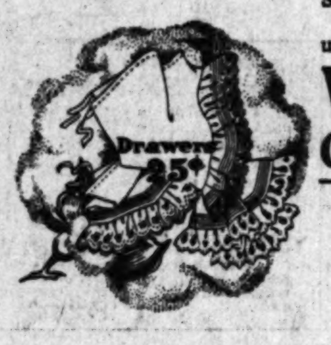
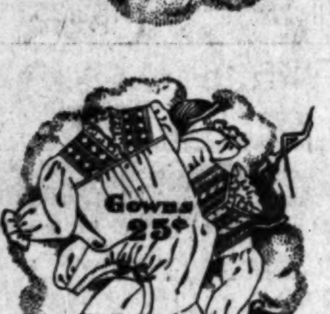
Muslin Underwear







Thousands of snowy white, perfect garments, skirts, gowns, drawers, corset covers and chemises, from the world's foremost Muslin Underwear Makers at prices, in many cases, almost unbelievable. Think of paying 25c for gowns that would be most splendid values at 50c. Think of paying 40c for skirts that make most 85c values look tawdry. Think of paying 80c for such skirts as we have seldom seen sold in strong sales at $1.25.

Then there is the famous Combination Lingerie, 2 and 3 garments in one—styles that are made to fit without a wrinkle or ridge. Chemise with skirt, or drawers; Corset Cover with skirt or drawers—Chemise, drawers and skirt all together. The 20th Century favorite. Such values as our saleswomen say they have never seen equaled. "January's greatest Muslin Underwear event"

We are glad it comes as it does. You have had opportunity to see what's what in the Muslin Underwear field, and here are values that, by just comparison, will give Bullock's Muslin Underwear Section such prestige as has never been accorded any Muslin Underwear Store in the great Southwest.

Values that show the advantage of forehanded buying, for purchases were made months ago under such conditions that

So now in operation is a great scoop of which is not to be on the continent. Yet very original about water-wheels have for decades past in and there they have the highest degree of low lifts. Project En- L. Sellew thinks the years old. Yet this is very modern out by O. H. Ensign, engineer in the service in some respects is like power wheel commonly books on hydraulics. power instead of generat- water, instead of run- force and weight of flow- The wheel is six feet wide feet in diameter, built for the flanges of the buckets. These buckets have no flare, and really should be termed paddles, for they merely push the water up the convex slope of the solid concrete pit within which the wheel is operated. The lift is about six feet, ordinarily, and to this height the machinery is capable of readily handling a head of sixty second feet, or about 3000 miner's inches. This flow is ample for the irrigation of 10,000 acres of land.

Power for operating the wheel is supplied by two fifty-horse-power gas engines, producer gas being made in the same building from crude oil. The power is applied by means of cogs, working in toothed racks on the periphery of the wheel. The expense of operation is very much less than by any of the ordinary types of pump, a fact appreciated by the farmer who pays for his water by the hour of operation. The wheel only runs at need. When the river rises, it may serve as a sort of gate, guarding against over-supply.

The wheel and canal heading are only about a stone's throw below the Arizona end of the Southern Pacific bridge, and are close by the offices of the Reclamation Service. These offices are on an old government reservation, and the main office building was used as an army quartermaster's depot and warehouse when supplies for the military posts of Arizona were transported up the Colorado from deep water, to be loaded upon teams at Yuma. The Colorado no longer is an inland waterway, for it has been closed for navigation by the Laguna dam, above Yuma. A couple of stern-wheel steamers yet remain, however, used for the transportation needs of the Reclamation Service.

The Colorado is rated as one of the five great rivers of the United States, and its mighty volume will be but little diminished by the draft of canals that will irrigate hundreds of thousands of acres of land.

BIG RANCH SALE PENDING.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 16.—H. E. Harris is negotiating for the purchase of the Los Flores ranch, on the Mojave River, for $115,000. The ranch is the property of Mrs. John A. Cole of this city. Abstract men are now looking up the title, and it is thought that the deal will be concluded next week.

EAT SAUSAGES AND NEW BREAD

OR ANY OTHER FOOD YOU LIKE WITHOUT FEAR OF STOMACH MISERY OR INDIGESTION.

Diapepsin Will Digest Everthing You Eat, Leaving Nothing to Ferment and Form into Gas or Other Poisons Which Upset the Stomach. Times Readers Should Not Hesitate to Use This Remarkable Stomach Regulator as It is Absolutely Harmless.

When your stomach is weak or lacking in Gastric juice, anything that you eat, no difference what it is, will sour on your stomach, raise the bile and acids to cover your food like oil on water, causing Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Stomach Nervousness and Belching of sour poisons, which produce foul odors, nasty taste, bilious headache, heartburn, intestinal griping and make you an object of misery. This is stomach trouble which can not be overcome with ordinary digestive medicines. It is caused by fermentation of your food, which will be remedied at once by Pape's Diapepsin, a preparation pleasant to take and as harmless as candy, though it will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat.

Indigestion is a result, not a cause of your trouble. If the Stomach is sour and unhealthy, your food becomes tainted, and that's what is causing the indigestion and gas on stomach and other miseries. Pape's Diapepsin is an Antacid, most powerful digestive and thorough regulator for weak stomachs. These triangules will digest any kind of food you eat and will cleanse the stomach and intestines in a natural way, which makes you feel fine five minutes afterwards.

Any good pharmacy here will supply you with a case of Pape's Diapepsin for 50 cents. Just reading about this remarkable stomach preparation will not help. You should go now and get a case. Put your stomach in full health and by tomorrow you will forget the misery of stomach trouble. Your case is no different from many others. It isn't Stomach Nerves or Catarrh of the Stomach, or Gastritis, or Dyspepsia. It is food rotting—food fermentation — that's all — and takes about five minutes to overcome.

FINDS PEACE IN WATER.

Alleged Victim of Whisky Drowns at Westlake Park—Body Found by Boatman.

John W. White committed suicide Friday night, by jumping into the lake at Westlake Park. The body came to the surface yesterday morning, and was discovered by E. H. Phillips, a boatman.

White's home was in San Francisco, but as representative of a remedy company, he made frequent visits to Los Angeles, staying while in the city at No. 606 West Ninth street. He was 55 years old.

He had been drinking heavily of late, it is said, and on Wednesday was given treatment at the Receiving Hospital. Friday afternoon, he returned there for his belongings. He had been drinking again, the doctors say, and was extremely nervous.

The remains were taken to the Bresee morgue, where an inquest will be held tomorrow.

In the pockets of White's clothes were found 11 cents.

HAND-BOOK MAKING CHARGED.

Three Men Arrested for Alleged Lawbreaking in Connection With Friday Night's Prize Fight.

On evidence secured by special officers, Friday night, the police yesterday arrested Ellis Cohn of No. 115 South Spring street, E. G. Hookstratten, No. 215 South Spring street, and J. M. Pitcher of No. 244 South Spring street, on charges of making hand books on a prize fight.

The books were made Friday night, preceding the McFarland-Hyland mill at Naud Junction.

The men deposited $100 each as bail to insure their appearance in the Police Court tomorrow morning.

BREAKS A COLD PROMPTLY

The following formula is a never failing remedy for colds:

One ounce of compound syrup of Sarsaparilla, one ounce Toris compound and half pint of good whisky. Mix and shake thoroughly each time and use in doses of a tablespoonful every four hours.

This will frequently cure an acute cold in twenty-four hours. The ingredients can be gotten at any drug store.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

GOVERNMENT MISLEADING.

Geological Survey Bulletin Has Wrong Title.

Extends Coalinga to Kings Southern Line.

Fakers May Find It a Great Aid in Schemes.

United States Geological Survey bulletin No. 357, "Preliminary Report on the Coalinga Oil District, Fresno and Kings Counties, California, by Ralph Arnold and Robert Anderson," is an able and scientific work, but in one respect very confusing and calculated to aid unscrupulous promoters to deceive investors.

The title is misleading. It is a report on Coalinga and twenty-five to thirty miles south, southeast and southwest of that field—wild cat ground—most of which has not produced one barrel of commercial oil. This southern section is not in any sense a part of Coalinga.

The bulletin at the start says: "The region mapped and referred to in this report as the Coalinga district is situated in the southern part of Fresno county and the western part of Kings county, Cal., and is bounded on the south by the Kern county line. . . . This district as mapped is roughly fifty miles long and fifteen miles wide and includes about 700 square miles. It covers the foothill belt along the valley and extends back into the high hills to the summits of the first surrounding mountain ridges, its northwest and southwest corner reaching to the crest of the Diablo range."

If all would read the explanations attached it might be well, but they won't. Very few will see more than the inaccurate title and such passages as the promoter desires. It is stated that "Coalinga district" means this entire region, "Coalinga field" meaning the region of the developed oil field in the northern portion.

In California oildom "field" and "district" are used as synonomous terms, and the people so understand them, whether technically correct or not. A promoter with lands twenty miles south of the town of Coalinga and equi-distant from a producing well, says he is in the "Coalinga district." The investor, who probably has read hastily something about the California oil fields, about 40 per cent. dividends, the famous Lucile gusher or the Oil City wells, imagines he is buying something right near these. The report is hauled out and its maps spread before him. They are scientific in their make-up and need study before being understood. The promoter could easily use them to back his assertions.

The connection between this section and Coalinga is the surface indications extending from there, the prospecting by Coalinga operators and the fact that that town is the nearest point for oil-well supplies. A name so accurately describing this entire region and so naturally suggesting itself that it is a matter of astonishment that it was not used, is "the Fresno-Kings county oil district."

Petroleum Notes.

B. A. Hayden of Bakersfield has leased from the Pioneer Oil Company the southeast quarter of 30-31-23, about three-quarters of a mile north of the Midway Crude and between Midway and McKittrick, the old Transfer property, title to which was lost, after drilling to 1200 feet, by abandonment. Mr. Hayden was a stockholder and has faith in it still. He gets a rig with the lease.

M. V. McQuigg and J. Benson Wrenn have leased the old Blue Diamond on the north twenty acres of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of 26-20-14, at Coalinga. It has one well.

The Aladin Oil Company, that lost its funds in the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company of San Francisco, has leased its twenty acres next to the Lucile at Coalinga, to E. W. Preston for twenty years on one-fourth royalty, drilling to commence in thirty days, and to go to 2950 feet, unless oil be found sooner.

Seven companies have joined the Bakersfield Agency, viz.: American Crude, Kern River; Ruby, Sunset; Silver Bow, McKittrick; Tejon, Kern River; Cousins, McKittrick; E. T. T. and Los Angeles, Kern.

Organize on New Plan.

Bakersfield people are organizing to prospect between Sunset and the San Emidio ranch, southwest of the present fields, a wild cat proposition, but said to have good surface showing. Each stockholder locates a claim, the whole are pooled and each subscribes for so much stock. So far 144 have signed. An assessment may be levied for development.

Mexican Petroleum.

President E. L. Doheny and Vice-President C. A. Canfield of the Mexican Petroleum, have gone to Ebano to see the 8000-barrel-a-day gusher recently brought in. It produces about 12 gravity, it is said. This has occurred before at Ebano, but never in California or probably elsewhere, has such heavy oil flowed in this way.

Develop New Ground.

The Homestead Oil Company, E. A. Weaver, president; H. J. Brainerd, vice-president; M. E. Hammond, second vice-president; R. A. Howland, secretary; A. G. Ockenden, treasurer, with offices at 216 Merchants' Trust building, is about to start drilling on 160 acres of 29-27-19, twelve miles north of the Temblor Ranch Oil Company's wells. It is new ground that may be described in a general way, as along the route believed to be followed by the oil belt from McKittrick to Coalinga.

This company also has 160 acres in Devil's Den, five miles northeast of the Investors,' formerly the Devil's Den Consolidated, and three and a half miles due east of the Pluto. It also holds tracts in the south end of the Kettleman Hills and eighty acres southwest of San Ardo, Monterey county, west of the Salinas River, on the southwest quarter of 32-22-10, just south of E. L. Doheny's old location, and north of the Standard's new sites west of Bradley.

Free Asthma Cure.

D. J. Lane, a noted chemist, living at St. Marys, Kan., manufactures a remedy for asthma, in which he has so much confidence that he sends a $1 bottle, express prepaid, to any one who will write him for it. His offer is that he is to be paid for it if it cures, and the one taking the treatment is to be the judge. Address him, Box L. A. T. —[Adv.

in the chair. The speaker of the afternoon, Miss Michelson, gave a fine talk on "Our Relations to Children," which was enjoyed by a large number of parents. In her address she told much of the excellent work done by Judge Wilbur among the boys who come under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court. The next meeting will be held the second Thursday in February.

PLEASANT FOR OLD FOLKS.

Inmates of the Hollenbeck Home were delightfully entertained last week by a trio of artists, Mrs. Bessie Thew Miller, Miss Edna Modie and Miss McGlashan. The entertainment was given in the beautiful new chapel in connection with the home. Mrs. Miller (original monologist) read "The Girl in the Street Car," and "The Girl in the Amateur Theatricals." Miss Modie gave two whistling numbers, Chaminade's "Sweet Birds of Spring" and Sullivan's "Lost Chord." Miss McGlashan, who is organist at the Church of the Unity, rendered two of Dudley Buck's compositions, "The Holy Night" and "Triumphal March."

Kind Hearts.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Passengers on the yellow University cars have noticed a gray-haired, distingué man with a military set to his shoulders, going downtown each morning and receiving unusual attention from the conductor. A few days ago a lovely young married woman and her small son occupied the same seat with him. The mother, who had been the belle of an army post in her girlhood, had wondered several times about this soldierly stranger. He had a detached air which puzzled her.

As they neared the downtown district, he grew restless and uneasy, and constantly looked about as the conductor passed and repassed. What could be the matter? though the young woman at his side. Finally the truth struck her, he was almost blind, and could not tell where to get off. The pity of it swept over her, and she understood the air that had puzzled her so much.

What could she do to help him? He looked so proud and remote! Dared she tell him how far the car had gone in its downtown journey? Perhaps she was mistaken about the blindness. She grew as restless as the man but her woman's wit and kind heart found a way out, with no embarrassing questions.

"Look, son," she said to her small boy. "There is the Alexandria Hotel where we went to see Aunt Jessie, last week. The next street will be Fourth, and the Angelus Hotel is on the corner."

A look of relief crossed the fine face of the man who could not see. He got off the car at Fourth and Spring. "Thank you, Madame," he said, as he passed the one-time army girl and her small son.

Dr. Tom Plunkett of Flatbush, N. Y., had himself lowered into the bottom of the new Flatbush gas tank, a distance of sixty feet, that he might rescue a workman who had fallen into the tank while suffering from an epileptic fit. His descent was made on a derrick chain, and after he had administered first aid and caused the injured man to be hoisted to the surface he returned himself by the same route, receiving three cheers from the crowd that had assembled around the top of the pit.

Samuel Ware Packard, a Chicago attorney, is a good friend of the Third Congregational Church of Oak Park. He gave the church the two sites it had occupied in former years, and a few days ago he gave it a valuable lot 85x125 feet which the church will convert into a semi-public playground with tennis courts, a skating rink and later a gymnasium.

Jesus Garcia, a Mexican locomotive engineer in the employ of the Montezuma Copper Company of Nacozari, Mex., recently gave his life that others might live. Two cars loaded with dynamite caught fire and when discovered were burning fiercely, but without hesitation Garcia quickly coupled his locomotive to the burning cars and rapidly ran with them to the suburbs. When the flames reached the dynamite a terrific explosion followed, and the brave engineer was blown to atoms, only the smallest remnants of his body being found afterward. Twelve Mexican section hands and an American boy were also blown to atoms. But the town and many hundreds of precious lives had been saved by the "Jim Bludsoe" of the Mexican mines.

William W. Hall, a reporter of the Baltimore American, was the hero of a distressing accident recently at Ellicott City, Md. During the hearing of charges of assault against a colored man the second floor of Easton's Hall, where the court was being held, suddenly gave way, precipitating over a hundred persons to the floor below. Hall was the worst injured of all, having his chin broken in two places, his left leg broken, teeth knocked out and being otherwise severely bruised and cut about the body, but despite his sufferings he asked the rescuers to first care for the others who had been pinioned down by the floor material.

William J. Ryan, a blind man at Portland, Me., is responsible for the establishment in that city of the Maine School for the Blind. He it was who awakened the State to its obligation to the blind, by addressing legislative committees and interviewing hundreds of the leading men and women of the State. Finally a State appropriation was made and a fund raised large enough to establish a school for the dependent blind people of the State. Ryan has been blind from childhood, and from boyhood has supported himself by selling articles about the streets.

Joe Gilligan of Morristown, N. J., 18 years old, who lost both legs and one arm in a trolley accident several years ago, is a candidate for a Carnegie medal. He heard his playmates, Alexander Patterson and Eustace Monohan, crying out for aid when they were drowning in a gravel pit pond and despite his physical handicap, he leaped into the water and swam to the drowning lads. He directed the efforts of another boy to save Patterson, who could not swim, and he himself seized Monohan, who was suffering with cramps. Pushing his charge ahead of him with the stump of his right arm, and swimming with his left, Gilligan got Monohan to shore in safety. Gilligan learned to swim four years ago. He is a familiar figure about Morristown, where he has driven a goat cart which he himself manufactured out of old boxes. The goat died a month ago, and Gilligan's boy friends have pulled him about with them when they were going to play, taking the goat's place in the harness.

The King Realty Company,
204 Pacific Electric Bldg.,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Gentlemen:-

I wish to give testimony that will show the manner in which you protect the purchasers of land in Burleigh.

My late husband purchased a lot in Burleigh for Three Hundred ($300.00) Dollars, and after he had paid Seventy-Five ($75.00) Dollars on it, he died. I notified you of the death of my husband, and after making it clear that my husband had died, I received a deed to the lot without further payment or expense whatever.

For the absolute fulfilling of your representation, kindly accept my thanks, and I cheerfully recommend anyone who desires to get a home or invest in property to deal with you.

This is to certify that I have received a deed from the Title Insurance & Trust Company of Los Angeles to lot No. 194 Burleigh, together with an unlimited insurance certificate, No. 254511, insuring me against any loss to the amount of Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars. The deed was made September 21st, 1908, and the insurance certificate was issued September 22nd, 1908. The insurance is for $200.00 more than the price of the lot.

Thanking you for the fulfilling of your representations, I am,

Very truly yours,
Mrs Minnie Strong

Do You Want a Home
Do You Want to Invest

If you do, the following will be of great value in aiding you to locate where you remove that element of chance in getting the worst of it.

From the hundreds of written endorsements we now have in our possession from the shrewd, deep-thinking public, we are assured that in our calculations to give the public what was, beyond doubt, the best proposition from the standpoint of the homeseeker and investor, that we did just exactly what the public wanted. A lot that was large enough for a man to erect a home, surrounding that home with lawns that were health-producing to himself and family, and then have sufficient ground left to produce all the vegetables that the family could possibly consume, which are health sustaining (owing to their freshness), still have enough ground for the purpose of raising fowl and allowing him to keep a cow, horse, and in fact, to do what he would do to make a home and not merely a place to exist.

ACCEPT OUR INVITATION to a delightful free ride (any time you suggest) to WHAT?

IS THIS THE MISSING LINK?

SKULL LIKE MAN BUT WALKED ON ALL FOURS.

Paris Professor Discusses the Value of the Recent Find of a Skeleton in a Cavern Near the Chapelle-Aux-Saints Which Resembles Both Man and Ape.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Wide interest has been aroused among men of science by the recent discovery in the provinces of the nearest approach to the missing link of Darwin yet known. Fragments of a skull and a skeleton were unearthed by two priests, Abbés Bouyssini and Bardon, in a cavern near the Chapelle-aux-Saints in the Corrèze district. These were sold to the Paris Museum of Natural History, and Prof. Marcellin Boule, head of the Paleontological Laboratory, immediately set about reconstructing the skull. After he finished this work, he drew up a report which was read a few days ago before the Academy of Sciences by Mr. Perrier, the director of the Museum of Natural History.

Prof. Marcellin Boule, who discovered the prehistoric skeleton which may prove to be the remains of the missing link.

"It is impossible to say how old these remains are," Prof. Boule explained in his laboratory. "Certainly they date from a period much more remote than 10,000 years ago. Every time I examine them I am inclined to put them back a few hundred years more. This prehistoric man may have lived 150 centuries ago, who knows?

MOST ANCIENT SPECIMEN.

"What we can say with certainty is that it is the most ancient specimen of the human race—if you can call it that—yet brought before the attention of the scientific world. Those fragments of human bones unearthed in America are all of comparatively recent date. The nearest approaches to the missing link have been found in Europe. About 1867 a skull was dug up in the Neanderthal, in Germany. It differed slightly from the skull of the chimpanzee and the gorilla, but since the entire bones of the face were lacking there wasn't much to draw reliable deductions from. Since then savants have decided that if this skull bone belonged to a man, he must have been half-witted. Another skull bone was discovered at Spy, in Belgium, in 1886.

"However, this reconstructed skull has the advantage of being almost intact." He picked up the recently discovered specimen which lay with a number of others on a table. "There are two reasons," he continued, "why we can affirm its great age, and one is the extreme thickness of the skull bone. We have many skulls dating from the time of the Roman republics, and they are much thinner. Only bones that come down from a hundred centuries reach such a high state of petrification. Another reason that we can be sure of its antiquity is the remains of animals which were discovered in the same stratum of rock. Near by were teeth of a rhinoceros, showing that this prehistoric man existed at a time when the climate of France was tropical. And this rhinoceros was of a species that hasn't lived for centuries. This period was also the period of the long-haired mammoth and a certain kind of stag.

"The skull's main point of resemblance with the human race is the chin bone." Prof. Boule pointed to the skull of a twentieth-century Frenchman. "You see that this chin bone comes down from the teeth in a line almost perpendicular. This is never the case with any variety of ape. They invariably have receding chins.

STRIKING POINT.

"This is the most striking point of resemblance, although there are minor less apparent ones. In the main, however, this skull shows a close parentage to the chimpanzee. You observe the enormous development of the frontal bone, the long skull bone which gives hardly any suggestion of the human forehead. The distance from the top of the skull to the neck is much shorter than in the usual human skull. And the cavity of the nose is noticeably larger.

"You will notice in the skull of the modern man that on each side of the nasal cavity there are deep indentations. The expression of the face is due to these, perhaps more than anything else. They are always absent in the ape, and so they are with this prehistoric man. The teeth are much larger than ours. These are the principal characteristics of this skull. Although, as I said, it is much more closely allied to the ape than to the human race, still it is certainly unique on account of the chin bone and much nearer to the missing link than anything yet found.

"There are so few fragments of the skeleton that we cannot make many deductions. The bones of the limbs are arched in such a way that it is certain this prehistoric specimen traveled on all fours much more frequently than he walked."

ELECTRICAL TERMS.

Easy Explanation of Some of the More Common Words Peculiar to the Science.

Because electricity cannot be seen is no reason why it should not be understood and it is strange that with all the millions of users of electricity for light, power and heat, so few know anything about this wonderful force.

The majority are content to know that the pressure of a finger will light the house, a turn of a switch will start the electric cooking devices and another switch will give instant power, without prying into the mysteries of electrical energy. When anything gets out of order they send for an electrician and let him wrestle with the problem.

In this electrical age it is important that everyone should understand the rudimentary principles of electricity. The first step is to comprehend the numerous technical terms associated with the profession and then grasp some tangible idea of the nature of the current.

In the scientific world electricity is called a fluid, in the same sense that light is called a fluid, and, therefore, it can best be compared with water. To make the terms "ampere," "watts" and "volts" comprehensive it is only necessary to keep the water comparison in mind and remember that amperes correspond with the volume of flow of a fluid, watts with energy or flow of a fluid, watts with energy or horse-power, and volts with pressure. A "kilowatt" is a thousand watts, or equal to one and a third horse-power of energy.

Electric lights consume electric energy—this energy is expressed in watts and paid for at so much per kilowatt, or a thousand watts.

If the rate is 15 cents a kilowatt-hour it is equal to about 11 cents a horse-power hour.

The average electric incandescent lighting circuits carry current at a pressure of about 110 volts and the street railway systems at about 500 volts. This means that the wires are carrying electricity under a pressure of so many volts just as water pressure is expressed in pounds. We can easily understand that a certain stream has a volume of so many gallons of water and it should be as easy to comprehend that a certain electrical line is carrying so many "amperes" of electricity, which means the volume of the flow of the current.

One reads a great deal about "direct current" and "alternating current." In the beginning of the electrical industry direct current only was known, that is, the current generated always flowed one way along the circuit. But later developments proved that a generator could be made much easier and simpler that would produce an "alternating current"—a current that surged first one way and then the other over the line. This current surges back and forth as often as sixty times or "cycles" a minute on the average lighting circuits and twenty-five times on power lines. Alternating current generators are most extensively used today and where direct current is needed for street railway lines or other work the alternating current is changed into direct current with rotary concerters. These machines look not unlike generators, but they simply change the surging current to one which flows always the one way.—[Exchange.

Washington left Mount Vernon for [New] York City, the temporary capital [of] the young republic, bearing with [him] a deep sense of his new responsi[illegible]. The people converted his journey into a triumphal march. There [were] no railways in those days, the [illegible] were heavy, the way was long. [illegible] cannot travel as swiftly as [illegible] cars, and though the first [illegible] of March, which happened [to be] on the 4th of the month, had been [illegible] for the day of the inauguration it was the 30th of April, 1789, be[illegible] took place.

[On that] day George Washington went [illegible] to the Federal building at [the] [illegible] of Wall and Broad [illegible] where he was received in the [illegible] chamber and thence proceeded [to the] balcony. When he appeared a [illegible] went up from the crowd gath[illegible] beneath the balcony. After he [illegible] the oath of office Chancellor [illegible] stepped forward, and, rais[illegible] his hand, cried, "Long Live George Washington, President of the United [illegible]

[illegible] cry was criticised as an imitation of a monarchial custom and was [illegible] again used. Washington then [illegible] to the hall, where he read his [illegible] address. He was dressed in [illegible] brown broadcloth of American [illegible]ture, white silk stockings, sil[illegible] shoe buckles and wore a steel-hilted [illegible] sword. His hair was powdered [illegible] drawn back in the fashion of the [illegible]. At the inauguration ball it is [illegible] that he danced the minuet.

[illegible] fill the place which Washington [illegible] in the hearts of the people was [illegible] possible for any man. John [Adams] succeeded him as President. [illegible] during the hours of his inauguration, in 1797, Adams was made to feel [the] distance which the masses had es[illegible] between himself and his [prede]cessor. Washington was present. [illegible] attention instead of being centered on the new President, was fixed [up]on the great man who had said farewell to public service. Adams felt this [illegible]. Writing to his wife, he spoke [of] the streaming eyes expressing a [illegible] that the tears were shed in grief [for] the loss of a beloved rather than [illegible] over the advent of an unbeloved. He was almost as much hurt at thus being second in the great hour of his life, as was his son John Quincy Adams, who had his triumph marred by the thought that though he had won the Presidency, he had not won it through the suffrages of a majority of the people. Father and son both tasted bitter in their cup of success. Each wished to enjoy a second term, which was denied. Each was succeeded by a man bitterly opposed to him—the father by Jefferson, the son by Jackson. Neither accompanied, as has been the custom, the President-elect to the Capitol to see him inducted into office. The first Adams and Jefferson quarreled over the twelfth hour appointments made by the retiring President. Jackson attributed to the son, John Quincy Adams, the scandalous statements made about Rachel Jackson during the campaign of 1828, and did not call on Adams, who left the White House, March 3.

There was no inauguration ball when John Adams became President. His wife was not present at the ceremony because of a death in the family. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Oliver Ellsworth.

Thomas Jefferson was the first President to be inaugurated in Washington City. Tradition asserts that he rode on horseback to the Capitol and tied his horse to a near-by fence while he took the oath. A better authenticated story has it that he went on foot and was escorted by a company of militia artillery. One of Adams's distasteful appointments had been that of Chief Justice Marshall, who administered the oath. Besides these two, Jefferson and Marshall, so strongly opposed to each other, was the new Vice-President, Aaron Burr, who had come within one vote of receiving the Presidency in the vote taken in the House of Representatives. If Jefferson felt chagrin at the moment, his compensation during the successful eight years of his Presidency was ample. He could probably have had the honor of a third term, but declined, though he practically named his successor, Madison, advising Monroe, who was also an aspirant for the office, to wait.

All of the Presidents had followed the custom of wearing, so far as possible, clothes made in this country. John Adams on the eventful day appeared in light drab. Jefferson's garb was in the eyes of the Federalists ostentatiously simple. But it was left to James Madison to so dress as to be described as "a walking argument in favor of American wool." At his first inauguration in 1809 he wore a coat made on the farm of Col. Humphreys. The rest of his costume was made of homespun from the farm of Chancellor Livingston. The wool all came from American sheep. The ceremony of taking the oath took place in the House of Representatives, which was crowded. Dolly Madison was a charming hostess at the inauguration ball, the first since the time of Washington.

James Monroe, having heeded the advice of the father of his party, received his reward in 1817. The oath was administered to him on a platform under the unfinished portico of the Capitol. This place had been chosen to end the wrangle over seats. At his second inauguration the weather was so bad the exercises had to be held inside.

John Quincy Adams, chosen by the House of Representatives to be President because no candidate had received a majority of the electoral votes, was a disappointed man. He wanted the Presidency as the gift of the people. In his diary he wrote: "The year has been the most momentous of those that have passed over my head, inasmuch as it has witnessed my elevation, at the age of 58, to the Chief Magistracy of my country, to the summit of laudable or at least blameless worldly ambition; not, however, in a manner satisfactory to pride or to just desire; not by the unequivocal suffrages of a majority of the people; with perhaps two-thirds of the whole people adverse to the actual result."

Mr. Adams changed the programme of his predecessors by reading his inaugural address before the oath was administered. He was escorted to the Capitol by a bodyguard of citizens. Among those who congratulated him was Gen. Andrew Jackson, who had received a majority of the popular vote and a plurality of the votes cast in the electoral college. This friendly greeting is the last recorded courtesy that passed between the two, and, as has been said, Adams was not present at the inauguration of Jackson in 1829.

Though Adams absented himself, the plain people, who felt that with the election of Jackson they had come into their own, did not. The Capitol had never seen such crowds as came to the inauguration of this popular idol in 1829. Frontiersmen, backwodsmen, Indian fighters crowded so densely around the Capitol that to keep them out of the eastern portico where the oath was administered a ship's cable had to be used. The mob poured into the White House. Some climbed on the satin-covered chairs. Scrambling to help themselves, they broke china and glassware. To protect the President from the crush, men linked arms. Like Washington and Jefferson, Jackson left the office amid the same enthusiasm which attended his coming. Like Jefferson, he named his successor, Martin Van Buren.

March 4, 1834, these two, Jackson and Van Buren, rode together from the White House to the Capitol in a phaeton made from oak timbers taken from the old frigate Constitution, a gift from New York Democrats to the retiring President. As John Adams had been second in the eyes of the multitude at his own inauguration because of the esteem felt for Washington, so Van Buren was second to Jackson. But Van Buren accepted the situation more gracefully than had Adams. He returned from the inauguration at which Chief Justice Taney administered the oath, to his own residence, insisting that Jackson should remain in the White House until his departure for Tennessee.

When Gen. William H. Harrison was inaugurated in 1841, his admirers presented a carriage to him, but he rode to the Capitol on a white horse. For the first time a great display of marching clubs which had played an important part in the campaign was made. Log cabins, barrels of hard cider, a loom in active operation—these were some of the floats in the procession. At the Capitol Gen. Harrison, who was 68, older than any man who preceded him in the office, stood an hour without a hat or heavy coat. He contracted a cold and died within a month—the first President to die in office. He was succeeded by Vice-President John Tyler, who, like the Adamses, declined to take part in the inauguration of his successor, Gen. James K. Polk, in 1845.

James K. Polk was the first dark horse to reach the Presidency. The popular cry at his inauguration, as during the campaign, was, "Who is James K. Polk?" The exceptional thing recorded of his inauguration day is that Prof. Morse brought out his magnetic telegraph to the portico platform and that over the wonderful new invention news of the event was sent to Baltimore. Also, at the inauguration ball Mme. de Bedisco outshone Mrs. Polk, and there was an opposition ball, where the tickets cost only $2, while those of the main ball cost $10.

Taylor, Pierce, Buchanan were expediency candidates. Their inaugurations had nothing of exceptional interest except that as the habit of traveling spread among the people, the crowds at each successive inauguration increased. Quadrennial pilgrimages to the Capitol became a fixed custom.

When Abraham Lincoln came to Washington the country was on the verge of civil war. Special precautions were necessary. The regular army was called upon for duty of more than an ornamental nature. Sharpshooters were stationed on the roofs and in windows of houses overlooking the line of march. General Scott had in the city two batteries, a few companies of regulars—653 men, exclusive of some marines—and the corps of picked Washington volunteers. President Buchanan left the White House in an open carriage, escorted by a company of sappers and miners. At Willard's Hotel the President-elect entered the carriage and the two passed through Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol. General Scott with his regulars marched "flanking the movement in parallel streets." His two batteries controlled the plateau extending before the east front of the Capitol. Lincoln was introduced by Senator Baker of Oregon, and Senator Douglas held his silk hat while he delivered his address. At its close Chief Justice Taney administered the oath of office.

In his second inauguration procession there was shown a working model of the Monitor with its turrets revolving and its guns firing at intervals. The Colored Typographical Society was represented by a printing press on a wheeled platform. It was in operation and official programmes were printed and distributed along the line of march.

General Grant was the fourth President who, contrary to the usual custom, was not escorted to the Capitol by his predecessor. He had conceived such an intense dislike of President Johnson in connection with the controversy arising over the removal of Stanton that he would not officially recognize him even so far as to drive to the Capitol with him. Salmon P. Chase, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, by appointment of Lincoln, administered the oath of office at both of his inaugurals.

There is unfounded tradition that March 4 was selected as inauguration day because it had been ascertained by mathematical calculation that it falls less often on Sunday in the quadrennial year than other date. Nevertheless, in 1877 it did fall on Sunday. The circumstances surrounding the election of Rutherford B. Hayes marred the gayety of the inauguration festivities. On account of the uncertainty, though the formal exercises were held Monday, March 5, he took the oath of office privately in the red room on Sunday, March 4, Chief Justice Morrison Waite, successor to Justice Chase, administering it.

Gen. Garfield's mother was the first mother of a President to hear her son's inaugural address. She received his first kiss after his lips had pressed the Bible in taking the oath of the Presidential office.

The early beginnings of irrigation in California are described by a writer in the Midwinter Number of The Times.

UNIQUE ENTERPRISE.

couldn't resist the famous jitsu man of the university, either. So they were married, to the pained disapproval of her family, and they came to America.

Before much time had elapsed, however, Zenshiro began to hear bad reports from home. His family was of good standing, too. He had seven brothers whom the family was anxious to educate. No one could see how it could be done.

The Russian war left Japan almost crushed; and upon just such people the heaviest burden has fallen. Tonigawa's family, almost overwhelmed with taxes, was having a desperate struggle. He thought of the sacrifices they had made to educate him; he thought of his brothers deprived of an education.

Tonigawa resolved upon a supreme act of self-sacrifice; he sent his aristocratic little wife out of his home; separated her from her baby and shipped her to the Yoshiro.

In that country it is considered a noble act of sacrifice for a girl to sell herself into slavery when necessary to save her family from privation.

It is said that Tonigawa sent every penny of her earnings to his family in Japan and that one of his brothers was thereby enabled to become a dental student.

Although he doubtless figured that he had made a powerful hit with Buddha by sacrificing his wife, Masu couldn't see it. She seemed to think it was too much like the boy in Burdette's story who "confessed to somebody else."

How she was rescued through the help of a Japanese woman of shame and the officials of Bethlehem Mission, has been told in the newspapers.

FEAR OF HIS LIFE.

It is a curious study in ideas, however, that the chief figure in the work of rescuing her was a Jap steward who works at a Bohemian resort of this city where white girls are led astray and where close-mouthed Jap servants are exclusively employed. This Jap who has helped lay the scenery for the ruin of so many white girls, heard of the plight of Masu and abducted her from the Jap dive at considerable personal risk.

He is now living in fear of his life. No one knows what has happened to the little Jap girl who helped Masu escape.

Zenshiro went to the house and made a terrible row, taking money from the girl and taking all his wife's clothing. About this time Zenshiro had his first intimate introduction to an American policeman and the experience took all the fight out of him. When a charge of embezzlement was complicated with a suit for divorce, Zenshiro decided that the atmosphere was becoming too clouded with many things he did not understand; so he started for San Francisco whence he sails tomorrow for Japan.

After the divorce, it was expected that Masu would go back to her people in Japan.

She set her foot down, however, and refused to go. She insisted upon remaining here long enough to acquire English and to learn more about divorces which she sees can do so much to save the women of her race from terrible abuses. Having no means upon which to stay here, she will become a servant, thus taking one of the best ways to learn the language.

Wooden Block Pavement.

Wooden block paving is being used quite a little in Minneapolis in place of asphalt. Charles R. Haglin of that city, a large street contractor of the Middle West, with plants in Chicago, Pittsburgh and St. Louis, says of this paving in the Washington Post:

"Asphalt paving is out of date, and costs more. We are finding in the Middle West that the creosote block is the thing. There is a street, Tenth street, in Minneapolis, paved with these blocks, which has lasted for seven or eight years. It can be put down for $2.35 a square yard. These blocks are made mostly of jack pine, from the South, although some Norway pine is used.

"They are rendered impervious to moisture and acids by the creosote treatment, and last a long time, especially in cities where there is much traffic. There is, of course, nothing like the proportion of traffic in Washington that there is in Chicago, and perhaps you do not need a pavement in this city such as is needed in the larger cities, but asphalt will sink, so that rain and other water and mud can accumulate, and this means that the asphalt will rot.

"It is expensive to renew. With the creosote and other methods of treating wood blocks, we get the best paving in the world. London, Berlin, and now New York have found out the merits of the wood pavement, and it undoubtedly is the pavement of the future."

The Wife Missed Something.

Dr. Charles F. Aked of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, New York, said recently:

"The American woman is, up to the present, God's best piece of work."

And the other day elaborating upon this truth, Dr. Aked compared the merited reverence in which woman is held in America to the scorn that is too often meted out to her abroad.

"Consider," he said, "the position of woman in a country where such a joke as this is possible:

" 'Bill,' says a young wife, weeping, 'wot's the matter? Don't you love me no more?'

" 'Of course, I do, durn ye!' growled Bill, returning to his penny weekly and pot of ale.

" 'Then, Bill,' the young wife [illegible] [illegible] don't you [illegible]

Visiting Here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hathaway and family of Rossville, Ill., are spending the winter with Mr. Hathaway's sister, Mrs. Walter R. Hoff of No. 2345 West Twenty-second street.

Elaborate Luncheon.

Very elaborate was the luncheon given Thursday at Hotel Alexandria by Mrs. Cameron Erskine Thom of West Adams street, in compliment to her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Collins of London, Eng. The banquet-room was transformed into a garden. The table, which was artistic with pink and white sweet peas, among which nestled numerous blue electric bulbs and maidenhair ferns, was placed in the center of Kentia palms and forest shrubs. At each place sweet peas and ferns added to the beautiful effect. A large Japanese umbrella in delicate shades, surrounded by tiny lights and festooned with sprays of smilax and maidenhair, was suspended above the table. Covers were laid for Mrs. I. N. Van Nuys, Mrs. Jefferson Chandler, Mrs. Hancock Banning, Mrs. George J. Denis, Mrs. Randolph Huntington Miner, Mrs. Carroll Allen, Miss Kate Van Nuys, Mrs. John Mott, Mrs. Guy Barham, Mrs. Hugh Stewart, Mrs. Michael J. Connell, Miss Georgia Truman, Miss Echo Allen, Mrs. Ernest A. Bryant, Mrs. Reginald Wood, Miss Mollie Adelia Brown, Mrs. Walter Newhall, Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Thom.

Thomson, Miss Olga Rathburn, Miss Vera Marshultz, Miss Florence Kipp, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. McAtee, Mrs. Jack Denton, Mr. Alton Ordway and Miss Blossom Thomson.

Recent Wedding.

Miss Lillian Blackstock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Blackstock of No. 109 West Avenue 54, was married, last week, in Galesburg, Ill., to Frederick B. Powelson, a prominent young business man of Canton, Ill., where they will make their future home. The bride is well known in Los Angeles and is a graduate of the cumnock School of Expression. She has been in the East for the past four years.

Has Returned.

Mrs. Harold Lincoln Wright of San Francisco has returned to that city after a visit of three weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Field of No. 685 Coronado street. She was widely entertained while in Los Angeles.

Married Saturday.

The wedding of Miss Lula Timmons and Lemuel Fish took place, last evening, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Timmons of No. 3100 San Marino street. Rev. J. A. Wood, of the Pico Heights Methodist Church, performed the ceremony, and the music was rendered by Mrs. C. M. Brown of Redlands. The bride was gowned in white messaline silk and carried a shower of lillies of the valley. Her going-away gown was of gray broadcloth, with hat and gloves to match. The home was fragrant with flowers. Upon their return from a short wedding trip the young people will be at home to their friends at No. 1648 New Hampshire street.

Whist Club.

Members of the Wild Rose Whist Club were guests, Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Howe of No. 1919 San Pedro street. The next meeting will be at the residence of Mrs. A. B. Halson of No. 2100 West Twenty-ninth place.

Informal Tea.

A dainty 4 o'clock tea at Hotel Alexandria, had as its hostess on Friday afternoon Mrs. A. C. Bilicke, of Monterey Road, South Pasadena. Fifteen friends were present.

At the Mason.

Mrs. Charles Wellington Rand and her son, Elbridge Dexter Rand, of Wilshire Boulevard, entertained a party of friends delightfully yesterday afternoon at a matinée box party at the Mason. Later tea was served at the Alexandria, where fancy baskets filled with ferns and hyacinths, and green-shaded candelabra adorned the table.

Theater Party and Supper.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hagan of No. 758 Lake street, charmingly entertained with a box party at the Majestic Theater, followed by supper at the Alexandria, last evening, as a courtesy to Mrs. Marie Curtis of Portland, Or. Mrs. Curtis is the house guest of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Perry Story, of Scarff street. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Barrin and Mr. and Mrs. Story.

For Mrs. Ballou.

The tea given Thursday in compliment to Mrs. Sidney Ballou of Honolulu, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Harry Coburn Turner, of West Washington street, by the Misses May and Katherine Ridgway at their pretty home on West Twenty-third street, was another delight of the week. Violets and carnations were the decorations. There were forty guests.

Mrs. L. B. Saunders, who delightfully entertained with a dinner party last week.

Invitations Issued.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. James Garfield Warren of No. 850 South Alvarado street, for a reception on January 27. It is to be given in honor of Mrs. Amos Fish Selby. Mrs. David Renick will receive with the hostess.

For Bride-elect.

For Miss Margaret Smith, whose engagement to Leo Youngworth was recently announced, and also for Miss Carlye Montelius of Vancouver, B. C., Mrs. Scott Sheldon of No. 1016 West Twenty-second street gave a matinée box party at the Orpheum yesterday. Later tea was enjoyed at the Alexandria. The guests included Mrs. Edward McDowell, Miss Carolyn Bruns and Miss Myra Smith. Places were marked with hand-painted sachet bags.

Bridge Party.

At her pretty home at No. 21 Chester Place, Mrs. Walter Newhall entertained with an informal bridge party, Wednesday afternoon.

Ronan-Jenifer Wedding.

A wedding of wide interest took place, Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Mary Ronan, at No. 503 South Hancock street, when her daughter, Miss Julia C. Ronan became the bride of Frank M. Jenifer, assistant transfer manager of the Tonopah and Tidewater Railroad. The bride, who was unattended, wore a gown of white silk crepe, trimmed with white broadcloth and lace. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley. Miss Katherine Ronan, a sister, played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Jenifer will go North on their wedding trip and will later receive their friends at Santa Monica.

Fourteen Covers.

Mrs. Ezra T Stimson entertained with a luncheon of fourteen covers, Thursday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Alden A. Howell and Miss Aldine Howell of Maynesville, N. C., who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Chanslor of No. 2227 West Twenty-fourth street. The luncheon was given at the hostess' beautiful home on West Adams street, which was adorned with enchantress carnations and maiden hair ferns. Later the performance at the Belasco was enjoyed. The guests included Mrs. Chanslor, Mrs. A. L. Cheney, Mrs. L. D. Sale, Mrs. Walter Crosby, Mrs. W. J. Doran, Miss Bird Chanslor, Mrs. W. A. Innes, Mrs. Glover P. Widney, Mrs. S. T. Griffith, Mrs. F. Extended Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Secundo Guasti left last week for a trip to New York, Washington, Boston, Philadelphia and other eastern cities.

Olshausen-Thomas Wedding.

Miss Elsa Olshausen, daughter of Mrs. Emma Olshausen, was married Thursday evening to A. Harry Thomas at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Oswald L. Olshausen of No. 4253 South Flower street. Rev. J. S. Thompson of the Independence Church of Christ performed the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of white silk messaline over taffeta, lace-trimmed and made en train. She carried a bouquet of roses. Her sister, Mrs. Walter Callahan, attired in pale blue messaline, over taffeta, with trimmings of duchess lace, assisted as matron of honor and Howard Thomas, brother of the groom, was best man.

Important Wedding.

Although marked by extreme simplicity, the wedding Thursday of Miss Lulu Cliff and William Huntting Cooper, which was solemnized in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cliff of No. 2707 Le Salle avenue, was of more than passing interest. Miss Cliff, whose engagement was announced only a short time ago, is one of the most popular members of the younger set. The news will come as a surprise to friends of the couple, as the plans for the ceremony were hurriedly made. Rev. Jesse P. McKnight was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was unattended, wore a becoming creation of pale-blue broadcloth, with hat to match. After the service, an elaborate dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper left immediately for a trip around the world.

Matinee Party.

Mrs. Raymond D. Stephens of Andrews boulevard was hostess yesterday afternoon at an informal matinée party at the Belasco Theater. Later, tea was served at The Tattler. Mrs. Sidney Ballou of Honolulu was the guest of honor.

To Spend Winter.

Miss Pearl Sims of No. 200 South Union avenue left Monday for Kansas City, Mo., where she will spend the remaining winter months with her sister, Mrs. Charles Edwin Wilson.

During the Week.

The week opened interestingly with the announcement of the engagement of Miss Edith Herron, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Rufus H. Herron of No. 2700 Severance street, to William Hamilton Toaz, U.S.N., of Rochester, N. Y. The news was a complete surprise to Miss Herron's friends. Another engagement announced was that of Miss Myra Hurlbutt, daughter of Mrs. Charles D. Hurlbutt, to Harry Haven Curtiss.

Dainty notes, Tuesday, made known the engagement of Miss Jeanne Foulkes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foulkes of West Washington street, to Guy P. Goodwin of Chicago. The wedding will be one of the pleasing events of the coming summer. At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Spier of Grand View street, Miss Mildred Spier was married to Isadore Fox, a young business man of Jersey City. Mrs. Lee C. Gates of No. 961 Manhattan Place had as luncheon guests members of the West Adams Heights Bridge Club. Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Lee formally announced the engagement of their daughter, I. Vern Lee, to Harold F. Hartman. A delightful tea was given in the main dining salon of Hotel Alexandria by Mme. Genevra Johnstone-Bishop, in honor of Mrs. J. S. McCullough of Chicago, who is better known as Myrtle Reed, the authoress.

Wednesday announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Lillian Merrill, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Merrill of No. 5323 Pasadena avenue, to Dr. Stephen Yerkes Van Meter. The wedding, the same day, of Miss Evelyn Barmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Barmore of No. 1313 Alvarado Terrace, to Frederick Goulding, was of interest to many friends. The service was read in the morning by Rev. Robert J. Burdette, pastor of Temple Baptist Church.

A box party was given, Thursday, at the Belasco Theater, by Mrs. Jeannette P. White of No. 176 Virgil avenue in honor of Mrs. A. Cowan of Jersey City and Miss Selma Cohn of Memphis, Tenn. The other guests were the Misses Helen and Nettie Spier.

The dinner party given Friday evening at Hotel Alexandria by Mr. and Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Banning, was among the week's notable events. A basket of fruit and flowers with a wreath of tiny electric bulbs formed a novel and attractive table centerpiece, and places were marked with dainty cards for the guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Wilshire, Mrs. Walter Scott Newhall, Miss Louise Burke, Miss Grace Mellus, Miss Katherine Mellus, Volney E. Howard, Charles Seyler, Gurney Newlin, Henry S. Van Dyke and William Workman, Jr. The company later attended the bachelors' ball.

OUT-OF-TOWN SOCIETY

Pasadena.

SELDOM have the socially-inclined enjoyed a gayer week in Pasadena than the one just passed. Receptions, teas and bridge parties were arranged for every day. The largest of the receptions was given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. John Bakewell Phillips of Bellefontaine street, at the Valley Hunt Club, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William R. George. Mrs. Phillips was assisted in receiving her guests by Mmes. Walter L. Wotkyns, S. Hazard Halstead, C. H. Alden, Howard E. Huntington and Tod Ford. Other unbonneted women were Misses Pattie Phillips, Agnes Claypool and Helen Hunter. There were more than 300 men and women present, and the interest of the occasion centered around an informal talk given by Mr. George upon the work of the George Junior Republic. Refreshments were served in the dining-room and music added to the pleasure of the occasion.

Mrs. Frederick Goulding, whose wedding was one of the season's prettiest.

Among the bridge parties of the week was a delightful one given by Miss Marjorie Bolt, Friday afternoon, in compliment to Miss Jean and Roberta Griffith, who are guests in Pasadena. Foster Rhodes, Misses Irene Gross, Genevieve Stehman, Madeline Barnes, Maude Daggett, Louise Austin, Mildred Cushing, Cora Auten, Elizabeth Speer, Evelyn Sommerville, Julia Holmes, Edith Rowland, Ethel Hinds, Shappe, and Miss Angie Holmes, who presided at the table, when refreshments were served.

Unusually enjoyable was the informal tea given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. B. Marshall Wotkyns at her home on Bellefontaine street in honor of Mrs. William Rufus Kimball of Palo Alto, formerly of Pasadena. The function was simple and brought together a number of women who have been residents of Pasadena for many years, friends of the guest of honor. Among those present were Mmes. Lionel Sheldon, E. J. Kelley, Francis F. Rowland, Charles D. Daggett, Louis Blankenhorn, Robert T. Vandevort, Ward B. Rowland, Walter S. Wright, Delia Ben-

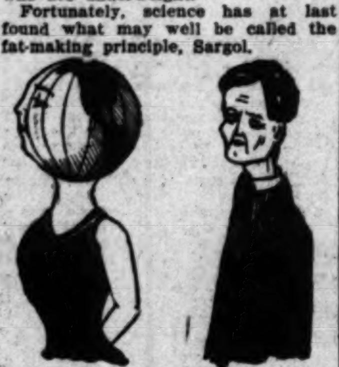
GET FAT FREE

NO LONGER NEED MEN BE SKINNY OR WOMEN SCRAWNY.

50-CENT BOX MAILED FREE TO ANY THIN PERSON

Thinness can be called a disease just as much as rheumatism, fever or cancer. And in many cases it is as dangerous to life, for the thin, emaciated, skinny frame is not as capable of resisting many diseases as the fat, well-developed man or woman. Consumption, for example, finds its greatest number of victims among those who are underweight.

Fortunately, science has at last found what may well be called the fat-making principle, Sargol.



The World Turns Her Back on the Thin Man.

At any rate, those who use Sargol soon find themselves gaining in weight, filling out their clothes in good, solid flesh, and gaining the flesh and development that takes them out of the class of skinny men and scrawny, unattractive women.

Do not think from its name that Sargol is an oil or greasy preparation, that it is disagreeable to take, like cod liver oil and other remedies prescribed for thinness. Far from it. In dainty tablet form, it can be taken like candy, and is so pure and healthful that it may be given to delicate children or those infirm with years.

To spread as quickly as possible the knowledge of this simple treatment, that without special diet or treatment will put flesh on the thin and scrawny, a 50-cent package will be mailed free to any one who wishes to weigh more, desires a better development or who feels the need of greater vigor and strength. All that is necessary is to write the Sargol Company, 64 Herald Building, Binghamton, N. Y., and inclose 10 cents for distribution expenses, and give height, age and weight, and a 50-cent box will be mailed you free in plain envelope. Write today, so that you can get into the well-developed class before spring.

Embroideries For Spring 1909

Discriptions fail utterly to give an idea of the beauty of design and texture of our new embroidery importations, of the assortments, the varieties and the uses for which they are made expressly. There is a daintiness about the whole lot that proclaims superiority. And with all the newness and style there's an element of economy in the pricings that will appeal to all woman-kind. You ought to see them.

Bands, Edges, Flouncings, Insertions, Allovers and Beadings almost without end, in Swisses, Nainsooks and Hamburgs.

Redlands.

MRS. W. E. RABBETH entertained with a small tea Thursday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 5:30 o'clock, to announce the engagement of her sister, Miss Margaret Gay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin R. Gay, and Leslie R. Gay, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Gay of Crafton. The young people are graduates of the Redlands High School and last year Mr. Gay graduated from Stanford University. The date for the wedding is not yet decided. For the tea the rooms of the Rabbeth home were decorated in flowers. In the reception-room yellow and white blossoms were used and in the dining-room violets. The tea table was presided over by Mrs. Henry Fisher and Mrs. D. C. Lefferts.

Mrs. Jeffry J. Prendergast entertained with a small and informal tea Tuesday afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock, to announce the engagement of her sister, Miss Florence Gill, daughter of Charles Gill, and William Erwin Grigsby, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Grigsby. Only the most intimate friends of the young couple were present. The wedding will take place in the early spring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bingman entertained a few friends informally Monday evening at their home. Flowers and greenery graced the rooms. Cards were played, music enjoyed and refreshments served.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Phillips, whose marriage was an event of Wednesday, January 6, were given a reception Saturday evening by a large company of friends.

The annual meeting of the Palette Club was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. E. Sanford on Fourth street. These officers were chosen: President, Mrs. Charles Nelson; vice-president, Mrs. W. H. Goodrich; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. C. C. Taylor. The club will hold its annual exhibit in April or May. At the close of the afternoon refreshments were served and a social half-hour spent.

Miss Lulu O'Connell and Eugene Huntington, both of this city, were married Tuesday evening at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Rev. Father T. J. Fitzgerald officiating. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Huntington. The bride wore a tailored suit of white mohair with a lace bodice. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Huntington, on La Verne street. The dining-room was decorated in violets and in the reception-room Chinese lilies were used. The couple will reside here.

Miss Gail Sherer and Miss Lucy Lockwood, two high school girls, entertained two companies of friends last week. The first part was called a "sweetheart" party. It was held at the home of Miss Sherer on West Olive avenue, which was profusely decorated in strings of red hearts and bows and arrows. Hearts were played and prizes were awarded. The first prize, a heart-shaped box of candy, went to Lloyd Talliferro. The second prize, a bunch of sweet peas was taken by Miss Lucile Warner. Heart-shaped ices were served with heart-shaped cakes iced in red. There were sixteen people present. The young ladies entertained the next night at Miss Lockwood's home and since a "sour lemon" is supposed to be the opposite of a "sweetheart," this party had for its motif the much joked-of lemon. Yellow decorations and yellow refreshments were in order. Progressive conversation was enjoyed and music. There were twenty present.

The first meeting of the Household Economics section of the Contemporary Club, of which Mrs. W. H. McVay is chairman, was held Tuesday afternoon with a large attendance. A number of the ladies had prepared desserts and these were served.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Weightman on Lugonia avenue was the scene of a pleasant gathering Friday evening, when Mr. Sargent's Sunday-school class of the Barton Tract school was entertained informally.

James S. Aurand and Palmer P. Day, managers of La Casa Loma Hotel, both celebrated their birthday anniversaries last week, and on Friday evening were given a jolly time by their office associates. An automobile ride over the valley was enjoyed and on returning to the hotel a little supper was served in the grill room, which was handsomely decorated.

The regular meeting of the Spinet Musical Club was held Friday afternoon at the Contemporary Clubhouse. Mrs. Henry Fisher was in charge. Those who contributed to the programme were Vernon Bettin, the boy soprano of Christ Episcopal Church, Los Angeles; Z. Earl Meeker, baritone; Maurice T. L. Koehler, violinist; Mary Edith Gowans, contralto; Miss Bonnell, pianist, and Mrs. Fisher, soprano. The clubhouse was crowded.

The local W.C.T.U. held an afternoon reception at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Libby, Friday afternoon, in honor of new members.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Hughes of East Citrus avenue have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Davies of Los Angeles, the latter formerly Miss Hannah Lewis. They were married in Los Angeles Tuesday and came immediately to Redlands to spend their honeymoon. On Wednesday evening Mrs. Sara E. Camp entertained informally for them.

MRS. N. F. ALLISON entertained a number of young girls Sunday for her daughter, Miss Eva Allison, who left Tuesday for Los Gatos to visit relatives.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Heath for a reception next Saturday evening in Whichelo Hall.

Mrs. L. W. Cissel entertained the Wednesday Club at her home on Gertrude avenue.

Mrs. William Lampshire and family have returned to Redondo to live after spending several months in Arizona and in Los Angeles.

THE ART OF KEEPING YOUNG.

A man is as young as he feels.
A woman is as old as she looks.

By Janie B. Jones.

In spite of Dr. Osler and his satellites, elderly people seem to be taking a new hold on life. Men and women have evidently come to believe that the best things of youth do not belong exclusively to youth, but may be enjoyed as each individual wills.

"I feel as young as ever I did," is a phrase often heard, and that speaks a protest against unwelcome restrictions and a longing to escape them. It is like the protest of a child who is called in and sent to bed when he would so much rather play out of doors until he gets sleepy. People are throwing off the untoward influence of such restrictions as depend purely on an age limit of years. They are no longer content to be always the audience, to sit still and watch others. They are instead claiming their turn. It is a significant indication of racial development toward virile longevity.

Some of the most popular social queens of today entered society at an age when in a former generation, no matter how congenial its pleasures were to them, they must have been content to be either hostess or chaperon. The chimney corner was the place sacred to a woman after the arrival of her first grandchild. And many of them were grandmothers at forty or less. After that their intellectual force was expended in telling white lies about how good their own children were and how remarkably smart their grandchildren. The change of viewpoint that turned the old maid of the last generation into the bachelor girl of this, has sent such a woman to the club. For she and those of her age make up the numerical strength of most of the woman's clubs. Long after her grandchildren are old enough to spread jam on their own biscuits she enters club life and social life, and feels that she has time, her own children having outgrown nursery demands, for the cultivation of her gifts and the enjoyment of association with kindred spirits. It is a conviction that has changed the personnel of the social world. There are other changes as a result of the new viewpoint.

It used to be said that the stiffening of the joints as people grew old made physical exercise, such as a youth delights in, less attractive. But there are many converts to the idea that when physical exercise, such as youth delight in, is neglected, the joints stiffen. A priori and a postetriori have become interchangeable terms in the wider vision of the present. Indeed a visit to the various dancing schools of Los Angeles will show a surprising percentage of mature faces and gray heads among the pupils. At one of the largest social affairs within the past year, at least half of the hundreds of couples on the floor dancing were gray-haired men and women. And none of them were noticeable for any lack of grace and ease as they reversed and accoladed and ricochetted and did the various stunts proper to the occasion. The same thing applies to the physical culture clubs. In one of the select classes, composed of ladies of various ages, the most graceful member is a woman of fully 60. She is of slender build and has the grace that goes only with love of motion. While her hair is almost snow white, her eyes are bright, her skin clear and her smile sweet and spontaneous. One does not associate the idea of old age with her.

The ability to delight in physical motion, to enjoy all that is really enjoyable in what is so often sourly stigmatized as "frivolous," and to enjoy association with humankind are the most easily defined things that are lacking in the old people one most dreads to become like. Often there is neither remorse nor poverty nor bad health to show that their attitude toward the world is not a matter of selection.

It is a wide mistake to try to either retain or recover youth by way of the professional wrinkle fighters, skin doctors, hair developers, or beauty specialists of any sort. It is a mistake on which they wax fat, though not one of them ever did nor ever will change an old person into a young one, nor into the likeness of one. And the eager anxiety with which one, who is frightened at the threatened encroachments of age, flies to them for "treatment" is enough to defeat the superficial effect that might be wrought. A study of the faces as they pass almost any week day along the busy parts of Broadway and Spring streets might teach a significant lesson on the subject of youthfulness. The faces of the old whose lives have been necessarily spent, neither in privation nor drudgery, but in selfforgetfulness, are the most placid and free from the lines of care. The faces of parents who have had to provide and care for a family are nearly always younger looking than the faces of men and women whose most harrassing and heartracking task was to consult and pander to individual inclinations and tastes.

Self-forgetfulness in pleasant occupations or surroundings is the secret of long continued youthfulness. A physician was called in to prescribe for a nervous wreck of a woman. "You need exercise," he told her. "But, doctor, I am going all day long, I never stop." "Yes, in the kitchen and pantry and bedrooms, and up and down stairs and back, and you may wear your life out and never get the exercise you need. You must forget yourself—take a walk for the view at the end of it, a ramble for the treasures along the way." Employment for the body and mind, that entails forgetfulness of self, is perhaps the best all-around prescription for keeping youthful.

A Schoolgirl's Essay.

A schoolgirl was required to write an essay of 250 words about a motor car. She submitted the following:

"My uncle bought a motor car. He was riding in the country when it busted going up a hill. I guess this is about fifty words. The other 200 are what my uncle said when he was walking back to town, but they are not fit for publication."—[London Opinion.

GOOD-BYE TO SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

A Lady Will Send Free to any Sufferer the Secret which Cured Her.

Since a child I was distressed and humiliated by an unwelcome growth of hair on my face and arms. I tried all the depilatories, powders, liquids, creams and other rub-on preparations I ever heard of, only to make it worse. For weeks I suffered the electric needle without being rid of my blemish. I spent a great deal of money on various things in vain, until a friend recommended a simple preparation which succeeded where all else failed.

This simple remedy enabled me permanently to find entire relief from all trace of unwelcome hair, and forever end my embarrassment. It is simple, safe, sure, and can be used privately at home, without fear of pain or blemish. It makes the electric needle entirely unnecessary.

I will tell in detail full particulars to enable any other sufferer to achieve the same happy results as I did privately at home. All I ask is a two-cent stamp for reply. Address CAROLINE OSGOOD, 1741 C, Vaughan Bldg., Providence, R. I.

THE ART OF KEEPING YOUNG.

A man is as young as he feels.
A woman is as old as she looks.

By Janie B. Jones.

In spite of Dr. Osler and his satellites, elderly people seem to be taking a new hold on life. Men and women have evidently come to believe that the best things of youth do not belong exclusively to youth, but may be enjoyed as each individual wills.

"I feel as young as ever I did," is a phrase often heard, and that speaks a protest against unwelcome restrictions and a longing to escape them. It is like the protest of a child who is called in and sent to bed when he would so much rather play out of doors until he gets sleepy. People are throwing off the untoward influence of such restrictions as depend purely on an age limit of years. They are no longer content to be always the audience, to sit still and watch others. They are instead claiming their turn. It is a significant indication of racial development toward virile longevity.

Some of the most popular social queens of today entered society at an age when in a former generation, no matter how congenial its pleasures were to them, they must have been content to be either hostess or chaperon. The chimney corner was the place sacred to a woman after the arrival of her first grandchild. And many of them were grandmothers at forty or less. After that their intellectual force was expended in telling white lies about how good their own children were and how remarkably smart their grandchildren. The change of viewpoint that turned the old maid of the last generation into the bachelor girl of this, has sent such a woman to the club. For she and those of her age make up the numerical strength of most of the woman's clubs. Long after her grandchildren are old enough to spread jam on their own biscuits she enters club life and social life, and feels that she has time, her own children having outgrown nursery demands, for the cultivation of her gifts and the enjoyment of association with kindred spirits. It is a conviction that has changed the personnel of the social world. There are other changes as a result of the new viewpoint.

It used to be said that the stiffening of the joints as people grew old made physical exercise, such as a youth delights in, less attractive. But there are many converts to the idea that when physical exercise, such as youth delight in, is neglected, the joints stiffen. A priori and a postetriori have become interchangeable terms in the wider vision of the present. Indeed a visit to the various dancing schools of Los Angeles will show a surprising percentage of mature faces and gray heads among the pupils. At one of the largest social affairs within the past year, at least half of the hundreds of couples on the floor dancing were gray-haired men and women. And none of them were noticeable for any lack of grace and ease as they reversed and accoladed and ricochetted and did the various stunts proper to the occasion. The same thing applies to the physical culture clubs. In one of the select classes, composed of ladies of various ages, the most graceful member is a woman of fully 60. She is of slender build and has the grace that goes only with love of motion. While her hair is almost snow white, her eyes are bright, her skin clear and her smile sweet and spontaneous. One does not associate the idea of old age with her.

The ability to delight in physical motion, to enjoy all that is really enjoyable in what is so often sourly stigmatized as "frivolous," and to enjoy association with humankind are the most easily defined things that are lacking in the old people one most dreads to become like. Often there is neither remorse nor poverty nor bad health to show that their attitude toward the world is not a matter of selection.

It is a wide mistake to try to either retain or recover youth by way of the professional wrinkle fighters, skin doctors, hair developers, or beauty specialists of any sort. It is a mistake on which they wax fat, though not one of them ever did nor ever will change an old person into a young one, nor into the likeness of one. And the eager anxiety with which one, who is frightened at the threatened encroachments of age, flies to them for "treatment" is enough to defeat the superficial effect that might be wrought. A study of the faces as they pass almost any week day along the busy parts of Broadway and Spring streets might teach a significant lesson on the subject of youthfulness. The faces of the old whose lives have been necessarily spent, neither in privation nor drudgery, but in selfforgetfulness, are the most placid and free from the lines of care. The faces of parents who have had to provide and care for a family are nearly always younger looking than the faces of men and women whose most harrassing and heart-racking task was to consult and pander to individual inclinations and tastes.

Self-forgetfulness in pleasant occupations or surroundings is the secret of long continued youthfulness. A physician was called in to prescribe for a nervous wreck of a woman. "You need exercise," he told her. "But, doctor, I am going all day long, I never stop." "Yes, in the kitchen and pantry and bedrooms, and up and down stairs and back, and you may wear your life out and never get the exercise you need. You must forget yourself—take a walk for the view at the end of it, a ramble for the treasures along the way." Employment for the body and mind, that entails forgetfulness of self, is perhaps the best all-around prescription for keeping youthful.

A Schoolgirl's Essay.

A schoolgirl was required to write an essay of 250 words about a motor car. She submitted the following:

"My uncle bought a motor car. He was riding in the country when it busted going up a hill. I guess this is about fifty words. The other 200 is what my uncle said when he was walking back to town, but they are not fit for publication."—[London Opinion.

GOOD-BYE TO SUPERFLUOUS HAIR
A Lady Will Send Free to any Sufferer the Secret which Cured Her.

Since a child I was distressed and humiliated by an unwelcome growth of hair on my face and arms. I tried all the depilatories, powders, liquids, creams and other rub-on preparations I ever heard of, only to make it worse. For weeks I suffered the electric needle without being rid of my blemish. I spent a great deal of money on various things in vain, until a friend recommended a simple preparation which succeeded where all else failed.

This simple remedy enabled me permanently to find entire relief from all trace of unwelcome hair, and forever end my embarrassment. It is simple, safe, sure, and can be used privately at home, without fear of pain or blemish. It makes the electric needle entirely unnecessary.

I will tell in detail full particulars to enable any other sufferer to achieve the same happy results as I did privately at home. All I ask is a two-cent stamp for reply. Address CAROLINE OSGOOD, 1741 C, Vaughan Bldg., Providence, R. I.

STRONG PERSONALITY.

THE PASTOR OF ROCKEFELLER.

His Views With Respect to a Personal Devil.

Began Life as Auctioneer for an English Sheriff.

How He Put Bits in Mouths of Rabid Anarchists.

BY JAMES B. MORROW.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Never having seen the gentleman, and with dim and unsettled notions concerning him, I thought the interview would be similar to a generous piece of custard pie and a goblet of unskimmed Jersey milk—very good and perfectly harmless, but only a makeshift, at best, between breakfast and dinner. Instead I was given a large assortment of ethical bowie knives and was nearly blown off my feet by a heavy charge of theological blasting powder. To change the simile somewhat, I ran straight into a rapid-firing piece of human artillery. Giving the illustration still another twist, I was present at a head-on collision between venerable doctrine and modern skepticism, or the higher criticism, as it is called, by the intellectual sharpshooters, who, hidden in the tall trees of destruction and doubt, are worrying the hosts of faith as they press onward in their march.

It is said by the ribald and others that Rev. Charles Frederick Aked, D.D., pastor of the Fifth-avenue Baptist Church, in this city, is John D. Rockefeller's meek and lowly guide to heaven. He is not. Nor is he meek. And he is a long, long way from being lowly.

You might reject Dr. Aked's opinions as being scandalously dangerous, or kick a long row of large holes in his views because of their vicious erroneousness, but he would demand your respect for all that, were you to talk with him for two hours in his library. Going into the street, doubtless you would battle and smother under a mountain of iridescent and irrefragable language, but you would work your way out as the frost in the air tingled your cheeks and meditation gave distinct shape to the blurred forms in your head.

Dr. Charles F. Aked.

HIS MAKE-UP.

At the end of two miles you would know what Dr. Aked has been trying to do since coming from England to the United States. First, you would declare him to be a brave and forceful man. Next, that his pilotage includes on equal terms both Mr. Rockefeller and the janitor of the church—that one camel to him is as big as another, and that the eyes of all needles are pretty much alike.

A little physical and temperamental carpentry could turn Dr. Aked into the President of the United States. His eyes, hair and mustache are of the Rooseveltian color. He would need to be shortened and widened considerably. The mouth and teeth, however, could go untouched, unless they were built up a trifle in the matter of nervous snap and natural ferocity. So, too, the velocity of the personal breeze might be slightly increased, yet that would be a task for old Boreas rather than a carpenter. As to outburst, there would be no actual necessity for alterations or improvements. Candor, the same. Likewise the output of uttered words.

The Aked apartments front on Central Park, and are on a floor some distance from the ground. There was no heat in the library and Dr. Aked sat at his desk, which faced a window that was wide open at the top. He was dressed in rough, black cloth and a gray vest, in which there was an eyeful slash of crimson. His face, I thought, looked weary, possibly unsatisfied, but I soon found that his mind was alert and unfagged.

"Wherein," I asked, "does Christian England differ from Christian America?"

"Outstanding above all differences," Dr. Aked answered, "is the organization of the church in the two countries. Protestant England is divided into hostile camps—the established, or Protestant Episcopal Church, on the one hand, and the nonconforming church, which includes the Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, Quakers, and others, on the other hand. The established church is the one recognized by law; it is the church which has special privileges.

"No class of men can exercise special privileges without injury to their own characters. They grow arrogant because they believe themselves to be superior to other people, which is a detestable vice in the process of selfish thinking. There are no superior persons except in righteousness. If there were ecclesiastics in America who sat in the Senate at Washington by right of their religious offices alone, they would become vain and insufferable to their own injury as men. So the first difference between Christian England and Christian America is vital and far-reaching.

"Then I find that the active men in this country who want to improve administrative matters of government and to better the standards of public morals are in the churches, whereas Englishmen of the same type go into secular societies and federations. I have learned, too, that the feeling of comradeship among Christian people is very much greater in this country—there is more general sociability and personal cordiality. Emerson said that an Englishman is like an island—one must swim to him, go by boat, or dig a tunnel.

"But I am surprised and grieved at the old-fashioned and narrow views of the American church. It is far behind the time. It is too slow, even, for a funeral. The best and most devout scholars of the age, men eminent in both learning and piety, dare not profane the Bible by needed touch and enlightened interpretation.

"I came here two years ago. After looking around I asked, 'Where are the thinkers and writers at whose feet I have been sitting?' I was told that only the men who wrote books, or could write them, believed as I believed, and that all the rest of the people were on the other side. To employ an American phrase, I learned that the church in the United States is still voting for Andrew Johnson."

"Jackson," I said, in correction.

"Yes, still voting for Andrew Jackson, and clinging with narrow and savage zeal to that stodgy institution known as the prayer meeting. A very ark of the covenant is the American prayer meeting, glorified and worshiped, sacred beyond human interference, but never attended! Drivel, drivel, drivel! I call the impassioned and horrified defense of the prayer-meeting drivel, because it is unmistakably insincere. If Christians really loved and venerated their prayer meeting they would be there. Instead, only a handful is present. Sixty at my church is considered a large attendance. Yet, the prayer meeting does no particular harm. You will observe that I am careful not to say it does any good."

PREACHERS' THEME.

"Should preachers discuss all the questions which have to do with human life?"

"Yes, because human life is the kingdom of heaven, or the reign of righteousness in the heart of man. I shall leave myself out of the answer I make to your inquiry, because I have not been here long enough to qualify as a teacher of Americans; but preachers everywhere should discuss politics, not the politics that merely concerns two or three men engaged in the liquor business, but pure and good government, wholesome civic living, justice, mercy, and kindness."

"Has the dollar become too potential in the United States?"

"Money has always been sold for more than it is worth and human life for less than it is worth. The present is no more censurable than the past. We should recollect that the men who sailed in the Mayflower risked their lives at sea and, coming to Plymouth, faced wild beasts, Indians, and starvation for money. At the end of seven years the labor of each man represented in property was about equal in value to one £50 certificate of stock owned by the capitalist who helped to outfit and finance the enterprise."

"You once said the account books of business men should be clean enough to 'stand a heavenely audit?'"

"I wouldn't open a store or factory with prayer," Dr. Aked replied. "A bank in Scotland was once opened in that manner. The police were soon summoned to hunt the officers on a criminal charge. I should be suspicious of any business concern that made a display of its piety. But every commercial or financial transaction, large or small, should be of the kind that the persons in it would feel that it had the blessing of God. That is all—the blessing of God. Then we should have a revolution wide as the world itself.

"But the good, old word revolution is not popular in this country. Debs, the Socialist, used it during the recent political campaign, and a great American newspaper, with all the solemnity, authority, and infallibleness that attached to an ancient order from the Pope of Rome, declared that no one should utter the word in the United States. Americans, I fear, construe it to mean an armed attack on Washington. Yet it is a sound and proper word and fits into the vocabulary of a republic, as well as into the written and spoken language of a monarchy. Why, even the wheels of a bicycle revolve; otherwise it wouldn't go."

"What have you to say about the American Sunday?"

OUR SUNDAY.

"That the manner of its non-observance points certainly to national destruction. Bridge whist, automobile trips, dinner parties, and similar propanations of the Sabbath are perils which Americans have more need to fear than socialism, anarchy, or anything else. The furious push of American life, the living on ones' nerves, and the burning of one's blood demand a day of peace, and rest when the commercializing of the spirit may be forgotten for a time and the mind and body, yes, and the heart, be given the tranquillity which nature requires and God commands.

"Furthermore, the millions who are coming here out of the night of European ignorance should have the restraining and religious influence of an undesecrated Sabbath. People say, 'Oh, but we take Tennyson and Shakespeare to the hillside and read.' Is there any harm,' they ask, 'in that?' My answer is that they do not take Tennyson or Shakespeare to the hillside to read. Pretty words cannot conceal ugly facts."

"Do you preach a personal devil?"

"What—what is that? Really, your question is a great surprise to me. I had quite forgotten that any one believed in a personal devil. You might as well have asked me if I preach the doctrine of everlasting punishment for the wicked. The doctrine is preached, I know, but sensible and scholarly persons reject it absolutely. It is denied, moreover, on every page of the New Testament. There will be suffering for sin, of course, but the thought of everlasting torture is simply horrible. I agree with the old man who, having heard a sermon on literal sulphur and fire, complained to Tennyson, saying: 'It's terrible to burn forever. I can't believe it. Besides, no constitution can stand it.'

"I do not know what is to happen when we die, but I am satisfied to believe we shall live on as we have lived here, made better by experience and in the chastening we have received on earth. I was born into this life, and I shall die into another. And God, it is clear to me, will give sinners a chance."

"How can workingmen be brought into the churches?"

TO GET WORKINGMEN.

"I cannot get the attitude of American workingmen as yet, but I know the situation in England. I preached in two churches which were largely attended by artisans. They had a feeling that if they worked for $7 a week their preacher should not be paid any more. Their view was a part of the problem concerning the church and its relations to labor. No way has been found to increase the interest of workingmen as a class in organized religion. It must be remembered that churches are compelled to pay 100 cents on the dollar for light, fuel, janitor service, hymn books, and other necessary expenses. If a minister preach against property, the man who has a shilling to lose calls him a Socialist and withdraws his support. Meanwhile the workingman has not been attracted, and the minister goes down to the floor between the two stools.

"I have great sympathy with the minister who is trying to do the right thing. Several honest and fearless men whom I know have been ruined. They spoke with courage, but the workingmen did not respond and soon their churches were empty. The smug preachers, on the other hand, went the old, comfortable way, lived in serenity and had plenty of money with which to educate their children. Beyond the simple statement of fact that the workingmen need the churches and the churches need the workingmen, the question remains unsettled."

"You believe women should be given the right of suffrage?"

"Yes. Politics in this country has become a dirty business. I think a new and wholesome influence should be brought into the electorate to work a moral regeneration."

"What do you think about Socialism?"

"Socialism means one thing in Europe, and quite another thing in the United States. Everybody in England believes in Socialism. The tramways of Liverpool are owned by the city, and the service has been improved and cheapened. But in England public office is honorable and free. Men serve with integrity and without pay. Here, everybody must have a salary, and the best citizens do not get into the boards of aldermen. Before Socialism is tried in America there ought to be a moral movement to prepare men for the change, otherwise politics would be a dirtier business than ever."

JOHN D.

"When did you become acquainted with John D. Rockefeller?"

"After I arrived here to be pastor of the Fifth Avenue Church. A partner in the banking house of Blair & Co. heard me preach in Liverpool. At the end of the sermon he came forward and spoke to me. Before returning to New York he bought several of my books. He suggested me to the Fifth Avenue Church. You," and Dr. Aked slightly increased the energy of his speech, "had as much to do with my coming to the United States as did Mr. Rockefeller."

"What caused you to enter the ministry?"

"I had been an auctioneer for the sheriff of Derbyshire. When goods were seized under a process of the law I sold them. I was 17 years old. Then I went into business with a merchant broker. He disposed of his business and emigrated to New Zealand. He lent me ship money, and I was to go along with him. The minister of the church I attended, to whom I applied for a letter of recommendation, asked why I didn't remain at home and be a preacher.

"'I should like to,' I said, 'but I haven't the means to get an education. My parents, as you know, are working people.'

"'It can be arranged,' the minister answered. So I went to college instead of to New Zealand."

LADIES—LADIES—LADIES.
WITH SUPERFLUOUS HAIR ON THE FACE, ARMS, HANDS, NECK, EYEBROWS AND BUST.
We make a specialty of removing superfluous hair, moles, warts, birth marks and guarantee our work absolutely.
REMEMBER—We use the latest scientific FIVE NEEDLE method so extensively used in the East, and remove 250 to 300 hairs per hour, while no operator using only one needle can remove over 60 per hour and do good work. We have tried it for years.
REMEMBER—We guarantee to kill every hair we treat, and should any return we will gladly remove them FREE OF CHARGE and thank you for the privilege of doing so. Try it; it's your only hope.
REMEMBER—The same number of hairs we remove, costing you $10, would cost you $25 elsewhere. One treatment will convince you how quickly we do it. NO PAIN, NO SCARS—this we guarantee.
REMEMBER—Your face is getting worse daily. Pulling, cutting and depilatories only increase the growth. A talk with us will do no harm. Consultation free.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE LINERS—
Classified real estate advertisements for insertion in THE SUNDAY TIMES must be in the office not later than 10:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Other "want" advertisements for Sunday insertion will be taken over the counter until 11:30 p.m.
The great volume of liners printed in The Sunday Times, numbering regularly over 5000 separate announcements, makes this regulation absolutely necessary in order to get the big Sunday issue out on time.

PROF. W. E. KING, Los Angeles' celebrated psychic, is permanently located here. His honesty, test of time and 33 years' continuous practice as a psychic have proved beyond all doubt that PROF. W. E. KING is the leader of his profession.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.
Never before in the history of occult science has a man of PROF. W. E. KING'S professional standing consented to place his services at the disposal of the public for such a nominal consideration. Realizing that this city has been overrun with pretenders and that many of its citizens are anxious to visit a genuine psychic PROF. W. E. KING has decided to place his consultation fee within the reach of all.

EXTRAORDINARY PSYCHIC POWER, combined with his superior knowledge of occult force, enables him to read human life with unerring accuracy from infancy to old age; his powers are wonderful and indisputable; his advice is reliable, his information clear, concise and to the point; will tell you every hope, fear, ambition, better than you could tell it yourself.

IF YOU ARE GOING TO SEE A PSYCHIC WHY NOT SEE THE BEST?
As the best is always the cheapest in the end. Better consult no psychic at all than one who is unable to help you, as false prophets do more harm than good, as they leave you in a worse condition than before by their false advice, based upon guesses; but PROF. W. E. KING has an established reputation; testimonials and credentials from thousands of your own citizens and friends.

"Arise! Throw off thy shackles!" Exchange sorrow for joy, darkness for light. "Be master of your own destiny."

SUCCESS AND HAPPINESS, pointed out to all. The grand results obtained by those who have consulted W. E. King is positive proof of his superior power to reveal the mysteries of the future. When truth is revealed, as it always is when they consult the peer of all life readers, the universal expression is, I am satisfied and happy since I consulted W. E. King.

Call and he will guide you with certainty higher than human power; tells you the truth, good or bad.

STANDING CHALLENGE:
$5000.
FOR HIS EQUAL.
$5000.

Others may come and others may go, but W. E. KING always remains.

If you have already made a mistake, thrown away your money and lost confidence through dealing with much-advertised and self-styled palmists and psychics and their cheap, clap-trap methods, start from the beginning and consult PROF. W. E. KING. He will tell you frankly your condition and what you may expect; if nothing can be done for you he will not take one cent of your money. Has not this honesty on the face of it?

PROF. W. E. KING FORETELLS MANY GREAT EVENTS.
Some of the prophecies made by PROF. W. E. KING and which were fulfilled to the letter and day were:
The explosion of the United States warship Bennington at San Diego, Cal. It was predicted that on that day the government would lose a ship in the Pacific.
PROF. W. E. KING, Psychic, had warned the public of San Francisco's earthquake of 1906 for years.
PROF. W. E. KING predicted the Japanese-Russian war. The day of the month and year was predicted on which hostilities would be begun and the victory of the Japanese.
PROF. W. E. KING predicted the late President McKinley's assassination at "Buffalo Exposition."
PROF. W. E. KING predicted the assassination of Carter Harrison the elder, three weeks before the weak-minded Prendergast fired the fatal shot at Chicago's chief executive.
PROF. W. E. KING predicted the earthquake at Kingston, Jamaica, W. I.; the earthquake in Chile; the Thaw-White tragedy; also predicted the Galveston flood.
PROF. W. E. KING, Psychic, has foretold many great events that took place on the day set.

Recommended by a New York Judge; August 20, 1905—I cheerfully recommend Prof. King as a gifted psychic. He predicted my election. JUDGE F. B. CROWELL, Supreme Judge.

FROM LILLIAN RUSSELL, THE WELL-KNOWN ACTRESS.
I was greatly impressed with PROF. W. E. KING'S reading. His powers are truly marvelous. He develops in one a force that enables them to attract people, to interest them and to please them to their good and to your advantage without the least effort on one's part. His advice and assistance have been of great benefit to me.

FROM A PROMINENT MINISTER.
I desire to bear evidence to the genuineness of PROF. W. E. KING'S work. God gives to us an intuition whereby we may guide our lives. That PROF. W. E. KING possesses this guiding power to a marvelous degree is evident. The fact that his clients are his warmest and truest friends is alone a tribute to his sincerity and honest methods in dealing with all. He has rendered me immeasurable assistance. Rev. W. C. Jessup.

FROM M. ROTHSCHILD, THE WELL-KNOWN FINANCIER.
For the past five years PROF. W. E. KING'S advice and assistance has been of great benefit to me. I have tested nearly every psychic in this country, and find PROF. W. E. KING'S advice reliable and far superior to any that I have ever met.

To Whom it May Concern: We take great pleasure in recommending our brother, PROF. W. E. KING, as a psychic of good standing, having to our knowledge been fully developed in all the various phases of mental psychicship. We cordially recommend him to any individual or society that may need his services.
Dr. John Westerfield,
President Indiana State Association of Spiritualists.
Chesterfield, Ind., September 4, 1896.

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE.
205½ S. SPRING, NEAR THIRD ST.
EXPERT ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST.
A resident of Los Angeles 25 years, and whose work is known throughout this entire land, has made a life study of ASTROLOGY AND PALMISTRY, convincing hundreds of the BEST INTELLECTS and persons in all walks of life that his REMARKABLE READINGS and PREDICTIONS for future events in their lives are UNPARALLELED.
PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The HOROSCOPE—calculated from the PLANETS at your birth, will show what a powerful influence they have in all affairs of life. It shows diseases, deaths, domestic affairs, financial affairs; your talents; your environment; tells about children, when and where to travel; what to seek and what to avoid; when in danger of illness, accidents, death, losses, troubles, etc., etc., also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES OF THESE EVENTS FOR THE FUTURE. In fact, the HOROSCOPE gives ACCURATE AND RELIABLE information on ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE—telling everything about one's self worth knowing, being in truth one of the best guides in life that the world offers. YOUR HOROSCOPE is also a key to the character of others—showing how best to deal with those you come in contact—and in this respect can be of the utmost use to you.
PROF. ALTHOUSE is an expert PALMIST, and WITH EACH PALM READING GIVES ALSO AN ASTROLOGICAL READING.
PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Ethel Barrymore, Paul de Longpre, Admiral Schley, Senator Clark, ex-Gov. Pardee, David Starr Jordan, Gen. Chaffee, Baron Rothschild, Joaquin Miller, Ysaye, Sousa, Edison, Capt. Hobson, Caruso, Josef Hoffman, Huntington, Lillian Nordica, Calve, Julia Marlowe, Modjeska, Sembrich, Jefferson, Lillian Russell, Nat Goodwin, Maxine Elliott, Fritzi Scheff, Rose Melville, etc. He stands at the very head of his profession, and his skilled work must in no wise be classed with that of other readers.
PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of horoscopes and hand reading has brought him a large and successful practice. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances.
HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

PERSONAL—
MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at 332 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store,) by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND-READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.
The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines, that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT INFORMATION.
PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.
Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions, success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry, WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.
MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.
HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

WANTED — HUNDREDS OF YOUNG MEN all over the United States are every week investigating the opportunities to be found in the navy. About 200 of those who apply are accepted. You might be one of them if you looked into the matter. In the navy you can see more of the world, and at the same time have a steady job, with a chance to save more money than most men save working at home. There are many kinds of work in the navy, and the life is interesting and full of opportunities. The first year you get the benefit of a training school without extra cost. Your pay begins when you enter the service—board, lodging, medical attendance, if sick, and a $60 uniform outfit, all are free. If you have a trade it means better pay to begin with and quicker promotion.

As a seaman you have a chance to become manly and self-controlled. You will be sent to sea, probably on board one of the big new war vessels.

Tear this adv. out and get some friends to go with you to the recruiting station. The officers will explain truthfully all you wish to know about life in the navy, the useful things you learn, the voyages, drills, sports, number of working hours, and regular half days off, the wages paid, promotions, etc.

The NAVY RECRUITING STATION is at SAN FERNANDO BUILDING, Fourth and Main sts., Los Angeles, Cal. •

ALL CARS LEFT FOR SALE HAVE OUR PERSONAL ATTENTION, AND STORED FREE OF CHARGE.

NOTICE: We are the originators of the auto brokerage business in Los Angeles, and are in a position to verify our statement. Many brokers claim all sorts of things, oldest established, largest assortment of cars to select from, etc., which is misleading to outside buyers and prospective purchasers. We claim to do and are able to do what we advertise in the daily papers. ANY ONE VISITING OUR ESTABLISHMENT, AFTER LOOKING ELSEWHERE, CAN READILY UNDERSTAND WHY WE LEAD ALL OTHERS in this particular line of business and make more and quicker sales. Let any other brokers show a BONA-FIDE RECORD of eight sales of second-hand cars the first six days of the new year: FRANKLIN, TWO CADILLACS, '08 REO TOURING CAR, '08 NEW OLDSMOBILE TOURING CAR, '07 OLDSMOBILE ROADSTER, QUEEN LIGHT TOURING CAR, WAVERLY ELECTRIC.

SINCE THE FIRST OF JANUARY WE have been compelled to sacrifice all stock carried over from 1908 and have cut our former prices from 20 per cent. to 35 per cent. If you will stop to think, this makes a big saving to anyone intending to make the purchase of a slightly used second-hand car. Also we make a practice of making a cut on every car that has stood on the floor over thirty days. If you are considering the purchase of a car, don't buy until you have seen our good cars at rock bottom prices.
RUNABOUTS.
Two 4-cylinder Fords, fully equipped; one Maxwell, top, all necessaries. One Stoddard-Dayton. A big snap. One 4-cylinder Cameron. One Waverly Stanhope Electric, good as new, beautiful leather top, slip covers, good tires, new batteries, will be sold for less than half of its original cost. One 2-cylinder Queen, in perfect order.
ROADSTERS.
'08 Jackson, double rumble seat, run 800 miles. One '08 Mitchell, $350 worth of extras. One '08 Continental, cost $1200, sacrifice for less than half. One '08, 40-h.p. Wayne, new in August.
TOURING CARS.
'08 Elmore, fully equipped, only run 969 miles. '08 40-h.p. Wayne, new in September. Late model Jackson, practically new. Model "K" Winton, 30-h.p., just repainted, looks like new. One 45-h.p. Pierce Great Arrow, full equipment, $200 worth of extras.
IMPORTED CARS.
35-h.p. Panhard, fitted with Rothchild body, original cost $9000. This car will be sacrificed for spot cash.
All of the above cars are absolutely guaranteed in perfect running order and we will cheerfully demonstrate to intending purchasers. Don't buy elsewhere until you have seen our goods.

GOVERNMENT LANDS—
And Land Scrip.

FOR SALE—
320 ACRES

Elevation 1500 feet. Soil, sandy, silt, vegetable loam.
Climate, none better.
Seven hours' ride on Salt Lake railroad, takes you to land.
Near the growing town of Otis.
Plenty of water. Land is near the town, school, P. O., barber shop, restaurants, hotel, express office, etc., in fact a new town.
You do not have to live on the land.
The wide-awake men of California are selecting these lands.
Have you exercised your right to take up land in California?
Your right, once exercised, becomes valuable, for good water-bearing lands are sold every day and are hard to get.
This land is located in the center of Southern California.
Only 162 miles from Los Angeles, in a valley 5 miles wide, and about 20 miles long. Plenty of water for all purposes.
Think of it. You can own 160 or 320 acres, we show you the land, and survey it, we make out your filing papers and maps, you pay your money to the Government, prove up and get a deed from the U. S. government.
Two trains a day leave for this land.
Having surveyed and looked for good lands all over Southern California, I recommend this as the best land that is open and ready to file upon.
Over 7000 acres have been taken in the last 100 days.
Don't miss this opportunity if you have not exercised your right.
Call immediately. JOSEPH H. PARKER, SURVEYOR, 815 Security Bldg. 5th and Spring. F1225. •

FINE VALLEY—NOT DESERT PLAIN.

We have located some of the best Los Angeles people. You can talk with them. After you have talked with professional locators, let us tell you our little proposition. We are not real estate men, but took this land first ourselves after proving water, soil, climate. We charge about half the usual fee. Not much of this valley, but what there is is fine. Phone Main 2741 (in Sunday,) or call DON E. JOHNSON, cor. College and San Fernando sts. Parties Monday and Thursday. 17

YOU CAN TAKE 320 ACRES.
If you are interested in lands that can be taken under the desert act, we are prepared to show you good level land in Los Angeles county. The first party who took land dug a well 20 feet and got water. Come in and let us tell you about it.

EDUCATIONAL—
Schools, Colleges, Private Tuition

SPANISH—
LOS ANGELES POSTOFFICE.
It affords me great pleasure to recommend Prof. Ricardo Uribe (619 S. Hill st.) as the best teacher of Spanish in Los Angeles.
After taking a course with Prof. Uribe and having thoroughly investigated methods in use by other instructors, I am in a position to say that the system as taught by this professor is the most intelligent, comprehensive and most concise of any that has come to my observation.
In a word, Spanish as taught by Prof. Uribe is without a doubt the most thorough and easily learned of any system now in use.
EARL F. PLUMPTON,
Postoffice Clerk, Station C, Los Angeles, Cal.

Spanish quickly taught as it is spoken; no grammar needed; a notebook is all you have to buy.
Private lessons, every day from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.
Beginners' class, Wednesdays and Saturdays, from 7 to 8 p.m.
Advanced class, Tuesdays and Fridays, from 1 to 2 p.m., and also from 7 to 8 p.m.
Persons tired of buying and studying grammars, silly books called "readers" and "methods," are especially invited to visit my classes.
PROF. RICARDO URIBE, 619 S. Hill st. 17

MUSICAL INSTRUCTION—

SIGHT, SINGING AND VOICE CULTURED. It is sad, but nevertheless true, that many young ladies and gentlemen spend years of time and purses of money in trying to learn to sing, and then wake up, as it were, to find themselves a failure as a singer. They have applied for many positions; they have sung in many try-outs; they have had their friends importune church committee after church committee for standing, and they wonder why it is that they cannot secure a renumeration for their services. Their voices have been well cultivated, they sing many beautiful songs; they have "tone, color and expression," yet the thing that is lacking is the one that they care least for; General Musicianship. There is not a choir in Los Angeles that cares to accept a singer who cannot read music at sight. There are no short cuts in learning to read music; there is only one sure way; and that is a well grounded solfaing of melodies. It does not take one long to learn to read vocal music. A few months' time with a good teacher will place the applicant in a position to master the subject of sight singing. We propose, in our school, to remove this worry from the minds of our singers by teaching them at a reasonable price that which is necessary for a singer to know in addition to voice work. One trial lesson free by appointment. Call on P. M. at our studio, Blanchard Hall Bldg, room 231. J. N. WHYBARK. 17

DO YOU POSSESS A VOICE? HAVE YOU studied voice production? Has your voice been mutilated instead of cultivated? If you are interested I will be pleased to give you a demonstration of proper breathing, also show you how to sing with vibration, color and expression; I place my pupils before intelligent and select audiences when sufficiently advanced, giving them opportunity to acquire ease and confidence. Voice trial and 1 lesson free, by appointment only. GEO. H. CARR, Room 204 Blanchard Hall. Home Ex. 82.

HOMES FOR SURVIVORS.

President Roosevelt Will Use Government Appropriation to House Sicilians.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—An innovation in international relief measures, so far as Europe is concerned, will be undertaken by the American government in expending the $800,000 appropriated by Congress for the Italian earthquake sufferers. Realizing that a great need among the sufferers will be shelter, President Roosevelt has decided to send to Italy material for the construction of 2500 or 3000 substantial but modest frame houses.

Ever since the appropriation was made serious consideration has been given by the President and the State Department as to the best uses that could be made of it in the way of relief. A final decision was reached yesterday.

Verbal instructions were given by President Roosevelt to Secretary Newberry to enlist the machinery of the Navy Department. Mr. Newberry has already been able to make partial arrangements for carrying out the President's orders.

Queen Helen of Italy will manage the distribution of the Christian Herald fund. Dr. Louis Klopsche of the Christian Herald has promised to start the fund with a gift of $5000.

Total contributions received by the National Red Cross for the Italian victims now amount to $807,565.

RENEW STANDARD ATTACKS.

Dissolution Suit and Landis Fine Retrial Will Converge in Chicago, Tuesday.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—The government's two lines of attack on the Standard Oil Company are expected to converge in this city next Tuesday, when Special Examiner Franklin Ferriss will resume proceedings in the dissolution suit and District Judge Anderson will take up the re-trial of the rebate case on which Judge Landis's fine of $29,000,000 was wiped out by the Supreme Court.

Ten subpoenas were issued today for government witnesses in the dissolution suit. It is expected that some of the witnesses will offer testimony in rebuttal of that given by John D. Rockefeller and John D. Archbold in New York.

SUPPLIES ARRIVE.

PALERMO, Jan. 16.—The chartered steamer Bayern, carrying relief supplies purchased with money raised in the United States, arrived here this morning.

RAILROAD RECORD.

OLD BONDS TO BE SUNDERED.

St. Paul's New Line May Alter Railroad Map.

Breaks Off Compact With Union Pacific.

Harriman's System Will Start Competition.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The construction of the St. Paul's extension to the Pacific Coast is going to change the entire western railroad map, so far as the interchange of traffic among railroads is concerned. One of the most important and far-reaching results will be the severance of the close traffic relations which now exist between the St. Paul and the Union Pacific railroads.

A preferential tariff contract was made about six years ago between the St. Paul and the Harriman lines, after the St. Paul had rebuilt its Chicago-Omaha line and began to make a strenuous bid for Pacific Coast business. At that time the Northwestern road also had what traffic men called a "preferential agreement" with the Union Pacific, whereby the latter should work for and favor above all others the Northwestern as its eastern connection.

This contract, which was in writing, bound the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific men to work for the Northwestern when working for their own roads. In other words, in getting freight the agents of the Union Pacific always tried to route it over the Northwestern, and the Northwestern did the same for the Union Pacific.

Roswell Miller was then a member of the Union Pacific's board, and he resigned, making the statement that he saw no advantage to the St. Paul in having a member on that board.

For a time there was serious trouble, which was finally adjusted by the Union Pacific giving the St. Paul a contract equally favorable to that enjoyed by the Northwestern.

Now that the St. Paul and the Hill lines are running through passenger trains to the Northwest, the Harriman lines and the Northwestern are figuring on service to compete with them.

COAST SHACKELED.

WANT DUTIES REMOVED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Founders and Employés Association of Los Angeles, at the annual meeting held here January 6, adopted resolutions declaring it to be their belief that if duties were taken off iron, pig iron and coke, Pacific Coast States could and would produce thousands of tons of iron and steel materials for domestic use which now have to be procured at the cost of high freight rates from other parts of the country, and that the Coast would ship large quantities of these materials to the Orient, South America, Australia and Africa. The materials could be brought to the Coast cheaply in shipments now coming in ballast. Resolutions were sent to the Ways and Means Committee by Wm. B. Hoswell, secretary, and have been incorporated in printed hearings before the committee.

ALFALFA LAND AT CORCORAN
$50 Per Acre And Up

Choice Alfalfa and Dairy Lands

Five Years to Complete Payments. Ranchers Net $100 to $1500 Per Mo.

If you want the best alfalfa and dairying proposition in the State—go to Corcoran. If you want to live where there are fine improvements, unexcelled natural advantages, best transportation facilities, abundant water from flowing wells, free natural gas privileges, social and educational advantages—go to Corcoran. If you want the kind of land that is bringing Corcoran ranchers from $100 to $1500 per month, you can get it at $50 net per acre and up. Go up with us on our excursion Wednesday evening. We leave in a comfortable Pullman sleeper. The next morning you enter the garden spot of the San Joaquin Valley—the Corcoran District—where you can make money in alfalfa and dairying on 10 acres or 500 acres. Water is abundant and easily developed. Gas for light, heat, fuel and power is yours for the taking. Where in California can you find a better farming proposition?

Recent land sales aggregate over $100,000. Get our illustrated booklet, "Why Alfalfa at Corcoran Means Independence." See our gigantic exhibit of actual Corcoran scenes in north window of Central Building—corner Sixth and Main streets.

SHIPPERS REBUFFED.

POINT FOR COMPANY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Interstate Commerce Commission today in an opinion by Commissioner Harlan, announced its decision in the case of J. C. Blume & Co., against Wells, Fargo & Co.

Shippers demanded reparation because of the failure of the express company to make prompt delivery of a carload of fruit at the unloading station designated by shippers whereby the latter were unable to take advantage of a high rate, but were compelled later to sell at lower prices.

The commission held that complaints for damages of this character are not cognizable by the commission. Prompt and safe carriage of goods is an obligation enforced upon carriers by common law and not by an act to regulate commerce. Damages may be awarded by the commission only for a violation of some provision of the Interstate Commerce Act.

TO VITALIZE LAW.

STATE BUILT ROADS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GUTHRIE (Okla.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A bill is being drawn by Senator David Marum of Woodward, authorizing the State to build railroads out of State funds. It will be introduced in the near future, and vitalizes a constitutional provision. The plan of Marum is to outwit capitalists and railroad men who claim Oklahoma's experimental laws have stopped railroad construction in the State. Marum discussed his plan recently before the State Bar Association in Oklahoma City.

MINISTER BECOMES HEALER.

Patients of Kansas City Pastor so Numerous That He Gives up Preaching.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. A. T. Osbrun, pastor of Bennington Heights Methodist Church, who sprung into prominence some months ago by exposing the mechanical methods used by the Bangs sisters in producing "spiritual pictures," has resigned his pastorate. Henceforth he will devote his time to metaphysics and lecturing. The Rev. Mr. Osbrun, who has come to be known as the doctor of delusions from the innumerable cures he has effected with people suffering from nervous diseases, has so many patients that little time is left for ministerial work.

The followers of Schroeder and other divine healers are insignificant in comparison. While Dr. Osbrun believes in the efficacy of prayer, he claims that he cures through mental suggestion. So numerous have his patients become that he has established a school for the teaching of his cult.

WRIGHTS IN WRECK.

Orville and His Sister Escape Injury in Head-on Smash in France.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PAU (France) Jan. 16.—Orville Wright, the American aëroplanist, his sister, Miss Katherine Wright, and Mrs. Hart O. Berg, wife of the European manager of the Wright brothers, were in a wreck near Habas, in the Landas district, today.

None of them sustained injury, but ten of the passengers on the train were hurt, four of them seriously.

The Wright party was on the express train from Paris. The express ran into an accommodation train bound from Dax, just before entering the Habas tunnel. Both engines were destroyed and all the passengers were shaken up.

The journey was resumed on another train which brought the Americans in this afternoon.

—o—

Our Advantage.

One of our great advantages here is that we are a new country in the sense of civilization. We are old enough in the natural sense and nature has done her full share for us. No lands present more attractive coloring than ours and none a more varied landscape, from the sands where the ocean waves break to the mountain crag crowned with a growth of giant pines or capped with everlasting snows. The course of our streams, the contour of our plains, and all, are quite as attractive as any land in any part of the globe. In the sense of human civilization we are new. We may lay out our streets and roads untrammeled by any traditions of the past. We have the world to choose from in the way of all the vegetable growth of creation, which all flourish here as luxuriantly as in their original habitat, from the pine of the Arctic regions to the palm of the tropics. Another advantage is the vast expanse of our country here. New York is hemmed in upon a little flat-iron, and so is San Francisco. Under such circumstances every square inch of area must be utilized for building purposes and the buildings must be run to a height which makes the streets more like alleys than thoroughfares. Shrubbery and flowers are almost out of the question and a tree is scarcely a possibility. With twenty miles of level ground around us along the shortest lines and hundreds of miles on others, the Los Angeles residence usually occupies an ample piece of ground to permit of a good deal of landscape gardening effect.

—o—

Good Roads Are Coming.

Very shortly after this article shall have appeared in print, the work of building a system of good roads throughout the county of Los Angeles will be under way. By the end of the first decade of the century we shall probably have several hundred miles of these roads. The different communities surrounding the country can not get to work too soon in building branches to connect with the country system of good roads. It is easily ascertainable where these shall run. Money could not be better spent than in building short local lines, which will connect the county systems. This should be a township affair and each township would do well to confer with the Supervisor of the district, get together with others and make plans for the expenditure of the road funds in such a way as to aid in this very desirable work. If a few good cross roads are built in this way it will not be long until the farmers right and left from these will see the advantage of making their own roads as good as possible. In this way by general effort and mutual coöperation we shall soon have Los Angeles county grid-ironed with good roads.

Art Will Follow.

Once this system of good roads is completed, the whole appearance of the country will soon become transformed. Every farmer whose property abuts upon a piece of good highway and whose house looks out upon such a thoroughfare will take pride in putting all his premises in the most attractive form. The country will cease to be a place of almost isolated dwellings. The traffic upon these good roads will be very much increased. Touring parties will be of hourly occurrence and we shall soon have Southern California converted into one of the most beautiful regions of the would from the point of human art as from the point of natural endowments.

About Hollow Tile.

A week ago Fact and Comment referred to building material and discussing hollow tile and cement expressed the opinion that the reinforced cement building would be more stable than the hollow tile? A material man of this city calls our attention to the superiority of the burned clay or hollow tile over the cement in the matter of resisting attack by fire. This department has no interest in one kind of material above the other. The advocacy was for home-made material because of its superior qualities in the matter of lasting, and because its use tends to build up important home industries. No doubt the communication is quite correct in pointing out the resisting quality of the burned tile in case of a conflagration.

THIS PASADENA HOME WILL BE COLONIAL MANSION.

Handsome Home Designed for E. R. Kellam, northeast corner of Orange Grove avenue and Columbia street.

E. R. Kellam is building a handsome residence of the Colonial type on the northeast corner of Orange Grove avenue and Columbia street, Pasadena. It was designed by Robert D. Farquhar.

The new building will be imposing, it being finished in white cement plaster, with the characteristic porch columns, of the Colonial style. Wrought-iron balconies lend a distinctive touch to the exterior. The house will occupy a large lot, nearly 200 feet square, on which there are a number of handsome trees, and the architect has so planned the structure that these will not be disturbed. The house will cover a ground area 60x70 feet, and is being built around an older structure, which will be entirely hidden from either street, and will be used as the service portion of the new house.

A feature is the main room, 24x32 feet, which is entered from a large reception hall. A wide stairway rises from the latter to a spacious landing half way up, and is another feature of the interior. There are twelve large rooms in all, with a number of porches and balconies. The interior finish is of white enamel. The house will cost about $20,000.

LOOKS LIKE FINE HOME.

Handsome Building Just Completed on Scarff Street Is Well Planned Apartment House.

John R. Powers has completed a modern high class apartment-house, looking into beautiful St. James Park. The building occupies a lot on Scarff street, 60x182½ feet, to twenty-foot alley, and is of brick, 53x90 feet in size. It is built substantially with heavy brick walls, and in addition a twelve-foot firewall, through the center.

The exterior appearance is that of a beautiful aristocratic residence. It is divided into four apartments of seven rooms each, quite unlike anything in the city. The apartments are very homelike, each living-room having a large fireplace and den. The walls are richly decorated with fine old German and English tapestry designs. A feature in each of the dining-rooms is a large buffet sideboard, twelve feet long, with bevel plate mirrors and leaded glass cupboards. The bedrooms are in white enamel, with delicately-tinted walls, and all have large closets with ample windows for ventilation and light. A bathroom is located between the bedrooms.

Passing through a French door one enters an outdoor sleeping-room, which is another delightful feature. There are three bedrooms in each apartment and in addition a servant's room opposite the kitchen. The kitchen is in white enamel with tile sink and large built-in cupboards. In the rear of the kitchen, is a screen porch, conveniently located and virtually independent of the rest of the apartment.

"This class of apartment-house is needed," said Mr. Powers, the owner. "I find people have been paying fabulous prices for cramped-up apartments with scarcely room to turn around and very little fresh air to breathe. These apartments are home-like, spacious, well arranged, and every room is on the outside."

The building was designed by George H. Wryman. The property represents an investment of $35,000.

"SOMETHING DOING."

REALTY STIRS AT SAN DIEGO.

A HUNDRED-THOUSAND-DOLLAR HOTEL PLANNED.

Former Mayor Sells Two Valuable Corners at Tenth and D Streets. Announces He Will Build Six-Story Structure in Downtown Section. Escondido Ranch Sold.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 16.—With the growing return of business confidence and an increasing influx of tourists, San Diego realty brokers are beginning to experience an activity which recalls the thriving times previous to the panic of two years ago. During the last week several large deals in business property have been made, showing the general upward trend of the market. At least one deal is taken to assure the early erection of a $100,000 tourist and commercial hotel downtown.

D. C. Reed, a former Mayor, has sold the northeast corner of Tenth and D streets, 100x100 feet, to John H. Gay, the owner of Lakeside Inn and other San Diego properties, for a consideration of $40,000. The property is improved with three dwellings each, bringing in a fair income. The corner is occupied by a two-story old-fashioned dwelling; the adjoining fifty feet on D street by a two-story flat building, and the rear fifty feet on Tenth, by a small cottage. Mr. Gay bought the property to hold as an investment.

D. C. Reed, together with the Neely brothers, has also sold the southwest corner of Tenth and D streets, nominally improved with a row of frame cottages, 150 feet on Tenth and 100 feet on D, for $45,000. The purchaser was L. J. Wilde, president of the American National Bank, and a well-known local capitalist. Mr. Wilde also bought these properties as an investment.

Following the sale of his two Tenth-street holdings, D. C. Reed has announced that he will shortly begin the erection of a modern five or six-story hotel building on the northeast corner of Third and C streets, in the heart of the downtown district. The structure will cost about $100,000. The site is at present occupied by a row of one-story brick business buildings. These will be razed soon to make room for the new hostelry.

One of the biggest deals in outside property recorded in some time was the sale of the McCoy ranch at Escondido, consisting of 2000 acres of tillable land, to Earl Cranston, a United States attorney, formerly of Denver. The consideration was $45,000. The grantors are Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Murtha of Old Town. The sale was made by W. N. Bradbury. The ranch lies a mile south of the Santa Fé depot, and is in the midst of a very fertile tract.

Among residence sales a five-room cottage and lot, on the east side of Twenty-third street, between A and B streets, has been sold by L. M. Meyer of Los Angeles, to a San Diego investor for $3500.

Three sales transferring property of a total value of about $12,000, were reported by the Union Investment Company. Lot 4, in block 14, Brooks addition, improved with a new six-room house, was sold by Florence V. Nichols to Frances L. Scott for about $4000. The property is located on Sixth street, between Brooks and Ivy, and the lot is 53x90 feet. Mr. Scott has also bought lot 15, in block 1, La Cañada tract, from Fanny T. Nichols, for $2000. A ten-acre lemon ranch at Chula Vista has been sold for Francis L. Scott to a local investor for a consideration of about $6000.

AT PLEASANT VIEW TERRACE.

Several sales were made in Pleasant View Terrace last week. This is J. Frank Bowen's tract No. 12. Many of the recent sales were influenced by the fact that the new Glendale electric line, on which work will be begun about the middle of February, will furnish Pleasant View Terrace with additional transportation facilities. Many new houses are in course of construction, and a number of purchasers of lots last week have arranged to build at once.

A HOME IN CALIFORNIA.

EASTERNERS BUY ORANGE GROVES.

PROPERTIES AT REDLANDS SOLD AT GOOD PRICES.

Bearing Orchards Sell at Thousand to Eighteen Hundred Dollars an Acre—Demand Is Greater Than the Supply—New Tract Offers Home Building Advantages.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

REDLANDS, Jan. 16.—High priced orange acreage in and about Redlands has been changing hands at a rapid rate during the last fortnight. This particular class of real estate is in great demand, both by residents, many of whom already have fine groves, and by newcomers from the East. The latter, after a short visit in this section, decide to purchase property, and to an Easterner nothing appeals quite so strongly as a California bungalow in the center of a fruit-laden orange grove. Prices received are very high, and even at these rates there are not enough ranches to supply the demand.

During the week W. C. Nickerson bought the L. S. Flateau grove of forty and one-half acres on West Colton avenue, paying, without this year's crop, a total of $51,000. The grove is one of the finest in the West Lugonia section. The trees are all Washington navels, eighteen years old. The output from this grove last year was 16,175 boxes. Fifty shares of Bear Valley water stock are included in the sale, as well as a good pumping plant. The sale was made by W. H. Van Leuven. It was purchased by Mr. Nickerson as an investment.

G. L. Kean has purchased from Mrs. L. E. Morse, the ten-acre orange grove adjoining his home place on the East. The grove is on the south side of Almond avenue, between Alabama and Nevada streets, and is planted to Washington navels about twelve years old. The place is improved with a cottage. Several shares of water stock and a pumping plant are included in the sale. The consideration was about $15,000.

E. D. Higginbotham has purchased the La Grange grove, on West Colton avenue near Mentone, for a consideration of $18,000. It is a ten-acre grove, planted to navels and is considered an extra choice piece of property. Mr. Higginbotham is foreman of the Golden Orange Association at its Crafton packing house.

James C. Gogin has bought of J. W. Funka, a grove of ten acres of navels at the corner of Pioneer avenue and Church street. The trees are about twelve years old. The price paid was $10,000.

Peter Arth has sold to Charles S. Vail a fine five-acre grove of navel oranges on Pennsylvania avenue for a price approximating $7500. The grove is an unusually good one. The trees are eight-year-old navels, and are in fine condition. Five shares of Lugonia water go with the deal, and the crop now on the trees is also included.

A number of the lots made available by the opening of Alvarado street, south from Fern avenue, are beginning to move, as the property is considered choice for building sites. With the provision that the Domestic Water Company put water on the tract three lots have been sold by Miss Gertrude Hayes. The purchasers are H. W. Seager, Rev. William Love and T. E. N. Eaton. The lots are 70x225 feet each, and sold at $20 per front foot or $1400 each. Each of the purchasers expects to build handsome homes on the lots.

BIG CASH DIFFERENCE.

The northwest corner of Hope and Ninth streets, 115 feet on Hope and 156 feet on Ninth, to an eighteen-foot alley, has been exchanged, at a valuation of $135,000, for property at Nos. 560-66 Crocker street, No. 647 Crocker street, and at Nos. 741-747 Gladys avenue, valued at $40,000. The difference of $95,000 was paid in cash. The deal was made through the agency of Warren H. Cook. The Hope-Ninth corner was owned by Mrs. Lulu K. Willey, and the other properties by W. H. Clunne.

NEW TRACT ON MARKET.

W. I. Hollingsworth & Co. have placed on sale the first subdivision adjoining the townsite of Lomita. The addition has been platted in acre lots, and adjoins the northern line of the townsite. Excursions will be run to the property. Lomita is in the San Pedro harbor territory. It is close to the new channel now being dredged into Bixby slough, and has electric railway facilities at Weston street. Besides the town lots, most of the property sold heretofore has been in five and ten-acre parcels.

$3750.
BUNGALOW, CLOSE IN.

A charming six-room home, very attractive, only 2 years old, at a surprising bargain. It must be sold. The location is just off Figueroa street, in one of the prettiest, shaded, southwest avenues,—a street 80 feet wide; lined throughout with beautiful homes. This house has an abundance of windows, admitting air and sunlight, a broad, long veranda, entrance hallway and all commodious, well fitted rooms. The built-in features are complete,—handsome mantel and fireplace, lighting fixtures, etc.; etc. The yard is attractive with flowers and shrubbery. It's just such a little home as you are looking for,—complete, well built and comfortable, and the price is way down below actual cost, only $3750.

$4300.
HANDSOME EAST FRONT HOME ON HARVARD BOULEVARD.

This is a modern, up to date, story-and-a-half, 7-room house, built 2 years ago,—just long enough to show its stability; fine living-room, dining-room, den and kitchen on first floor. Three good-sized sleeping rooms and bath on second floor. Oak floors, built-in buffet, handsome fixtures and roomy porches make this a complete little home; at $500 less than it can be duplicated for; $800 cash, balance easy terms.

$5300.
BEAUTIFUL SOUTHWEST BUNGALOW.

This handsome home lies on a beautiful street only 15 minutes by the West Adams car from the center of the city. It is admirably built, new, with every cosy convenience, hardwood floors throughout, furnace and a built-in bed that looks like an upholstered seat and coat rack. Every room is spacious; there are large plate glass windows; there are stone mantel and stone outside chimney; each bedroom has an immense closet fitted with a chest of drawers. The lot is 50x125 feet, with drive in, and located in a completely built-up neighborhood of nearly all 2-story homes. It's a bargain.

HARVARD HEIGHTS CORNER HOME.

Stop and think a minute and then consider this beautiful location, one block south of Pico, close to the Harvard School and Country Club, on a southeast elevated corner lot, large and highly improved with shrubs, flowers, etc. This home is a story and a half effect, with 3 extra large sleeping rooms. As you enter from the spacious front porch, to the left is a small reception room in white; the living-room, hall and dining-room, to the right, are finished in Flemish oak, beamed ceilings and 8-foot paneling. The kitchen and pantries are in keeping with this beautiful home. No better view of the mountains can be had anywhere in Los Angeles. It will require about half cash to handle this; no trade accepted as the owner is packed and ready to leave the city, and has cut the price fully $1500 under value.

BEAUTIFUL WEST ADAMS HEIGHTS HOME.

This is a new, seven-room, two-story house, modern in every particular. The rooms are extra large and well planned. The lower floor is finished in selected Oregon pine rubbed to a piano finish and stained golden oak. The second floor is in six-coat white enamel, and all the floors are of quarter-sawed oak. The bathroom furnishings, the hardware and the electric lighting fixtures are of the very best. The closets, pantries and kitchen are all that could be desired. There is a furnace and basement with both outside and inside entrances. If you are looking for a house of this size in a high class neighborhood, be sure and let us show you this one.

$6750.
NEW SWISS BUNGALOW.

This new creation will be complete within ten days, but is ready to show now. Hurry and see this if you want the most beautiful home of its size in this city. Although it is a bungalow effect there are two complete bedrooms and a large hall upstairs, with sanitary washstand and toilet. The ground floor is beyond description, but to give you an idea,—you enter the ground reception room, 16x28, paneled and beamed; at the south of this room is a Utah stone mantel in pure white with a large French plate mirror worked in the stone; on the walls will be expensive hangings. To the front, looking onto the street, is a den, 12x12 feet, with built-in seats and bookcases. Just off the living-room is the dining-room, also looking out to the street, with a handsome buffet with stained glass windows. All the glass on the front is extra heavy. To the east of the living-room again we have two handsome bedrooms, 16x14 feet, in white enamel with bath between, equipped with beautiful standard fixtures. The kitchen is the buffet style and the porch large, with two wash trays. On the rear of the bungalow is an artistic pergola opening onto this deep lot which is 178 feet deep. Location is superb; near Harvard School, Country Club and West Adams Heights. We can arrange terms.

TWO POSITIVE BARGAINS IN THE BEST PART OF WESTLAKE DISTRICT.

The first is a fine 8-room residence, with furnace, etc., on Westlake ave., on an east front lot 58x167½ to an alley. Two hundred and fifty dollars will make this place as good as any ten thousand dollar home in the neighborhood, and the price is only $7250.

The second bargain is on Bonnie Brae close to Ninth street. This home has nine fine rooms with oak floors throughout the house, furnace, etc., and the lot is 50x150 to an alley, and the price only $7500.

Neither of these properties will be on our hands long; so, if you really want a bargain and know one when you see it, move quickly.

FINE HOME CLOSE TO MARLBOROUGH SCHOOL.

Almost new, nine-room home at a sacrifice; hardwood floors, cellar, furnace, very large living-room and all the modern conveniences. It isn't very often we have an opportunity of offering such a good home in this location at such a price, and, in a year or two when the children are through school, this property should sell for more money. Location on West 29th street close to Hoover; large lot, highly improved with shrubs and flowers.

$8000.
BEAUTIFUL HOME ON HIGH GROUND.

If we sell this property before completion (that is, within the next two weeks,) the owner will take the above price, which is $1980 below its real value; nine large rooms, east front, on a spacious lot 50x178 with excellent car service. On the ground floor we have hall, den, living-room, dining-room, kitchen and servant's quarters upstairs,—five extra large bedrooms—very handsomely finished in white enamel. The bathroom is 12x14 feet with all the modern conveniences. There are commodious closets and extra built-in drawers and hat boxes. The lighting fixtures are very expensive and changes in them could be made if you hurry; furnace pipes to every room in the house. Don't forget the location—near Pico, east front, on the high ground, fifteen minutes to Broadway. Terms can be arranged although the above price is for cash only.

$23,000.
MAGNIFICENT WILSHIRE RESIDENCE WITH UNOBSTRUCTED MOUNTAIN VIEW.

This palatial ten-room residence is situated in the swellest section of the beautiful Wilshire district. The house is splendidly planned and is finished in selected hardwoods; the exterior is of stone and cement with old English tile roof. The reception hall, with its grand stairway and cathedral window, is one of the handsomest in the city. The living-room is thirty-eight feet long and opens on a pretty conservatory. The dining-room is 20x24 feet and handsomely equipped. There is a very pretty reception room or parlor. The kitchen and butler's pantry are modern to the smallest detail. On the second floor are four extra large sleeping rooms and the hall, in which the grand stairway ends, makes a cosy sitting room. There are also a maid's room and two beautiful bathrooms on this floor, and a solarium on the roof.

The grounds are handsomely improved with a garage, flowers, shrubs and lawns. The house has a modern heating plant together with Ruud heater. Altogether, this is a beautiful, livable home at a very low price.

THE BEST HOME ON WILSHIRE.

We present this superb residence as probably the most completely appointed and substantially constructed home in all the Wilshire district. Certainly it has no peer in location, for it stands on a southwest corner of the boulevard, 115x160 feet, only a step from the parks and in the heart of that choicest section lying at the crown of the first hill beyond Sunset. The view from its wide porches, down two spacious avenues, commands a panorama of city, foothills and snow-clad mountains which is shared by less than a dozen homes in all Los Angeles.

The grounds are slightly terraced, and the house stands sufficiently withdrawn to secure an admirable privacy. It is a dwelling built neither for show nor extravagance, but one in which both taste and excellence have combined to make a home of comfort and beauty. The entrance is into a reception room, spacious and quietly appointed, from which the broad stairs rise in elegant simplicity to a charming upper hall, lit with westerly sunlight through softly stained glass. To the left of the reception room lie the living-room and the library; on the right the dining-room; each a carefully planned and appointed apartment, complete to the last detail of modernity. The entire first floor, excepting a secluded den, and the entire second floor hallway are finished in carefully selected quarter-sawed oak, with broadly paneled doors. All the walls are covered with canvas and finished in oils; the selection of the colorings being one of the most pleasing points of beauty in this house. We might write a column describing the splendid sleeping apartments, the two baths, the several balconies, the many fireplaces, the billiard room, etc.—and last, the garage with its man's room above; but description is inadequate—you must see what an ideal home this is. We will show it by appointment at any time.

As a last word we want to say that to duplicate the property would cost you $10,000 more than the $50,000 asked.

NEW, MODERN 2-STORY RESIDENCE, $4750. WORTH $6500 MUST BE SOLD THIS WEEK.

What do you think of this? Here's a $6500 house for $4750. Situated on a boulevard; lot 60x150; it has just been completed, never occupied. There are 7 rooms, 4 of which are bedrooms. The finish throughout the lower floor is in antique oak, with hardwood floors, maple floors on the second story; the walls are paneled; there's a handsome old gold mantel with a heavy shelf and back and the lighting fixtures are very handsome. Between the dining-room and the modern, up-to-date kitchen is a fine butler's pantry, finished in white enamel, with numerous bins and drawers and glass-inclosed shelving. The white enamel gives a wonderful clean, bright look to these rooms. The bedrooms are of good size, beautifully tinted; have large closets and window seats; there are linen closets, a modern bathroom and a charming little balcony. The lot is an exceedingly desirable one, with a fence in the rear and palms and ornamental trees both in front and in the rear. We are pleased to especially recommend this property as an exceptionally good buy.

WEST ADAMS HEIGHTS.
JUST WEST OF BERKELEY SQUARE.
BUNGALOW BEAUTIFUL.

We have one of the most beautiful bungalows in the city. The owner is pressed for money and has cut the price $700 below actual cost. There are six rooms and den. Living-room 22x30, dining-room 16x16, with exquisite buffet. The bedrooms are unusually large. Hardwood floors throughout. Living-room, dining-room and reception hall paneled and beamed; bedrooms white enameled. The large mantel and open grate is Arizona sandstone, which produces a delicate harmony. The front is sandstone, with cement porch front and side. Furnace, cemented basement, boiler and gas water heater. Elaborate and expensive fixtures. This house is the equal of those that have sold for $7000 and $7500. There is a mortgage of $3500, at 7 per cent., which can be paid off or can run. If you are in the market for a bungalow, you will do well to see this before buying.

Price $6650. Lot 50x150 to alley.

Westlake Park four blocks west, this beautiful new 8-room house. It is an awfully good buy. Fronts east on 60-foot lot. Large living-room with Gruby tile mantel reaching to the ceiling. This feature, as well as many others, is entirely new. Most charming den, with folding doors and columns. Dining-room is 15x16, with buffet and sideboard. Cabinet kitchen. Cemented basement, with furnace. Wash trays, 2 toilets. Woodwork is piano finish. Fixtures especially handsome. We reiterate that this is a splendid buy. Large upper and lower front porches. The price has been reduced to $6500. As low as $1800 cash will handle it.

LOT 60 FEET FRONTAGE.

East front, between 16th and Washington. Eight rooms, 4 bedrooms and garage. This home was built by an architect for his own, but circumstances force him to dispose of and put a price that makes it look mighty good. Oak floors down, polished pine up. Open grate, porcelain bath, 2 toilets, handsome electric fixtures, gas piped to bedrooms, swell buffet. While the lot is only 60x70, you still have a back yard, and the price makes up for the short lot.

PRICE $6650.

JUST BEYOND WESTLAKE PARK.

We have the very place you will like. It fronts the park, too. You know what that's worth, don't you? Of course you will appreciate the joy and privilege of feasting your eyes on an exquisite landscape, with its velvety carpet of green, flowers, shrubbery and trees. Another good thing is the construction of this house. It may be dull reading to the wife, sister or daughter, but the man is glad to know that he is getting more than his money's worth when he buys a home. Foundation concrete, 2½ feet wide; joists 2x10, uprights 2x6, floors double matched, doors special, stringers 4x6. These few things will give you an idea of the solid construction. Now for interior. All woodwork first floor paneled and beamed in the best selected stained Oregon pine, hand-rubbed to piano finish, and hardwood floors. Second floor white enameled, six coats on all woodwork. Reception hall 8x15, living-room 20x30, dining-room 14x16, kitchen 9x10. Three large bedrooms and one small one. Furnace, cemented basement, automatic gas water heater, wash trays on rear screened porch. Beautiful open grate and large mantel in living-room. There are three porches; good garage with cement floor. The house cost to build 2½ years since $5000; the lot is worth $6250; total, $11,250. Yet you can buy it for $10,500. By the way, there are two vacant lots in the block. Try to buy one of them and see what they ask you.

FRONTING THE PARK, $10,500, ONLY.
LOT 50x130.

WILSHIRE BOULEVARD FRONTAGE.
CLOSE IN, OPPOSITE A BEAUTIFUL PARK.

Unobstructed view of mountains glorious. Eleven rooms; 6 bedrooms, billiard-room, 3 bathrooms, two beautifully tiled. First floor consists of reception hall; to the left a most beautiful living-room with open grate. From this room you pass into a charming den. To the right of reception hall is the spacious dining-room, with its elaborate buffet, thence into the pass pantry and kitchen, which contains every convenience to delight the cook's heart. There are three verandas and the screened porch. Very large basement, cemented, furnace, Ruud automatic gas water heater, wash trays. The first floor is beautifully paneled and beamed. Woodwork hand rubbed to piano finish. Wilshire boulevard and park frontage is a good thing to have, do you know that? It is worth money now, and will be worth more. This home has every convenience, and would undoubtedly please you. You could not build a house that would please you in every way when finished, so why don't you buy one already built that will please you just as well, saving the annoyance and risk of doing it yourself.

FOR SALE—
14,000. YOU'D EXPECT IT TO BE $2,000.
AN UNUSUAL OFFERING IN A HIGH-CLASS HOME, ON THE HEIGHTS.

One of the best TEN-ROOM homes on ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, and on THE BEST street; east front; 75-ft. lot; automobile driveway at the side, through a beautiful PERGOLA, supported by stone pillars, to a two-story GARAGE, with cement floor. The house is so complete, thorough and high-class, from the cement cellars to the FINISHED ATTIC, that details are unnecessary; but as illustrating its superiority over the ordinary "For Sale" offering, the BEAM CEILINGS are OAK—not pine; the paneling is OAK—not pine; the first floor finish is OAK (piano finish)—not Oregon pine; the decorating is HAND WORK, the floors are all HARDWOOD, the foundation is STONE, even the DOORS and SASH on first floor are OAK; while the same air of refinement is carried throughout the entire place. Yes, there are FOUR BEDCHAMBERS, besides servants' quarters, extra lavatories, etc., and the STAIRWAY is elaborately paneled in OAK.

Now this home was not built to SELL, but for the OWNER'S own use, and he supervised its construction—that means something, you know, but circumstances have arisen that enables us to offer it for the FIRST time. Reasonable terms can be arranged, if desired. See the beautiful PHOTOS in our window—you'll recognize them. TITLE is CLEAR—NO MORTGAGE.

A TYPICAL CALIFORNIA HOME IN BEAUTIFUL HOLLYWOOD.

$20,000.

This magnificent residence is constructed after the ideas of old Pompeii, modernized with the comforts of today.

Located on a large corner, surrounded by spacious lawns and gardens, with stately palms, orange trees, pines and rare roses, and nestled as it is at the very foot of the hills it is the one spot in California for such a home.

The twelve rooms are exceptionally large and ideally arranged for comfort.

Entering the reception hall the beauties of the Court in the immediate center confronts you, with its tropical shrubs and plants, the ever-playing fountain, its massive columns and inlaid marble floor, and the soft light from the cathedral glass overhead, on the dark Moorish red of the walls is in exact keeping with the most fastidious tastes.

All the main rooms enter on the Court by large French doors.

The finish throughout is of the finest selected white cedar, the floors of oak, except in the bedrooms, which are of birdseye maple.

The notable features of the bedrooms is their exceptional size and light and overhead ventilation. The closets are correspondingly large.

The bath is of white tile—both floor and walls, and the plumbing the finest to be had.

The kitchen, butler's pantry and laundry contain every conceivable convenience.

There are two servants' rooms with separate bath. A large cement cellar and oil burner furnace.

A roof garden covers the entire house, from where a magnificent view of the mountains, ocean and city of Los Angeles is always visible.

This residence could not be duplicated for the moderate price asked, having been built throughout by day labor.

You owe it to yourself to investigate this. It must be seen to be fully appreciated. Photographs at our office.

It is all that we claim, and we will gladly give you full information and particulars on application.

BUNGALOW SACRIFICE.

This is YOUR chance. Tomorrow it will be the other fellow's.

I am just completing a handsome, artistic, six-room bungalow at No. 2019 W. 31st st. Just one block from car and in the highest-grade bungalow section of the city. You cannot purchase anything in the vicinity, of equal grade, for less than $4000. This is not an extravagant statement, but one you can easily verify by inquiry into surrounding values. Why I am willing to sell so cheaply is my own affair. Gas, electricity, connection with city sewer, handsome fixtures, fine plumbing, pergola, porch across entire front, and south frontage. Convenient to drug store, grocery store, etc. If you really want a bungalow and have that much cash, now is your opportunity. Go out immediately. Take W. Jefferson car. Regular commission.

PAYING RENT,
And you'll never have a cent.
Be a home-maker and buy an acre. Just a little $10 down gets you an acre close to town. At Somerset the water is free. Make the excursion, go out and see.
I WILL SELL YOU A WHOLE ACRE
AT SOMERSET.
FOR $350.
$10 DOWN AND $10 A MONTH.
You would pay double that for a little city lot and not enjoy life half so well. Remember that SOMERSET IS ON THE ELECTRIC LINE,
20 MINUTES FROM HERE.
It is a thriving suburb; high land; electric railway station and power-house in center; streets all graded. Water from artesian wells under strong natural pressure piped to each acre in large steel mains and don't cost a penny. The water is worth more than ordinary land alone. Soil will produce enough to maintain the family table and help on payments besides.

Inspect our plans of modern dwellings, cottages and bungalows. We have them in great variety; tasteful, beautiful, up to date. Let us show you the style of houses we are erecting at from $500 to $2500 or for whatever figure you care to pay. Investigate and you will discover that others are asking 25 to 50 per cent. more than we for the same class of work.
If you want something different, embodying special ideas of your own, our architects will draw the plans and we will guarantee the workmanship. Remember, if you place your contract with us, the plans cost you nothing.
Help your property to advance in value by putting a good house upon your lot. It will cost you nothing and will be greatly to your advantage to talk with us. Come in and learn the special inducements we offer to BUILD NOW.

FOR SALE—

THE FARMERS OF FRESNO COUNTY ARE ITS CAPITALISTS. THEY MAKE THEIR MONEY FROM THE PRODUCTS OF THE SOIL OF THIS FAMOUSLY RICH SECTION.

YOU CAN SHARE IN FRESNO COUNTY'S PROSPERITY. YOU CAN BECOME ONE OF ITS CAPITALIST FARMERS BY MAKING YOUR HOME THERE AND TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE MANY OPPORTUNITIES WE OFFER YOU FOR INVESTMENT IN ITS WEALTH PRODUCING LANDS.

WE HAVE JUST SECURED A NEW COLONY TRACT ESPECIALLY GOOD FOR

ALFALFA—ALFALFA.

ALFALFA—ALFALFA.

It is only a mile from a railroad station, stores, school, postoffice, etc. It is excellent land. In fact, no better land can be found in the valley for alfalfa. Nice and level; no alkali. This land is not alone good for alfalfa, but is just as good for peaches, grapes and other fruits. Water costs but 62½ cents per acre a year. Price low, and if you make a reasonable cash payment you can have five years in which to pay balance, if you want it. In this manner you can pay for the land with its products.

FOR EARLY ORANGES PLANT YOUR GROVES IN FRESNO COUNTY. YOU WILL FIND THERE THE BEST SOIL, THE BEST CLIMATIC CONDITIONS, THE GREATEST PROFITS.

WAHLOKE THERMAL TRACT, MT. CAMPBELL, IS A BODY OF HIGH GRADE ORANGE LAND THAT CANNOT BE SURPASSED ANYWHERE.

PRICE ONLY $100 PER ACRE, INCLUDING WATER IN GREATEST ABUNDANCE.

YOU CAN OBTAIN FULL PARTICULARS AND SEE PHOTOGRAPHS OF MT. CAMPBELL ORANGE GROVES BY CALLING AT OUR LOS ANGELES BRANCH OFFICE, 214 MERCANTILE PLACE.

THERE ARE MANY ADVANTAGES THAT COME TO YOU BY DEALING WITH PIERCE & ANDERSON.

Our home office is in Fresno. We have lived there for 25 years. We are responsible and reliable. Any bank or business house in the county will vouch for us. The information we give you about land can be depended upon. We never sell anything that we would not be willing to invest our own money in. We value a customers' good will above all other things. We have built up a reputation for square dealing that we maintain by giving a square deal to all who transact business with us. We invite you to call at our Los Angeles office or our home office and talk over the advantages of living in Fresno county, and we will tell you of our many good land investments there.

JUST A FEW WORDS ABOUT IMPROVED LANDS.

The greater portion of the improved places offered for sale in Fresno county are vineyards and orchards. There are not any too many good places for sale there. The owners do not care to sell. They do not know where to find a better investment. In some few instances, for good and sufficient personal reasons, owners of desirable places wish to dispose of same. The good places are always listed with us. It is because owners there know we have the facilities for finding the buyers. This being true, as investigations on your part will prove. It is to your INTEREST to see us if you want to invest in a Fresno county vineyard or orchard, because you will have the best lists of the best places to choose from. If you will write or call and make known your wants, we will tell you what we have that will fill same. It is well to bear in mind that we never offer an improved place for sale without inspecting same first.

LARGE TRACTS FOR COLONIZATION OR FOR EUCALYPTUS.

Large bodies of good land for colonization purposes in the San Joaquin Valley are much harder to find than was the case even a year ago. We have sold close to 10,000 acres in large parcels the past month. We have only a few more good pieces in large tracts left. When we say good land, we mean good land. Any one seeking a colonization proposition will do well to secure our lists, terms and prices.

ALWAYS BEAR IN MIND THAT IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE PIERCE & ANDERSON FOR FRESNO COUNTY LANDS.

WE ARE THE LARGEST LAND DEALERS IN THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY.

FOR SALE—

Orange ranches in the famous Campo Verde Citrus Colony—the home of the early orange. No blight, no spraying, no fumigating. That means a vast saving of work and money. No chilling winds, no killing frosts. Fruit ripe and on the market many weeks earlier than at Riverside or Redlands. Think of what that means in dollars and cents. Only 2½ miles from Porterville—one of the most prosperous cities of the San Joaquin Valley. The S. P. Ry. runs through the property. Abundant and never failing water. Fine fishing and hunting near by. Beautiful scenery. No healthier place on the Coast. Acreage as low as $75. 2-year-old orchards at $500 per acre. Call or write for free literature and excursion dates.

LANDS. LANDS.

ORANGE, ALFALFA AND FRUIT LANDS,

LINDSAY DISTRICT.

THE BEST IN THE STATE.

WATER, SOIL, CLIMATE

JUST RIGHT.

WE ARE OWNERS AND EXCLUSIVE AGENTS FOR OVER 1000 ACRES OF THE VERY CHOICEST ORANGE, ALFALFA AND FRUIT LANDS IN THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

YOU CAN BUY ANY QUANTITY, TEN ACRES AND UP, AND THE PRICE IS RIGHT. EXCURSIONS TO LINDSAY EVERY WEEK, TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.

COME IN AND FIND OUT.

FOR COLONIZATION

THIS IS FINE

TWO THOUSAND ACRES

DEEP, RICH SANDY LOAM SOIL, SMOOTH SURFACE.

LOCATION.

About midway between Fresno and Madera in the great San Joaquin Valley. Right on the line of the S. P. R.R. Switch on the land, and there is no property in California more favorably located for successful colonization than this fine tract.

SOIL.

The soil is a deep, rich loam, nice and clean and absolutely free from alkali.

WATER.

There is an abundance of water within 18 to 25 feet of the surface, and a fine well and pumping plant already on the land. PRICE ONLY $40 PER ACRE. LIBERAL TERMS.

PHENOMENAL PROFITS.

Because of their big incomes, orange groves in the Lindsay district are seldom offered for sale. Net returns are from 50 to 100 per cent. greater than are derived from orange groves in Southern California. Before buying a grove, ascertain what can be done at Lindsay with orange land. Orange growing in the Lindsay district is the most profitable industry in California. We are owners and exclusive agents for a large acreage in the district; any quantity from 10 acres up.

FINE EUCALYPTUS LAND.

1200 acres, Fresno county. Good soil, level; plenty of water 15 feet from surface. Close to railroad. Just right for eucalyptus, alfalfa or grapes.

ONLY $15 PER ACRE.

ORANGE LANDS AT LINDSAY.

The Lindsay orange district is acknowledged to be the BEST IN CALIFORNIA. Trees are more productive and oranges mature from 4 to 6 weeks earlier than in Southern California; consequently PROFITS ARE ABOUT DOUBLE those made in southern districts. WE ARE OWNERS and EXCLUSIVE AGENTS for 1000 ACRES of the BEST ORANGE LAND in the LINDSAY DISTRICTS. We sell any quantity from 10 acres up. Excursions to Lindsay every week, Tuesdays and Fridays.

LOOK AT THIS.

SATISFACTORY INCOME IMMEDIATE.

SAFE and SURE.

JUST 80 ACRES.

FOR SALE—
320 ACRES
Elevation 1900 feet. Soil, sandy, silt, vegetable loam.
Climate, none better.
Seven hours ride on Salt Lake railroad takes you to land.
Near the growing town of Otis.
Plenty of water. Land is near the town, school, P.O., barber shop, restaurants, hotel, express office, etc., in fact a new town.
You do not have to live on the land.
The wide-awake men of California are selecting these lands.
Have you exercised your right to take up land in California?
Your right, once exercised, becomes valuable, for good water-bearing lands are sold every day and are hard to get.
This land is located in the center of Southern California.
Only 162 miles from Los Angeles, in a valley 5 miles wide and about 20 miles long. Plenty of water for all purposes.
Think of it. You can own 160 or 320 acres, we show you the land, and survey it. We make out your filing papers and maps, you pay your money to the Government, prove up and get a deed from the U. S. government.
Two trains a day leave for this land.
Having surveyed and looked for good lands all over Southern California, I recommend this as the best land that is open and ready to file upon.
Over 7000 acres have been taken in the last 100 days.
Don't miss this opportunity if you have not exercised your right.

FOR SALE—

We are headquarters for choice orange land in the famous Lindsay district, in Tulare county. There are 12 packing-houses and 1600 cars of oranges were shipped in time for the eastern holiday trade. That meant double prices to the growers and that is why orange growers at Lindsay are getting rich. That is also why old orange growers from the southern counties are snapping up this land at Lindsay like hot cakes. They know that expenses are much less and profits are about double those of any other district in the West. Good roads, best of house markets and transportation facilities, electric power, fine climate and home environs second to none in the State are making Lindsay a second Redlands or Riverside, and the conditions are such that the man of limited means can still get a foothold. Lindsay is one of the "Beauty Spots" of the West.

We can sell you the very best early navel or Valencia orange land, near town, frostless locations, abundance cheap water guaranteed, at $90 to $125 per acre, easy terms. Come in and let us tell you all about it. Join our excursion next Friday.

FOR SALE—20 ACRES STRICTLY FIRST-class land, on main road, close to school house and only ¼ mile from electric station at Hansen, on the Santa Ana line; this land is fine for oranges, for walnuts, for alfalfa, for fruits or berries of any kind. Water for irrigation is cheap and abundant, and location and surroundings are particularly desirable. The owner, Mrs. Gus Hansen, who lives on the adjoining 20 acres, is anxious to get another good neighbor, and will sell at the low price of $250 an acre, on terms to suit, if buyer will at once build a nice home on place, or might take a good vacant lot at the right price as first payment. THIS IS GOOD and "cheap as dirt" at price named. For particulars, see S. D. RANNELLS, 127 N. Main st. 'Phones Main 5707, A7751, or take Santa Ana car to Hansen and see the owner and the land for yourself. 17

FOR SALE—

FIVE ACRES COSTING $700 WITH WATER MEANS INDEPENDENCE FOR YOU IN BEAUMONT.

No section on earth has more in its favor than Beaumont. You don't have to put all your eggs in one basket. Here is the fruit paradise of California. Especially is this true of cherries and apples. Witness the Joseph Wilshire crops. See what Thomas Mellen is raising, and scores of other prosperous ranchers whose trees are in bearing. And, Mr. Homeseeker, you won't find in any other ranch lands offered anywhere in Southern California the same assured conditions that make for real value as in Beaumont. In its cherry and apple raising absolutely no other section holds a candle to Beaumont. Its elevation of 2600 feet, crisp, health-giving atmosphere, puts that piquancy of flavor into its fruit found only in the world's famous cherry and apple sections. While your trees are coming into bearing you can enjoy the wonderful advantages of poultry raising, alfalfa, small fruits, etc., for which Beaumont is also famous.

IRRIGATED LANDS ARE NOW SELLING FOR ONLY $125 TO $140 PER ACRE.

And the price will not hold at that much longer. We'd like to have you write us for our list of Beaumont bargains, and also let us present our advantages. It's for your good, for you can't afford to make any mistake in buying your ranch.

THREE STEREOPTICON LECTURES DAILY.

10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., when we will show you photographs reproduced by our powerful stereopticon, and tell you interesting facts backed by figures to prove the right of Beaumont's cause.

OUR EXPERIENCE OF 20 YEARS
SELLING CALIFORNIA PROPERTY
(which costs you nothing)
SHOULD BE OF THE GREATEST ASSISTANCE TO YOU
IN THE SELECTION OF A PLACE.

The following are a few of a large and exclusive list, and will be found as represented.

30 acres near one of the most prosperous little towns in San Luis Obispo county. All good soil and tillable. House of 4 rooms, barn and other outbuildings; good well with pump. Family orchard, 2 cows, horses, 100 chickens, farm tools, hay, grain. Everything goes. This place is in first-class condition and a bargain at $3500.

Nice little ten-acre ranch in Tulare county, planted to orange trees 12 to 15 years old. Grove just fertilized and in good condition. Plenty of water. Place will net a splendid income on the investment. $10,000 cash, or will exchange for city property.

220 acres in the great Salinas Valley. Land can all be cultivated, especially suited to alfalfa. No buildings. A good river farm.

About 1200 acres in artesian belt in Riverside county. Just the thing for subdivision into small farms. Fine section for eucalyptus, alfalfa, or deciduous fruits. This land will double in value inside of 5 years.

Beautiful country home on main country road from Los Angeles to Pomona, 60 acres level, rich soil, improved with walnuts, oranges and alfalfa. Abundance of water, fine orchard of fruits and berries, large shade trees, lawn, flowers and shrubs. Good six-room house, fine new barn, tool and wood sheds, fenced and cross-fenced. Price $500 per acre, terms if desired.

Fine 12-acre orange grove in the famous San Gabriel Valley, abundance of water, fine variety of fruits, berries and walnuts. Modern 8-room house, handsomely finished and fitted up. An ideal country home in a choice location, and will pay 20 per cent. on the investment. A most desirable place, and well worth your investigation.

FOR SALE—

Our experts, after one year of actual test in the field, selected Delano in preference to any other part of California, because:

It is an early region, and the demand for early products is always great.

It is a deep, rich, sandy loam soil, and we will furnish implements for you to test its depth.

It is a healthful and accessible region.

We will show you practical demonstrations on our land from oranges to alfalfa.

We sell 10 and 20-acre tracts with water and a perfect water system.

FOR SALE—IMPERIAL VALLEY.

Do you want to help us pioneer the WESTON TOWNSITE and get paid for it by getting in on the ground floor on the first 10-acre tracts, "without money and without price?"

We can offer a few 10-acre lots surrounding the Townsite at $1000 each, to be paid for in work on adjacent tracts, or on a share basis of planting to oranges or grape fruit, or to vines and deciduous trees. WESTON is situated in the center of the famous No. 8 Water District, and has more than 40,000 acres of the finest garden soil in the Valley tributary to it.

Remember the history of the townsites of Brawley, Imperial, El Centro, Holtville and Calexico, and profit while you may.

If you are free to go there we can help you, and you can help us. For particulars apply to

EAGLE ROCK.

FOR SALE—
WONDERFUL GROWTH OF EAGLE ROCK.

Throughout the recent so-called "dull period" Eagle Rock has steadily forged ahead. Its population has increased more than tenfold in the last two years.
Curiously enough, the cost of lots and acre building sites has not increased with the extraordinary growth of population and building activity.
In the very heart of the residence section of Eagle Rock, right on the 120-foot-wide boulevard and with frontage on the present car line and the new extension to Glendale, we have "Eagle Rock Acres," full half-acre lots for from $450 to $600 each; all street work done, cement curbs, sidewalks, etc., all paid for.
Choice building sites ON THE NORTHERN SLOPE, all improvements paid, from $375 upwards.

FOR SALE—
IT DOES NOT PAY TO ADVERTISE at the present time unless you offer genuine bargains. The real estate business is duller than a hoe; but big quarter-acre soil lots, with ample water, all ocean view, only four blocks from the strand and electric line, at $180 to $300 ought to sell under any conditions, for they are just $220 cheaper than adjoining lots similarly situated, at Hermosa Beach, which are in no wise more desirable.
We could not sell cheaper and come out even, for these are acreage prices.
Terms $60 down, balance 1 and 2 years, at 6 per cent.

FOR EXCHANGE—
We have a modern two-story, 10-room dwelling between 7th and 8th on Coronado street, which is in first-class condition. House contains bath, gas, electricity, furnace, hardwood finish down stairs. Has two-room servant's house in rear. Lot 50-ft. front to alley. This rents for $70 per month unfurnished. Can be changed into apartments or flats for investment. Has a valuation of over $12,000.
Will guarantee to secure loan of $6000 on property at 7 per cent.
Will accept as first payment, approved bonds.
We also have 45-acre ranch located ½ mile west of Val Verde station on the Santa Fe R.R.; 10 miles east of Riverside and 4 miles west of Perris.
There are 10 acres in 9-year-old oranges; 5 acres in five-year-old olives and 5 acres for home place. There are 25 acres of unimproved land, decomposed granite and tillable, which can be put in either oranges or olives.
On the 5-acre home piece, there is a two-story, 7-room house, with bath, and barn 40x30; 1 cement reservoir, 135x40x12, one 3000-gallon galvanized iron tank at the barn, one 2000-gallon tank on the house, 3 wells and 3 windmills, which furnish enough water for irrigating oranges and olives and all domestic purposes. Have shares of water, but have not needed them. Grove has just been fertilized and irrigated. An estimate of this year's crop is about $2300 guaranteed.
Price, $15,000. Mortgage $2000, due in about 1 1-4 years, and a second mortgage due in about 2 1-4 years, $2000, with 8 per cent payable semi-annually. Mortgage can be arranged to suit purchaser.
Will accept improved or unimproved unincumbered property in Los Angeles for equity of $11,000 in the ranch, or will consider an exchange of this equity and the Coronado street equity, $6000, for improved or unimproved incumbered property worth $16,000 to $15,000 or will consider the exchange of both equities for close in property worth $25,000 or $30,000; will assume mortgage and pay difference in cash or its equivalent.
Have no objection to exchanging equity for bank stocks or bonds or will make good exchange of both of these properties free and clear of incumbrance.

SECOND FLOOR SPECIALS.
Take elevator.

After stock taking, we find we have a large quantity of furniture which is slightly scratched or marred. These goods, together with hundreds of other pieces which we have taken in part payment on new furniture, have been placed on our second floor, which we shall dispose of at about half and in many cases less than half original cost. Many exceptional bargains can be found here, as we must have the room.

If you are looking for bargains in slightly used furniture, don't fail to give us a call. Remember these goods are on the second floor only (take elevator.)

Housekeepers will do well to take a look over our immense stock before buying. We save you at least 50 per cent., and even more.

Terra Bella is the nearest station on the R.R. to the Springs. The roads are fine and the scenery grand where this auto line is established.
Passengers leaving Los Angeles at 5 p.m. will be landed at Terra Bella at 7:15 a.m. With close stage connections they will be into the mountains cool and comfortable before the heat of the day.
There are 10,000 acres of wheat planted annually within a radius of five miles from Terra Bella and most of it stored in the great store houses at Terra Bella and shipped therefrom. The teams employed in this work alone makes a blacksmith shop an absolute necessity. The Terra Bella Development Company will give liberal concessions to parties that will establish these industries.
The Terra Bella Development Co. has contracted for the grading of all the streets in the town, the laying of 10,800 square feet of cement walks, 6 feet in width, 1900 feet of cement curb, 10 water wells, 12 inches in diameter and two pumping plants. A brick block for store and postoffice is nearly completed. A nurseryman is building a fine bungalow to plant $100,000 nursery stock.

FOR SALE—THE COMPLETE PLANT AND machinery for the manufacture and production of VITREOUS INDESTRUCTIBLE ENAMELED STEEL SIGNS.
Used for street name plates, road signs, advertising signs, etc. This is the only plant of the kind on the Pacific Coast, and there are no competing factories west of Chicago. These works are situated in the city of Los Angeles. Can be seen in active operation.
The whole business is now offered for sale, including good will, formulas, stock of merchandise and raw materials, together with full equipment of factory and offices.
To an investor who can command from $5000 to $10,000 for purposes of purchase and future development, this offers a grand opportunity to acquire this unique manufacturing business with unlimited demand for the product, showing large profits, at a very low valuation, the present proprietors being forced to sell.
The factory can be inspected at any time, on application to the trustee, JOHN S. MYERS, phone F5442, or address 2223 Le Grand st., off Mateo st., Los Angeles.

POMONA.

LOYAL EDITOR TOWN LOSES.

DEATH OF JOHN WASSON SINCERELY REGRETTED.

He Published Pioneer Newspapers not Only in Southern California but in the North—Strong Temperance Advocate—Funeral Will Be Held Tomorrow Under Masonic Auspices.

POMONA, Jan. 16.—John Wasson, senior editor and proprietor of the Pomona Weekly Times, died at his home on West Holt avenue this morning. In the passing of Mr. Wasson, Pomona has lost a pioneer and a loyal supporter of all measures for the betterment of the municipality.

The deceased was born seventy-six years ago in Wayne county, O., came to California by way of Panama in 1852, and engaged in mining in El Dorado county. Later he returned to Ohio, and came west to Idaho in 1862 with a party, walking a good part of the way from Illinois. He engaged in the publication of pioneer newspapers in Idaho and Nevada, and was prominent in politics. In 1869 he became editor of the Oakland Daily News, and later went to Tucson, Ariz., where he established the Arizona Citizen, editing the paper literally with "a revolver on the table." The Citizen became a terror to all unfaithful office holders. He was appointed Surveyor-General of the Territory in 1870 by President Grant, and served for twelve years. He also assisted Gov. Safford to establish public schools in the Territory.

In 1874 he was married to Miss Harriet N. Bolton of Augusta, Me., one of the first American teachers in Tucson. In 1887 Mr. Wasson established the Chino Champion for Richard Gird, and for several years was postmaster, school trustee and justice of the peace of that town. He came here in 1891 and bought half-interest in the Pomona Times, which he has conducted since, changing its policy on the liquor question from that of license to no license. He was for several years president of the Board of Trade and of the Pomona Valley Farmers' Club. He also served as president of the board of trustees of the State Normal School in Los Angeles, and was a blue lodge and chapter Mason since 1858.

Funeral services will be held at the First Unitarian Church, of which he was a member and trustee, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. Heber Rice officiating. Pomona Masonic Lodge, to which he belonged, will conduct the services at the cemetery.

UPLAND.

CATTLE PERISH, AND GRAIN, TOO.

RANCH ON MESA NEAR IOAMOSA VISITED BY FIRE.

Effort to Save Long Row of Eucalyptus Trees—Year's Improvements Total Over Two Hundred Thousand Dollars—Water to Be Stored in Lone Star Shaft.

UPLAND, Jan. 16.—A large barn on the J. C. Sommer ranch, on the mesa north of Ioamosa, was completely destroyed by fire early yesterday. Three horses, two cows, twenty tons of hay, some grain and a number of farm implements are reported destroyed. There was but a small amount of insurance.

The total rainfall at this point to date this season, as reported by Prof. W. T. Leeke, is 6.51 inches, considerably in excess of the precipitation to the corresponding period of 1908.

Owing to the inclement weather, the dedicatory exercises at the new grammar school building, which had been set for last evening, are postponed for one week, to January 22.

TO SAVE TREES.

The effort to save a long row of eucalyptus trees on Tenth street has taken the form of a numerously-signed petition to the Trustees, who recently issued an order for removal.

A tabulated list of the improvements in Upland during the past twelve months has just been published, and the figures total $194,650. This is not a complete list, it is claimed, and the amount really is well over $200,000.

A party of sportsmen expects to leave tomorrow for a week's duck shooting in the Imperial Valley. The men have shipped a tent, a boat and other supplies ahead. Among the part yare Robert Weiss, Will Cline, Mr. Wilson, W. A. Boland and Amos Allen of Upland and Joseph Zimmerman of Los Angeles.

WILL STORE WATER.

The directors of the Cucamonga Water Company are convinced that they will be able to store water in the Lone Starr shaft and tunnel at Red Hill, near this city, and have made arrangements with the Ioamosa Water Company to deliver it. Water will be carried to the tunnel in pipes, which are to be laid as soon as the weather will permit. The tunnel is well bulkheaded, and the formation of the land and the nature of the soil prevent its escape. Thus a vast subterranean reservoir is available.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Frost of Ioamosa, while driving to their home, were run into by an auto, but fortunately escaped injury.

EIGHTEEN PER CENT.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of Cucamonga was held a few days since. J. M. Elliott and E. H. Barmore of Los Angeles, and O. W. Reid and F. V. monga were chosen dend of 18 per cent. the past year. This splendid showing, comparatively tight money

Disasters in Coal Mines.

[illegible] OF THE GOVERNMENT TO REDUCE THE GREAT LOSS OF LIFE FROM ACCIDENTS.

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

[illegible] effort to stop the appalling [illegible] of life in the coal mines of the [illegible], the United States govern[illegible] meeting with much success. [illegible] months an experiment sta[illegible] the direction of the Technol[illegible] of the United States Geo[illegible] Survey, has been in operation [illegible] Pa., with the purpose [illegible] the causes of mine dis[illegible] suggesting a remedy.

[illegible] with the establishment of this [illegible] and the agitation which pre[illegible] necessary legislation, there man may be expected to do while wearing one of these helmets. One-half of the large building in which this rescue room is located is used as an auditorium and several hundred miners and operators have watched the rescue drill through the large glass windows which separate the auditorium from the gas-filled chamber. Although there has been but little opportunity so far for the rescue corps to demonstrate its efficiency at the mines, still it has done some good work.

Once the helmeted men while fighting a mine fire succeeded in bringing an unconscious man to a place of safety, where he was given oxygen treatment and recovered his senses in a short time.

It is not the intention of the United States government to furnish rescue corps whenever there is a disaster. The present corps was organized with the idea of encouraging the mine owners and miners themselves to form such organizations. Invitations have been issued to operators throughout the country to send picked men to the experiment station, where they may watch the government rescuers at work and later go through the same training themselves, in order that they may gain the necessary confidence in the use of these helmets. Already a number of the large mining companies have taken advantage of this invitation and are organizing rescue corps at their mines, fully equipped with oxygen helmets.

In 1907, more than 3175 men were killed in the coal mines of the country—a death rate of 4.86 for every 1000 men employed. This is from three to four times as many men per thousand as are killed in any coal-producing country of Europe, where experimental stations, such as the one in Pittsburgh, have been in operation for several years.

Industrial Independence.

THE CORNER-STONE OF UNIONISM IS THE DESTRUCTION OF EFFICIENCY.

THE truth about unionism is told in the Boston Globe by Arthur W. Joslin, secretary of the Master Carpenters' and Woodworkers' Association, as follows:

"The effect of unions upon labor has been primarily to reduce and ultimately to destroy efficiency. Some positive evidence is required to substantiate this statement. In order to do this, it is necessary to eliminate much of what has been said and written about the aims, objects and ideals of unionism, by its paid advocates seeking notoriety and gain; also that group of individuals depending for knowledge upon the product of the many adulterated mental food factories of printer's ink, but whose actual experience is confined to a ten-by-eight room, with a desk, chair and writing material, and who—if decorated with a college label, which is assumed to imply infallible knowledge on all subjects—with few exceptions, only add to the confusion and to the obscuring of the real facts about unionism.

"Unionism has no ideal above the material. It is a body with the soul petrified. It has but one object, one aim, and that is to increase wages, shorten hours, and better its own material condition. This appears to be a laudable object on its face. Analyzed, it means to get more, do less, and become more prosperous. How? By holding up every other member of the community and forcing him to get less, do more, and become less prosperous, so that the members of the union may attain their object and better their conditions. Union sympathizers may well give this thought some consideration, when they object to the increase of living expenses.

"If unionism sought to attain its ends by increased skill and efficiency, no objection would, or could, be made against it. But every one of its principles and methods is opposed to efficiency and encourages inefficiency. It advocates, first, limitation of output; second, restriction of the use of tools and machinery; third, the restriction of apprentices; fourth, collective bargaining.

"Limitation of output means limiting development of a man's power; it strangles individuality. If the saying, 'Practice makes perfect,' is true, then the limitation of practice means a limitation of efficiency.

"Restriction of the use of tools and machinery is a step backward and is a blow at efficiency. It discourages invention and prevents progress by stifling inventive genius. It stops thought. The mind is left to rust into inefficiency.

"Restriction of apprentices, a crime against the American boy, is the most dastardly method adopted by trade unions to prevent efficiency. Possible competition from new workers into practically non-union localities have shown in a short time a considerable increase in the quantity as well as improvement in the quality of their output."

Organize for the Open Shop.

The building contractors of Palo Alto met last week and formed an organization to further the interests of the open shop. The organization is to be known as the Independent Builders' Association, and officers have been elected for the year. The association makes eligible to its membership material men, contractors and employers in all branches of the building business. The president emphasizes the fact that the association is not organized to antagonize any person or organization. Its members believe that every one should have the free right to make a living and that this can be realized only under the open-shop conditions.

Labor and the Law.

It seems probable that when organized labor recovers from its first impulse of surprise and resentment at the court decision sending Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison to jail it will look at the matter in a calmer mood and be more disposed to abide by the result, subject, of course, to the appeal the lawyers have obtained, pending which the three leaders have been admitted to bail.

We should say that organized labor has much more to lose than to win by putting itself outside the pale of the courts. A very great advance has been made in our jurisprudence of late years in the direction of aids to labor in its fight with capital. In Congress and the courts, as well as in the White House, the workingman has increased in influence and recognition. Numerous laws have been passed and affirmed in the courts whose object was to improve the condition of the toiler and sustain his right to organize. Now, if the trades unions are going to turn on the courts when a decision goes against them, and refuse to obey judicial mandates, the result must be to alienate much of the sympathy and respect they have so laboriously earned.—[Indianapolis Star.

One Law for All.

Everett P. Wheeler writes to the New York Times that thirty years ago he got an injunction against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. President Garrett was advised by his attorneys that the injunction was invalid and he could safely disregard it. He went ahead and did the thing the court had forbidden. On Mr. Wheeler's application the court issued an order committing Mr. Garrett to jail for contempt. Garrett gave bail and took an appeal, which the higher court dismissed. Thereupon he kept himself out of jail by making full amends to the satisfaction of Mr. Wheeler's client.

As there is too much disposition to assume that the law is on the side of the capitalist and against the laborer, it is interesting to note that as much as thirty years ago the president of a great railroad company was ordered to jail for disobeying a court order, and avoided incarceration only by purging himself of contempt and making reparation to the litigant. Mr. Wheeler adds: "There is one law in this country for the president of the railroad and the president of the labor union. The same justice that was meted out to Mr. Garrett has now been meted out to Mr. Gompers."

Cost of Government Printing.

A union-labor tempest has been started at Washington by the plan contained in the Senate amendment to the census bill to take from the government printing office the printing of the next census, should the director of census decide that the work could be done more cheaply elsewhere.

The government printing office is now under full union domination, and the highest prices are paid the employés of the establishment. Speaking of the amendment Senator McCumber says it was adopted by the committee after listening carefully to evidence on the subject at the hearings. It was brought out that the government printing office had been far behind the scheduled time set for publishing a former census. It was also said that the estimates submitted by the public printer for such work were in excess of estimates submitted by private firms.

In order that the census should be printed on time and that the work should cost the government as little as possible it was decided that the director of the census should have the power to have the census, or such part of it as he thought necessary, printed in offices other than the government printing office.

Senator McCumber was asked why the government printing office, which was supposed to be the most perfect shop of its kind, could be underbid by private concerns. Senator McCumber said that he could not give an expert opinion on this subject, but that he understood the length of the working day and the fact that it was possible to get more work out of employés for the same salaries in private offices had considerable to do with it.

The union printers are a good deal stirred up by the Senate amendment and arguments against the proposed action have been put into printed circular form and mailed to all the members of the Senate. It is possible the question raised may result in an investigation of the government printing office, and the effect upon the cost of the work performed by yielding to all the demands made by union labor.

Eggs Full of Carbolic Acid.

The taxicab strike in New York has resulted in the development of a new union missile—eggs filled with carbolic acid. Suc heggs were recently hurled at James McGregor, a non-union driver employed by the New York Taxicab Company. McGregor successfully dodged the missiles, but several struck the cab, the marks of the acid being plainly visible.

A Legal Opinion.

Judge George Gray has been delivering himself on the opinion of labor unions.

In order to be entitled to recognition, he says that the labor union must itself recognize the rights of the employer and others which it demands for itself, and for its members. Every workman has a right to quit or to strike in conjunction with his fellows, when by so doing he does not violate any contract made by him, or for him. He certainly has no right to destroy or damage the property of his employer or employers, nor has he any right or license to intimidate, threaten or use any violence against any member of the union to exercise his right to work, or to interfere with those who do not feel called upon to become members of the union.

No Opium in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

There is not a particle of opium or other narcotic in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and never has been since it was first offered to the public. It is as safe a medicine for a child as for an adult. This remedy is famous for its cures of colds and croup, and can always be depended upon.—[Adv.

BUILDING RECORD.

EXPENDITURE IS TO BE GREATER.

BUT FEWER PERMITS ISSUED THAN LAST YEAR.

In First Fifteen Days of Month Provision Is Made for Erection of Two Hundred and Forty-three Structures — One-story Ones in Large Majority.

During the first fifteen days of this month 243 building permits were issued, with a valuation of $332,790. For the same period last year the number of permits was 254, representing the expenditure of $221,575.

Class D, one-story structures continue in popularity. One hundred and twelve of them are to be erected at a cost of $112,910.

Following are the classified and ward reports:

BUY FOR IMPROVEMENT.

Building Lots Throughout City in Demand by Home Builders—One Firm's Report.

Activity of a very substantial character is reported by Strong & Dickinson. This firm controls a number of tracts in almost every district in and about Los Angeles, and in the last few weeks has made sales of many lots. In nearly every case purchasers plan almost immediate improvements. In the Forest Park Tract, in the Bimini Bath section of the northwest, the following sales have been made. Ralph S. Heaton, assistant cashier of the Commercial National Bank, has purchased a lot 78x150 feet at the corner of Virgil and the Bimini car line right of way for a consideration of $2750. Mr. Heaton is now having plans drawn for a two-story house which will cost about $4000.

Walter L. Krug bought a lot fifty feet south of the Bimini right of way, on Virgil street, and is now erecting a house which will cost about $3000. Rev. H. S. Nash bought a fifty-five-foot frontage on Virgil street, 100 feet north of the Bimini right of way, upon which he is building a residence costing about $3000.

A. V. Perkinson, a builder who has operated in Los Angeles, bought three lots on Hoover street, between Second and Third streets. He will build three houses costing between $4000 and $5000 each. Mr. Perkinson, after making the purchase, bought four additional lots on Hoover street between First and Second streets. He will build on all in the immediate future.

Commonwealth avenue between Third and Fourth streets, has just been ordered improved by the Board of Public Works. This will add much to the beauty of Forest Park. It is said that in the near future that the board will let contracts for a sewer to be placed in that avenue.

Benton Way, the bungalow street, located in a portion of the Rampart Heights tract, of which Strong & Dickinson, are agents, is steadily moving to the front. Several new houses are now under construction and the firm reports that all lots on the street have been sold. It is four months since these lots were first placed on the market. Recent sales to actual builders of homes are as follows: Mrs. Hazel A. Cusanovich, a bungalow fronting west between First and Second street, costing $4500. The two adjoining bungalows having only recently been purchased and occupied by Lewis S. Stone and Byron Beasley. A fifty-foot lot west front between Second and Third, to Mrs. W. D. Walters, who will erect a $2500 bungalow. A lot west front, between Second and Third, to Mrs. Malinda L. Sharp, who will improve. A lot, west front, between Second and Third, to Charles H. Owen, who will build a $2500 home.

That the growth of the city is steadily southwest is evidenced by the number of realty transactions which occur in that locality. The people which buy lots do so to build a home. Strong & Dickinson have sold within the past week a number of lots to people who are now securing their plans and specifications and preparing to build.

The Vermont Avenue Villa tract on Vermont avenue, between Fifty-second, Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth streets, is now the scene of much activity. Many substantial bungalows costing from $1500 and upwards being in course of construction.

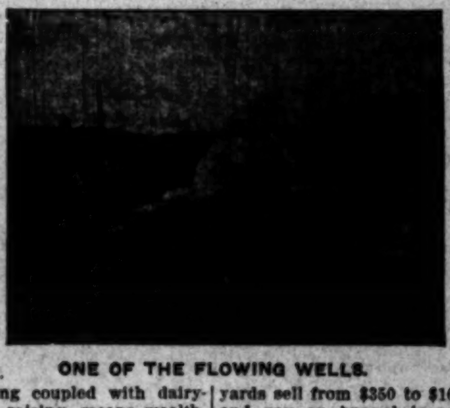
One of the chief reasons for many of the sales in this district is in the fact that arrangements have just been completed with the Los Angeles Railway Company to extend the car line along Fifty-fourth street. The building of this line will insure a 5-cent car fare with good service via Moneta avenue. At present the nearest car line is along Forty-eighth street. Gas is now at Fifty-first street, and the company is ready to lay the mains into the Vermont Avenue Villa tract as soon as the demand will warrant.

IOWA COLONY LANDS

On the Delta, Tulare County, in the Famous San Joaquin Valley, Cal.

ALFALFA.

A source of quick money and large profits to the rancher. Five to seven cuttings per acre; an easy average of 2 tons per acre per cutting; a low average price of $10 a ton makes a good substantial profit in alfalfa hay alone. Over 80 tons of alfalfa seed were sold in this section last year; it brought 15c a pound.



ONE OF THE FLOWING WELLS.

Alfalfa raising coupled with dairying and stock raising, means wealth. Ranchers all over this section are rolling up fat bank accounts every month with this money-making combination.

No finer body of sedimentary land in the world. Covered by the most efficient irrigation system in the State. Directly on the main line of the Santa Fe Railroad.

LOCATION.

The holdings of the Iowa Land and Water Company comprise a solid body of nearly 9000 acres of choice delta lands in Tulare county, California. Years ago these lands were the bed of old Tulare Lake—but the waters have receded, and in receding have built up an embankment 17 miles wide, which renders overflow a physical impossibility, as they are 22 feet above the high-water mark of 1884. This delta comprises over 50,000 acres midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, the two best markets on the coast, with the Santa Fe Railroad the whole length of the tract—they have advantage of location surpassed by no other agricultural section in the State.

CONTOUR AND SOIL.

Rich soil of a sediment formation extends down nearly 80 feet. No sand, no gravel, not a trace of alkali or hardpan in the entire body and as level as a floor. No better soil was ever located. It is so rich there is no such thing as exhausting it.

WATER.

A finer irrigation system does not exist in the country today than they have installed on these lands double steel cased artesian wells, 10 inches in diameter and 1175 feet deep, flowing 14 inches crown above the casing furnish an abundance of the purest mountain spring water. No need of expensive dams or flumes—no cost for maintenance of pumping plants. Experts claim that with all the lands in this basin under irrigation the annual surplus of water from the underground basin will be still 300 times more than will ever be used.

From the wells the water is turned into the main ditch 30 feet wide and easily carry a flow of 3000 miners' inches. From this main ditch laterals feed every subdivision with a river of water. Flowing wells with plenty of the best and purest water for domestic purposes can be had at a depth of about 190 feet. Surface wells at 12 feet.

THE PRODUCTS.

Ever-increasing profits can be made in alfalfa, dairying, sugar beets, orchards, vineyards and truck gardening. Immense crops of every California product—with the exception of citrus fruits only—can be grown here.

SUGAR BEETS.

It has been fully demonstrated that these lands grow as large crops of beets carrying the highest percentage of sugar as any locality in the world. From 10 to 20 tons per acre is the average crop. The cost of growing and harvesting varies from $20 to $30 per acre. Even at the low price of $5 per ton a net profit of from $25 to $65 per acre can be realized.

The $1,000,000 beet sugar factory recently completed at Corcoran, 12 miles north, furnishes a ready market at best prices. This factory has a daily capacity of 600 tons, and can handle the full crop from 10,000 acres. The freight rate on beets from our lands to the factory is about $6 per car. A switch for loading on the lands.

GRAPES.

These lands are surrounded by some of America's most famous vineyards. The conditions of climate and soil here are even more adapted to grape culture than the world renowned Fresno district, where bearing vineyards sell from $350 to $1000 per acre and pay an annual income of from $100 to $300 per acre. Vineyarding is among the easiest branches of farm industry to handle. Common sense cultivation and careful handling is all that is required.

The first year there is no profit from the vines, but vegetables grown between the rows will bring substantial returns. The second year the vines will pay expenses. The third year a very satisfactory profit—and thereafter the net profits will make the industrious farmer independent for life.

WHEAT.

Wheat, barley and flax pay quick profits. They require very little work. A crop of from 20 to 40 bags per acre can be relied on, representing a net income of from $20 to $40 per acre. After heading the grain the straw plowed under is a first-class fertilizer. Indeed, if desired, one can grow three crops a year, barley, millet and potatoes planted in the order named, and a heavy crop of each secured.

CORN.

Kaffir and Egyptian corn, growing heavy crops on these lands, furnish the best fattening feed for beef and pork. From $20 to $40 per acre is easily assured. Indian corn also produces good crops.

MARKET GARDENING.

Advantages of soil, water, climate and easy access to railroads, make this a truck gardener's paradise. Any vegetable can be grown to immense profit. A crop of onions now grown on an adjacent field paid the grower several hundred dollars per acre.

FRUITS.

Deciduous fruits reach a perfection in this locality excelled by none. Peaches, pears, apricots and figs are especially profitable. Strawberries, blackberries, raspberries, gooseberries and currants will pay steady and very satisfactory profits.

CLIMATE.

The climate is ideal. This is indeed a land of sunshine, where the rancher can enjoy blue skies and warm sunshine 300 days in the year. The rainy season begins about Nov. 1, and the rains are practically over by the middle of April. From 5 to 8 inches of rain falls. Even in midwinter a temperature as low as 32 degrees is practically unheard of. The summers are ideal. Although the thermometer reaches 95 degrees sometimes at midday, the absolute absence of humidity in the air makes the day far more bearable than a temperature of 80 degrees in the Eastern States. There is always a cool breeze and the nights are always cool the year round.

MARKETS.

As said above, the main line of the Santa Fe runs the whole length of our tract, with a station right on the land. This furnishes easiest access to Los Angeles and San Francisco, the two biggest markets on the coast.

SURROUNDINGS.

There is no pioneering to be done here; schools, churches and city privileges are at hand.

PRICES AND TERMS.

This land is READY for the farmer to move on—plant his seed and start farming at once.

The offices of the Iowa Land and Water Co. are at 228 West Second street. Charles H. Kegley, president; M. J. Nolan, Secretary.

THE MARKETS

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Changes during the past week have been numerous. Since the discontinuance of making public the receipts and establishing quotations by the body of commission men and brokers, comprising the Produce Exchange, prices have been showing themselves more regular with smaller margins prevailing among the outside dealers. The committee on making egg prices, composed of five men acting in secret, as the entire exchange has now decided to act, has been jobbing the market to suit itself, according to outside appearances. When they had no eggs, they lowered the prices, inducing the producer to unload for fear of further declines; when the market controlled by themselves was well filled, they put them up, regardless of outside feeling, say the independent dealers. Yesterday the latter dealers paid 38 cents a dozen to farmers and jobbed the eggs at a profit of 2 cents a dozen. Their candled stock was held at 42 cents. Fresh eastern stock received through Wells Fargo or Santa Fe refrigerator freight sold at 40 cents for candled stock and 2 cents lower on counts. There are scarcely sufficient storage eggs left to quote prices on them. They run from 35 cents up, according to quality.

Although butter was considered firm at 72½ cents by a number of dealers, several of the large firms seemed to have a surplus and were selling at the old price of 67½ cents on creamery extras, probably in an effort to clean up stock that would not weigh up to a pound, net. Eastern storage butter sold strong at 35 cents. Ranch butter, or dairy, as it is more familiarly known, is selling at 39 cents, the best figure received on any grade. Cheese was firm throughout the list.

A stronger feeling pervaded the potato market. Two cars were shipped from Stockton to one dealer. Burbanks sold from $1.25 to $1.50, according to the location in which they were grown and their quality. Salinas brought from $1.75 to $1.85, while Highlands sold from $1.20 up. Some spuds are already being harvested in this locality. Several small shipments were received from neighboring territory and sold at $1 per lug box. They were early rose variety.

Receipts of local poultry for the past ten days have been light, owing to storms prevailing throughout the Middle West. Carload lots have been slow in arriving on that account. With Chicago, New York and other large eastern markets all advancing their prices, the same has come to pass here. Dealers are paying from 14 to 16 cents on live fowls, according to weight. Broilers average 22 cents, while fryers are 2 cents lower in value. Ducks are selling from 15 to 16, while geese are bring the same amount. Jobbing prices have naturally gone higher.

Bacon, ham, lard and other pork products have started on their return journey to higher prices. For two months they declined steadily, averaging half a cent every week. With the higher prices prevailing in all of the large meat centers, on pork and all meats, the prices on cured products have been forced to go up.

Fish have fortunately been sufficient to go around nearly every day. Yesterday morning the market was cleaned up early. Lobsters have been holding out much better than was expected early in the season. One of the largest ever brought to the local market was on exhibition yesterday. It weighed nearly 12 pounds and measured 22 inches from nose to the end of the tail. Game remains in good demand.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

HEAVY TRADING, PRICES HIGHER.

BEST WEEK-END MARKET IN MANY MONTHS.

Buying Chiefly for Investment Account—Union's Price Moves up Another Notch and Other Oils Share in Demand — Fifteen Thousand Shares of Olinda Land Sold.

Heavy trading characterized yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, and higher prices for several of the leading issues was the result. It was probably the best week-end market in a year or more. The buying seemed chiefly for investment account, and the entire list closed strong and in demand.

Union Oil moved up another notch, selling at 105.00. Final quotations, 104.12½@105.00, the asked price showing a 1-point decline. Sales amounted to 50 shares. Off-board trading, Friday afternoon and prior to yesterday's opening, was carried on at 104.25@105.00, to the extent of 97 shares.

The demand for Union's affiliated issues was also strong. United Petroleum sold at 105.00@105.50, regular, off board, to the extent of 110 shares. The close was at 104.50@106.50, the asked price showing a ½-point advance. Ten shares of Union Provident were handled at 102.25, and final quotations were 101.75@ 103.50, off ⅜ point and 2 points, respectively.

The demand for Union Oil, and the heavy trading in it, both on the floor and off board, has had its effect on the entire oil list. One thousand shares of Central sold at 93½, and the stock closed at 92½@95, showing a decline of ½ point and 2 points, respectively. The recent declaration of a 2½-per-cent. dividend does not seem to have had a boosting influence. The dividend was an increase of ½ per cent. over the preceding one.

Olinda Land was the heaviest trader during the call and sold up from 21½ to 22, 15,000 shares changing hands. It closed at 21½@22, up ½ point in the bid and off the same amount in the holding price. Elk Consolidated was handled at 6, and 20 shares of Western Union at 90.00, this stock closing 7 points higher in the bid than on Friday, at 87.00, with none offered.

Further losses were recorded for Associated, which sold down to 36.00 on 40-share transactions. The issue closed at 36.12½@36.37½, off ⅛ and ⅝ point, respectively.

Thirty shares of Home preferred went at 58.00, and final quotations were 57.75@58.25, up ⅝ point in the bid. The asked price was considerably higher. Common sold at 15.50 on the floor, and 10 shares at 15.25, off board, according to reports.

The demand for bonds and bank stocks was firm, but no sales were made.

On the mining call, Osceola was handled at 131.50, Trinity at 13.25, Nevada at 19.12½, Utah Consolidated at 45.00, and Belmont at 89.

M. S. Gregory, secretary of the Union League, has purchased a seat on the exchange. He was formerly a member.

MINING MARKET ACTIVE.

Goldfield Leaders Close With Higher Quotations on Los Angeles-Nevada Exchange.

The session on the Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange was an active one yesterday. Some of the Goldfield leaders, owing to the good trading in these issues in San Francisco and the East, closed with higher quotations.

Goldfield Consolidated, which sold down to 7.95 on Friday, was in demand and closed at 8.12½ bid, with none offered. Sales of 500 shares were recorded at that price.

Combination Fraction, which was so weak on Wednesday and Thursday, closed decidedly stronger at 1.20@1.22. Three hundred shares were sold at 1.23@1.24.

Daisy was higher at 61 bid, after sales at 62@63. Florence was firm at 4.50@4.55, the bid showing a ten-point advance compared with Friday's level. None was sold. Great Bend was handled at 19½, and Homestake at 9½.

There was better feeling among the Tonopah stocks, due to the advance in the price of silver, and all closed in demand. Jim Butler sold at 17, and was quoted at 17@17½.

There was a slump in Baby Florence. Trading opened at 1¼, and closed at 8.00 a thousand shares. Other cheap stocks were firm, and in demand. Bonnie Clare sold at 5½; California Hills at 8½, and Consolidated Mines at 1½. Duplex Contact, at 2¼@2½, showed a fractional gain for the day. Of Eureka, 27,000 shares sold at 2. Milltown Fraction was handled at 1¾; Mohawk Extension at 2, and Dexter at 4.

Sales were recorded of Globe Oil at 20@ 18½; Union at 104.50, and Home Preferred at 57.75.

LOS ANGELES-NEVADA. EXCHANGE QUOTATIONS.

SAN FRANCISCO LIST.

MARKET RALLIES AT WEEK-END.

VERY MUCH BETTER FEELING ALL ALONG LINE.

Goldfield Leaders Close With Strong Quotations—Unusually Lively Trading—Silver Higher, and Tonopah Stocks Show Immediate Improvement—Rawhide Coalition.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, 524 Citizens' National Bank Bldg.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—There was a much better feeling, today, all along the line. The leaders showed strength and activity, and there was more trading than on a Saturday for many weeks.

Goldfield Consolidated opened with sales at 8.12½ and 8.15; sold up to 8.25; and closed at 8.22½, bid. Combination Fraction was up, selling at 1.25; Florence was strong, and climbed back to its old figures of 4.45, bid, and sales. Daisy closed higher, after selling at 63 and 64.

The remainder of the Goldfield list showed considerable animation. Conqueror was strong at 6 bid.

The Tonopahs showed more life than on any day this week. The slight improvement in the price of silver, made itself felt. The Tonopah output continues to run at about $140,000 a week, which is remarkably good, considering that development work has been curtailed on account of the price of silver.

The Bullfrog list continues in evidence on account of the good showing in Shoshone and the demand for Bullfrog Pioneer, as yet an unlisted stock.

The Comstocks are running away with themselves. Mexican was strong at 1.07½ bid; Yellow Jacket at 90, bid. Ophir, at 1.62½ bid; Confidence at 1.35. Much higher prices are predicted for Yellow Jacket and Mexican.

The heavy selling in Goldfield Consolidated seems to be over, and as the definite statement is made by the management, that, as soon as the hundred stamps now in commission are working smoothly, forty additional stamps will be added to the equipment. This stock closed bullish.

RAILROAD DEAL AFFECTS MANY MINOR STOCKS.

Prospect of Smaller Roads Being Merged Into Big Systems Catches Speculative Fancy and Sympathetic Effect Permeates Whole List—Bond Market Shows New Animation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The passing of the Wisconsin Central Railroad into the Canadian Pacific group, through control by the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie, was the incentive to a lively speculative demand today for a wide variety of stocks of minor railroads which are considered eligible for incorporation into larger systems. This prospect, although vague and undefined, caught the speculative imagination and the sympathetic effect permeated the whole list to some extent.

The bond market also took on fresh animation and breadth, stimulated by the evidences of unsatiated investment demand in that department. Unfavorable factors were ignored and the shorts hastened to cover their contracts, helping on the upward movement.

The feature of the bank statement was the excess of the cash gain over the estimated one, while the heavy loan expansion was fully expected in view of the large bond operations of the week. It is evident that the trust companies are reducing their loans, as well as increasing their cash, in preparation for the additional reserve requirement in effect on February 1.

Bonds were strong. Total sales, par value, $2,796,000.

United States 2s registered have declined ⅛ per cent. on call during the week.

The maximum is for day before yesterday; minimum for yesterday. The mean is the mean temperature for the two days.

Yesterday's Forecast and Report.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Jan. 16.—[Reported by A. Wollaber, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m., the barometer registered 30.18; at 5 p.m., 30.... Thermometer for the corresponding hours ...46 deg. and 67 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 86 per cent.; 5 p.m., 70 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., calm; 5 p.m., east, velocity 4 miles. Maximum temperature, 71 deg.; minimum, 46 deg. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Weather Conditions.—The North Pacific storm has moved rapidly eastward during the last twenty-four hours, and is central this morning east of the Rocky Mountains. It has caused rains throughout Northern California, Western Nevada and the North Pacific States, and a general rise in temperature throughout the Pacific Northwest and the Northern States between the Rocky Mountains and the Great Lakes. The Texas storm has moved to the East Gulf States, causing rain in the Mississippi Valley and the Southern States and snow in the lower lake region and the Ohio Valley. Cold weather continues in New England. Rain is falling this morning in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. South of the Tehachepi the weather is partly foggy, except in the desert regions. A trough depression is apparently moving eastward over Mexico, as the pressure over Southern California and Arizona has decreased considerably since Friday. This disturbance will probably produce some cloudiness or fog in Los Angeles and vicinity during the next twenty-four hours, otherwise the weather is expected to continue fair.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Generally fair, with some cloudiness or fog tonight and Sunday; variable winds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Another storm has appeared off the Washington coast, causing high southeast wind along the Washington coast and rain over Western Washington. The pressure is falling rapidly from Cape Mendocino northward, and rain will continue over Northern California Sunday. The rainfall has been light during the day and confined to the northern portion of the State. Fair weather prevails south of the Tehachepi. The temperature remains high in all districts west of the Rocky Mountains, but there has been a decided fall over Northern Montana, where an area of high pressure has appeared. Conditions are favorable for cloudy, warm weather with rain in the north of the Tehachepi, and fair weather in the South. Storm warnings have been ordered on the northern coast. Forecasts: San Francisco and vicinity, Santa Clara, Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys: Cloudy Sunday; light south wind.

Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair Sunday; light ...

GENERAL EASTERN.

BULLISH DAY IN WHEAT PIT.

EXCELLENT DEMAND FOR CASH IN CHICAGO.

Closing Prices Strong With May at 1.06 1-8@1-4—Forebodings of Increased Corn Movement Prompt Selling, Resulting in Weak Tone. Trade in Oats Quiet.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—The feature of trade in wheat was the excellent demand for cash here and in the Southwest. Sentiment in the pit was bullish all day. The close was strong, with May at 1.06⅛@1.06¼, and July at 97@97⅛.

Forebodings of an increased movement of corn next week prompted selling in the market for that grain, which resulted in a weak tone. May closed 60⅞@61, and July at 61¼@61½.

Trade in the oats market was quiet and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. Prices closed unchanged, to a shade higher than yesterday's close.

Provisions were strong all day on an active general demand. Prices closed up 7½ to 22½.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour was firm winter patents, 4.75@5.20; straights, 4.60@4.90; spring patents, 5.35@5.55; straights, 4.00@5.05; bakers, 2.95@4.15; No. 2 spring wheat, 1.07@1.09; No. 3, 1.02@1.08; No. 2 red, 1.04⅝@1.05⅝; No. 2 corn, 55¼@55½; No. 2 yellow, 58½@59; No. 2 white oats, 51¼; No. 3 white, 49@51; No. 2 rye, 75½; good feeding barley, 59¼@60; fair to choice malting, 61@64; No. 1 northwestern flaxseed, 1.58; prime timothy seed, 2.95; clover, contract grades, 9.85; short ribs, sides (loose,) 8.37½@8.80; mess pork, per bbl., 16.87½@17.00; lard, per 100 lbs., 9.65; short clear sides (boxed,) 8.75@9.00.

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Building, Los Angeles, Cal.]

BOSTON, Jan. 16.—The Boston copper market developed unexpected strength today, specialties being quite active at higher prices. Indications are that the entire list has made a turn for better prices, and we believe that purchases of Atlantic, Shannon and Arizona Commercial will show good profits in the near future. Among the higher-priced issues, we like Osceola. We are informed that there is very influential buying in this stock, and we expect to see it sell considerably higher. New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Bankers and Brokers, Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 112 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The local market opened steady and unchanged to two points lower. Trading was on more of an evening-up scale over the week.

The world's visible supply of cotton showed a decline for week of 49,000 bales against 1100 last year. The total crop in sight to date is 9,245,706 bales, against 7,460,259 bales same date last year. There is very little in these figures that is bullish. As to the market the trade remains very bullish.

Norden and Co. say: "We cannot feel that the market is healthy. Southern weather is generally cloudy."

The Chronicle says: "Advices by telegraph from the South last evening denote that the weather has continued favorable on the whole during the week."

Green says: "Liverpool was due 2½ to 3 up; but closed quiet one to two up. Weekly figures are bullish. Spinners' takings of American cotton for the week are 420,000 bales, against 344,000 bales same week last year. The visible supply of American shows a decrease for week of 78,000 bales, against 19,000 for the same week last year. The feeling here remains very bullish. It is getting more so on October option. There was heavy profit taking in it yesterday."

Hill says: "The New York Cotton Exchange has revised its scale of southern mill takings, reducing the estimates from 200,000 bales weekly to 90,000 in January; 84,000 in February and 80,000 in March. The estimate for the season is 2,318,000 compared with 2,079,000 bales last year, and 2,494,000 bales two years ago. The world's visible supply now is smaller than it was two years ago. The amount to come is smaller. The price of July, that year, touched 13 cents. The visible supply statement is so bullish that Liverpool showing only 1½ higher, is but a poor response. I can see no reason why the prices this year should not average as high as they did two years ago."

Conservatively estimated, the amount of this crop yet to come will be 1,000,000 bales less than it was two years ago. The present visible supply is 64,000 bales less than it was two years ago. The mills of the world have 127,000,000 spindles to feed against only 119,000,000 two years ago, and these spindles have already required 418,000 more bales than to a similar date two years ago, and week by week we are using about 10 per cent. more cotton than two years ago. Every viewpoint suggests a sensational advance, and no heavy decline is possible. We are very friendly to cotton.

New York Clearinghouse.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The statement of the clearing-house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $25,588,175 more than the requirement of the 25 per cent. reserve rule. This is an increase of $2,896,225 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week. The statement shows: Loans $1,329,110,600; increase $32,074,900; deposits $1,404,459,700, increase $46,109,900; circulation $49,434,100, decrease $820,100; legal tenders $83,358,500, increase, $207,500; specie $193,444,600, increase, $14,215,200; reserve $376,704,100, increase $14,422,700; reserve required $351,113,925, increase, $11,527,975; surplus $25,587,175, increase $2,896,225; Ex. U. S. deposits $37,509,475, increase $2,618,725.

The percentage of actual reserve of the clearing-house banks today was 27.06.

The statement of banks and trust companies of Greater New York, not reporting to the clearing-house, shows these institutions have deposits of $1,148,949,000; total cash on hand, $112,775,400, and loans amounting to $1,036,530,300.

The increase in deposits this week was the largest ever recorded in the history of the clearing-house.

California Dried Fruits.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The market for evaporated apples is quiet, but holders show no disposition to stimulate business at the expense of prices. Fancy are quoted at 8¼@9½; choice, 7½@8; prime, 6½@7, and common to fair, 6@6¼.

Prunes are dull with quotations ranging from 4¼@7¾ for new crop California up to 40-50s and from 6¼ to 9 for Oregon 40-50s to 20-30s.

Apricots are in light supply, with choice quoted at 9½@9¾; extra choice, 9½@10, and fancy at 11½@13.

Peaches remain dull with choice quoted at 6¼@7; extra choice, 7¾@8, and fancy at 8½@11.

Raisins are unsettled, although coast advices are a little firmer in tone. Loose muscatels are quoted at 4½@6; choice to fancy seeded at 5¼@6; seedless 4@5½, and London layers at 1.50@1.60.

REACHING OUT.

INTERNATIONAL IN ITS SCOPE.

Bank of Southern California Changes Hands.

Financial Alliance Assured With Other Countries.

Enterprise of Great Value to Los Angeles.

Negotiations were closed yesterday afternoon between J. M. Neeland, vice-president and general manager of the Pan-American Railroad, and George I. Ham, president of the United States Banking Company, of Mexico, and Col. J. B. Lankershim and John W. Mitchell, for the purchase of a majority of the stock of the Bank of Southern California, and the immediate increase of its capital to $300,000. A subscription of $100,000 was asked for by Mr. Neeland, and Mr. Ham, and it is stated that this has been oversubscribed, and that the capital stock will shortly be increased to $500,000.

Col. Lankershim has resigned the position of president, and Mr. Neeland was elected in his stead, but the colonel succeeds H. T. Hazard as vice-president, and will be one of the directors, and a member of the Finance Committee.

It is intended to make a specialty of Mexican and Central American business, which has been neglected. This the bank will be able to do, owing to Mr. Neeland's and Mr. Ham's interests in the south.

M. N. Newmark will become a stockholder in the bank, and later a director and officer.

T. E. Edwards will be a vice-president, in the place of W. H. Hubbard. Henry A. Coit, confidential representative of Mr. Neeland in Los Angeles, will be secretary, and J. T. Bunn, assistant secretary and cashier. Among others connected with the institution are H. E. Hindry of Pasadena; Mr. Elasser, the "antimony king;" B. B. Harlan of Boston; Lucien Gray, formerly of Illinois, and W. W. Mines of Mines & Farrish.

Messrs. Hass, owners of the corner of Seventh and Broadway, the present quarters of the bank, have given a five-year lease of the entire lower floor and basement and negotiations are in progress for a fifty-year lease of the whole lot for the erection of a ten-story building.

The sale of the interests taken over by Messrs. Neeland and Hamm, and the alliance with the United States Banking Company were effected by John W. Mitchell.

Col. Lankershim said yesterday:

"The United States Banking Company of Los Angeles is the largest American concern in Mexico, and its last statement shows assets of over $10,000,000. Its officers and stockholders are among the wealthiest men of Central America. The commercial transactions between Los Angeles and the City of Mexico and the exchanges between the banks are increasing rapidly. Such an alliance as this will tend to increase the business between this point and capital of our sister republic."

Mr. Neeland said: "We are going to make the Bank of Southern California one of the foremost financial institutions of this section. We have the location, the men and the money. We shall conduct a conservative business and be content with the profits that come from legitimate banking transactions. My confidence in the future growth of this wonderful section forces me to think we will make a great success of our enterprise."

BUILDING CONTRACTS LET.

Building contracts let in the city of Los Angeles and points near by for seven days, including all items to cost $1000 and more, were as follows:

Charles J. Dudley, six-room cottage, No. 1050 West Fifty-first street, $1800.

Roman Catholic Bishop of Los Angeles and Monterey, one-story brick assembly hall, 46x80 feet, corner Court street and Union avenue, $5691.

The Salvation Army, four-story and basement brick hotel, 41x121 feet, Grand avenue, near Fifth street, $36,000. Plumbing same, $5879.

Rose Gollmer, six-room cottage, No. 1980 West Twenty-second street, $2150.

Mrs. S. Hammer, two-story brick building, 40x46 feet, two stores and ten rooms, corner Winfield and Sentous streets, $6000.

August Sendy, five-room cottage, No. 4422 Long Beach avenue, $1000.

Annie H. Hensel, seven-room cottage, Budlong avenue, near Forty-ninth street, $2700.

Irene Amet Ambrose, two-story eight-room house, No. 436 North Westlake avenue, $3875.

J. E. Hayden, six-room cottage, No. 4174 Budlong avenue, $2300.

Ray Howard, two-story seven-room house, Irolo street, near Ninth, $2750.

Ada L. Bennett, one-story brick store, No. 2815 West Pico street, $3200.

Henry L. Cohen, two-story brick building, 83x58 feet, three stores and twenty-one rooms, corner Central avenue and Thirty-third street, $10,778.

O. L. Sellers, five-room cottage, Pasadena, $2265.

Mary W. Armstrong, alterations to residence, Altadena, $3840.

ON EAST FORTY-SIXTH.

The Cornell Company has sold for Naomi L. Clewette to Charles A. Whisler the property at No. 887 East Forty-sixth street for $2000. The lot is 50x152 feet to a twenty-foot alley, and is improved with a five-room cottage.

THE glorious rain has come, and already Nature's green velvet carpeting is appearing on Mount Washington. View Mount Washington when the green grass covers the hills and you will gain a realistic view of what the appearance will be when Nature's temporary verdure is supplanted by permanent lawns and flowers.

The outlook for the present year generally is very bright and the prospects for the rapid development of Mount Washington is far ahead of the company's anticipation. Success in this property does not depend on boom speculation. The actual home builder is responsible for the wonderwul development which has taken place and is continuing. The stamp of public approval has been indelibly affixed and the future assured.

Some delay has been occasioned in the construction of the Incline Railway by the weather conditions of the past ten days and it is feared that possibly the opening of the road and the tract cannot take place on Washington's Birthday as planned. While at the present issue this matter cannot be definitely determined, it is still hoped that the original plans can be carried out. However, a matter of a short delay in an enterprise of this magnitude will make but little difference. The cause of the delay has been of the greatest good to the country and the Mount Washington Company will gladly defer their plans for rain.

RAIN DELAYS CONSTRUCTION

Fear that Incline Railway Cannot Be Completed By February 22, Owing to Rain.

The welcome rain may be responsible for a postponement of the celebration planned for February 22nd. However, should it not be possible to have road in operation by that time, the same plans and entertainment will be carried out at a later date and the public will be fully advised of the change if same becomes necessary. The progress of construction has been very satisfactory up to this time. All material and machinery are simply awaiting installation, and with the completion of the roadbed, weather permitting, the work will be rapidly finished in the near future.

MAY ESTABLISH P. O. STATION.

Postmaster Motley H. Flint has been interviewed with regard to U. S. mail facilities on Mount Washington, and has stated that after official investigation it may be possible to establish a postoffice station for the handling of mail in that section. This matter would be highly appreciated by residents and it is hoped that conditions will justify the location of a station.

NOTICE.

Mt. Washington is now reached by L. A. Ry. yellow Garvanza car. Off at Mt. Washington Drive (formerly Ave. 41,) thence by boulevard to summit one mile by easy ascent. Incline railway in operation February, direct to property.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED

J. A. Merrill Building Fine $7,000 Home—Architect's Description and Prospective.

Architect H. M. Patterson has completed plans and specifications for a fine residence to be built for John A. Merrill on Elysian Drive, Mount Washington. Excavation for basement has commenced and the structure will be rapidly completed. A full description of this fine home is given in detail herewith from Mr. Patterson. The accompanying cut shows a front view as residence will appear when completed.

This is a full two-story residence containing twelve (12) rooms and basement. (House over all 41x60.)

First story having a large entrance hall 13.6x17.6 with beamed ceiling, built-in seats and coat closet and lavatory in alcove.

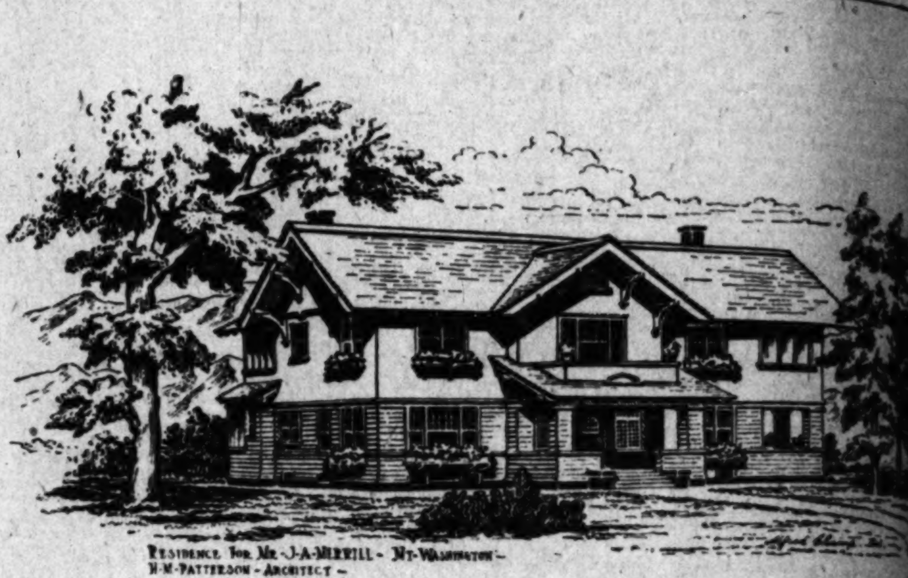
Living room 15x24.6 with beamed ceiling, seats, large fireplace and brick mantel, French windows opening onto a screened-in veranda.

Dining room 15.6x17.6, beamed ceilings, windows full width of room, commanding view of mountain range.

Library 11x15, built-in bookcases, beamed ceiling.

(The living room, dining room and entrance hall to have high panelled wainscot with plate rail.)

Sewing room, kitchen, servants' room, screen porch, pantry, store closets, toilet room, back stairs, also on first floor.



RESIDENCE FOR MR. J. A. MERRILL - MT. WASHINGTON - H. M. PATTERSON - ARCHITECT -

The second story contains six (6) bedrooms, ample storage and linen closets, bathroom, toilet room, two large screened-in sleeping balconies and one open balcony.

Principal rooms in first story to have quartered oak floors. Inside finish generally to be of Oregon pine, tinted or finished natural in some of the rooms, and finished in white enamel in others.

The exterior is designed on broad and dignified lines, the first-story walls being covered with wide saw-finished siding, the second story covered with cement plaster, all outside woodwork rough saw-finish—the whole giving a very pleasing effect.

House is to be heated by furnace.

Large basement containing furnace, store rooms, etc.

SUPERVISORS GRANT REQUEST.

Supervisor R. W. Pridham of the Second District inspected a portion of Mount Washington last Monday, and as a result of his investigation official action was taken by the Board of Supervisors, granting the petition for abandonment of a portion of Elysian Drive and Villa street. Changes in the platting of the tract made this action desirable and considerable improvement has been effected thereby.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Mount Washington Company for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, will be held in the offices of the corporation, No. 140 West 5th street, Tuesday, January 19th, at the hour of 10 a. m.

The present Board of Directors are to be highly congratulated on the achievements of the last year and it is quite likely that practically the same board will be re-elected.

RELICS.

RESTORING ANCIENT RUINS OF IRELAND.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

Rock of Cashel.

Finest specimen of the ancient Irish round tower in existence. It has been taken over by the national authorities and will be preserved.

DUBLIN, Jan. 2.—No country is richer in antiquarian relics than Ireland, and in no country have they been more neglected; but this reproach is now being removed by the Commissioners of Public Works for Ireland, who were empowered a few years ago to take charge of ancient and historic buildings and monuments wherever it was possible to obtain control of them. Since then much good work has been done, and the commissioners have just issued a report dealing with some of the principal relics under their care.

Perhaps the most interesting of these is the Grianan, or palace, of Aileach, in County Donegal, about seven miles from Derry. It was for centuries the chief seat of the ancient northern kings of Ireland, and when one remembers the number of times that it has been "demolished" one wonders that one stone is left on another. There is still a good deal of it left, however, and the Commissioners have restored it to something like its former proportions, being careful to preserve its ancient character and to use only the ancient material.

The Grianan stands on the summit of a hill about 800 feet high. From a military point of view no position could be better, for the only approach is a narrow road between two ledges of rock where half a dozen men could hold an army in check. When the commissioners took charge of it, they found that a large part of the wall on one side had fallen down to within five or six feet of the ground. Its original height was about seventeen feet and this has been built up again with the old stones which were lying heaped about. The palace was roughly circular in shape, measuring about seventy-seven feet in diameter from east to west, and seventy-six from north to south. The walls which are built without mortar, are about fourteen feet wide at the base.

There is no record of the date of the construction of the Grianan, but there are plenty of references to its attempted destruction. The earliest of these is found in the Tripartite Life of St. Patrick, written about the sixth century, when it is spoken of as the remotely ancient seat of the kings of Ireland, and in the Book of Lecan there is a list of forty-four kings who reigned at Aileach from the fifth to the eleventh century.

Its final demolition appears to have taken place in 1101, when Murtogh O'Brien, King of Munster, led a great army into Inishowen and attacked Aileach, in revenge for the destruction of his own palace at Cenncora, which had been razed twenty years before by Domnal O'Lochlain, who then reigned at Aileach. Murtogh commanded his soldiers to take a stone back to Limerick for every bag of provisions they brought, and there seems to be no record of the Grianan being rebuilt after that. The sack of Aileach was avenged in 1599, nearly 500 years after, when the O'Donnell of that day ravaged Clare and destroyed the town of Ennis.

Another extremely interesting old building which has come into the hands of the commissioners is the Cistercian Abbey at the village of Grey Abbey, County Downs, near Belfast. It is one of the most extensive ecclesiastical ruins in the three kingdoms, but it has suffered much at the hands of vandals. The walls of the presbytery remained at their original height, but only a few feet of the walls of the north and south transepts were standing, and some of the conventual buildings were indicated only by mounds.

The local farmers had carried away large quantities of stone for building their own houses and for fences, and the "restorers" who roofed the nave in 1778 to enable it to be used as a parish church also did a great deal of damage. The commissioners, however, have restored the masonry wherever possible and have strengthened that still standing so that a visitor to the abbey now can gain a clear idea of what it looked like in the height of its prosperity.

The abbey was founded in 1193 by Affreca, the wife of John de Courcy, and daughter of Godrod, King of Man. It was occupied by monks of the Cistercian order from Cumberland. It is conjectured that it was erected on the site of an earlier Irish church and traces of distinctive masonry which have been discovered seem to indicate that the old church was incorporated in the new structure.

After the dissolution of the monasteries in 1537 the place was deserted and in 1542 it was certified that all the monks had left it. In 1572 it was burnt by Sir Brian O'Neill lest it should afford shelter to the English colonists who attempted to occupy the abbey under a grant by Queen Elizabeth to Sir Thomas Smith, giving him the country "if he could take it."

Another splendid eccleciastical monument which the commissioners have taken charge of is the famous Rock of Cashel which not only includes a magnificent ancient cathedral but also the finest specimen of the ancient Irish round tower in existence.

There is no doubt that the Rock is one of the earliest ecclesiastical foundations in Ireland. It is in the townland of St. Patrick's Rock and while there is no trace of the original church it is thought that the round tower was an adjunct to it. The earliest record concerning the place states that it was fortified early in the fifth century by the King of Munster and that from that time it took the name of Cashel, from the stone fort which he erected there. The earliest ecclesiastical record mentions Cormac, son of Guilennain, a prince who was also Bishop of Cashel, who was born in 831 and was slain in battle in 903. It is certain, however, that the church had attained cathedral rank long before that.

Next in chronological order to the tower is Cormac's chapel, which is a beautiful little Romanesque church in fine repair and one of the most perfect specimens of this period of architecture in existence. It was built in 1127 by Cormac McCarthy, King of Desmond and Bishop of Cashel. The interior of the chapel and of the cathedral itself are richly ornamented with sculptures and carvings and there are traces of elaborate paintings.

The cathedral was burnt in 1495 by Gerald, Earl of Kildare, who was called before the King to account for his vandalism. He satisfied his royal master by explaining that he thought the archbishop of Cashel, against whom he had an old grudge, was inside.

It was taken in 1647 by Cromwellian soldiers under Lord Inchiquin, and was, of course, dismantled by them. It was left in a ruinous condition until 1688, when it was partially repaired, and in 1729 it was restored as a cathedral. In 1749, however, it was again abandoned, as a new building had been erected, but it has been kept in fair condition by the ecclesiastical commissioners, who have just turned it over to the Commissioners of Public Works.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION.

Don't forget the good resolution you made on New Year's Day when you first saw the mammoth Midwinter Number of the Los Angeles Times, when, with others, you made a solemn resolve to invest 12 cents each in copies to send to all your eastern friends. It will answer all their questions more fully and completely than you could do in writing letters for the whole year of 1909. Unfortunate is he who forgets his good New Year's resolutions, and it will be a misfortune to your friends if your New Year's resolve to buy the best special number of The Times is disregarded.

Postage on single copy of the Midwinter Number when mailed by the individual to any address in the United States, Mexico or Canada, will be eight cents per copy.

Mailing orders may be left at The Times Office, First and Broadway, or at the Branch Office, 521 South Spring st., for 12c per copy to any address in the postal union, including postage.

IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Many Sales Reported Throughout College Tract, and in Western Avenue Square.

The Los Angeles Investment Company reports a demand for lots in the College tract property. The company says it is greater than at any time since the work was first started upon the tract, about eighteen months ago. A house is scarcely completed before it is sold. The following sales in the tracts are reported:

To Mrs. Clara L. Conaway, six-room, story-and-a-half bungalow at No. 4828 Gramercy Place, for $3300; C. A. Tillottson, five-room bungalow, No. 4412 Gramercy Place; Mrs. Sophie Flohr, five-room bungalow, No. 5014 Gramercy Place, with extra lot, for $3500 cash; Fred A. Manley, five-room bungalow, No. 5032 Gramercy Place, for $2450; Mrs. Leone Leavitt, a lot on Wilton Place. The company is now preparing plans for a six-room bungalow to cost $2700. E. N. Farwell, a lot on Wilton Place. The buyer is planning a five-room bungalow to cost $2500.

Dr. S. C. Edmiston, a lot in Western-avenue Square. The company will build a six-room bungalow to cost $3000 for the purchaser. Mrs. Adetia S. Hosford, a lot in the same tract, for whom the company will build a five-room bungalow, costing $2700.

The following places, recentl- sold, are being completed by the company: For Frank Mallert, eight-room house, No. 4909 Wilton Place, at a cost of $3200. For Mrs. Agnes W. Smith, five-room bungalow, No. 4717 Wilton Place, for $3100. For J. S. Meyer, five-room bungalow, No. 4933 Wilton Place, for $2500.

Mrs. Catherine M. Gray bought a lot in Western-avenue Square for $900. Mrs. Augusta Hermann has purchased two lots in the same tract for $1620.

In the Deeble tract the company has sold a four-room cottage at No. 1630 East Thirty-sixth street to Frank A. Sykora for $1600. Also a five-room bungalow at No. 1583 East Thirty-sixth street to William Kilpatrick for $2550.

The company is now ready to place upon the market the Kendall's Berry tract, which immediately adjoins the College tract. All lots are 50 feet or more front by 150 feet to alleys. Improvements are in, including a sewer system, water lines, sidewalks and curbings, etc.

MONETA AVENUE SECTION.

G. Dombrowski, manager of Moneta-avenue Realty Company, reports the following sales: For Henry Stieler to Julus Pauly, a lot 50x135 feet on the south side of Forty-first Place, between Figueroa and Hoover streets, for $1250. The purchaser will improve same with a seven-room, one-and-one-half-story bungalow. For J. Gillespie to H. Goodwin, a lot, 40x135 feet, on the north side of Forty-ninth street, between Moneta avenue and Figueroa street, for a consideration of $950 cash. This lot will be improved at once with a six-room bungalow. For N. S. McAlister to Condley & Crane, two lots, 40x120 feet each, on Forty-third street, west of Figueroa, for a consideration of $1000 cash each. Both lots will be improved at once with a five or six room bungalow. For Katherine Lind to Roland C. Thompson, the modern five-room bungalow at No. 216 West Fifty-second street, on lot 40x135 feet to alley, for $3300. The property was bought for a home. For Condley & Crane to S. McWilliams, a modern five-room bungalow at No. 609 West Forty-third street, on lot 40x120 feet, for $3000 cash. For B. Johnson to H. F. Schneider, a lot 40x125 feet on the north side of Forty-ninth street, between Moneta avenue and Figueroa street, for a consideration of $1050 cash. The buyer will improve with a six-room bungalow.

THE WILD WID

By GERTIE DE S. WENTWORTH-JAMES.

New Haven Union: "The book, like the proverbial widow, is so dangerously fascinating in style that one does not care to commence to read it until they have time to finish it."

San Francisco Bulletin: "'The Wild Widow,' by Gertie De S. Wentworth-James, is just as wild as the wildest. The searcher for the morbid under the glare of the white lights may save himself the trouble of the hunt and read this book. It seems to be a cross between Sappho, The Absintheur, The Decameron of Bocaccio and a Literary Aspiration. It might have been written by Potiphar's wife, had that lady grabbed a frenzied and unreproved pen and let her imagination have full sway."

NO EXCUSE FOR STARVING.

City's Poor May Have Free Vacant Lots on Which to Raise Vegetables.

Planting time will soon be here. The rain that has just soaked in makes the soil hold a rich promise for the future. Now the vacant lot committee of the Civic Association must be up and doing. Now is the time when the chairwoman tears her hair and wonders where her seeds are to come from, who will donate the necessary teams for plowing, and how many of the city's poor would like employment in improving lots now given over to weeds.

One lad, last year, planted peanuts on a lot and harvested a record crop. On East Fifty-sixth street, Mrs. Thornton, and her daughter, Alice, have made a hitherto unused bit of land yield large returns. The mother, who is 56 years old, works in a cannery and Alice is a seamstress. Both combine these tasks for breadwinning with gardening. The strip of ground, only 20 by 75 feet, yielded 400 pounds of large potatoes, a great many smaller ones, sugar corn and other articles for consumption.

It is curious that any one should ever go hungry in Los Angeles when there are so many vacant lots which may be had for the asking and from which such harvests may be reaped.

The Civic Association's chairman, Mrs. Randall Hutchinson, is ready to secure a bit of ground for every one who wishes to undertake gardening within the city limits.

Groceries and seed houses are requested to make donations for planting, and teams and men for plowing are also wanted.

All communications should be addressed to Mrs. Hutchinson, No. 2817 Menlo avenue.

CALIFORNIA'S COPPER OUTPUT.

GOVERNMENT REPORT ON YEAR BEFORE LAST.

State Yielded Over Thirty-three and a Half Million Pounds Shown by Smelter Returns — Shasta the Chief Producing County—Sixth in Rank.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

According to an advance chapter of "U. S. Mineral Resources, 1907," written by L. C. Graton, copper expert of the United States Geological Survey, and just published, the production of blister copper in California in 1907, calendar year, was 33,696,602 pounds, against 28,153,202 pounds in 1906, an increase of 5,543,400 pounds. The bulk of the production and nearly the whole increase, was from the Shasta county region. The California copper mines returned 28,528,020 pounds as their output for 1907, while the figures of 33,696,602 pounds quoted above are the smelter returns, the difference being for held-over ore stock worked in.

The Shasta county copper region, which lies near Sacramento and Pitt rivers, north of Redding, is the eighth in importance of the country, and in 1907 produced about 28,000,000 pounds of blister copper, as compared with 21,000,000 pounds in 1906, a gain of 33⅓ per cent. This production came from three companies—the Mammoth, the Mountain, and the Great Western. The Bully Hill smelter was being remodeled. The typical ore of the region occurs as large bodies in intensely crushed granitic porphyries and locally in adjoining shales. It is a massive sulphide made up of varying proportions of pyrite and zinc blende with chalcopyrite in comparatively small amount, and ranges from less than 1 to over 8 per cent. copper mined. The secondary zone, which was wonderfully productive of copper and silver at the Iron Mountain and Bully Hill mines, has been exhausted, and at the other mines is either of little importance or practically absent.

The ores smelted in 1907 yielded approximately 3 per cent. of copper. The yield per ton in gold was about $1.20 and in silver 2.1 ounces, or $1.40, which combined are equivalent to 4.5 cents per pound of copper. In the aggregate several million tons are blocked out in the mines of the Balaklala, the Bully Hill, the Mammoth, the Mountain and the Trinity companies. The limits of these ore bodies are now pretty well defined, and it is doubtful if new bodies can be discovered as rapidly as the present ones are exhausted. The first large body to be worked in the district, that at Iron Mountain, is now nearly worked out, and in spite of the fire which has been burning for several years, practically all the ore will be extracted.

Most of the ore bodies thus far discovered are developed by workings not more than 500 feet deep, but the Great Western workings, in the Afterthought district, exceed this depth and in the Bully Hill district the lowest level is about 900 feet below the outcrop. Owing to the rugged topography, tunnels afford easy access to the ore bodies, but in a few places winzes from these tunnels are required. Open cutting is employed in part at the Balaklala and the Afterthought mines. Water is not troublesome. Up to the present time square setting has been chiefly employed. At the Mammoth mine the horizontal slicing system; with subsequent caving, is employed, and the quantity of lumber required, which was large at the start, is gradually being lessened. Methods requiring less timber may be employed in the mines that are now in the development stage. Native timber is used. Electric power is employed almost exclusively and is derived from the lines of the Northern California Power Company. Much of the coke comes from Australia. The Southern Pacific railroad crosses the district. The Iron Mountain and Hornet mines are connected with it by a private railway, and the Mammoth by an aërial tramway, which has been replaced by a combination steam and electric road. An aërial tram connects the Balaklala and Trinity mines with the Balaklala smelter at Coram. The Sacramento Valley and Northeastern Railway was completed to the Bully Hill district early in 1908. Work has been begun on a line to the Afterthought district. European labor is employed chiefly.

Pyrite smelting is now applied almost exclusively to the ore, and is vey successful. Even the zincy ores of the Afterthought region are handled by the aid of a hot blast. Some experiments are under way to save the zinc now lost at this plant, and some steps in this direction may be undertaken at Bully Hill, also. The Bully Hill mine is owned by the General Electric Company of Schenectady, N. Y. The Mammoth Company was the largest producer of the year, but turned out only matte, which was converted at the United States smelter in the Salt Lake Valley. The construction of converters, as well as of two additional blast furnaces, however, was practically completed in 1907. During that year the fine ore was shipped mostly to sulphuric acid works near San Francisco, where the resulting cinders were smelted for their copper. The Mountain Copper Company, owing to the raising of the injunction against its Keswick plant, treated part of its output at that smelter and part at its works at Martinez, on San Francisco Bay, where it has, in addition to a small electrolytic refinery, a sulphuric acid and fertilizer plant that utilizes phosphate from Utah and Idaho. The Afterthought smelter shipped its matte to Utah for conversion. Some Shasta county copper ore was treated at the Garfield smelter. The Bully Hill smelter, which has been idle since early in 1906, was enlarged and equipped for pyritic smelting. A reverberatory was also added for the treatment of fines. Work was actively carried on by the Balaklala Company in the construction of its new 1500-ton smelter until October, when construction was suspended, not to be renewed until 1908. This plant, which will treat the Balaklala and Trinity ores, will make a matte which may be converted at the Mammoth works pending a decision regarding the resumption of construction of the San Bruno smelter.

The smelters that were operated in 1907 treated approximately 296,000 tons of pyritic and siliceous ores from Shasta county. Custom ore was also handled and consisted mostly of dry gold-silver ore from Nevada, with some siliceous copper ore from Idaho; also copper ores from Oregon, from Utah, and from other districts in California.

Among other productive copper districts in California are the Campo Seco and Copperopolis districts of Calaveras county, whose combined production in 1907 was about 4,500,000 pounds. The ores consist of heavy pyrite with chalcopyrite, and occur as lenticular bodies in schist. The average yield in 1907 was somewhat over 5 per cent. Some of the ores carry practically no gold and silver, and the copper, being free from impurities, is made into casting copper. Smelters were operated by the Penn Chemical Company at Campo Seco and by the Union Copper Company at Copperopolis. The matte from both and some cement copper from the leaching plant of the latter were shipped east for further treatment.

A small production from San Bernardino and Inyo counties was treated in part at the Needles smelter, which handled also a little ore from Arizona. The Furnace Creek, or Greenwater, district of Inyo county, made only a slight production. Miscellaneous shipments from California, as well as ore from Nevada, reached the works of the Mountain Copper Company, the American Smelters and Securities Company, and the Peyton Chemical Company. Some of the matte produced is coverted in Utah. At the Dairy Farm mine in Placer county, active development of the large pyritic ore body was suspended when work stopped on the San Bruno smelter, to which this mine was to ship. This smelter, which was being built by the Guggenheim interests, was designed to handle, in addition to Dairy Farm and Balaklala matte, siliceous ores from Nevada and possibly some of the chalcocite from Copper River, Alaska. Opposition arising over the smelter smoke prospect caused construction to be stopped in 1907, and no work has since been done.

The California smelting plants operated in 1907 were Campo Seco, Penn Chemical Company; Copperopolis, Union Copper Company; Ingot, Great Western Gold Company; Kennett, Mammoth Copper Mining Company; Keswick, Mountain Copper Company; Martinez, Mountain Copper Company; Martinez, Peyton Chemical Company; Needles, Arizona-Mexican Mining and Smelting Company; Selby, Selby Smelting and Lead Company.

The last named is a subsidiary of the American Smelters Securities Company.

Most of the matte smelted in Utah is from California, which State ranks tenth among the States in the amount of final smelter output, domestic and foreign. California leads all the States in the quantity of domestic matte produced and shipped to plants in other States for conversion.

In the twenty-five years, 1883 to 1907, inclusive, California has produced 281,033,519 pounds of copper.

The yearly contributions were:

Total production in twenty-five years	281,033,519

The largely increased development in these yearly productions under the national fiscal policies adopted in 1897 is noteworthy to a degree.

California ranked sixth in total copper-ore tonnage and fifth in tonnage of crude smelting ore. The State produced practically no copper concentrates, except a small tonnage of "cement" copper.

Chino Ranch

32 Miles From LOS ANGELES

Rich land from $100 to $225 an acre on the Chino Ranch—just 32 miles from Los Angeles. Chino Ranch is the "Home of the Small Farmer." Here he can live comfortably, support a family, and save money on a five to ten-acre tract. Dairying is a profitable industry at Chino, especially when carried on in conjunction with alfalfa and stock raising. Truck farming is another source of revenue at Chino; present demand for products in excess of supply.

School bonds for $35,000 have just been voted—and a new High School is to be erected, after the style of the Polytechnic High School of Los Angeles. The building will be located at the corner of Sixth and A streets.

$2800 WORTH OF ALFALFA FROM 20 ACRES

Messrs. Hargraves and Hollinsworth, connected with the Rabb Creamery Co., of South Pasadena, last year realized $2800 from 20 acres in alfalfa on the Chino Ranch, an average of $140 an acre.

ALFALFA IS KING

ON THE CHINO RANCH

This season there will be about 1500 acres additional seeded to alfalfa on the Chino Ranch—making a total of 4500 acres. Last year's yield was from 7 to 8 cuttings—averaging about 10 tons to the acre for the year. Good alfalfa land, in the Artesian Belt, $100 to $150 an acre. Land with water, $225 an acre. The present price of alfalfa is about $18.00 a ton..

2000 Acres Offered

Now for the First Time

We are now placing on the market 2000 acres of splendid Alfalfa and Sugar Beet land on the Chino Ranch, which is the first time this acreage has been offered for sale. This land lies in the Artesian Belt—water close to surface. Price $100 and $125 an acre.

The American Beet Sugar Co. last year handled 66,000 tons of beets—which yielded 18,000,000 pounds of sugar. This year the company is increasing its acreage.

Chino Products Exhibit

At the Company's Office

We want you to come to our office and see the interesting exhibit of products grown on the Chino Ranch; talk with our representatives, and get first-hand information concerning the many advantages at Chino over any other acreage proposition in Southern California.

If not convenient to call, write for booklets. Terms of sale, one-fourth down, balance in one, two, three and four years, at 6 per cent. interest on deferred payments.

Rich Peat Lands

Drained by Tile System

The Chino Land & Water Company has just completed an extensive tile drainage system which opens up a large body of Peat Lands, which rival in richness the famous Bolsa Celery Lands. This will be interesting news to the Celery raisers of Southern California, and others who contemplate embarking in this most profitable industry. The price of these lands is $300 an acre—and will be sold on regular terms of payment.

All of the advantages of the Imperial Valley—but none of its disadvantages.

No other lands in the State willl stand comparison with Blythe Ranch—no other section presents such overwhelming advantages. Recognized by the government experts and others who know as one of the richest bodies of land in the United States—equally as productive as the famous Nile Valley lands.

The water supply is unlimited—a whole river of water right at hand—brought to the land through a splendid system of irrigation canals.

The soil is a rich silt deposit—it will never wear out, but will produce abundant crops year in and year out.

No droughts, floods or crop failures at Blythe Ranch. No water to develop or water rights to buy. Absolutely clear title vested in purchasers. A healthful climate and pure water supply—all these advantages combine to make life at Blythe Ranch both pleasant and profitable.

Buy now while prices are low. Blythe Ranch lies in the zone of the greatest agricultural activity of the day and its rapid development is assured.

"TURN IT DOWN."

BONDING BILL NOT APPROVED.

STATE REALTY FEDERATION DOES NOT FAVOR IT.

Organizations Oppose Proposition Four to One—Idea Indorsed—New York Company's Local Eucalyptus Scheme Being Investigated—More Suckers Biting on Antelope Valley.

Herbert Burdett, executive secretary of the State Realty Federation, announced yesterday the result of the vote by the federation on the proposed bill, which would have provided for licensing all real estate agents, and have required a bond of $5000 as a prerequisite to the granting of such a license.

The proposition to submit this bill, or some similar one embodying the same principle to the State Legislature, was rejected by a vote of nearly four to one. The San Francisco and Los Angeles realty boards, the two largest organizations in the State, opposed the suggested measure, as did also the San José Real Estate Agents' Association. The Sacramento and Fresno boards were in favor of the bonding proposition. The Oakland association did not arrive at a definite decision, but "approved the idea of an act which will elevate and establish the business of a real estate agent as reliable financial agent.' The Berkeley Real Estate Exchange did not vote upon the question. The individual members of the federation, comprising the agents in the small towns were equally divided on the proposition, so far as could be ascertained, the majority of them failing to vote at all.

"This disposes of the bonding idea," said Mr. Burdett yesterday. "I am told that some of the outside agents in Los Angeles held a meeting and seemed greatly concerned about the proposed bill, taking it for granted that such a measure would be introduced in the Legislature. The facts are, that it is purely a domestic proposition, so to speak, and in my opinion should never have been made public. The federation discusses many propositions and suggestions by various members and possibly a majority of them are rejected. Publicity was given to this bonding measure by a member of the Legislative Committee and as reports of it were published in northern papers, it was given also to the Los Angeles papers, with the result apparently, that a number of real estate men who are not affiliated with the federation, have given themselves a good deal of unnecessary trouble. I do not think that the bonding bill will be introduced in the Legislature, and if it is, it will be my duty, as representing the federation, to oppose it; although personally I think that the principle is a good one. The bill as drafted, however, was impracticable, and went far beyond the point to which I assented in the committee discussion of the matter."

The federation is investigating the proposition of Burr Bros. (Inc.,) of New York City, who state that they have organized what they call the California Eucalyptus Timber Company, and have purchased for the alleged consideration of $20,000 in cash, and 20,000 shares in stock, 447 acres near Escondido, San Diego county. They publish glowing estimates of future profits in a pamphlet called "Securities," and offer stock in their proposition at 10 cents a share, with a par value of $1.

The secretary of the San Diego Realty Board, in response to an inquiry as to the land in San Diego county, reports that a deed was filed in favor of Shelton C. Burr covering apparently the property described in "Securities," the consideration being $10,375, payable in four instalments, of which $2200 is paid, balance in four payments, one each year; $2175 one year at 6 per cent., in the same rate, and the balance in one, two three and four years, at a similar rate, in payments of $2000 each.

He continues: "It has been reported to me that this is mostly broken, unimproved raw land of but little use, even for eucalyptus cultivation, as little or no water can be had to sustain the small trees for the first few years after they are planted. There is surely something wrong in their proposition, for the reason, that if it has been reported squarely in the deed that they paid $10,375 for 447 acres of land that is unimproved, or $23 per acre for raw land, the Burr Bros., are either suckers or are reporting a wrong valuation." But, to quote "Securities," "the California Eucalyptus Timber Company, Burr Bros., have hit on the one sure thing in the investment line."

The federation has received a number of inquiries lately relative to the National Homestead Association, which has a proposition based on land in the Antelope Valley. The character of this scheme was fully explained by the federation, and newspaper articles describing conditions in the valley and especially around the so-called townsite of Redman, were published last spring. Apparently, however, a new crop of investors is being reaped, most of them coming from the Eastern States, where extensive advertising seems to have been placed by the National Homestead Association.

RUSH WORK FOR OPENING.

Irrigation System of Yaqui Valley Is Nearing Completion—Sales of Acreage Continue.

Canal work is being rushed on the land of the Yaqui delta, which is being placed under irrigation by the Richardson Construction Company of this city. An increase in the working force of the contractors was made last week by adding another traction engine to the number already in use, this, of course, calling for additional hands, and insuring still more rapid progress. It is expected that the irrigation system will be in readiness to place 100,000 acres under water by February 1.

This quick development of the Yaqui Valley has been made possible through the pacification of the Indians, who, for so many years, terrorized the State of Sonora. Dispatches from the section state that the Indians have signed treaties and surrendered all munitions and arms. However, the actual work on the irrigation system has not been held back by the Indian trouble, and the fighting has been almost entirely among the mountains, far to the east and north of the valley.

Land sales continue to increase each week, several thousand acres having been purchased by Americans, who realize better than any one else, the great value of the fertile delta land. Many large holdings have been taken up by California ranchers, and a growing community of American people is being built about the newly laid out town of Yaqui. Every train arriving at Esperanze brings between five to twenty investigators. These people are given every advantage to look over the property, and the majority make reservations. To accommodate these newcomers, the construction company is rushing work on a modern hotel at Esperanza. At Yaqui another hotel building is going up, also a general store, a number of houses, warehouses, a depot and administration buildings for the company.

IN SOUTH PASADENA.

Building Lots in Beautiful Suburban Section Attract Many Home Builders—Corner on Mission Sold.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 16.—Gilbert & Co. report the following recent sales: Seymour E. Bisbee to John W. Moore, two lots, 50x140 feet each, on Fremont avenue, between Rollins and Bank streets, for $1500. These lots were bought as an investment. James Marsh of Los Angeles, to James Rush of Pasadena, two lots on Fremont avenue, between Oak and Rollins, 50x165 feet each, for a consideration of $1800. Mr. Rush will commence the erection of two one-story bungalows immediately. Mrs. S. M. Caldwell of Lynn, Mass., to W. B. White of Pasadena, two lots, 50x172 feet, on Marengo avenue, in the Rose Terrace tract, for $2000. Mr. White will erect two bungalows at once.

The A. C. Ong Company reports the following sales: J. P. Harter to Mrs. Mary Koehler of Hollywood, a lot 50x157 feet, on Stratford avenue, between Oxley and Monterey Road, improved with a modern six-room bungalow, for $4500. Thomas Buckley to Edward E. Sweet, a lot 50x150 feet, on Brent avenue, for a consideration of $900. Mr. Sweet will improve this lot with a bungalow.

Probably the most important sale recently reported was to Miss H. M. Question of Long Beach, of a lot 74x153 feet, on the southeast corner of Mission and Fair Oaks avenue, for $7400. It was bought as an investment. Mrs. Mary Koehler to R. B. Rowland, lot 50x150 feet, improved with a five-room bungalow, in Alhambra, for a consideration of $3200. S. R. Grant of Pasadena to Gilbert Graham, lot 50x164 feet, on Lyndon street, near Fremont avenue, for $1000.

CHINO RANCH SALES.

The activity at Chino during the first half of January has been marked. There seems to be a good demand for high-class acreage property. Among the sales, made by the Chino Land and Water Company, during the past week are the following: To Louis Matlin, five acres for $1000; to Simon S. Rynin, five acres for $1000. Both purchasers are from Redlands. Adella Weightman of Empire, Canal Zone, Panama, purchased five acres for $1000. The lands are all located one and one-half miles south of Ontario and are under the Chino Land and Water Company irrigation system. Other purchasers are: C. W. Curran, five acres for $750; Frank Husted, five acres for $900. Mr. Curran is a resident of Ontario, while Mr. Husted is from Pasadena. One of the largest sales made at Chino in some time is the purchase of 100 acres by Nathan W. Miller of Pomona. This is alfalfa and beet land, lying in the Chino artesian flowing well district, one and one-half miles southwest of Chino. The price paid was $20,000, or $200 an acre.

SELLS BIG RANCH.

Dr. John R. Haynes has sold his 2700-acre ranch near Murrietta, in Riverside county, to Arthur G. Munn of this city for a consideration of about $20,000. The land joins the Murrietta Hot Sulphur Springs on the north and the town of Murrietta on the east. It has been owned by Dr. Haynes for the past fifteen years, and was used as a grain ranch. It is the intention of the new owner to cut this big acreage into fifty and 100-acre tracts and place it on the market. Wells will be put down and a big pumping plant installed to supply water to the entire 2700 acres. Mr. Munn states, also, that it is his intention to plant several hundred acres in red gums or eucalyptus.

EXPANSION.

DEVELOPMENTS IN SOUTH END.

BIG GROWTH ALONG MAIN AND MONETA AVENUES.

Streets Being Widened to Hundred Feet for Distance of Several Miles. Many Homes Under Construction Throughout Section—Store and Apartment Buildings, Too.

Little has been said recently of the developments in the south end of the city, the real estate men of that section seeming to have preferred to remain silent. They have kept on doing business, however, throughout the summer months. Building and street improvements have been going in at a lively rate throughout the Main-street and Moneta-avenue sections. On almost every street there are one or two new houses being erected and real estate agents state that there are very few empty houses in the district.

Moneta avenue, from the junction with Main street, has been building up rapidly with modern one and two-story store and apartment, or flat buildings, the frequent car service furnishing one of the attractions for people working in the city, to live in this section.

Street improvements along Main street and Moneta avenue are going on apace, all arrangements having been made for the immediate widening of the street. Work already has been begun on widening the short, narrow stretch on Main street to 100 feet, and the same width will be maintained throughout the length of Moneta avenue. All new buildings are now set back ten feet from the present sidewalk line, and those jutting out will either be moved back or shaved off.

Rentals are high, comparatively speaking, in the section, four and five-room flats, with modern conveniences, bringing $25 to $30 a month. Cottages of five rooms are easily rented at $25 a month. There are a number of flat houses being built. Frame is the construction, but all contain modern conveniences, and all rent readily.

Many people are buying houses on the small monthly payment plan, having moved from locations nearer town, where they were renting.

Several good sales have been made recently. The northwest corner of Moneta avenue and Forty-fifth street, 120x135 feet, was sold to A. G. Aiken for $10,000. He is having plans prepared for a two-story store and flat building. This will be of brick and heavy frame, and will cost about $20,000. It will have thirty apartments on the second floor, and six storerooms on the street level. He will build a small cottage on Forty-fifth street, in the rear of the building.

The southwest corner of Forty-seventh street and Moneta avenue, 135x50 feet, was sold recently to a local investor for $4000. It will be improved with a modern store building soon.

A 100-foot building is being erected on the east side of Moneta avenue, between Forty-third street and Forty-third Place, which will contain four stores, with apartments above. It will cost $10,000. G. D. Streeter of Santa Ana is building a two-story store and apartment building on the west side of Moneta avenue, just south of Forty-sixth street, at a cost of $12,000. This will be one of the handsomest on the street, being faced with the beautiful white enamel pressed brick, similar to the Central building, at Sixth and Main streets.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED AN ACRE.

Orange Grove at Ontario Sold to Oregon Man—Work on High School Is Progressing.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

ONTARIO, Jan. 16.—C. W. Parton has purchased of W. D. Waite of this city his ten-acre orange grove at Euclid avenue and Sixth street. The consideration was $15,500. Mr. Parton came here recently from Oregon, and will build.

Work on the new High School is steadily progressing. This structure will cost $50,000, and will be one of the prettiest school buildings in this part of the State. It is to be in mission style of architecture, of reinforced concrete. A handsome gymnasium, constructed on the same lines as the main building, has been begun and will be completed by the time the main building is ready.

The old three-story brick structure, in which the present High School is located, will be remodeled to conform with the design of the new buildings. It stands adjacent to the buildings now under construction, and will be used as an assembly hall for the school. When the work is finished, the group will be a credit to the colony.

APPLE CULTURE GROWS.

Demonstration Methods Similar to Other Districts Will Be Employed at Beaumont.

A concerted movement has been inaugurated at Beaumont to extend the scope and diversity of apple culture in the valley, the idea being to pursue methods of demonstration similar to those that have built to great proportions the industry in other famous apple centers, like Wenatchee Valley and Yakima, Wash., and Hood River, Or. An experiment station will be established on the Englehardt-Stower ranch to test the relative production and money value of various varieties of apples and young trees from all outside districts will be planted.

Methods of advertising and marketing the fruit will be investigated and bulletins of results mailed, not only to all owners of land in the valley, but to the Chambers of Commerce throughout the East and West. The movement is for the advantage of over 900 investors, who in a year have bought $300,000 worth of Beaumont apple lands, and will result in standardizing the apple industry.

Rainfall amounting to over two inches has encouraged the demand for both acreage and city property in Beaumont, the sales last week totaling $5250. One deal of fifteen acres in Cherry Valley to Riverside orange growers, involving $3750, will result in the immediate planting of the land to apples.

Twenty men and teams are now clearing 120 acres of virgin land north of the townsite, which will go on the market for eucalyptus, grape and poultry ranches. The demand for the latter class of property has recently been beyond the supply. Several poultry farmers will commence building at once, and preparations are being made for displays at all future poultry fairs.

Contracts for four new cottages, built for investment, to cost $5000, have been let by Mrs. L. L. Whitlock of Los Angeles, who expects to move to Beaumont at once. Others are also erecting homes.

SALES AT CLAREMONT.

CLAREMONT, Jan. 16.—A. J. Rollins, a newcomer from the East, has purchased a lot adjoining C. S. Vaile's real estate office on First street from Anna Grant of Pomona. The lot is 25x150 feet, and the consideration $1500. Mr. Rollins expects to erect a four-room building soon. John D. Loop of Pomona has sold to W. J. Garlock and Ernest Brooks property on the north side of Harrison avenue, east of the house of Charles Loop. Garlock and Brooks plan to develop water on the lots, to pump to their ranches.

E. F. Goff is planning to build a three-room office building between the garage and the café on First street for renting. The contract for building the house of J. E. Utt at the southwest corner of Alexander and Central avenues has been awarded to James A. Johnson, and work on the building will be begun at once. The Claremont Coöperative Water Company is planning to put down a fourteen-inch well on the company's property north of the base line, to supply the irrigation water for that locality. Work has been begun on the house of Clarence Felock, in the Eucasia Park tract.

IN EASTERN SECTION.

BUILDING UP IN EUCLID HEIGHTS.

BEAUTIFUL DISTRICT IS BEING IMPROVED WITH HOMES.

One Builder Erecting Whole Block of Handsome Bungalows—Tract Owners Guard Attractiveness With High Restrictions—Much Work Is Planned for Next Few Months.

The growth of Los Angeles is not reaching out in one direction only. The city is expanding in radiating lines like the spokes of a wheel from the hub. For many years the growth of the residence section was largely west and southwest, but now the northwest and eastern sections are coming into prominent and favorable notice. The beautiful section bounded by East Fourth street, Stevenson avenue, Euclid avenue and Indiana street, known as Euclid Heights, occupies a high and commanding plateau, to which the early inhabitants gave the name of "mesa," and is really one of the most beautiful natural building sites within the city limits.

This portion of the city has been overlooked for many years and, consequently, its beauty has not been marred by shacks or small buildings. All of the owners of the tracts have combined to preserve the natural beauty and attractiveness of the section by establishing high building restrictions, and so its beauty has never been marred by unsightly structures.

Myron T. Holcomb, the owner of a series of consecutive lots, is building a number of handsome five and six-room bungalows. The accompanying sketch shows a row of buildings in process of construction. This row is being built on East Sixth, near Spence street. Mr. Holcomb is engaging extensively in the development of real estate, and aims to combine beauty and utility in the most complete and attractive manner.

In addition to the row of bungalows shown, he will do further work in this locality during the ensuing season, as well as a number in the southwest section of the city. Some will be erected in the neighborhood of Fifty-third street and Moneta avenue; others on Harvard and Hobart boulevards, between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-ninth street, options for the purchase of all this land for these buildings having already been secured by him.

These houses are being built by and from the designs of H. P. Siberell, and the whole undertaking has been financed by Matthews & Matthews.

NEW CAR LINE STIRS THINGS.

Extension of Yellow Line to Glendale, via Eagle Rock Valley, Causes Considerable Activity.

The actual construction work on the street railway from Eagle Rock westward to Glendale, has caused considerable activity throughout the district. The Edwards & Wildey Company report the following sales:

To A. R. Maines, two lots in the Eagle Rock Central tract, 100x140, on Rowland avenue, near Central, $700; bought for improvement. To Carrie and Max Schultz, a lot 50x150 feet on Rowland avenue, sixty feet south of Hill avenue, for $375. For Hope N. Bourne to Mrs. B. Hawes, a lot in Kenilworth tract, 50x185 feet on the west side of Kenilworth avenue, near Colorado street, for $900.

To Edwin A. Turner, a lot 50x140 feet on the west side of Central avenue, for $450. Mr. Turner will at once improve with a six room bungalow. To G. E. Strifler, lot in the Kenilworth tract, 50x185 feet, on the west side of Highland avenue, near Las Flores, for $850. To Jane H. H. Faunce, a lot 50x140 feet, for $350.

To Erwin Barr of Anaheim, three lots, each 50x140 feet for $1100. For Mrs. Julia A. Smith to Isaac Ayer, a lot 50x185 feet, on Kenilworth avenue, near Colorado street, for $650. To Mrs. B. Hawes, two lots each 50x140 feet, on Rowland avenue, near Colorado street, for $700. To Mrs. A. G. Gardner, a lot 50x140 feet, on the west side of Central avenue, near Colorado, for $450. To Mrs. Carrie Brown, a lot 50x140 feet on Central avenue, for $450. Bought for improvement. To Gustave Swenson, a lot on Rowland avenue, 50x140 feet, for $375. To Mrs. M. E. Bardill, a lot 50x140 feet, on Rowland avenue, near Las Flores Drive, for $375.

LEASE PERCIVAL HOTEL.

The H. Jerome Toy Brokerage Company reports the leasing of the Percival apartments, at No. 845 South Hill street, to Dr. C. A. Janes and H. S. Winsor, of San Francisco. This lease is said to be the largest apartment-house deal ever made in Los Angeles, the rental alone involving a total of $140,000. Dr. C. A. Janes is noted as the discoverer of Rawhide, Nev., and with his associates sold the Coalition mine to the brokerage firm of Nat C. Goodwin & Co. Mr. Winsor was, until recently, identified with the Argonaut Hotel, San Francisco. The Percival property is owned by the Percival Iron Company of this city. The building contains 208 rooms, in suites, thoroughly modern in every respect.

DEMAND FOR RESIDENCES.

Improved Property in Best Districts Sells Well—Vacant Lots Wanted for Immediate Improvement.

The Edwards & Wildey Company has experienced brisk business since the first of the year, especially in residence lots bought for immediate improvement. The company reports the following sales:

For D. W. Harding, to C. D. Hoover, a lot in Harvard Heights, 50x118 feet, on the east side of Oxford avenue, midway between Washington and Sixteenth streets, for a consideration of $2250. Mr. Hoover is preparing plans for a two-story eight-room residence to cost about $4200.

For J. V. Baldwin & Co., to J. F. Fisher, a lot in Westminster Place, on the east side of Manhattan boulevard, between Wilshire boulevard and Sixteenth street, 75x150 feet, for $2350. This was bought for immediate improvement with a nine-room two-story residence.

For L. Butman to Mrs. F. Sabichi, parts of two lots in Westmoreland Heights, 50x166 feet, on the east side of Westmoreland boulevard near Washington street, for a consideration of $2450.

For J. A. Bunn to Charles E. Morris, a lot in Westminster Place, 60x150 feet on the east side of Gramercy Place near Fifth street, for $1650. This was bought for improvement with an eight-room residence.

For a local syndicate to Elmer J. King, a lot in Bryan's subdivision of the Cameron tract, 50x155 feet to alley, on the east side of Flower street, between Pico and Sixteenth streets, improved with a seven-room house, for a consideration of $10,000. This was bought for improvement.

For Elmer E. Cook to Charles B. Crawford, a lot in E. J. Baldwin's fourth subdivision of Rancho la Puente, being twenty acres in three-year-old walnuts, interset with alfalfa, for a consideration of $8500. The property is located in the popular Walnut Center district, reached by the Covina electric line, and has a splendid water right, deeded with the land. Mr. Crawford is a recent arrival from Peoria, Ill., and will build a home upon the property at once.

FULLERTON RANCH TRADED.

The Jones & Ryder Land Company (Inc.,) reports the exchange for Lewis Domecq of a fourteen-acre ranch three and one-half miles west of Fullerton, on Orangethorpe avenue, near Almond Station, improved with a five-room cottage, large barn, corrals, packing-house, etc., for ten lots located on West Broadway, in the West Broadway tract, Anaheim, formerly owned by Drs. Harry C. Gleason and Arthur Stevens, both of this city. The total valuation was $8000. Also the sale for Marcus Qvaitt of a ten-acre ranch one and one-half miles north of Pomona, in Live Oak Cañon. The ranch is set to grapes and deciduous fruits. Improvements consist of a six-room house, barn and outhouses, a well, etc. This property was sold to J. I. Meyers for $2000.

BOOKIES GET AROUND LAWS.

Four Accept Bets at Track Near New Orleans.

Sheriff Present, but Does not Make Any Arrests.

Sport Fails to Interest the Fair-Sized Crowd.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A puny attempt to revive racing in Louisiana in defiance of the stringent Locke law, was pulled off at the suburban half-mile track at McDonoughville this afternoon, across the Mississippi River in Jefferson parish.

About two thousand persons crossed the ferries to see the game, largely out of curiosity, expecting to see arrests or in some other way be interested. They were disappointed, for there were no arrests and the sport was hardly worth the candle, although the promoters say the opening was auspicious and with fair weather and a hardened track they expect to have a better grade of sport.

Dist.-Atty. Marrerro of Jefferson parish and Sheriff Marrerro, his father, were on the scene with fifteen special deputies, after having been severely prodded by the Governor from Baton Rouge last night. But they could find no violation of the Locke law and no arrests followed.

There was plenty of betting under the walking system as used in New York. Four of this sort of bookmakers operated and they took all the bets offered. No cards were issued and only the badge number of the bettor was recorded, and then, after the races, if he had won, he cashed in from a man with a grip slung over his shoulder.

That the whole thing was crude and uninteresting to a large majority of the crowd goes without saying, after having been accustomed to the magnificent specimens of horse racing and betting at City Park, and the Fair Grounds.

However, Judge Murphy says it will go. Copperfield at 13 to 5 in the individual betting, won the inaugural handicap, with John Garner second and Cooney K. third.

There are now 300 horses quartered in and abount the Suburban track.

OLD SHARK HELPLESS.

Edward Corrigan, veteran turf promoter, who is under charges here being concerned in violating the Locke law last month, returned to New Orleans a helpless cripple to face his accusers and to be present Monday when Bookmakers Frigerio and Sheffield are to be tried on the Locke law charge.

The old fighter is in an awful plight. His left leg, which was slightly injured when he arrived for a brief stay some weeks ago, is abnormally swollen, and boils have broken out around the injured knee. Something pitiful in the veteran's predicament appealed to dozens of turfmen here for the suburban meeting. A trained nurse is awaiting him and his physicians are doing everything possible, but it is extremely doubtful if he will be on his feet in time to attend the trial of Sheffield and Frigerio.

EVENTS AT ARCADIA.

SPORTS BADLY BUMPED.

A continuation of the heavy going at the Arcadia race track made the sport rather uninteresting yesterday, and naturally the winners were hard to guess, for form was out of the question. The feature wa sthe Covina selling stakes at one mile and five-sixteenths, and worth $1930 to the winner. With Woodcraft and Dandelion scratched out, but four horses went to the post, and Schreiber's Animus proved the winner, after being last until turning into the stretch. He won easily.

The big surprise of the day was the victory of Procia in the first race. Halket in the third also astonished the sports when he won by five lengths from such good ones as Sir Edward, Rapid Water, Adriuche, Fern L. and Tom McGrath. Results:

BOOGER RED WINS.

CHAPULTEPEC TRAIN WEARY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, Jan. 16.—Booger Red, one of the most consistent horses at the track, won the Andrew selling stakes at Emeryville today. With the exception of being fancied to some extent for place and show, he had little support. Chapultepec, which arrived from Arcadia an hour before the race, did not have a chance to get footed properly. Sullivan took Booger Red to the front and was never headed, winning by a head from Roseben, the pair having raced together all through the stretch. Bell Wether finished third.

The race was worth $3080 to the winner. L. Stock bid Booger Red up from $600 to $1200. Frank Weir, trainer of Roseben, then took a hand and carried the horse to $3005, at which price J. H. Brannan retained him. Rain fell all afternoon, and the track was very sloppy. There were a number of surprises in the card including the defeat of Dainty Belle by Yankee Daughter. Results:

Six furlongs, selling: Distributor, 100 (Glass,) won; San Gil, 102 (Walsh,) second; Berryessa, 106 (McIntyre,) third; time, 1:18 4-5. George Kilborn, Bantam, Caronia, Jim Hanna, Expectant, Hampton Beauty, Dangerous Girl, Belle of Shannon and Assay also ran.

Six furlongs, selling: Mabel Hollander, 101 (Sullivan,) won; Miss Delaney, 102 (Van Dusan,) second; Marion Rose, 103 (McCarthy,) third; time, 1:16 4-5. Curiculum, Platoon, Emma G., Sir Russell, Abraham and Vesper Hymn also ran.

Three and one-half furlongs, purse: Gilbert Rose, 114 (Motter,) won; Indian Maid, 101 (McCarthy,) second; Old Mexico, 105 (Gilbert,) third; time, 0:43. Coppertown, Contra Costa, Airie Fairie, Quality Street and Genova also ran.

Six and one-half furlongs: Andrews Selling Stakes, value to winner $3080: Booger Red, 100 (Sullivan,) won; Roseben, 119 (Goldstein,) second; Bell Wether, 102 (Gilbert,) third; time, 1:22. Col. Jack, Chapultepec, Sewell, Jacobite and Grace G., also ran.

POMONA TEAM WINS CONFERENCE CONTEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pomona, 36; U.S.C., 23.

Despite the Friday night shake-up caused by the sudden action of the faculty Discipline Committee, the Pomona basketball team took the U.S.C. five into camp this afternoon with a dozen points to spare.

The game was hard fought throughout, the pace being so hot that the teams slowed up perceptibly before the end of play. Both teams played ragged basketball, losing many points by fumbled passes under the baskets. Pomona won through superior all-around work aided by the loose guarding of the Methodists at critical moments.

The Blue and White team took the lead at the beginning of the game, rolling up 19 points to U.S.C.'s 10 before the end of the half. Neuls and Shutt were doing pretty work in netting baskets, while on the University side Polonius was putting up the best all-around game, with Hatch making occasional pretty blocks at guard.

U.S.C. opened the second period strong, cutting down Pomona's lead until two-thirds of the half had been played, when the score stood 21 to 18. But in the final spurt Pomona got down to business and walked away from its opponents, throwing 15 points to 5. Pomona made five points in the last minute of play.

All members of the Pomona team played well, their fast, hard passing being better than anything shown by U.S.C. Pomona's closer guarding was a winning factor, as the passing of U.S.C. was broken up before shooting distance was reached, and the goal tries went wild. Neuls for Pomona was particularly sure in his throws, scoring six pretty goals. For U.S.C., Polonius played the star game, getting all but one of the Methodists' baskets. His goal from the center of the court near the close of the second half was the prettiest throw of the day.

Hatch did some pretty work in breaking up Pomona plays, though seeming unable to stick close enough to his man under the basket. Hall's foul goal throwing was fine; he scored all of his tries. The line-up:

Pomona.		U.S.C.
Shutt	F.	Hall
Neuls	F.	Gower
Gore	C.	Polonius
Lorbeer	G.	Hatch
Nisbit	G.	Carrell

Field goals, Neuls, 6; Polonius, 6; Shutt, 3; Lorbeer, 3; Gore, 2; Hall, 1; Nisbit, 1. Foul goals, Neuls, 6; Hall, 6; Polonius, 2. Point awarded to U.S.C., 1. Fouls on U.S.C., 14; on Pomona, 11. Referee, Reynolds; umpire, Wingard; scorer, Fuller; timers, Lenox and Richards.

GALA DISPLAY AT AUTO SHOW.

Madison Square Garden Blaze of Bright Lights.

American-made Cars Center of Attraction.

Crowd Waits in Snowstorm for Doors to Open.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Madison Square Garden was never so brilliant, not even on horse show nights, or other gala occasions in the historic old structure, as it is tonight at the opening of the ninth national automobile show under the auspices of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers.

The magnificent arena was radiant with light and color and the surging crowds, the elaborate costumes—hundreds of the visitors being in evening dress—the buzz of conversation, and the music of the bands, gave to the event the air of some other purely social function, rather than an affair designed solely for the exploitation of the popular self-propelled vehicles.

When the doors were thrown open at 8 o'clock, a large crowd was in waiting, despite the snowstorm, and within the first hour the garden was nearly filled. During the remainder of the evening a constant stream of vehicles, naturally enough automobiles for the most part, led to the various entrances, and any lurking doubt as to the success of the event was set at rest.

This fact as made clear not only by the size of the throngs in attendance, but by the unanimous enthusiasm manifested over the character of the show itself, both in the matter of beauty and in the quality of exhibits.

CARPET OF GREEN.

By way of relief from the great glare of light, the spacious floor of the garden was covered with a carpet of green. The general color scheme of the show, however, is brown and white. In conspicuous positions were shown the emblem of the show, an eagle with outstretched wings, resting on the wheel of an automobile. It was one of the most attractive features of the decorative scheme.

Another spot which was surrounded by an admiring crowd throughout the evening was the booth where the trophies of the great automobile contests of the past were shown. For example, those won by exhibitors, the Glidden cup, the Hower trophy, the Vanderbilt cup and the Fairment Park cup. Ranked around these were the cars which had won them, and one of the diversions of the visitors was a comparison of the points of merit in them.

As for the show itself, some notion of its magnitude may be gained from the statement that the exhibition space consists of 80,000 square feet; that the exhibits are valued at $2,000,000, and that 324 miles of telephone wire are used. There are, for example, 330 exhibits of gasoline, electric and steam pleasure and commercial cars, chassis, bodies, motorcycles, tires and accessories.

Forty exhibits are of pioneer standard sized American pleasure cars, the refinements of last year's models and new designs, measuring the advance in models, design and production, the proportioning of parts, the use and treatment of materials, finish and style, lines of beauty, comfort and equipment of bodies, ranging in price from $350 to $10,000.

A total of 294 different displays is shown at the Madison Square Garden show. This is about two score more than at any previous show, and to accommodate them every available foot of floor space in the garden has been utilized.

As in previous years, this show has been departmentized, so that visitors may find more readily those things which most interest them. The standard makes of licensed cars will be costly on the main floor, but there will be car exhibits also on the elevated platform overhanging the main floor, in the café off the Madison-avenue entrance, and in the basement.

The electric vehicles are grouped in the café, or "exhibition hall," and the commercial vehicles in the basement.

There are forty-seven exhibits of complete cars, besides 221 exhibits of accessories and parts, and twenty-six motorcycle exhibits.

The motorcycle exhibit is the first complete one ever shown, being several times larger than at any previous show, and suggesting impressively the advance that has been made in this branch of motor vehicle travel.

MAY GET NEW YORK IN MARDI GRAS RACE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ralph De Palma, noted automobile racing pilot and holder of the one-mile world's circular track record of 51s., who is considered by many to be the most daring driver in America, is to be the star feature of the New Orleans Mardi Gras automobile carnival. Fred J. Wagner, the noted starter, who is to referee the twenty-four-hour championship event and other races at New Orleans, wired Secretary Homer George yesterday that he had forwarded the entry of De Palma for all the events in which he eligible.

It will be recalled that De Palma drove the two fastest laps in the Savannah Grand Prize race, and holds, in addition to the mile track record, all marks up to five miles with the Fiat cyclone, averaging 52s. for each of the five.

The New Orleans club is now trying to secure Lewis Strang, winner of the Savannah, Briarcliffe, and Lowell races, to compete against De Palma in the regular events, and in two special match races at distances of twenty-five and fifty miles. Strang held the mile record of 51 3-5s. at Birmingham, Ala., in October, 1907, until it was broken by De Palma, and there is strong rivalry between the pair.

A representative of the club will leave tomorrow to visit the eastern and northern automobile factories to secure entries for the twenty-four-race which will start on February 20. The track is 100 feet wide, with specially banked turns, and is being treated with a preparation which is guaranteed to make it as hard as cement. The club is spending over $10,000 on the meet and expects at least fifteen starters in the twenty-four-hour race. The short distance races will be continued on February 21 and 22.

ANNUAL EVENT.

DEALERS BACK OF ROAD RACE.

Big Contest to Be Held Here During April.

Course Through Beach Towns Now Is Favored.

Score of Cars Promised for Thrilling Contest.

There is to be a big automobile road race in April. The Automobile Dealers' Association, at its meeting Tuesday night, decided to hold such an event. It now remains to choose a course, and this will be done by a committee to be appointed at the next gathering. All of the dealers are unanimously in favor of holding such an event.

The entry list should be large. Cars of all descriptions will be started in this race, which is to be over a course from fifteen to twenty miles in length. This is to be one of the events in which all of the dealers will take part. Their hearty coöperation is assured by the attitude of the association at the meeting where the sentiment for such a contest was strong. It was decided to make the race an annual affair, in which all of the dealers will share in the profits or losses of the venture.

Ralph Hamlin, vice-president of the association, was one of the first to speak in favor of the big race. He promises to enter his Franklin "six." Leon T. Shettler is another who will start a car. He will have a Kissel "six" to offer. There are at least a score more who will risk their cars in either a 200 or a 400-mile race for a perpetual challenge cup.

PRESIDENT LIKES IT.

Such a race is to the liking of William Bush, president of the association, who promised to do all in his power to make the affair a success. Bush has the interests of the association at heart, loves a good race, and says he believes such an event would be a wonderful boost for the trade.

Another enthusiast is Secretary H. O. Harrison, who wants to drive his own car. Harrison has always frowned upon track racing, but he will enter heart and soul into a big road race, which will have less of danger attached to it than any track event ever held. He would like to enter an Oldsmobile and a Peerless.

R. J. Leavitt will soon be out of the hospital. He has been greatly missed during his illness. He says that it will be hard to hold a road race here and keep him from entering at least one car. He wants to give Murray Page another chance to show what the Locomobile can do.

Rene Brassy, with the Thomas car, is a bidder for the big race. He says he is ready now for such an event, and if shown the course will put his car and crew into training for the run. He would like to start a Thomas "six," and a Thomas four-cylinder, and will get the drivers here in time for plenty of practice.

COURSE QUESTION.

Comes the question of a course on which the road race can be held. There are those who favor the nineteen-mile stretch leading to the Soldiers' Home, along the Palisades, through Santa Monica and Venice, and back along the Southern Pacific tracks to this city. It is argued that several thousand persons could be secured to watch such a race, could the affair be held in such proximity to Los Angeles.

The Santa Monica-Venice road has many attractions. The Palisades is a splendid speedway. The course could be policed and guarded. It would take the autoists along the bluffs of the Pacific Ocean, through two towns, and back to Los Angeles. The start would be on Washington street, near the city limits. Permission would have to be obtained from the Councilmen of Santa Monica and Venice for the holding of such a race. The course through the towns would have to be roped. The race would be held in the morning hours.

The race over the Dieppe course, in France, took the autoists through several towns. The French people entered heartily into the plans for the event, and thousands witnessed the thrilling contest. It is argued that it would also be possible to enthuse the Los Angeles and Southern California public to such an extent that a race, to rival any road gathering ever held, could be pulled off here.

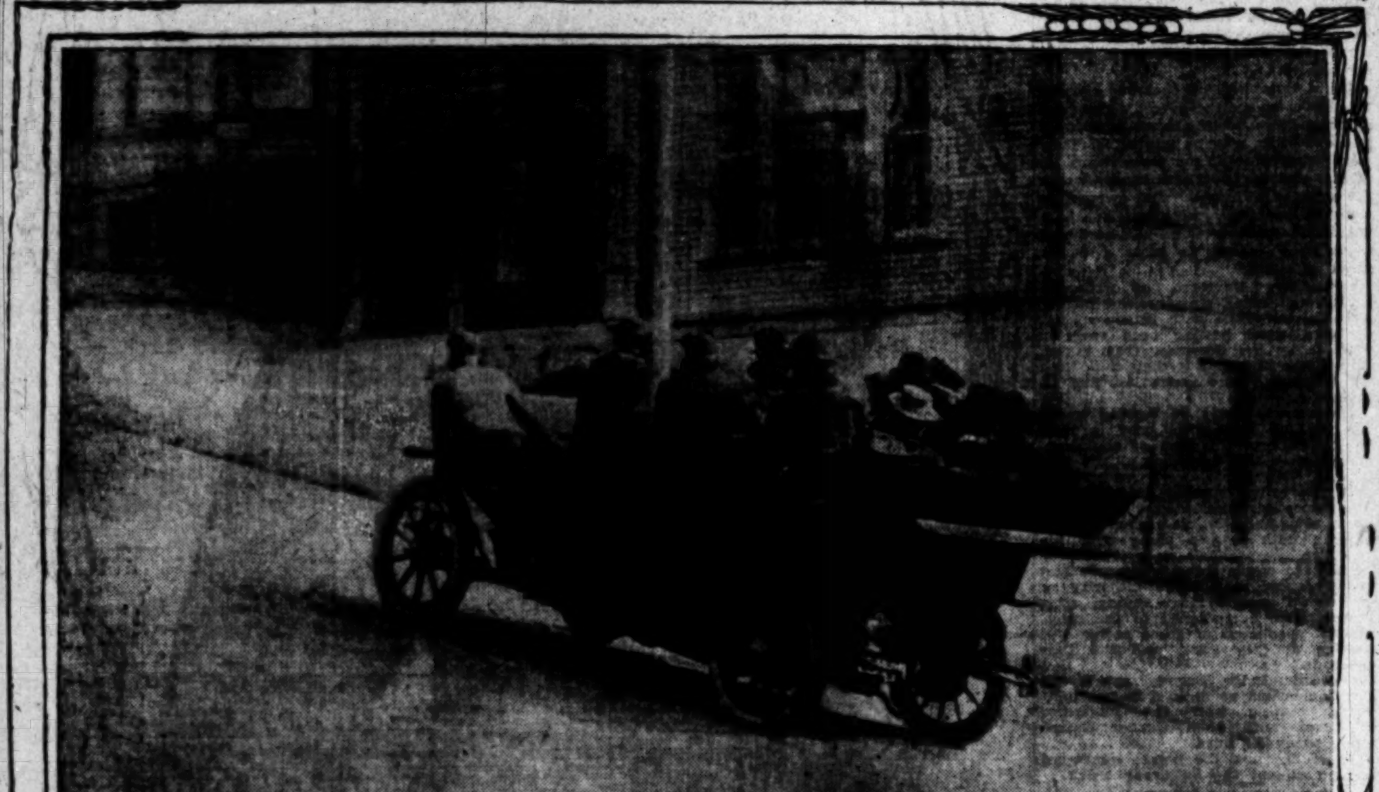
ANOTHER WAY.

There is another course to which some would direct the racers. It takes in the road leading close to Redondo, veers away toward San Pedro, passes close to the city limits of Los Angeles, and returns to Redondo. This road, however, is sandy in places, and would need much repair work before the cars could be started.

Another course which has been mentioned is that which begins on the San Fernando road, leads out to San Fernando, then cuts across to Calabasas and returns to San Fernando. This road course could be shortened by taking the cars only three miles beyond the McKinley Home, and then bringing them back to the San Fernando road.

The argument which those who favor this course urge is that it is so remote from Los Angeles that it would not be necessary to spend such a large sum to police the course. The drivers could have plenty of opportunity to familiarize themselves with the course. They would be able to speed their cars before the event was pulled off, and could have ample time for practice.

With the auto show out of the way active preparations for the race will be begun. Practically nothing can be accomplished, however, until the automobile show closes, as all of the dealers are busy preparing for the exhibit.



Pope-Hartford's Supreme Test.

Hauls two thousand two hundred and twenty-five pounds of human freight up Grand-avenue hill. Men cling to running boards and crowd tonneau during novel stunt.

GRAND-AVENUE BILL'S STUNT.

HAULS TON OF HUMANS IN BIG POPE-HARTFORD.

Fifteen men, clinging to a big Pope-Hartford, driven by William Ruess, were carried up Grand-avenue hill yesterday morning in a demonstration. Several prominent autoists laid a wager that the Pope-Hartford man could not carry twelve persons up the hill. To prove his claim Ruess added three to the number stipulated and won the bet. He topped the hill at thirteen miles an hour, according to the speedometer.

When the car was started it presented a novel sight. Men were crowded into the tonneau, and there was no more standing room on the footboards. With a slight run Ruess attacked the hill, and the occupants were told to "hang on." There was an anxious moment as the car hit the steep incline, but the Pope made good, and the engine began to hum with that familiar sound which Ruess calls "right." Up the hill went the Pope and when the summit was reached the car was going at a good clip.

Ruess has had much experience as a driver. He holds the Los Angeles-Santa Barbara road record with an Oldsmobile and will attempt soon to lower the mark with the Pope that climbed the hill. This car is the first of the 1909 model to be received from the factory. It will be driven over the roads after other records if the Santa Barbara mark is lowered.

Grand-avenue hill has become the famous point for demonstration purposes. There is not a day but what a score of cars are sent over the hill, with prospective buyers watching the capers of the motors. Much depends on the man who handles the car, however, and an accident on the hill may be due to the carelessness of the man who shifts the levers.

Making the hill on the "high" is the stunt which almost every demonstrator requires of the man who is showing the car. There is a tendency among buyers to ignore the use of other speeds and often the driver attempts to give a demonstration without changing his gears, or leaves the car running in the "high" the entire time he is out with a customer. Factory men are of the opinion that this tendency is not wholesome, as they say the gears are in the car to be used to relieve the engine.

BIG WHITE FORTY.

High-powered Steamer, First of Its Kind to Arrive, Will Be Attraction at Auto Show.

The first forty-horse-power White steam car to reach the Pacific Coast was received at the White garage this week. This car is a Model M, and is also the first of that model to arrive. The steamer is one of the most stylish automobiles of the season.

The "M" is a seven-passenger Pullman car, and is of the straight-line design. It is similar to the Model O, only built on a larger scale, and is a successor of the Model K of last year's types.

The machine is rated at forty horse power, which is based on the actual power delivered at the rear wheel. This horse power, when compared to a gasoline car, is equal to more than double its rating. The wheel base is 122 inches, and the wheels are large.

The car is fitted with a seven-passenger straight-line body. The high-pressure cylinder is of three-inch bore, the low-pressure cylinder of five-inch bore, and the stroke is four and one-half inches.

The frame is of armored wood, the reinforcing plates, of nickel steel, being fastened on both sides of the wooden sills. The water tank is under the footboard, and the fuel tank is concealed in the rear of the car.

The engine, before being placed in the car, was given severe tests. The car was driven for more than 30,000 miles to demonstrate its staying powers. The White engine has been simplified this year, and only contains about one-third the former number of parts. As in the previous models, the steam temperature and pressure are kept constant, without any attention from the operator.

Heretofore the White company has only manufactured cars of twenty and thirty horse power. This year a "twenty" and a "forty" engine is being turned out.

The 1909 Whites already in this city and in Southern California are successfully burning distillate, which is resulting in a great saving in the cost of operation.

The Model M White that arrived last week will be placed on exhibition at the automobile show. Shipments of the forty-horse-power Whites will soon arrive.

The first Model M White to be delivered by the factory was purchased by the United States government. President-elect William H. Taft is also owns one of these cars.

As a general proposition an electric automobile will carry the equal of its own weight.

As a rule, automobile bodies are lighter than a corresponding body on a horse-drawn vehicle.

A motor 'bus line is to be put in operation at Harbor Springs, Mich., in the spring.

In 1900, when the first automobile show was held in New York, the number of exhibitors was sixty-nine. At the Palace show just closed the number was 286.

The Oklahoma City Automobile Association has pledged $10,000 for the construction of a twenty-five-mile speedway around the city.

Germany and Sweden will both hold industrial vehicle competitions during May, the exact dates to be decided by mutual agreement.

Denial has been made of the report that W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., president of the Long Island Parkway, intends with drawing from the project.

A periodical cleaning out of the carburetor to insure the absence of water, will save a deal of time and searching when misfiring occurs.

It is estimated that dividends earned by the motor car manufactories in Michigan during the year will aggregate $50,000,000.

The Grand Rapids, Mich., Automobile Club has found that its prospects for a new clubhouse for the next season are bright. Four plans are being considered.

The first year that the brougham type of electrical automobile was introduced in the city of New York seventy-two doctors adopted this type of car for use in their service.

In addition to a new downtown clubhouse the Denver Motor Club has secured a country clubhouse about seven miles south of the city for the coming year.

Austria will hold a commercial vehicle competition from October 3 to 17, and the Automobile Club of France will have a similar demonstration and test from November 18 to 28.

There are now more than 1000 taxicabs in operation in New York City.

Chicago is the center of the motor buggy manufacturing business, for there are made no fewer than ten different makes of the high-wheelers in that city.

The number of self-propelled vehicles registered in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales has more than doubled in the last three years. In 1905 the number was 74,038; at the end of September, 1908, it was 154,391.

St. Louis motorists express much satisfaction at the decision of their Kansas City confreres postponing their show, which was scheduled for February 15 to 20, the same week as the St. Louis show. It is believed both exhibitions will profit by the change.

Local Man Makes Good.

Fred A. Bennett, who is well-known in Southern California, is rapidly forging to the front as the leading agent in the Northwest. Last week he placed an order for twenty Stoddard-Daytons, to be shipped as quickly as possible. These include the forty-five and thirty-five-horse-power cars. Bennett was formerly the Ford agent in Los Angeles, and is known in practically every small town in the south. He now controls Spokane and Seattle, in addition to Portland, for the Stoddard-Dayton, and wants 200 cars for the market this season.

GOING SOME.

SMALL BEGINNING; BIG DEVELOPEME

SOME months ago two young boys stopped playing tennis suddenly and kept away from the duck ponds long enough to take their racquets and their shotguns down to a room on Third street to start a sporting goods house and next week the same boys are to move a hundred other kinds of sporting implements over to a larger store which is to become the new home of the Dyas-Cline Company.

Hundreds of the young sports in this end of the State and many of the older ones laughed loud and long when these two boys started in and they are still laughing. There were many snickerings at the nerve of the young fellows and now the laugh comes when one thinks of the luck by which some persons can make a big shoe store out of a shoe string, as it were. It is said that great corns from little shoes will grow and this thought has been exemplified in the expansion of this establishment. When Dyas and Cline started in, they tried to arouse inter-

FRANKLIN MAY RACE STODDARD.

FAST SIX-CYLINDER AND TRIM ROADSTER MATCHED.

Church and Hamlin Would Like to Pull Off Track Trial at Ascot Park, and Several Thousand Dollars Is Already in Sight for Race—New Stoddard-Dayton Attracts.

Norman W. Church believes his Stoddard-Dayton is as fast as any machine in a fifty-mile track race. He says he is ready to back his car for $1000 against Ralph Hamlin's Franklin "Greyhound" for a fifty-mile race on the Ascot Park tract.

Church will use a Stoddard roadster. The same type has won several races in California in the last year, and now holds the record for the climb up the Box Springs grade. The Stoddard has shown its speed in contests, and Church is anxious to hook up with the Franklin in a long track event.

Ralph Hamlin says he will accept the challenge. He is handicapped, however, because his Franklin "Six," the new "Greyhound," has not yet arrived from the factory. The car will not be here for the show, so that the race cannot be held for several weeks. Hamlin says he is keen for the contest, and would be willing to race Church 100 miles for $1000 or for $2000.

If Hamlin starts his car there are a number who will back the fast Franklin. Hamlin's ability as a track and road driver has already been demonstrated. Leon T. Shettler has offered to wager $500 on the chances of the Franklin. There are others who like the fast car.

The new low-priced Stoddard-Dayton was the attraction at the salesroom of the Stoddard-Dayton Motor Car Company last week. Two machines were received from the factory, one a single-seat red roadster and the other a blue toy tonneau model.

The new cars are natty in appearance. The motor is 3-7-8 bore by 4½-stroke, and the car will go up the Grand-avenue hill on the high and show fifty-five miles an hour on the level. It has a selective type gear, three speeds, forward, and a reverse, chrome nickel-steel transmission gears.

The rear axle is of the floating type, and of chrome-nickel steel. The front axle is special I-beam drop-forged, in one piece.

The frame is pressed steel, and the springs semi-elliptic. The paring to cover the field. A commercial delivery truck, which promises to fill the needs of the busy merchant who desires his goods transported quickly, is being manufactured. The same concern is also building a light delivery van which can be sent rapidly over the city streets.

For some time it has been the aim of the local auto factory to enter a field never before taken by any automobile factory. That the Auto Vehicle Company will this year branch out along lines never before attempted is the statement of Volney S. Beardsley, who is now directing affairs for the Tourist establishment.

DEMAND IS GREAT.

The demand for motor vehicles, Beardsley asserts, was never so great as at the opening of the present year. The Tourist people expect to have a model car on exhibition at the automobile show, and will demonstrate how they propose to invade the field of motor vehicle manufacture.

The American Berliet Company has shipped a truck which it expects to put on the market, and which already has had large sales in the East. This truck is high-powered, and will carry great weight. The concern will put at least three different styles of motor trucks on the local market.

The Rambler factory has entered the market for fire-fighting vehicles. Already the company has a car which was recently sold to the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company, which is doing good service on the city streets. The same concern recently sold chemical fire and hose auto trucks to the Long Beach fire department.

The White company is manufacturing large numbers of commercial vehicles. F. C. Fenner of the local White garage has just had completed a large thirty-horse-power steam truck to be used in the mining camps of Arizona. The local agency also is using a truck made in this city which has been tested with several tons' weight.

PLOWING BY MOTOR.

When the ground for the big addition to the Packard factory was broken last week a Packard truck, to which a plow was attached by means of a heavy log chain, was used to plow up the earth removed for the foundations. This novel plan was so successful that the ditch around the building site was hollowed out by motor-car power.

The work was done with motor with the triple purpose of testing trucks, giving the occasion a little extraordinary ceremony, and performing necessary work.

After the hard clay of the ball ground had been plowed, scrapers were attached to the trucks and the dirt carried away by this unusual motive power.

The present Packard factory is nearly six times as large as the original plant erected in Detroit in the fall of 1903. At that time it contained 100,000 square feet of floor space, which, by successive additions, has been increased to nearly 600,000 square feet, or more than fourteen acres. There are now employed 2700 men in the manufacture of 1909 motor cars. The Packard concern will manufacture many vehicles this year.

Through express from the West now is delivered to the consignee in New York City just twenty-four hours sooner than it was before the Adams Express Company placed a Packard three-ton truck on night service. This truck, which is one of the fourteen used in the metropolitan district, runs between the Jersey City dock, its garage, and a distributing station in West Forty-seventh street, its Harlem station on 124th street and its Brooklyn depot. It combines the handling of packages to be transferred between these stations, with carrying incoming and outgoing through express. The service between trains and distributing points, which it renders through the night, allows the actual delivery of western express packages one day in advance of the previous schedule.

PROMPT DELIVERY.

The Adams Company was one of the first advocates of motor wagons. Its experience in motor traffic started with steam wagons, which were discarded in favor of electrics. A number of the latter are now used extensively in several cities. This pioneer work in the development of motor service, it is asserted, has been due to a firm belief in the eventual supercedure of horses for business hauling. It is pointed out that the volume of business in New York and other large cities is increasing so rapidly that the old horse delivery system will soon be rendered absolutely inadequate. Not only has the routine delivery and collection work on established routes become steadily greater, but much more territory has to be covered than formerly and this territory will continue to increase. Consequently, motor trucks hauling heavy loads over comparatively long distances, will greatly increase efficiency and effect economy.

Knowing that the proper care and handling of motor vehicles is an important consideration in obtaining efficient and economical service, the express company has gone about the maintenance of its gasoline trucks in a thorough and practical manner. The trucks are carefully looked over by experts when they are in the garage, so that they are not likely to be sent into service in any other than first-class condition.

The drivers constitute a more carefully trained corps than is ordinarily encountered in similar work. At the present time two floors of the gasoline garage building are used as a stable for horses, and as storage rooms for wagons, but the building is in such shape that this room is quickly available for an increase in the motor equipment.

GREAT SMITH ROADSTER.

Handsome Car Is Specially Equipped for Santa Fe to Be Used in Oil Fields.

One of the handsome new models to arrive the past week was the Great Smith roadster, which P. A. Renton received from the factory. The car is trimmed in bright red, and is equipped with all the refinements of the new nineteen-nine Great Smith models. It is one of the most stylish roadsters in town.

The car was purchased recently by the Santa Fé for use in the oil fields near Bakersfield. It is to be fitted with a specially designed tonneau, which is being built at the P. A. Renton workshops in the rear of the garage.

The car is fast, and will hold up under severe road tests. It is to be given the hardest kind of usage, and will be kept in constant service between several points in Kern county. The machine will be driven by F. Ripley, and will be ready for delivery this coming week.

Clock Built by Students.

A huge clock, constructed by students, will be installed in Mitchell tower, at the University of Chicago. Work on the clock was started in 1894 by the pupils of the manual training school. The clock will be connected with the Alice Freeman Palmer chimes, and will strike the hours and the quarters.

Owing to the fluctuations of the temperature in the tower, the clock will be placed in a glass cabinet.

All except the working surfaces of the clock are to be painted maroon. The hands, figures and minutes will be of gilded cast iron. The original plan of having a dial has been abandoned, as it was decided that architecturally it would not harmonize with the classic aspects of the tower.—[Chicago Tribune.

IN READINESS FOR BIG SHOW.

Great Hamburger Building Being Transformed.

Decorators Put Final Frills to Exhibit Room.

Motor Car Models of Many Types to Be Seen.

There is no more space for exhibitors at the Los Angeles automobile show. The few remaining feet of floor surface which remained yesterday was gobbled last night by the Lozier people. Those who are within the fold are rejoicing that they decided in time to have a part in what promises to be the finest exhibition of automobiles ever held in the West.

The show is to open Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Thursday and Friday the cars will be rolled into the big Hamburger building, to the tastefully arranged booths. Everything will be in order for the opening Saturday, and during the evening the lights will be thrown on to note the effect of the display.

Dick Ferris has been the genius of the Los Angeles Automobile Show, and he is working night and day as manager to perfect a thing of beauty. He has planned and labored to make the display of the highest. Ferris has been assisted by Horace Moselle as decorator. These two have built a show that promises to surpass any ever held in the West.

HUSTLING ALONG.

The remaining days of this week will be occupied by the trimmers and finishers, who are decorating the show tastefully. Moses Hamburger has granted the committee special privileges which have allowed the decorators to finish the showrooms in the most attractive manner.

The headquarters of the Show Committee at the Alexandria Hotel have been besieged night and day by those who are anxious to secure space, and by the fortunate ones who already have show room. No brooms will be allowed inside the show after it opens. All cleaning and dusting must be done between show hours.

All signs are to be of uniform color and design. Throughout the display "sold" and "price" signs will be alike. No private watchmen will be allowed inside the building. The Show Committee will provide guards for the exhibit, which will be one of the most valuable ever housed in Los Angeles.

There is to be a double check system for the admission of exhibitors and their employés. Demonstrators will wear special badges. The committee has reserved the right to reject any exhibits that shall not be in keeping with the general display of automobiles and accessories.

FAMOUS EXHIBIT.

An effort is being made to bring the Locomobile Vanderbilt Cup winner to Los Angeles. It was expected the car would be here in time for the automobile show, but that seems to be out of the question, as the racer would have to be shipped by express today. When the car arrives George Robertson may be induced to come here with it. He has never visited Southern California, and there are many here who would like to see him entered in a fast road race near this city.

Another of the famous stunt cars, the New York to Paris Thomas racer, will also be brought to Los Angeles. This car cannot get here for the opening of the show, though efforts were made by Rene Brassy, the local Thomas agent, to have the big machine shipped to this city in time for the opening Saturday morning. In a telegram received yesterday Brassy was notified that the car will be shipped here for exhibition purposes, but he cannot hope that it will get here within several weeks.

Few of the exhibitors will depart from the original plan to show only nineteen-nine models. Because of the difficulty and expense of getting cars here, and also because many of the late models are arriving this week, the display will be particularly attractive, as few persons have seen the models which will be displayed.

Don Lee of the Cadillac company received a shipment of Cadillacs yesterday by express. His show cars are here and he will have a creditable display. The principal machine exhibited by the Lee Motor Car Company will be the Cadillac "Thirty."

The Western Motor Car Company will have an attractive display. Their show space will be occupied by Packards and Chalmers-Detroits. A Stevens-Duryea may be shown. E. Hartigan, the sales manager, will drive one of the oldest automobiles in Los Angeles in the parade.

There will be 11,000 incandescent globes at the automobile show. All of these will be frosted. Tomorrow morning forty men will be put to work on the frosting of the glass. There will be no glaring lights.

The carpeting will not be laid until the carpenter work is finished. The hanging of the stucco work has been a problem, as it was necessary to bore holes into the ceiling, and fasten the decorations by means of pieces of wire.

In order to bring the many cars onto the floor of the show room it will be necessary to enlarge the door leading into the rear. In this way the largest limousine can be taken to the floor. This procession of cars will begin to arrive Thursday morning and by Friday night the last machine will be in place.

It is planned to make Friday night a brilliant affair. There will be special entertainment during the evening hours when society will visit the show. This is to be a full dress affair.

GOSSIP ALONG GASOLINE ROW.

Edgar O. Apperson expects to come to Los Angeles for the Automobile Show. He is to be here a week from tomorrow and remain until the Pasadena-Altadena hill climb.

The H. O. Harrison Company has remodeled its show room so as to give more space for display purposes and in order to insure the removal of cars in case of fire.

F. C. Fenner went to San Diego Thursday to attend the automobile races on the Coronado track.

Leon T. Shettler expects to visit the Chicago Automobile Show.

The Big-Four Automobile Company reports: To P. B. Roy, a seven-passenger Marmon Touring car and to N. B. Adams a five-passenger Regal touring car. This company has arranged to exhibit a line of both Marmon and Regal cars at the automobile show. It also announces that a carload of The Rapid Motor Vehicle Company's power wagons is on the way from the East.

M. McKenzie, of the Mission garage, announces the sale of a 1909 Winton to James Scarborough, of the firm of Scarborough & Bowen.

All of the dealers have been working overtime this week preparing for the show which opens Saturday.

P. A. Renton has received a carload of Overlands. He will have his Great Smith and Overland cars on display in his garage during show week.

R. J. Leavitt, who has been ill from a severe attack of typhoid fever, is convalescent.

George E. Bradbeer, has accepted a position in the mechanical department of the Schwaebe-Atkinson Motor Car Company. N. E. Meredith, who recently arrived from the Premier factory, has also accepted a position with the same concern.

C. A. Davis, coast representative of the Premier Motor Car Company, is making a tour of Southern California towns establishing agencies for the Schwaebe-Atkinson Company.

The Schwaebe-Atkinson Motor Company has received a carload of Premier machines. The shipment contains a six-cylinder, seven-passenger car, finished with a dark blue body, and cream running gear. This car was finished for the New York show, but at the urgent request of the local agents was shipped here. There is also a four-cylinder, seven-passenger car, finished in dark green and rep and a four-cylinder roadster with detachable baby tonneau done in French gray.

R. L. Forsyth received a shipment of two-cylinder Auburns last week.

The Auburn cars which R. L. Forsyth will exhibit at the auto show are on the way by express. Forsyth will show a four-cylinder touring car, a roadster and the two-cylinder model.

John W. Swan, for several years the California Northern agent, has taken Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Luis Obispo and San Diego counties for the Auburn. He has placed an order for twenty-five cars.

The Western Motor Car Company reports the following sales and deliveries: Packard touring car to Barbee Hook. This car is to be equipped with a limousine and touring car body. Hook also owns a 1908 Packard touring car. Packard car to Ernest H. May of Pasadena, John Lambert of Chicago, and E. D. Barry of Pasadena. Stevens-Duryea, model X touring cars were delivered to H. R. Bristol of Santa Ana and George W. Skinner of Coronado. Chalmers-Detroit "thirities" were sold to R. B. Millard and John Wood, and to R. H. Littleton of Pasadena and Walter Mallard. The same company has enroute shipments of twelve runabouts and tourabouts.

H. Prosser and wife have gone to San Francisco. They will leave for the East soon. Prosser, until recently, was sales manager for the H. O. Harrison Company.

Elmer Huber, chief tester of the Thomas factory, left on last night's Owl for San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. He will return to Los Angeles in about two weeks. The Thomas people recognize the importance of having satisfied patrons. They sent Huber to the Coast, with headquarters at Los Angeles, that he may call on all Thomas owners to make any adjustments desired for Thomas Flyers.

P. A. Renton received a shipment of 1909 Overlands yesterday. A number of these are already sold.

The Stoddard-Dayton Motor Car Company reports the following recent sales: J. E. Cook, Mrs. J. Weber, California Development Company, J. V. Baldwin, J. C. Drake, Dr. S. S. Crow, Dr. A. Schiffman, E. E. Edmonds, J. W. Walker, Mrs. Eleanor Meyers, Mrs. B. F. Bauer, George E. Hart, Harry Lombard, J. J. Coleman, Harold S. Cook, Mrs. Gail Borden, Stuart Edward White, J. W. H. Meyers, W. R. Johnson, Harry Woods and N. Bonfilio.

The Elmore Motor Car Company have received all their show cars and are busy getting them in shape to display. They will show four models of the Elmore and two styles of Baker electrics.

S. W. Smith and J. C. Rockwell have taken the Elmore agency for Spokane.

Word has just been received by the Elmore Motor Car Company from their factory at Clyde, O., that they are entirely sold out of cars. For the first time in their experience they have gone to the New York show without cars to sell, they say.

Louis A. Bryon of Chicago has arrived in Los Angeles with his 1909 Elmore to spend the winter. Bryon is an enthusiastic motorist, having owned eighteen different cars in the last few years. At the present time he owns two Elmores and will spend the winter touring in Southern California. He shipped his car to Los Angeles by express from Savannah, where he witnessed the big races.

O. J. Witheral and family of Chicago are guests at the Alvarado Hotel and have come to California for the winter. They are touring Southern California and have brought their 1909 Elmore with them for the purpose.

The Elmore Motor Car Company report the following sales of Elmore cars: Samuel Kraemer, Fullerton; Mrs. A. M. Neal, Santa Barbara; Prof. G. C. Emery of Harvard School; J. S. Rockwell, Endicott, Wash.; Potter Hotel and Emmett Ord, Santa Barbara; Edison Electric Company, city.

The same company report the following sales of Baker electric cars: Mrs. Frank Simson and J. R. Reynolds of Riverside.

C. F. Smith, the Elmore agent at Santa Barbara, was in the city the past week and increased his order for cars.

The Thomas Motor Car Company reports the following sales to date: Ben Blossom, Pasadena, Thomas limousine; Charles Schalkenbach, Thomas touring car; George Gerau, Thomas flyabout; Charles Chase, San Diego, Thomas touring car; H. C. Cotta, San Diego, Thomas touring car; F. B. Naylor, San Diego, Thomas roadster.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE.

COAST LEAGUE HAS LEVERAGE.

Can Draft Players from Two Former Classmates.

Drafting Season of Majors Severely Sliced.

Baseball in This State Until Middle of November.

The Pacific Coast Baseball League is in the strongest position it ever occupied, and as a result of the recent elevation to Class AA, and obtaining of special privileges thereby, and under the direction of Ewing and Henry Berry of the Los Angeles team, it should continue to maintain a high position in the baseball world.

These men have provided continuous baseball for Los Angeles, which is something the local fans have been howling for during the last two years. In the second place they have had the Coast League raised to an AA classification, and this means that it is above the Western and Southern Leagues and can draft players from these leagues. In addition to this advantage the Coast League, in conjunction with the Eastern League and the American Association, can begin drafting two weeks earlier than the Western and Southern Leagues.

To bring about these changes it was necessary that the drafting season of the National and American Leagues be cut down and this was accordingly sliced from six weeks to two weeks. When the time is up the AA class leagues can draft for two weeks, and then the Class A leagues will have a chance. The drafting price of the Coast League heretofore has been $500 for a player from Class B, for instance, but under the new conditions it will be $750, and if any Coast League teams drafts a man from the Western or Southern Leagues, $1000 must be paid for him.

The six-club idea, while it makes continuous ball in this city, will also make the same thing for Sacramento during the first and last month of the season. Sacramento gets this concession because of climatic conditions, the early rains preventing baseball in Portland after the last week in September, or before the second week in May.

The directors of the Coast League will have a meeting in San Francisco this week to decide upon a schedule and to definitely fix the opening and closing dates. The season may begin Tuesday, March 30, and continue until Sunday, November 14, it being the idea to have the season this year about two weeks longer than last year. It will be necessary to run it into November, and by doing this Portland will have more ball in the summer time.

President Ewing left for his home in San Francisco yesterday.

A recent issue of a Sacramento paper is said to have contained an alleged interview with Shay, of the outlaws, in which it was said that the Los Angeles team did not pay its players' salaries. No player was ever heard to complain here that he did not get his salary and twice a month at that. The club has paid 10 per cent. dividends right along, and no one has ever heard of any player attaching the property of any of the stockholders for any alleged salary debt. It is to laugh!

FRESNO'S PLANS.

STOCK COMPANY FORMED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Jan. 16.—When the Fresno club in the California State League takes its place with the remainder of the "outlaws" this spring, it will be backed by a $10,000 stock company. Heretofore the local club has been maintained by popular subscription but from now on it will be maintained by a stock company.

Practically all the stock has been subscribed and all that is now necessary is to secure men. Charles Baum, manager of the team last year, will again be seen in a Fresno uniform and he will be assisted in the box by Arthur Smith. Willis Kelly will be at the second cushion, the position he held last year, and Steve Reagan of Joplin, Mo., will be at short. Spencer, formerly with the San Francisco Coast League team, will play in center and Dewey, formerly with Oakland, will be in left. Anson Mott, Portland's former third-sacker, will be on first base.

The members of the team who have left are Ed Kennedy, who will be seen in a Portland uniform this spring, and Cliff Blankenship, who has left to join the Washington Americans. Walter Kuhn, a local boy who came out of the bushes last spring, will in all probability be seen with the Minneapolis team of the American Association. He has signed with that aggregation. Kuhn and Blankenship were catchers and Kennedy was a first baseman. Kennedy takes the place vacated by Dansig, who will be with Boston this year.

The men who are backing the team this year are A. B. Evans, president of the San Joaquin Ice Company; W. F. Toomey, a large fig packer; A. G. Wishon, manager of the Fresno Traction Company; D. S. Ewing, City Attorney; Fulton G. Berry, proprietor of the Grand Central Hotel, and many others.

GO TO RIVERA.

L.A.A.C. TEAM TO PLAY.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club nine and the Riveras of the Southern State League are to play today at Los Nietos.

Following is the line-up:

Rivera.		L.A.A.C.
Phillips	C.	Brooks
Newton, Milliken, Briswalter	P.	Hobgood
Borden	1B.	Caley
Newton	2B.	Sheean
Pendleton	S.S.	Goodwin
McGaugh	3B.	Heinzeman
White-Ellis	L.F.	Howard
F. Nagle	C.F.	Watson
Gilman	R.F.	Myram
	Sub.	Moriarty-Harris

Manager Nagle has strengthened his team considerably by signing four heavy stickers, A. Newton, Doc Newton, Pendleton, and Ellis. The Riveras are able, with either of their big-league twirlers on the mound, to put up a hard "run for the money" with any team in Southern California.

1909 White Steam Cars Burn Distillate, Thus Reducing the Cost of Operating to Less Than One Cent Per Mile. Other Automobiles Use Gasoline at a Much Greater Expense.

Taft Buys a 1909 WHITE

Why is it that those who have the best facilities of judging an automobile on its real merits invariably select the White steam car? The United States Army and Navy Departments use only White cars in their service. The White is the machine of President Roosevelt's choice, and President-elect Wm. H. Taft, after duly considering many automobiles, likewise chose the WHITE STEAM CAR. As there was the greatest rivalry among manufacturers for the honor of selling a car to Mr. Taft, the White Company is naturally very much gratified that their car should have been deemed the most desirable.

Let our salesmen tell you the good points of the WHITE STEAM CARS. You can't expect the salesmen of gasoline car agencies to tell you. Hundreds of interested stockholders of gasoline car agencies knock the WHITE and pose as disinterested. Give us a chance for a square deal by investigating for yourself.

FELL HALF A MILE.

Remarkable Escape from Death of Two Balloonists in the German Races.

[The Pathfinder:] How would you like to be up in a balloon, 3000 feet above the earth, and have the gas bag burst? That would mean a fall for you of a little over half a mile, and probably you wouldn't live to tell your experiences to others. However, such accidents have occurred, and the balloonists have escaped unhurt. At the recent international balloon races in Germany the American balloon, manned by Forbes and Post, burst at a height of 2900 feet, and neither of the men was hurt. Forbes tells of the experience in the New York Sun as follows:

"We didn't think much of the accident while it was happening—there was no time for that. I had just remarked to Post how well the balloon was working when the noise of the explosion came. Post coolly looked aloft, and said, 'Forbes, she's gone.' I looked overhead and instantly comprehended our danger. We were up exactly 2900 feet, as the instruments showed. We came down that 2900 feet in two minutes. I grabbed the ropes and tried to parachute down. We fell 1500 feet like a piece of lead. We threw out sand, thirty-eight bags—I had a ton of it in the balloon—a bag at a time. We were going down so fast that it appeared that the sand was going up in the air past us as we fell. Post and I were worried about hitting the people below. I remember we warned each other about that. But in those crowded two minutes we did not have time to worry about ourselves.

"After some mighty speedy work I got the ropes into shape. Underneath I saw an apartment-house. It seemed to be coming right up from the earth to meet us, and it was coming fast. I never shall forget Post as he was then—the coolest man I ever saw. When he got sight of that mansard roof coming up to us he reached over and said, 'Good-by, old man.' We shook hands and that's all there was to it. Then we struck. The car of the balloon went crashing through the roof of that apartment-house, tiles, lathing, plastering, and all, and we found ourselves unceremoniously entering a lady's bedroom. Fortunately she was not at home. She was at the balloon grounds, among the other 80,000 or so persons who had gathered to see us start. The crowd was a mile square. The Kaiser sent a motor car to us with one of his adjutants, and the military and police helped to disentangle us from the rigging. They expected to find us dead, of course, but we were not hurt a bit, and the Kaiser sent us a box for the opera the following night."

DE-OPERATED COUPE.

Packard Factory Designs New Model for Rainy Weather Use—Car Is Popular in East.

The newest Packard car is an inside-operated coupé. This is an adaptation of the standard Packard "Thirty" runabout. Several seasons ago the Packard Motor Car Company introduced the high-powered runabout with rumble seat, which since has become an extremely common type. Recently it brought out the well-known close-coupled body that quickly became a standard form of car.

In introducing these new cars, however, the Packard company has not departed from its regular mechanical design. The foundation is the standard chassis construction. Hunting Jack Rabbits in the Sagebrush.

In the upper picture the party is on the way to the rabbit country. In the lower picture are E. Corneau, Harry Westrem and Johnny Westrem. In the party also was "Heck" Kissinger.

MORE than 200 jackrabbits were killed last week by Harry and John Westrem, "Heck" Kissinger and E. Corneau during a two-day hunting trip near Palmdale, in the Antelope Valley. In an hour's time in the first afternoon they shot twenty-five of the long-eared animals.

The nimrods have been going on hunting expeditions every week for some time, using an automobile for transportation, and taking along a tent and camping utensils, so that they could stay as long as desired.

When the party started last week, all the members expected to hunt for quail, but as none could be found in Los Angeles county, it was decided to go up the valley. Quail remained scarce, however. Rather than return without any game, the party started in quest of the rabbits, and notwithstanding the fact that several drives have been held in the vicinity during the winter, the game was plentiful. The one odd fact is that out of the large number killed only two were cottontails. John Westrem used a 22-caliber gun, and killed several more than any of the others, who user shotguns.

SHORT NOTICE.

ARRANGE CAT SHOW TO BEGIN THURSDAY.

MANY of the finest cats in the State are to be on exhibition at the third annual show of the Los Angeles National Cat Club, which is to be held at the Panorama building, January 21, 22 and 23, in connection with the exhibition of the Los Angeles County Poultry Association.

Strongheart, which is considered the best black stud in the United States, will be entered by H. A. Stearns, president of the club; and Paris, which is considered the best white stud in this State, will be exhibited by Mrs. Stoddard.

Mrs. G. D. Hindley of Santa Barbara, who has acted as judge in many famous English shows, has been engaged to officiate in the local exhibition. Mrs. Cora B. Weston, Mrs. E. P. Carter and H. A. Stearns, president of the club, will bench the show. Mrs. J. S. Hendrickson is chairman of the Publicity Committee.

The show will be given under the national rules and cups, medals, ribbons and other prizes will be awarded for the best exhibits.

The entry list will be open until Wednesday night. Already a large number of high-bred cats have been entered and it is expected that the exhibit will contain all the choice felines in the south and many from the north.

The prominent entries up to date are: Barbe Bleue, blue male, Mrs. E. Kidwell; Strongheart, black male, Mrs. G. A. Stearns; Farrington Cherub, red neuter, Mrs. H. G. A. Lovell; Punch, black manx male, Mrs. H. G. A. Powell; Colonel, white neuter, Mrs. Edwin Dunham; Bud, white male, Mrs. Cora Watson; Pansy, blue tortoise shell, Mrs. Cora Weston; Buster, red male, Mrs. Eugene Baker; King Cotton, white male, Mrs. Jesse Renolds; Paris, white male, Mrs. Stoddard; Marcus, white male, Mrs. Moore.

CORONADO MEET POSTPONED.

Track Too Heavy for Fast Time—Interest in Oldfield and White Flyer Race.

The big automobile meet scheduled for Coronado yesterday was not held, on account of the track being in such poor condition. The recent rainstorm softened the surface and it was impossible to start cars. It is believed that the track will be sufficiently dried out by today to hold the meet and permit of fast driving.

Gus Seyfreid, in the White Flyer; Barney Oldfield, in his Stearns, and Soules, in the Christie freak car were ready to start, but the course was slippery. Several of the dealers and owners have signified their intention of participating.

Interest is being shown in the proposed match race between Oldfield in his Stearns and Seyfried in the White steamer. It is believed the track will be hard enough today to make the meet a success. Attempts will be made to break world's records, and Seyfried hopes to defeat Oldfield.

Quaker City Show.

So great has been the rush for space at the Philadelphia show that the heavy expense of tearing down walls to add one or two big rooms to the main floor of the Armory in which it will be held has been undertaken by the Show Committee. This will give several hundred feet more of floor space, but yet it will be far from enough.

Ethel: Yes.

Bacon: Was it realistic?

Ethel: I should say so. Why, the machine broke down before they got it on the stage.—[Yonkers Statesman.

COACH CHOSEN AT CALIFORNIA.

Schaeffer to Head Football Squad Next Season.

George Bell May Be Selected as His Assistant.

Preparing for Big Regatta on Puget Sound.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Jan. 15.—James G. Schaeffer, assistant football coach for a year, has been selected as head coach for the season of 1909. Schaeffer played halfback on the Rugby teams of 1906 and 1907, and in the fall of 1905 was freshman quarter and substitute for the same position on the 'varsity. It was "Jimmie," as he is known, who directed the last California intercollegiate team play in Los Angeles, when the Sherman Indians went down to defeat, 21 to 5, in the fall of 1905.

The wonderful freshman team of this year was Schaeffer's product, and he had a considerable part in the development of the 'varsity backs. The men on the football team have great confidence in him and respect for him while his personality is such as to inspire his men with fight and ginger. While in college he caught on the 'varsity baseball team for three years and it does not seem improbable to many of the students that he will also be made baseball coach when the executive committee meets to make final decision on that person next week.

Dr. Oscar N. Taylor, who has been head coach at California for the last three years, asked that his name be not considered in the selection of a coach for next year, as it would be practically impossible for him to serve if selected. Dr. Taylor coached this last year only out of love for his college, and because no one else at all competent could be obtained.

The matter of assistant coach will be determined next week. Many of the football men hope that ex-Capt. George V. Bell, one of the advisory coaches this last year, will be given the position.

TO STUDY GAME.

Indications are now that the two coaches will be sent to Australia this summer to study the Rugby game as played in its most up-to-date manner.

George V. Bell, who may be appointed first assistant football coach at the University of California.

Arrangements may be so made that they will accompany the Australian Wallabies, who are to play the 'varsity on February 6, on their tour to British Columbia and New Zealand.

The heavy rains of the last week have made it impossible for the football men to get in any work in preparation for the Australian game. Just as soon as the weather permits the coaches will have the men out and Walter Christie will have them begin to live according to training rules. All of last season's team with the exception of Capt. Butler, Barnicott and Budelman, are in college, but it is likely that the men who will graduate in May or who will be ineligible next year will not be put in the Wallabie game. It is felt that the opportunity is a rare one in which to learn much Rugby and that the chance should be given to the men who will have to compose the teams of the future.

The return of Capt. Dean Witter on Monday from the East, where he went to purchase a new shell for the use of the California crew, will mean the commencement of spring training by the rowing men even though a coach is lacking. When college closed for the spring vacation it seemed very probable that Fred Coulson of Cornell would be here ready to begin the work. Coulson was offered a position as law librarian for the State of New York at more than twice the salary offered him here, and he at once accepted. Just who the executive committee will obtain is not known, but Manager who has been appointed head football coach at the University of California.

Merritt stated today that several eastern college men who are at present living on the Coast, were being considered.

CREW PROSPECTS.

Prospects for a winning crew are very bright, as seven of last year's eight have returned, as has Williams, who rowed in the '07 shell. These veterans will have to fight to retain their seats against a dozen or more substitutes and freshmen of last year. The indications for a strong freshman crew are also very bright.

In addition to the annual regatta with Stanford, which this year also may include the Washington crew, the California men will row at Seattle during the Alaska-Youkon exposition against the two above-named crews and probably the eight from the University of Wisconsin. The University of Nevada, located many miles from the ocean and surrounded by the sagebrush of Reno, is catching the boating fever. Alexander Pape, the crack single sculler, has offered his services as a coach, saying that the course of 150 yards obtainable on the Truckee River offers ample opportunities for training. He further promises to turn out a crew that will defeat at least one of the California universities. Rowing men here would be very glad to welcome Nevada as a competitor, but they don't feel much alarmed as to her strength. A course of 150 yards gives opportunity to practice fine starts, but hardly allows much of a finish.

If California representatives have their way at the next meeting of the intercollegiate agreement committee, men's basketball will be added to the list of intercollegiate sports. There are many enthusiastic followers of the game in college, and last year a very strong team was formed which lost but one game in a long schedule and that to the Muscatine, Iowa, Rovers. Prospects are bright for another strong team this spring, as well. H. Cortelyou of Los Angeles is the 'varsity captain.

The intercollegiate tennis will be cared for this year by Melville and Herbert Long, who won the tournaments last spring. Both men say that they are in finer shape than ever.

HOPES TO REPEAT TRICK.

Santa Ana High School Baseball Team Looks to Be Winner Again This Season.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 15.—Santa Ana High School turned out one of the best baseball teams for a school of its class in Southern California last year. This year it is repeating the performance.

This year the Peatlanders are lucky in having three of the strongest amateur batteries in Southern California. Those doing the twirling will be Du Boise, Vanderlip, Vawter and Phoenix. Those who will be at the receiving end are Tedford, Newcomer and Head.

Du Bois, last year's stand by, is out again this year with better speed and sharper curves in his delivery. Vanderlip, last year's speedy third baseman, has developed a good pitching arm. Vawters, the quick and accurate first baseman of last year, and Phoenix, a new arrival from Ventura, are also trying out and making a fair success of it.

Tedford and Newcomer, last year's backstops, are there with the goods when it comes to catching, and in nabbing opponents at the keystone sack. Head, a new man at the position, is fast developing into a good receiver.

The rest of the infield will be held down by old and steady players. Whitson and Walbridge, who served on the team two years ago, have been taking a vacation during the last year, but will again be recognized at their old positions, covering the first and third sack, respectively. These two men are consistent infielders, and rarely does the ball get through them. This is especially true of Whitson, who uses his shins to good advantage in blocking hard ones.

Vanderlip, last year's fastest infielder, has been shifted from third base to shortstop. His speed together with his accurate throwing arm, makes him one of the best shortstops that can be found in this end of the State. The team that captures Vanderlip after he graduates from Santa Ana High, can be congratulated, in the opinion of local fans.

Head, who held Vanderlip's present position last year, has been shifted to the keystone sack. He is an exceedingly fast man on his feet, and this, together with his accuracy in judging a ball, is fast making him popular among the fans.

This year's outfield is as good as any team could wish for. Robinson, who made himself popular last year with his long running catches and good wing, will again be seen in the left garden. Robinson cannot be excelled by any other amateur outfielder in this end of the State. He has a fielding percentage of .929 to his credit for last year.

The center garden will be covered by Vawters and Phoenix, who will take turns at the position; while the right garden will be turned over to Newcomer, Warren and G. Tedford. This sextette of outfielders is hard to beat. All are quick on their feet and are always ready to get under a long fly, and to assist the infield in every way.

Capt. Head hopes to win for his school the championship of Southern California with the speedy team he is developing.

The batting of the team is strong, nearly every man being a hard hitter and always ready to make a two or three-bagger out of their hits.

BOXING.

THIRD MATCH IS THE CHARM.

Memsic and Welsh Sign for Ten Rounds Again.

Both Men "Right" and Should Put up Good Bout.

Fauntleroy Arranging Card for Benefit Fund.

Freddie Welsh and George Memsic have been matched by Manager McCarey of the Pacific Athletic Club to fight at the Naud Junction pavilion on the night of February 2. This match was made once but had to be called off on account of the illness of Memsic and later on Welsh could not enter the ring on account of a sore finger. Both boys are right again and the fight should be pulled off this time.

The men are to meet at 133 pounds at 6 o'clock and the time of weighing in may be considered a concession to Memsic, who probably could not make the weight at ringside, but Welsh can do it easily. Memsic is slowly growing into a welterweight, as he is a big-framed man and is not at his best at 133 ounds when he enters the ring. He looks good now naw believes he will be strong as ever when permitted to make the weight four hours before entering the ring.

Neither man needs any introduction to local fight fans, for both have fought here a number of times. Memsic has held his own with every lightweight fighter ever tried here except Joe Gans, and the black was champion at that time, while Welsh has made a monkey of every pug he has fought here, from Phil Brock up to Abe Attell, except Packy McFarland, with whom he drew. Welsh will demand a guarantee of $1000, as was promised him for his previous engagement with Memsic that did not come off.

WOLGAST-WEBSTER.

Another match that looks as good, and yet might even be better, is between Ad Wolgast and Danny Webster. This is scheduled for the night of January 26, or one week from next Tuesday, and the only dispute the boys had was over the time they should weigh in. However, as both can make 122 pounds, there should be no trouble about making a match. They put up a good scrap here some weeks ago which Wolgast won.

This victory does not scare Webster who has found a man to back him for $250, and when they come together again the fight bugs will probably see something worth going miles to look at. While this would make a good main event it is probable that it will be reinforced by a preliminary card of strength, for the local bugs are not as strong on lightweight fights as they are on heavy ones, and seem to want more for the money.

EARTHQUAKE FIGHTS.

GOOD WEDNESDAY CARD.

The entertainment for the Italian sufferers fund, which "Little Lord Fauntleroy" has scheduled for the Jeffries arena for next Wednesday night, will certainly bring together the greatest number of boxers ever seen in this city at one time. There are sixteen scheduled bouts of three rounds each, and it is the intention to have the novelty of two fights in the ring at the same time, each pair to rest when the other fights. The show will begin at 8 o'clock, and will doubtless be concluded in two hours.

In addition to the bouts there will be a "battle royal" between five black men, singing by a vocal quartette, and some club swinging. All of the boxers will be in full tights and it is stated that there will be nothing objectionable in any way about the show.

The bouts scheduled are: Packy McFarland and Maurice Sayers, Dick Hyland and Danny Webster, Freddie Welsh and Jack Redmond, Jim Flynn and The Turk, Wolgast and Jimmy Walsh; Memsic and Kid Dalton, Geo. Blake and Johnnie O'Keefe, Johnny Dunn and Jimmy Austin, Roy Page and Frank Picato, Japs Togo and Oyama, Kid Fisher and Young McGovern, Kid Solomon and Young Snyder, Fred Corbett and Dick Givens, Eddie Robinson and Billy Manning, Chas. Anslinger and Clarence English, Harry Gilmore and Pat Kenneally, battle royal.

According to Promoter Fauntleroy all of these fighters have agreed to compete.

Motorists can remember the day when only a few cars could creep up the Grand-avenue hill with one passenger. Later a car created a sensation by going upon the intermediate speed, and then the big stunt was to make the climb on the "high." Ruess capped the climax yesterday.

The car was loaded 150 feet north of Sixth street, on Grand avenue, and from there made its start, and finished the sensational stunt successfully. A large crowd gathered to see the men weigh in, and pack in the car. Few bystanders believed a motor car would go up such a hill with over a ton of weight. Two men were placed on each running board, three sat in the front seat, and the others piled into the tonneau.

A large wagon stood crosswise at Fifth and Grand, almost obstructing the street, but instead of waiting until it was driven away, Ruess calmly guided the Pope-Hartfort around the wagon, and continued on the climb.

The men who rode in the car, with their weights, were: Roy Witman, 160; L. Cotton, 167; F. W. Pabst, 144; Fred Perry, 195; V. C. Machris, 154; Al Machris, 196; Billy Allen, 172; J. Todd, 154; Capt. Jargstorff, 210; John Stross, 126; F. Myers, 122; Floyd Purdy, 170; William Ruess, 204; J. King, 186; Morgan, 175.

In his latest stunt, Ruess upholds his name of "Grand Avenue Bill." He was among the first of the dealers to use the hill for demonstrating, and was among the original high-gear men on the steep hill which has proved the Waterloo of many a car.

"Bill" says if the public isn't satisfied he will make a wager his Pope-Hartford can carry twenty people over the grade.

THURSDAY BOUTS.

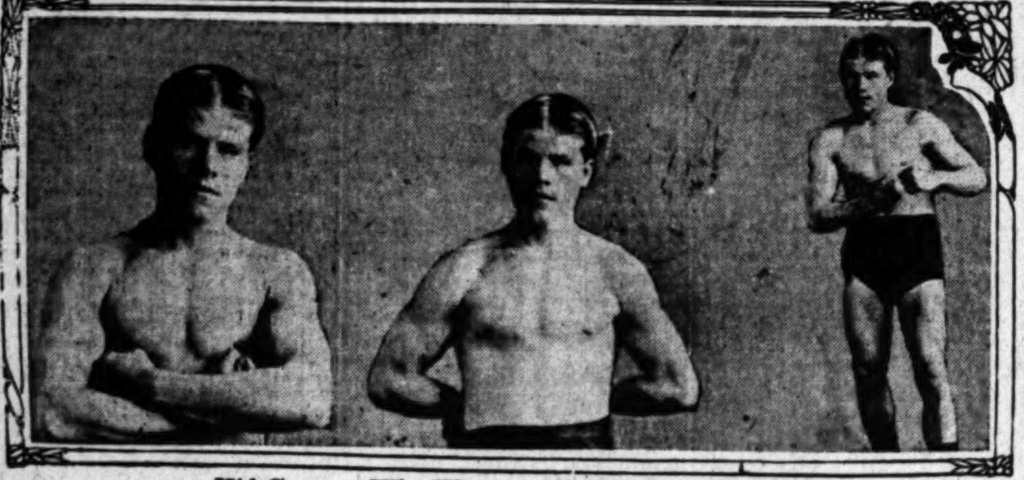
BROADWAY CLUB SHOW.

The Broadway Athletic Club at No. 535 South Broadway, will hold its next entertainment Thursday evening, and the programme will be made up of four three-round bouts, as follows:

C. McGinnis and William Delsman, 133 pounds; Lefever and Art Coover, 158 pounds; Rodney Hill and H. R. Bristol, 145 pounds; Instructor George Blake and Beauchomp. Prof. Hayes, the strong man, and Prof. McLean, a physical culturist, will give exhibitions.

Bantam Wants Fight.

Kid Greaves, who claims to be the champion bantamweight of the South, is at New Orleans and wants a match in Los Angeles with any boy at 105 pounds, Johnny Coulon preferred. He says he does not want to meet Jimmy Walsh, as the latter could not possibly make his weight.



Kid Greaves, Who Wants to Fight Johnny Coulon.
Fast New Orleans youngster who is considered as championship possibility by Abe Attell.

More Advertising.

Jack Kipper, partner of Jim Jeffries, received a telegram yesterday from Nashville, Tenn., signed by W. P. Ready. This new one stated that he would offer $60,000 for a fight between Jeffries and Johnson for a battle to be held in California. He asserted that he would put the money up as soon as articles were signed by Jeffries and Johnson. Next!

Big Coat Needed.

Jim Jeffries and his wife reached San Francisco yesterday morning and late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Jeffries sent a telegram here asking that the Jeffries overcoat be shipped at once to the St. James Hotel. From all accounts the mob of the curious at the depot almost tore the place down in the effort to get a good look at Jeffries.

WHELAN STILL CHAMPION.

Defeats Ray Dunnigan in Handball Match Through Superior Judgment and Form.

W. D. Whelan, Jr., defeated Ray Dunnigan in a handball match for the championship of the Los Angeles Athletic Club yesterday afternoon in the club gymnasium, by the score of 21 to 15. The game was one of the hardest-fought contests ever pulled off at the L.A.A.C., and Whelan cut down a big lead that Dunnigan secured in the beginning of the game, and won on account of his better judgment in placing the ball, and his fiercer driving force.

The gallery of the gymnasium was packed with club members and a few visitors who were able to gain admission. Dunnigan was a slight favorite in the betting, although Whelan had many supporters among the spectators, and his playing was loudly applauded.

Dunnigan got the jump on his opponent early in the game and ran up nine points while Whelan was scoring three. Dunnigan was more active than Whelan in covering ground, but Whelan frequently cornered the ball and made it impossible for Dunnigan to return.

With the score 9 to 3 against him, Whelan got into the game and began to cut down the lead. His well-placed shots kept Dunnigan on the run continually and Dunnigan showed signs of losing speed.

Dunnigan's tallies ran up to thirteen, but Whelan reached ten and then scored three in quick succession, tying the score. Then men played fast and made many clever returns. The hot exchanges close to the wall that usually followed the long volleys, brought forth enthusiastic applause from the spectators, and as the end of the game drew near, the playing became fiercer and more exciting.

After Whelan had caught up with his opponent he scored five more points before Dunnigan got one. With the score 20 to 14 against him, Dunnigan made another tally, but on the next serve Whelan cornered the ball and scored the winning point.

MORE CONFIRMATION.

JEFFRIES LOOKS GOOD TO NORTHERN SPORTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jim Jeffries, accompanied by his wife, arrived today from Los Angeles and the major portion of the afternoon was given to posing for newspaper photographers and to answering questions.

"Will you return to the ring for another fight?" was the first thing asked.

"I don't think so," was his reply. "I don't believe I will ever get back into my fighting togs."

"It's hell, though" he mused, "to have a nigger champion, but if I ever was to meet that fellow Johnson I would want to be in the best possible shape."

This change in Jeff's attitude from positive "no" to "I don't think so," struck all the sports here as important, for it shows if Jeffries feels he can get back into the condition in which he was when he left the ring he will be ready for a fight with Johnson. It means Jeffries will eventually fight; that he has that very thing in mind, and will make his announcement whenever he believes he has rounded into shape. Everything tends to this view of the matter.

His readiness to discuss the question of such a fight, and his condition, as well as his added statement that if such a fight should ever occur he would prefer to fight in the United States rather than in Australia.

When the big fellow stripped today his shape was a surprise to those who had a chance to look him over. There is a layer of fat around the stomach that would have to come off, but that could be easily reduced by roadwork. His eye looks clear, and he has a healthy color to his skin. His wind, he explains, is still in need of development, but it has shown improvement since he started gymnasium work in Los Angeles.

Jeffries still has the stocky legs and heavy build that has made him the champion of all champions. He is quick on his feet and full of good humor.

"When I left the ring," he said, "I was in my prime. There has been lots of foolish talk about my standing around the bar, but with my hunting trips, I have kept in pretty good shape. If course, my wind is bad, but it is getting better all the time."

PEERLESS

Supreme in Quality and Ideal in Everything

Peerless in Fact as Well as in Name

The Peerless Leader of 1909 Motor Cars

We mean just what we say. Peerless is "Supreme in Quality and Ideal in Everything" From the very beginning the makers of the Peerless have steadily kept one end in sight--to produce the highest class motor car in the world. They have succeeded. In every detail--originality and superiority of design, in new and effective ideas, in speed, power, endurance, in chaste elegance, real luxury, comfort, and convenience, the Peerless is in a class by itself; and it stands for class of the highest order in every detail. No better proof of this could be had than the frequent and persistent attempts at imitation of the superior features of this car, year after year.

The prospective purchaser, whether he spends $500 or $5,000, should know just what he is getting, and why he is asked to pay it. We honestly believe in and stand back of every claim we make for the Peerless. All we ask is the opportunity to prove what we claim. We will demonstrate that nobody who wants a really high class automobile, can afford, in his own interest, to overlook the Peerless.

In 1908 the Peerless Motor Car Company manufactured and sold 655 automobiles. Up to Dec. 14, 1908, it has sold 1066 of the 1909 cars, of which 571 have been delivered.

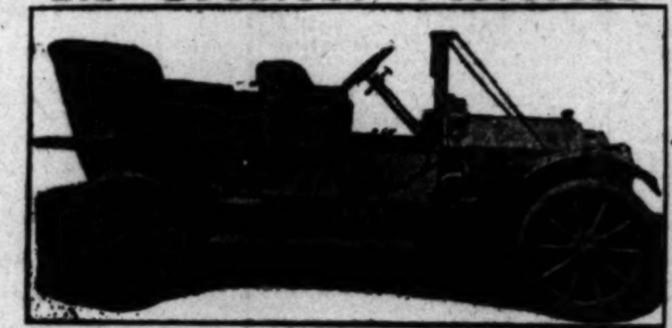
THE PEERLESS OUTPUT FOR 1909 IS NEARLY SOLD OUT. THE ENTIRE OUTPUT OF SOME OF THE MODELS IS GONE.

PROSPECTIVE PEERLESS OWNERS SHOULD ORDER EARLY.

OLDSMOBILE

A Car Whose Severest Tests Bring Its Greatest Victories

A Car That Stands On Its Record



"Oldsmobile" The Trade Mark of Automobile Reliability

We're putting out the Oldsmobile as a plain business proposition. We don't have to indulge in hot-air claims that appeal to nobody with gumption and common sense. The Oldsmobile is a profitable investment for any automobile user, based upon what it will actually do and upon the specific details that make or mar any motor car.

The Oldsmobile stands on its record; look at it; examine it carefully. Then let us show you the car; go over the specifications; see just what you are getting, in the car as well as on paper. There's a difference between good construction and cheap construction that can't be measured in dollars. The Oldsmobile is made from the best materials by the best workmen that can be secured for money. You cannot help but recognize the superiority of this car.

The 1909 models are here. If there is anything about them that isn't right, we would like to hear of it. Everybody who has had a demonstration says the makers have outdone themselves again.

There are over 130 owners of four-cylinder Oldsmobile Cars in Los Angeles alone. Just ask them. If you go by what they say, you will soon be an Oldsmobile owner yourself.

TENNIS MEN TRY OUT.

Players to Begin Early Practice With Interclass Tournament This Week.

College tennis players been busy trying for the teams to play in the interclass to begin this week, and it that the contests will be by the best playing ever witnessed at Occidental. Interest in the is stimulated by the fact team to represent the in the intercollegiate matches made up from the players best in the interclass games. academy has an excellent to win a large number of and possibly take the President's Cup. Winne Mace, the ex- champion, and Mar- Merrill, who was a member of team two years ago, will for the preps. In the singles and doubles they probably are the in school, but in the other it is not probable that they will to get partners to help them

The struggle for first honors in the doubles among Winne Mace, Lowry and Grayson Merrill is looked forward to by the students with great interest as the players are training consistently for the and probably will play gilt-edged tennis. Merrill and Lowry have been on the 'varsity team for two years and are the best players in the college. Mace probably is able to beat them, but the matches should be close and hard fought.

The schedule of the games in the tournament follows: Juniors and seniors, January 19 and 21; freshmen and sophomores, January 21 and 22; college finals, January 28; finals between college and academy, February 2 and 3.

Motorists of New York, whose cars have carried dazzling search-lights, have been busy modifying them to comply with the new ordinance which requires them to be shaded so their rays will not confuse either drivers or pedestrians.

WALBRIDGE RETURNS.

Crack Shot-putter Again to Throw the Pellets for Los Angeles High Track Team.

The track prospects of Los Angeles High School were given a boost last week, when Walbridge, the shot putter and hammer thrower of last year's team, announced his intention of returning to school and again representing the track team in the weight events. It is expected that he will be out for practice this week.

Walbridge was the only point winner Los Angeles High had in the hammer and shot events last year, and if he can equal his past performances he probably will take first place in all local high school competition.

Craig, who was a member of last year's relay team, and a fast 440-yard runner, has decided not to return to school this year, and the team will not be able to count on him for the relay race. He had expected to return about February 1, but Capt. Harrigan received a letter last week saying that he had decided not to return until next fall. Craig was one of the most promising quarter-mile men in the high school squad last year.

The practice of the high school squad was seriously interfered with by the rains last week, and the field men were able to do very little work. The sprinters and runners, however, were out for daily work, and Coach Noble put them through the paces in spite of the sloppy track.

Ward Dawson cleared 5 feet 5 inches in the high jump last week, and his performance has raised the hopes of the students, as it is probable that he will develop into a point winner to fit in the vacancy that seemed impossible to be filled when the squad first turned out for practice.

Some formal try-outs for various track events are to be held this week and Coach Noble expects to have the men well classified within a few days. About forty-five boys are turning out every night, and while some of them will be unable to be of any service this year, others show possibilities of filling in second and third places if they train properly.

PILGRIMS ARE COMING.

Noted English Soccer Football Team to Visit America for Series of Contests.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas W. Cahill of St. Louis arrived in New York yesterday afternoon on the steamship Teutonic from England, where he made arrangements for the Pilgrim soccer football team to tour America.

The Pilgrims, a team selected from "All-England," played in this country several years ago, and made a big hit here. The coming visit will be financed by Winton E. Barker, a western jeweler. "Tommy" Cahill will be the business manager of the tour.

The visiting team will be captained by Vivian J. Woodward, who was the leader of the outfit when the Pilgrims played the international match with Scotland before 100,000 persons last season. That game resulted in a tie, 1 to 1. Fred J. Milnes, another famous player, will be with the squad, which will arrive here the latter part of next September.

Games will be played in New York, Newark, Boston, Providence, Chicago and St. Louis, and in the latter city an international match will be arranged with the best team which can be picked in America. After this game is played the Pilgrims and the All-Americans will both go to England, where a long tour is being arranged.

BASKETBALL.

POLY BEATS HIGH SCHOOL.

Hot Game of Basketball on the L. A. Court.

Mechanics Get Early Start and Last It Out.

Los Angeles Girls Win from Santa Monica.

Polytechnic High School boy's basketball team defeated Los Angeles High yesterday afternoon on the Los Angeles High court, by a score of 20 to 12.

Los Angeles was a little slow in getting started and did not make a point until nearly five minutes had passed and after Poly had gained a lead of five points. Nibecker made a pretty basket for Polytechnic near the middle of the half. Blair made a try and as the ball came down Nibecker knocked it into the basket with his hand.

Only one field and one foul goal was made in this half by Los Angeles High against five field and one foul by Polytechnic. The hill boys played fast and made a hard effort to score but it almost seemed impossible.

The playing in the second half was even, both teams scoring nine points, four field and one foul baskets. For several minutes in the second half no baskets were thrown until Blair of Polytechnic broke the spell by making one point on a foul.

Blair, Manning and Slaughter played best for Polytechnic, Slaughter showing up exceptionally well. Record was put into the game in the second half and did some good work. Harrigan was the star for Los Angeles High and besides doing well at guarding, made some good throws for basket. Barker and Spencer also played good.

The following is the line-up:

Los Angeles High.		Polytechnic.
Spencer	forward	Blair
Major, Anderson		Nibecker, Record
Barker	center	Kallmeyer
Harrigan	guard	Manning
Cooper	guard	Slaughter

Length of halves, 20 minutes. Referee, Newmire. Umpire, Morgan. Timers, Fox and Clark. Scorers, Ben Blair and Dool. Field goals: Barker 1, Spencer 3, Harrigan 1, Blair 2, Slaughter 2, Nibecker 1, Record 3, Kallmeyer 1. Foul throws: Barker 1, Harrigan 1, Blair 2.

AN EASY VICTORY.

Los Angeles High School girls' basketball team defeated the Santa Monica six yesterday afternoon on the Los Angeles High court, by a score of 39 to 1.

The local girls won an easy game, scoring nine field and one foul goal in the first third, four field and one foul in the second and five field and one foul in the third. The visitors made their one point in the second third, when Miss Cerna Coe threw a foul goal.

Most of the playing was done by the Los Angeles forwards and the Santa Monica guards. Once or twice in each third the ball would change to the other end of the court, but it only stayed there a few seconds each time.

Grace Fink, Sally Riley and Anabel Buchanon played best for Los Angeles High. Gladys Rodda and Verna Coe did good for the visitors.

The following is the line-up:

Santa Monica.		Los Angeles.
Coe	forward	Fink
McCumbern	forward	Buchanon Rosenthal
Barbeck	center	Sweet
Stanchfield	center	Riley
Harding	guard	Johnston
Rodda	guard	Gilmore

Length of thirds, 10 minutes; field goals, Anabel Buchanon 6, Grace Rink 10, Josephine Rosenthal 2; foul throws, Verna Coe 1, Anabel Buchanon 1, Grace Fink 1, Josephine Rosenthal 1.

SAINTS CHIRP UP.

HOPE TO HAVE BEST TEAM.

The St. Vincent's College basketball team, the members of which have been granted amateur cards in the local A.A.U., has gotten down to business, and with two weeks more training will be in first-class shape for their first game, which will be played early in the month of February.

Holleran and Reynolds, who played forwards on the Saints' five when St. Vincent's tied Whittier for the Southern California championship in 1906, are on deck and will play their old positions. Van Orshoven, who acted as substitute on this team, and who played as a regular last season, is at school and is billed to play a guard, alternating with Deitricks, who played guard on the Saints' basketball team last year.

McNeil, captain and manager of the five, is a well experienced man in the game, having played on the Seventeenth-street Grammar School team while in the grades, and one year at Long Beach High School. McNeil will fill the center position. He is a tall, rangy man, such as is needed at center.

Several other men are trying out for positions, among the most promising of which are Hickson, Cunningham and Brady. The Saints intend to carry two substitutes during the coming basketball series, as they are to meet much heavier and stronger men in the different Y.M.C.A. teams.

Last season the Saints were greatly handicapped by not being members of a basketball league, and met but two teams, Pasadena and Polytechnic high schools, which they defeated. This year St. Vincent's has a much stronger and faster team than last, and should give a very creditable account of itself.

Coach Moores will not take the men in charge until two weeks before their first game. Capt. McNeil will look after the Saints until then, and attend to the finer points of the game.

It was decided at a meeting of the directors of the league Friday evening at the local Y.M.C.A. that all games on the schedule would be played at three places, Whittier, Pasadena and the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A.

At present there are but eight teams in the league. Five more originally intended to enter, but found it necessary to withdraw. This left three teams from the local Y.M.C.A., the Armory Athletic Club five, Pasadena Y.M.C.A. and cubs, Whittier and St. Vincent's College.

OCCIDENTAL'S TEAM.

CLAIM BIG DISAVANTAGE.

The Occidental 'varsity basketball team is to play the Whittier College quintette and the Occidental Academy five is to play Pomona Academy at Occidental tomorrow.

Although the Presbyterians are playing basketball under disadvantages, owing to not having an indoor court, Physical Director Braden, who is coaching the team, believes that this year the Tigers will be able to make the best showing since they took up the game three years ago. Inclement weather makes playing impossible on the muddy court.

The Tigers have developed clever team work that should prove effective in the big games if the players adhere to it, and the experience the men got in the games on their trip around the Kite-shaped track proved of value in giving them accuracy in hitting the basket.

With Capt. Baer and Hollister in the forward positions, the Presbyterians have goal tossers whom they are willing to match against any other collegians in the South. Both men are persistent and quick to take advantage of every chance to attempt baskets, and their quickness in passing and shooting the ball has proved troublesome to the guards that have been pitted against them. McPeak at center is tall and alert, and while he is not strong in fighting for the ball, he made a creditable showing in high school games.

McKenney, McDowell, Hillery and Douglas will be used in the guard positions in the intercollegiate matches, with McKenney and McDowell probably beginning the games. McKenney was captain of last year's team, and is one of the best players in school. McDowell has had several years' experience and is a clever player. Douglas and Hillery played in some of the games last season.

The Presbyterian Academy five is the best that the "preps" have ever formed, and its victory over Throop Polytechnic Institute has given the boys confidence in their ability to play a winning game. McClung and McDowell, the forwards, are small, but they are very clever and active and can shoot baskets from many angles. McClung appears too small for the place, but he always holds his end up in scoring goals.

Gilkey, the center, is big and strong and in practice games has been outjumping many of his opponents. Trask and Haisch, the regular guards, are expected to start in tomorrow's game, although Haisch has been suffering with a cold, and Dunlap or Underhill may take his place.

HARVARD WINNER.

SOUTH PASADENA LOSES.

Harvard Military School defeated the South Pasadena High School five at basketball yesterday morning on the Harvard court, by a score of 22 to 8.

The contest started out rather slowly and during the first ten minutes of play neither team scored a field basket. The local boys then began to work better and threw six baskets and one foul, making the score 13 to 2, at the end of the first half.

The visitors rallied in the second half and scored six points. Some of their men did well, but the team seemed to lack experience and did not play together.

Fowler was the star for Harvard and played a fast game. Whitman did good work at center. Seay played best for South Pasadena, and made a valiant attempt to run up the score for his school.

The following is the line-up:

South Pasadena.		Harvard.
Seay	forward	H. Mitchell, G. Mitchell
Lawyer	forward	Fowler
Thomas	center	Whitman
Hunter, Gilbert	guard	Schneider
Coots	guard	Levy

Referee, Newmire; length of halves, 20 minutes.

Field goals: H. Mitchell 1, Fowler 4, Whitman 2, Levy 2, Schneider 1, Seay 3. Foul throws: Whitman 1, Levy 1, Coots 2.

Hollywood Improving.

Hollywood High School's basketball five defeated Pasadena High Friday afternoon at Pasadena, by a score of 30 to 15. The foothill team has developed considerably since the Christmas holidays and is among the best in the County League. Polytechnic High is the only school that has defeated Hollywood and it is now tied on percentage with Poly for second place. The boys are to play Whittier High at Whittier next Friday afternoon and the contest is expected to be the hardest of the season for Hollywood.

Game for Wednesday.

The girls' basketball teams of Los Angeles High School an Polytechnic High are to play Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Polytechnic court. The teams are about evenly matched and should furnish a fast and closely-contested match. Much interest is being manifested at both schools as to the possible outcome of the contest, and a record-breaking crowd is expected to attend.

TIRE PRESSURE GAUGE.

Hiram Maxim Gives Sage Advice on Matter of Tire Upkeep—Urges Proper Inflation.

According to Hiram Percy Maxim, autoists do not keep their tires properly inflated. He is of the opinion that the cause of much of the trouble is due to the fact that tires are not given sufficient air pressure.

In a recently-written article Maxim shows just how improper inflation is responsible for the majority of tire troubles.

"Outwardly," he writes, "there is little difference between tires inflated, one to thirty pounds, another to fifty pounds, and another to ninety pounds, which is the proper pressure for the size indicated.

"A tire insufficiently inflated and passing over even slight obstacles is bent or depressed at an angle which quickly causes a rupture in its fabric; whereas the properly inflated tire is depressed scarcely at all, presenting the strongest possible resisting surface.

"The uninformed or the careless automobile user blames the tire, when the fault is insufficient air pressure and nothing else. He may try all kinds but he finds the results the same."

Maxim concludes: "The only way properly to inflate a tire is to measure what pressure is actually in the tire."

It has not, in the past, always been convenient for the automobile user to make use of a tire pressure gauge. The earlier gauges were bulky, inconvenient and costly. They were not available for use when needed, especially when on the road. Nor were they at all to be depended upon as to accuracy.

Ordinarily the automobile user guesses at his tire pressure, and almost invariably the pressure is too small. His tires, time, patience and pocketbook suffer accordingly.

C. R. Twitchell of this city has invented a small pressure gauge which can be applied easily, and which is small enough to carry about conveniently.

Glidden to the West.

According to Frank B. Hower, chairman of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, the route for the next Glidden tour will undoubtedly be in the West. Denver will be included in the route, but whether it will be the finishing point of the tour or whether it will only be one of the cities to be included in the route has not been settled. He predicts there will be at least seventy-five entries for the tour.

Gasoline Ousts Horses.

All horses have to be ordered dismissed from the city of Paris fire brigade and their places taken by gasoline motors. There are at present seventy-six horse-drawn fire engines in the city of Paris, costing annually a sum of $64,000; if they could all be immediately transformed into gasoline engines the annual upkeep cost to the city would not exceed $17,400. The cost of transformation, about $220,000, will be spread over a period of six years.

Aluminum Crank Cases.

Among the improvements of the last year in the making of power plants for automobiles is the use of aluminum in the crank case and bearings. For years makers have used manganese bronze, because it was considered stronger. Improved testings of aluminum, however, have enabled it to be utilized, giving the advantage of lightness and less noise.

Official Speed Traps.

The Syracuse Automobile Club is considering the advisability of establishing official speed traps. There has been a great deal of desregard for the speed regulations in that section of late, and, if necessary, the club officers mean to take drastic action in the matter.

Race for Amateurs.

A big road race limited to amateur drivers is being boomed by J. Fred Betz, a wealthy Philadelphia motor enthusiast. He says he will compete at the wheel of one of his cars if such a contest is organized.

Y.M.C.A. Activities.

The athletic department of the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. is making preparations for a big minstrel show to be held in the association auditorium, February 25 and 26. Acrobatic stunts, farce boxing, and pyramid building will be on the programme, and the show will be the largest undertaking of its kind ever attempted by the Y. M.C.A. Fifty minstrels are rehearsing under the direction of E. M. Brownell of New York and a chorus of 100 voices is being trained by Prof. J. P. Dupuy.

Soccer Football Game.

The Los Angeles and Ranger soccer football clubs are to play this afternoon at Fiesta Park at 3 o'clock, opening a new series of games. The Los Angeles team consists of Dawson, goal; Kitchen and Seabrook, backs; McCombe, Constable and Scholfield, halfbacks; Brickley, Carswell, Todd, Melford and York, forwards; Bamford and Spence, reserves.
